Henry Hutchinson, of Epping, was arraigned under an indictment for larceny and breaking into the store of Prescott & Pike, of Epping. He plead guilty.

Isaac Nute of Dover was arraigned for larceny at Stratham, on the 6th July last, of bank bills and some specie, the property of Nancy Marble. To the indictment he plead not guilty, and his trial was assigned for Tuesday next.

On motion of James McMurphy, Esq., two actions—Wm. Claggett vs. Wm. Simes & J. W. Emery, and W. Claggett vs. D. Kimball,—were ordered to be continued to the next term, until the decision of the question by the Supreme Court, whether a judgment had been rendered in the C. C. Pleas.

Judge Bell, who presides with much ability as well as dignity, announced that as he was under the necessity of leaving Court, Judge Sawyer would preside the remainder of the term. In the forenoon the Court was adjourned until Monday.

Allen was admitted to the York County Bar, and authorised to practice as an Attorney in all the Judicial Courts of the State of Maine. Mr. Allen read law with Judge Goodenow in Alfred, Me., and with the Messrs. Hackett in this city. We learn that he intends establishing himself in Navy Yard Village, Kittery Foreside, for the practice of all legal business. He is a thorough gentleman and a scholar, and will be an honor to his profession.

For the Chronicle.

Messrs. Editors:—As the mathematical war is now, I hope, ended and peace concluded, and that too without the aid of any foreign power, I therefore give the promised analysis of the question submitted to me by N. D. jr., which appeared in your paper of the 2d, and this must be the last, as this contention is of no profit to any one, and the best name for it is folly.

The three numbers are 24, 60 and 120.

EXPLANATION.—The 1st number must be such a number as can be divided by the denominators of the three first fractions named in the question, viz: by 2, 3 and 4. The second number by 3, 4 and 5; and the third by 4, 5 and 6. Therefore $2\times3\times4=24$, the first number.

$3\times4\times5=60$, the second number.
$4\times5\times6=120$, the third number. J. N. F.

MEN RACING.

The Portland "State of Maine" says:—Quite a large assemblage was collected at Ling's track on Friday, P. M., to witness the trial of speed between Poole and Stetson—two of the, so called, fast men.

About 3 o'clock they started off at a good pace, making their first mile in 5 min. 12 sec., after which they slackened their pace a little, and accomplished the five miles in 35 minutes 45 seconds, Poole winning by about 5 or 6 feet. Stetson had been ahead, and the favorite up to the last mile, when, either by hocus pocus, or some other reason, he fell considerably in the rear.

But little betting occurred, and all passed off quietly and pleasantly.

There has been some fun among some of "the boys" in this city, for a few nights back—foot-racing in State street, from Middle Street Church to the crossing below the Rockingham House. They were at it from midnight Thursday to three o'clock or so, by the light of the moon, and also on Saturday evening.—"Time not stated." They prefer short heats, though.

REDUCTION OF THE HOURS OF LABOR.—Following the example of several of the Lowell mills, the Atlantic Mills of Lawrence have introduced the eleven hour system.

SMUGGLING.—Irish linens and other goods which Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe brought with her from England, have been seized by the New York custom house officers, as contraband.

MR. S. GILBERT, Dear Sir—

Having been afflicted with a diseased Liver, attended with pain in the side. I was advised by a friend to try your Extract Polypodium, and am happy to inform you that it has not only cured me of the above disease, but it also relieved me of a Chronic Diarrhea which I contracted in the war with Mexico, to cure which I had tried the popular remedies of the day to no effect. I can cheerfully recommend it to the public as the best medicine for the above complaint of which I have any knowledge. I have also proved it to be an invaluable purifier of the blood.

Respectfully yours. WM. H. FRANKLIN.

THE FEVER.

J. O. Harris, an active member of the New Orleans Howard Association, has just arrived in New York, and states that when he left home the fever had entirely disappeared from the district he had in charge. He thinks the fever if not fed by immigration will leave the city before the first of October; but he cautions people against returning until there is an entire cessation of cases. Up to the 8th September the Howard Association had taken charge of about 9500 patients, at a cost of from 14 to 15 dollars each. The whole number of cases as far as ascertained is 35,000, and of deaths 8500. The Association has received $90,000 in subscriptions throughout the country, $43,000 less than its expenses.

VICKSBURG, 23d.—The fever continues its ravages. Amongst the victims are Rev. Mr. Patterson, Episcopal Clergyman, and Rev. Mr. Rabaneau, Catholic Priest. The fever is still raging at Yazoo city.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 23—Total number of deaths reported for the 24 hours ending this morning, was 58, of which 14 were from yellow fever. At Mobile, on Thursday, the interments were 20, including 14 from fever. Sad accounts continue to be received from the river coast, and great mortality prevailed at Grand Gulf and Fort Gibson.

Delegates from the Howard Association were asking for more nurses, and relief was readily forwarded in all directoins.

CHARLESTOWN, Sep. 23d.—Deaths last week, 21. Mr. P. C. Wadsworth, of Mobile, a native of Massachusetts, died of fever.

MELANCHOLY ACCIDENT ON THE PROVIDENCE RAILROAD.—A very worthy lad by the name of John Ryan, who has sold papers on the Dedham Branch train for two years past, was killed on Thursday afternoon. As the half-past six o'clock train from Boston was approaching the Toll Gate Station, the boy attempted to step from the platform of one car to the next, but missed his footing, and fell between the cars. Half the train went over him, killing him instantly. The conductor had the body conveyed to the residence of his parents, in Dedham. Their grief at the loss of a son who had been almost their entire support, was inconsolable. He was a trustworthy and amiable boy, and a great favorite with the daily passengers on the road.

ESSEX COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.—The civil term of the Court of Common Pleas, for September, at Newburyport, should have commenced business on Tuesday, but owing to some mistake no judge was present. It was understood that Gov. Briggs was to preside. As no judge came on Wednesday, the bar voted to go home, and assemble again when informed by the sheriff that a judge was obtained, and also, with but two votes in the negative, that in their opinion public interest and convenience required that there should be no trials this term. A committee was appointed to inform the court of the condition of suits and the desire of parties. Since writing the above, we have heard that Judge Mellen will open court on Monday next at 10 o'clock. —Salem Gazette.

CAPT. INGRAHAM.—The testimonial meeting in compliment to the conduct of the commander of the St. Louis in the Kosta rescue, was holden at Metropolitan Hall in New York on Thursday night. C. C. Burr, pre sided. Speeches were made by J. P. Hale and letters read from Mr. Everett, Mr. Mea, gher, Garibaldi, and others. Spirited resolves were adopted.

STEAMER SUNK.—LOUISVILLE, Sept, 23. The steamer General Pike, of the Louisville and St. Louis mail line, sunk to-day, just above Cape Girardeau, Mississippi River, and will prove a total loss. Valued at 30,000. No lives lost.

MANSLAUGHTER.—Nicholas Parava, or Kanaka Joe, accused of killing Elisha Williams, mate of the whale ship Indian Chief, has been tried in the U. S. Circuit Court in Connecticut, and found guilty of manslaughter.

FALSE ALARM OF FIRE.—There was great excitement in Broadway, in New York, near the Astor House, on Thursday, which arose from some waiters beating carpets upon the roof of the building, creating a dust which the crowd thought was smoke.

BAD NEWS FROM MADERIA.—Mr. Vanderbilt, in his yacht, has arrived at New York, last from Maderia, which he left on the 12th, and reports that the vine is blighted throughout the island.

MAN BURNT.—In the Daily Chronicle of Saturday, was mentioned the burning of a great oil manufactory in Brooklyn, N. Y., on Wednesday night. It was discovered next day that a man named Martin Nolan had been consumed in the fire. Portions of his remains were found among the Rubbish on the site of the oil factory, which was being cleared away by the workmen. Parts of his skull, heart and shoulders were all that was left.—He had been employed in the factory for some time, and was boarding with Mrs. Jeffers in Gold street. When the flames burst from the building, himself and landlady commenced packing up their goods, being fearful that the flames would reach their dwelling. Nolan, when he came to examine his clothes, found that he had left some articles in the factory, and at once proceeded to get them. He was seen to enter the door and run up stairs. Several men in the vicinity attempted to apprise him of the danger he was rushing into, when the oil having became ignited, the whole fabric was instantly enveloped in one vast sheet of flame, thus cutting off all escape, and the unfortunate man was burned to cinders. Deceased was twenty-one years of age, without a family, and a native of Ireland.

The oil factory was insured for $90,700.

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S
Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,
PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.

One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.

[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]

First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title-page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispenseable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be ignorant.

☞ On receipt of One Dollar (for the fine Edition, extra binding) "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION" is sent (mailed free) to any part of the United States. All letters must be post-paid, and addressed to Dr. A. M. MAURICEAU, Box 1294, New York City. Publishing Office, No. 129 Liberty Street, New York.

LINES BY MILTON IN OLD AGE.

LATELY DISCOVERED, AND FIRST PUBLISHED IN THE RECENT OXFORD EDITION OF THE POET'S WORKS.

I am old and blind!
Men point at me as smitten by God's frown,
Afflicted, and deserted of my mind,—
Yet I am not cast down.

I am weak, yet strong,—
I murmur not that I no longer see,—
Poor, old and helpless, I the more belong,
Father Supreme, to Thee!

O merciful One!
When men are farthest then Thou art most near;
When friends pass by—my weakness shun—
Thy chariot I hear.

Thy glorious face
Is leaning towards me,—and its holy light
Shines in upon my lonely dwelling-place,
And there is no more night.

On my bended knee
I recognize Thy purpose clearly shewn—
My vision Thou hast dimmed that I may see Thyself, Thyself alone.

I have naught to fear;
This darkness is the shadow of Thy wing,—
Beneath it I am almost sacred—here
Can come no evil thing.

Oh! I seem to stand
Trembling where foot of mortal ne'er hath been,
Wrapped in the radiance of Thy sinless land,
Which eye hath never seen.

Visions come and go—
Shapes of resplendent beauty round me throng;
From angel lips I seem to hear the flow
Of soft and holy song.

It is nothing now,
When heaven is opening on my sightless eyes,
When airs from Paradise refresh my brow,
The earth in darkness lies.

In a purer clime
My being fills with rapture—waves of thought
Roll in upon my spirit—strains sublime
Break over me unsought.

Give me now my lyre!
I feel the stirrings of a gift divine,
Within my bosom glows unearthly fire
Lit by no skill of mine.

PATENTS.

American and Foreign Office.
AGENCY FOR BUSINESS
With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS.—The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal of the application within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries: besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. 4d&w6m je22*

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic preparation, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. R. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Duman, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered. Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that full disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent forth to the world without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

A LITTLE QUAKERESS IN A HURRY TO GET MARRIED.—An amusing matrimonial story is told of the olden time of New England. It so fell out that two young people became smitten with each other, as young people sometimes do. The young woman's father was a wealthy Quaker—the young man was poor, but respectable. The father could stand no such union and resolutely opposed it, and the daughter dare not disobey—that is to say, she dare not disobey openly. She "met him by moonlight," while she pretended never to see him—and she pined and wasted in spite of herself. She was really in love—a state of sighs and tears, which women oftener reach in imagination than in reality. Still he remained inexorable. Time passed on, and the rose on Mary's damask cheek passed off. She let no concealment, "like a worm in the bud," prey on that damask cheek, however; but when her father asked her why she pined, she always told him. The old gentleman was a widower and loved his girl dearly. Had it been a widowed mother who had Mary in charge, a woman's pride would never have given away before the importunities of a daughter. Men are not, however, so stubborn in such matters, and as he saw that the daughter's heart was really set upon the match, he surprised her one day by breaking out—"Mary, rather than mope down to death, thee had better marry as thee chooses, and when thee please."

And what did Mary? Wait until the birds of the air had told her swain of the change, or wait till her father had time to alter his mind again? Not a bit of it. She clapped her neat plain bonnet on her head, walked directly into the street, and then as directly to the house of her lover as the street would carry her. She walked into the house without knocking—knocking was not then fashionable—and she found the family just sitting down to dinner. Some little commotion was exhibited at so unexpected an apparition as the heiress in the widow's cottage, but she heeded it not. Louis looked up inquiringly. She walked to him and put his hands in hers. "Louis," said she, "father says I may have thee." And Louis got directly up from the dinner table, and went to the parson's. In just twenty-five minutes they were man and wife!

AN IMPORTANT FACT.—In a conversation with Captain Baxter, of the El Dorado, recently of the Cherokee, we learned an important fact, which may throw some light on the great mystery of the age—the yellow fever. Capt. Baxter left here with the Cherokee on the 12th August last, when the epidemic was at its height, with one hundred and sixty-nine passengers, the majority of whom were unacclimated, and liable to the yellow fever. When the Cherokee emerged into the Gulf, the sea was rough, and the passengers suffered a great deal from sea sickness. Every one of them was compelled to vomit, and the captain says he never had a more unanimously sick set.—Soon, however, it was all over, and health and hilarity reigned on board, when the yellow fever made its appearance among the crew, none of whom had suffered from sea sickness.—During the voyage, there were ten of the crew down with the fever, and on the arrival of the Cherokee in New York, there being two still sick, they were ordered into the hospital, where one of them died; the other recovered. Not one of the passengers had the fever.—They were all permitted to land in New York after eighteen hours, and the sick members of the crew were alone compelled to go into hospital detention. Here is an interesting fact for the doctors. A general vomiting saves over one hundred persons from a disease which attacks nine out of ten of the unacclimated. Is not, too, the universality of the sickness, a fact of some significance, from which the physicians may extract some light on the subject of the character of this disease.—N. O. Delta.

THE HOWARD ASSOCIATION.—While the pestilence has been raging at New Orleans, our thoughts have often turned to that noble band of her citizens, who, known to the world only as the Howard Association, by their fellow citizens at home were recognized as men who feared no toil, shrank from no sacrifice, quailed before no danger, if only they could administer to the wants of their fellow men, and give them aid in their struggles with the fell destroyer. We deemed their example as enobling as their sacrifices were great. The profits of business, the delights of home, their domestic and social claims, their hours of sleep and of rest, all were made subservient to the necessities of humanity, the relief of the sick, and the burial of the dead. What, we have asked ourselves, would have been the condition of that doomed city—and indeed even with such alleviations—had there been no volunteers in compassion—no members of the Howard Association,—who not only refused to flee from the pestilence, but on behalf of the poor and the indigent, resolutely threw themselves into the very thickest of the danger?—If ever men deserve an expression of their country's gratitude, these men do.—N. Y. Com. Advertiser.

EULOGY ON CLAY AND WEBSTER.—The National Intelligencer contains a translation from the Greek, of a eulogy on Henry Clay and Daniel Webster, made by Miss Elizabeth, of Crete, a young lady who, not many years ago, embraced the Episcopal creed, and is now a missionary among her countrymen at Athens. The eulogy was delivered in the Greek house of representatives by Mr. Charmonzies, a deputy of Lamai, on a proposition that the names of Henry Clay and Danniel Webster be inscribed on the walls in the peribolus of the chamber, as a token of their gratitude for the eloquent appeals of the deceased in behalf of the suffering Greeks during the revolution.

A citizen of Berlin has invented carpets of wood. I feel rather sore to think that this new application of wood was not discovered by one of my country men, as a set-off against the calpable invention of wooden nutmegs. The Queen of Prussia has ordered a carpet of new material for her boudoir. The benefactor in question is named Joost; and offers carpets of rosewood, oak, mahogany, and cherry. They save the expense of flooring, as it would, of course, be useless to have two coatings of wood under our feet. In more primitive times flooring saved the expense of carpets.—N. Y. Times.

POPERY.—We read in the papers that several bulls have been imported into this country from Rome. The meaning of this, however is, that several mandates have been issued by the Pope dividing off certain portions of the United States into sections, over each of which a catholic bishop, or something of the sort, is to preside. We hope, however, that spelling books and Yankee schoolmistresses will prevent these bulls from doing any great harm. —Manchester Demo.

The Corriere Mercantile, of Genoa, quotes a letter of the 15th, mentioning the discovery at Pompeii of three human skeletons, evidently belonging to one family, together with that of a dog. The postures in which they were found, lead to the presumption that they were engaged in flight at the time of the eruption, but were overtaken by the lava, the dog refusing to leave his master. They had bags of gold and silver coin with them; one of the skeletons displaying rings and ornaments, was that of a young girl, probably the daughter of the fugitives.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1853.

THE FISHING SQUADRON.

We gave currency, a few days ago, to the statement of a civil officer of the late Fishing Squadron, to the effect that said squadron had performed its duty, and that all was and had been quiet on the fishing grounds, the British cruisers not oppressing or molesting our fishermen, except when they were offending against the treaty.

And now, in common fairness, we give the other side of the question, from the Newburyport Herald.

Many of our fishermen join issue with the officers of the United States vessels who have been upon the northeastern fishing ground. They contend that they have good reason to complain of the arbitrary and unjust conduct, on the part particularly of the provincial cruisers, the officers of the British navy being generally much more honorable and gentlemanly in their conduct than the provincials.

One strong ground of complaint is that they are driven off the land in bad weather, when the sea is too rough for fishing, and it is desirable to make a harbor. Many of them have been driven off by the British cruisers under circumstances of very considerable peril, and refused any shelter in a harbor or under the lee of the land in a threatened gale. This, when it is considered how many lives have been lost and vessels wrecked during two or three years past on that fishing ground, is certainly serious ground of complaint.

Another ground of complaint is made by the fishermen against the commanders of the United States vessels sent to the Bay of St. Lawrence, for the protection of the fishermen, that they hardly visited the fishing ground at all, but spent nearly the whole of their time in the ports and harbors where there was nothing to do except engage in social intercourse with the higher and wealthier classes of the British population; and the American fishermen were wholly unable during the season to find an American government vessel to which they could make complaint, and thus the American officers, in effect, held no intercourse with the American fishermen, and associated only with Englishmen and heard only English stories.

Capt. Hunt, of schooner Edmund Burke, recently arrived here, informs us that he cruised diligently the whole season, on the most noted fishing ground, along the coast of Prince Edward's Island, and was not able during the entire season to find a United States armed vessel, although he diligently sought to find one in order to make complaints against the aggression and violation of the rights of the treaty, by the commander of the Provincial steamer Rose. During all this time he saw one or more British cruisers almost every day.

The British cruisers it is contended, and a weight of evidence is furnished in the matter, which seems to be fully convincing, did watch the fishing ground closely, while the American vessels sent there, hardly passed over it at all, but spent their time in the ports of Halifax, Pictou, or Charlottetown, or elsewhere, away from the fishing fleet.

While Capt. Hunt was at anchor under North Cape, in the heaviest southerly blow of the season, a boat from the British Steamer Rose, boarded him and ordered him to get under way as speedily as possible. Capt. H. said he could not safely leave until the next morning, unless it ceased blowing so freshly; but the captain of the steamer insisted upon his getting under way at once, declaring if he did not, he would seize him and carry him to Charlottetown. Capt. Hunt, though convinced that he was availing himself only of a right granted by the treaty, of shelter, yet in consultation with the captain of the schooner Eliza, of Portsmouth, which vessel was near him and received the same orders, they came to the decision that it was safer to hazard standing out to sea during the gale than to risk being carried into Charlottetown, detained and subjected to the necessary expense attending even a grossly unjust seizure.

A VOICE FROM GLOUCESTER.—Last week we published this paragraph, in connexion with the arrival of the fishing ground squadron:

"We are informed that the fishing grounds are quiet, and that the reports that have appeared in the Gloucester and other papers are exaggerated, if not entirely without foundation."

To this the Gloucester Telegraph replies:

If the Chronicle will take British evidence in preference to that of its own countrymen, we have no objections; but the Chronicle will understand that every statement we have made we have had direct from the fishermen, and can be substantiated in every word.

THE FISHING SQUADRON.—The New York Courier states, on the authority of a Washington correspondent, that "some of the vessels lately employed in the fishing waters have been ordered to return, but others of greater force have been ordered out to relieve them."

All moonshine.

NEWBURYPORT FACTORIES.—The Herald states that the Mills in that city have adopted and commenced on Monday, the time table which has been introduced recently at Lowell, and work but eleven hours a day. The editor remarks that the general introduction of this system must tend to give greater firmness to the cotton goods market, as its probable tendency is to reduce the production of the mills eight and one third per cent. The market is now sparingly supplied with goods so that the price will be affected by a diminution of the production, which would not be the case if the stock on sale was large.

RARA AVIS.—A bird standing five feet high, five feet eight inches from tip to tip of the wings, has been shot at Ozaukee, Wisconsin. Its color is blue, with a green tuft on its head.

THE MERCIFUL.

"Blessed are the Merciful, for they shall obtain Mercy." Thus says Jesus, at once the teacher and the exemplar of the Christian world. It comes anew to our mind, as we read the following summary account of the Aid for the Sufferers by Yellow Fever, just published by the New York Committee, through whose hands the money has passed.

We often see true and terrible stories about corruption and violence, intemperance and murder in New York city. But this account of benefactions by her merchants and others, goes to show that there are noble men there, with noble sympathies and large hearts and open purses. And as we read the little piece of dry statistics, the feeling rushes through the heart, that the erring cities and the erring men, as some of them doubtless are, whose spontaneous mercy swells these goodly sums—will in their turn find mercy when they need it most, at the hand of their fellow men perhaps, certainly at the hand of Him whose providence should be acknowledged alike in the pestilence which desolates, and in the charity which refreshes. Messrs. Hawks, Woodruff and Frost of New York, have closed the account of the subscriptions for the Howard Association of New Orleans, and made a final report. After stating items received to the amount of $442, since their last report, they say—

The association has now funds in abundance, and we have made up and closed our account, remitting balance due. The whole amount of our collection is $57,439 11. From the following sources, viz:—

New York citizens	$33,890 90
Boston, Mass.	10,000.00
Providence, R. I.	3,001 71
Newport,	1,028 00
London, Eng.	250 00
Newark	450 00
Peterboro', N. Y.	1,000 00
New Orleans citizens	6,519 50
Bethlehem, Pa.	186 00
Sundry places near New York	1,130 00
	$57,439 11

This of course does not include contributions to more than double the amount stated, which have been sent directly to New Orleans.

Mr. John C. Ryan, treasurer of the committee appointed to raise funds for the relief of the sufferers at Mobile, acknowledges the receipt of $615 since his report on the 20th.

The movement to raise funds for the relief of the sufferers at Galveston, is also being liberally sustained, notwithstanding the large contributions recently made for other objects.

PASS HIM ROUND.—"The State of Maine" newspaper, exposes and denounces one CHARLES KETCHUM, formerly of Oswego, N. Y., but now residing at Ellsworth, Me., under the assumed name of George S. Raymond, having recently connected himself with the Ellsworth Herald as editor.—He was for a short time employed by the printers of the 'State of Maine,' who, though he was unfaithful to them, had then no idea he was so bad a man as he now proves to be.—The editors now have information that he married a woman now residing in Oswego, N. Y., whose maiden name was Rachael Benson, by whome he had two or three children, now living with their mother and supported at her expense; a poor woman who obtains subsistance for herself and children by sewing. Having deserted this woman without cause, this same Ketchum, otherwise Raymond, lives with a woman, who passes for his wife.

JEREMIAH GOLDBAITHE.—The Lowell Courier states, in regard to "the Natick Cobbler,"—that Henry Wilson's real name is JEREMIAH GOLDBAITHE—that his family was among the most debauched and abandoned in New Hampshire,—and that Wilson violated the law of the State in thus changing his name."

That which is in the daily papers, is no longer a secret; and therefore we copy the above. We understand, however, that Mr. Wilson is, in his personal character, a very respectable man, as he certainly is a man of talent and industry. If he has raised himself from such an abject origin as the Courier states, we think he ought to be held in high esteem, and shall be half inclined to forgive him the sin of changing so bad a name for one that is sufficiently good to let the man rise superior to his accidents.

We should like to know the facts however, and therefore request the Courier to tell us where, in this State, the man originated.

The Congregational, N. H., Journal says: "We were lately informed that a worthy but poor minister, who was unable to keep a horse, found it desirable to exchange, on a certain Sabbath, with another minister who lived 25 miles distant. He solicited of his church members the use of a horse, but being uniformly denied, he set off and travelled the distance on foot—fifty weary miles, over hills and valleys, and under a burning sun. And yet the exchange was to gratify these church members with the service of a favorite minister in administering the communion! Let Mrs. Hubbell add this fact to the next edition of "Shady Side."

It appears, from statements published in Paris papers, that the forms of Catholic worship are unknown to the leaders of the insurrection in China, and that, in consequence, the Catholics of Nankin have suffered the severest treatment, and many of them have been put to death.

☞ The Rockingham County Temperance Convention (see advertisement) will be held in Exeter to-morrow, Wednesday. The fare to Exeter by the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad will be at half price; tickets to go and return can be had of the Conductor in the Cars.

☞ Yankee Addams's Benefit, comes of at the Cameneum this evening, when he will appear as Sam Slick and Cousin Joe, characters which he delineates to the life—with "buttons all over him."

☞ The alarm of fire last evening was caused by a slight burning of the blacksmith shop at Mr. Raynes's ship yard. The fire was extinguished without damage.

FIREMEN'S MUSTER AT NATICK.—DISGRACEFUL SCENE.—On Friday about twenty Engine Companies met at Natick, Mass., to make trials of skill, to bestow prizes and to partake collation. The display was very fine—the fire companies being in uniform, their engines decorated and each company having a band of music.

Mr. Yale's medium sized tent was spread for the dinner, and accommodations for 1200 persons made, but unfortunately this was 200 less than the number of firemen who came to participate in the dinner; some of those who were unable to get admission became disaffected and this in part gave rise to subsequent disturbance. The dinner was prepared at half past one o'clock, but the companies did not arrive until three, and the dinner was then cold. These causes—insufficient accommodations and cold dinner, induced a Brighton company, with such other persons as were ill-disposed, to give vent to their displeasure by utterly destroying the food, breaking and destroying all the crockery, demolishing the tables, and finally pulling down and greatly injuring the tent. The damage to the tent alone is $200, to say nothing of the great inconvenience to its owner. It was a new tent, 140 feet long by 65 wide. Some of the companies, among which was the company from Foxboro', marched quietly away from the tent, after having endeavored in vain to restore order, and dined at a hotel. The Cambridge companies also took no part in the riot.

The marshals did all they could to suppress the disturbance, as also did many of the firemen.

The following paragraph, which we find in another place, is a key to the whole mystery of mischief.

"Liquor, and that of the very worst description, had been introduced into the town, of which many freely partook, and were thus ripe for any disturbance."

No wonder that men at once hungry and drunken as well as disappointed, should do mischief. It would be wonderful if they did not.

The Coos Democrat says the Sewardised whigs and open abolitionists are to unite their forces again in New Hampshire for the spring election, and endeavor to carry the legislature by all possible combinations.

Portsmouth, N. H., Sept. 12, 1852.

MR. S. GILBERT, Dear Sir—

Having been afflicted with a diseased Liver, attended with pain in the side. I was advised by a friend to try your Extract Polypodium, and am happy to inform you that it has not only cured me of the above disease, but it also relieved me of a Chronic Diarrhea which I contracted in the war with Mexico, to cure which I had tried the popular remedies of the day to no effect. I can cheerfully recommend it to the public as the best medicine for the above complaint of which I have any knowledge. I have also proved it to be an invaluable purifier of the blood.

Respectfully yours. WM. H. FRANKLIN.

The above excellent Medicine is sold at wholesale or retail by the proprietor, S. GILBERT, at his Medicine Store, No, 18 Pleasant street. s23

LATER FROM CALIFORNIA.

ARRIVAL OF THE NORTHERN LIGHT.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.

The steamer Northern Light, from San Juan, arrived this Morning at one o'clock. She brings dates from San Francisco to Sept. 1, $1,350,000 on freight, and $500,000 in the hands of passengers. She connected with the Brother Jonathan, which brought down $1,500,000 on freight, and 700 passengers.

The steamer Oregon, for Panama, sailed on the 1st, with nearly $100,000 in specie.

Several prominent Democrats are stumping the state in opposition to the re-election of Governor Bigler. Dr. M. H. Gray is nominated by the Whigs for Mayor of San Francisco. The Democrats had nominated Capt. C. K. Harrison.

Large meetings had been held in San Francisco in favor of the immediate construction of the Pacific Railroad.

Emigrants from China and from across the Plains are arriving in great numbers.

Large shipments of quicksilver are being made to China.

The excess of the shipment of gold dust, for eight months over 1852, amounts to nearly ten and a quarter millions.

The two men who murdered Mr. Beckwith at the Volcano diggings, were arrested on board the Brother Jonathan on her trip down to the Isthmus. Their names are Dutch Harry and James Fox.

Strikes among the laborers still continue, and are generally successful.

The bricklayers had struck for $12 a day, and the hod cariers for $6, and both were successful. A vast number of buildings were going up, at a cost of $75,000 to $200,000 each. The taxable property in the city is assessed at nearly $29,000,000.

Nearly half of the town of Sonora has been destroyed by fire. It commenced in Barnum's Hotel, and swept down the whole north part of the Main street. The business portion of the city is uninjured. Loss $40,000. The town of Kelsey's Diggings, ElDorado county, was burnt down on the night of the 25th August. Loss $40,000. The principal losers were Messrs. Miller, Baker, Woodruff, and Johnson; J. T. Paul, Tremont House; Kossuth House; Empire State House.

The Indian insurrection in Rogue River Valley had created great consternation among the inhabitants. The several tribes had united, and commenced a war of extermination upon the whites. Many massacres had already been committed. Among the victims are Dr. Wm. L. Rose and John K. Harding. Lieut. B. Griffin, with a company of troops, had made an attack on a party of Indians, but was obliged to retreat with the loss of one man, and was himself wounded. An expedition under Gen. Lane had gone up to the scene of action, and bloody work was expected. At last accounts, 20 whites had been butchered by the Indians.

Dates from Oregon are to the 26 August.

San Francisco markets have been dull since the sailing of the previous steamer, the demand from the interior being light with no prospect of improvement.

ARMY INTELLIGENCE.—Army Store keeper Appointed.—Theodore J. Eckerson of Oregon, who served with distinction as a sergeant in the regular army in Mexico, has been appointed army store-keeper in Oregon.

A New Military Post.— The War Department have ordered four companies of the 8th infantry, now at Camp Chadburn on the Upper Colorado and Camp McKavett on the San Saba, to proceed with all possible despatch to El Paso, to establish a post there on the American side of the river.

Army Assistant Surgeon Appointed.—Richard Potts of Maryland, to be assistant surgeon in the army, vice Hammoud, resigned.

MILLS BURNT AT VEAZIE, ME.—One of the blocks of saw mills in the town of Veazie, formerly North Bangor, took fire on Thusday night about 12 o'clock; the fire was caused by friction of the shaft of the edgeing cutter connected with a gang of saws, as the workmen were at supper. The fire spread with great rapidity. The force pump between the two blocks of mills was put in operation, and this alone saved the upper block, the dam and bridges and about all of value about the establishment. Twelve saws with two gangs were burnt out and destroyed, with the machinery connected for the manufacture of small lumber. The loss is probably between thirty and forty thousand dollars. The Mills were owned by John W. Veazie, and were insured until within a few weeks, when the policy ran out and has not been renewed.—Bangor Courier.

PROVIDENCE, Sept. 25th.—The store of Geo. W. Babcock, on one of the most crowded streets of this city, was entered on Saturday noon, and robbed of forty or fifty watches and other property. A man was arrested on suspicion, and on searching his baggage at the Earl House, where he had registered his name as "Williams," the stolen property was found.

THE NEW "ORGAN" AT WASHINGTON.—WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—Beverly Tucker's new paper, the Sentinel, appears this morning. It is progressive in its tone, is in favor of the annexation of Cuba, justifies Commander Ingraham's conduct at Smyrna, and sympathizes with the Hunker portion of the New-York Democracy.

THE NEWPORT INCIDENTS.—Among the passengers by the Asia, from New York, for Liverpool, on Wednesday, were Mr. and Mrs. William R. Morgan, whose domestic relations were presented to the public in so unfavorable a light at Newport recently. Mr. Morgan has given bonds in $1000 for his appearance in court in November to answer to the charge of assault on Mr. Hone; his recognizance will of course be forfeited. The name "Morgan" and the word "marriage" appear not to be in sympathy.

SERIOUS DISASTER ON LAKE ERIE.—Bishop's large boom derrick, which was at work at the wreck of the steamer Erie, off Silver Creek, was capsized during the gale of the 24th, and, with the steamers Madison and Lexington, went down. Mr. Bishop and the crews of the boats were saved.

Bay State Stoves.

THE Subscriber would inform his friends and the public, that he has for sale all sizes of this favorite Stove. Having sold them in this city for five years past, they have been thoroughly tested with wood and coal, and are found perfect in every respect.

Those put in operation four and five years since have had no repairs made upon them, and are to all appearance as good as ever. So great is the popularity of these Stoves, that many imitations of it are put into the market, such as the Granite State, Empire State, &c.; but none of them are equal to it in weight or quality of castings, cooking facilities, or economy of fuel.

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years: And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—health, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S

Private Medical Companion,

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,

PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.

One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.

[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]

First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title-page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be ignorant.

☞ On receipt of One Dollar (for the fine Edition, extra binding,) "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION" is sent (mailed free) to any part of the United States. THE TYPE SETTER.

A SONG FOR THE PRESS.

Written on hearing a friend called "Talented for a mere Type-setter."

"A mere type-setter!" still a man
The world perchance may yet revere:
Unknown, unnoted, one who can
Have nought to hope, and nought to fear!
Yet, where's the kingly sceptered hand,
The brow that bears a princely gem,
That wields so well a wide command,
Whose "stick" may match a diadem!

"A mere type-setter!" let us see,
Who gave the glorious stripes to air,
That mark the banner of the free,
And bound the stars that glimmer there?
Who turned the bolt of heaven aside,
And conquered its ethereal fire?
Who bade the lightning harmless glide
Along its magic wand of wire?

"A mere type-setter!" search the past,
The records of each battle field,
Who nailed our colors to the mast?
Who died because they would not yield?
Who taught our hand to strike the blow,
Through toil and danger and distress,
That severed the tyrants chains of woe—
Who, but the masters of the Press?

"A mere type-setter!" name of fear,
To bid the slave of freedom wake—
That tyranny shall quake to hear,
And bid oppression's empire shake;
Is Franklin a forgotten name,
That man no longer may revere?
Has Prentice lost his soul of flame,
Or Greely dropped his pen of fear?

"A mere type-setter!" honored name,
That ages yet unborn shall bless,
When empires crumble, and their fame
Has sunk in worse than nothingness.
Show me the thing whose leers deride
The mere type-setter's humble school,
And I'll show you an ape of pride,
A brainless or a dandy fool.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS
With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidence of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind—the highest praise that can not yet been rewarded, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Depot and manufactory, No. 137 Broadway, New York. Retail price 25 cents a large bottle.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston.

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The receipt was given to Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

DR. HAMPTON'S
VEGETABLE TINCTURE!
The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the best family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Goat, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. K. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Dunan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered. Consumption can be cured! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

PUBLIC WORSHIP IN OLDEN TIMES.—The following extract is taken from a historical sketch of Old Milford, Conn.

The pastor being in the pulpit, which towered high, and was surmounted by a huge sounding-board, the ruling elder on an elevated seat before the pulpit, facing the audience, and the deacons on their seats, somewhat less elevated than his, the heads of families on plain seats in the body of the house, and the children and young people where they could most conveniently dispose themselves, the pastor opened the service with a prayer of at least fifteen minutes long, which was followed by the reading and explanation of a chapter of holy writ, which was followed by the psalm given out by the elder, in which all the congregation who could sing, joined, which was followed by a sermon an hour or more in length, measured by the glass, with which, and another prayer, and the benediction, the meeting closed. The entire services occupied three hours. They met at nine o'clock in the morning and two in the afternoon, and celebrated the Lord's Supper once a month, at the close of the morning service.

Every Sabbath there was a contribution, previous to the taking of which, one of the deacons in turn, standing up, said, 'Brethren of the congregation, now there is time remaining for contribution to the Lord, wherefore as the Lord hath prospered you, freely offer.' The box was not passed from seat to seat, as with us, but was placed on a stand or table near the pulpit—those disposed to contribute came forward and deposited their offering, consisting not of money merely, but notes of hand, and articles which could be profitably appropriated to the use of the church.

A SELF-MADE MAN.—Hon. Andrew Johnson, who has been elected Governor of Tennessee, actually commenced life in the almshouse of Wake county, N. C., where he remained until his eighth year, when he was apprenticed to a tailor in Raleigh. The Milwaukie Wisconsin says:

"His master, if he failed to have him taught even the rudiments of an English education, at least trained him to love the truth, work hard, and be straightforward in his dealings with every one. When his apprenticeship was up, Mr. Johnson married a woman after his own heart, who knew enough from books to aid him in mastering the arts of reading and writing.

On marrying, just after he became of age, he emigrated to Eastern Tennessee, trudging bare-footed, it is said, with his faithful helpmate by his side, and his pack on his back.—Assiduous labor at the tailor's trade, at the end of ten years placed him in comfortable circumstances, for his position in that region; and by that time, by dint of hard study during his leisure moments, he had come to be actually a man of considerable general information.

Being a good talker on the stump, he was sent consecutively for a term of two years to both branches of the Legislature. From thence he was transferred to the House of Representatives of the United States, where he served six years.

A BIBLICAL CRITIC.—The best specimen of original criticism we ever heard, was in a stage-coach ride to Berry Edge. Three of us were talking about Adam and his fall. The point of discussion was the apparent impossibility that a perfect man like Adam could commit sin.

'But he wasn't perfect,' said one of the three.

"Wasn't perfect!' we ejaculated in amazement.

'No, sir, he wasn't perfect,' repeated our commentator.

'What do you mean?' we asked.

'Well,' answered the authority, 'he was made perfect, I admit, but he didn't stay perfect.'

'How?'

'Why, was not one of his ribs removed? If he was perfect with all his ribs, he was not perfect after losing one, was he? Say?

Our say was silence. We were convinced then, that woman was the cause of man's original imperfection.—Gateshead (England) Observer.

☞ The papers relate how Mr. Robinson, a justice of the peace in Milford, Ohio, was whipping his dog, when the animal caught him by the thoat; his wife with an axe aimed a blow at the dog, but it fell upon the head of her husband and killed him. Mrs. R. was nearly deranged in consequence.

A CURIOUS STORY.—On Tuesday evening last, a marine looking individual presented himself at the United States Marshal's office, stating that he had been referred there by the commandant of the Navy Yard at Brooklyn, and related a story, the gist of which is that he was lately informed by a pirate on his death bed, that he had served on board a pirating vessel, which was sunk and abandoned upwards of twenty years ago at the Balize, (at the mouth of the Mississippi river) with twenty-two tons of silver and gold coin on board, besides other articles of great value; that this treasure had never been disturbed, and the exact locality was pointed out by the dying man. The marine millionaire in expectancy had asked at the Navy Yard for a ship of war to enable him to prosecute his auri sacra fames, which, however, he was denied, and his errand to the Marshal's office was with a view to get a revenue cutter, or some other government vessel, to carry him to the golden point, and for which service he was willing to divide the proceeds of his exploring expedition with the government of the United States. His reason for asking this aid was, he said, owing to a fear that if he should undertake a private enterprise to recover the sunken treasure, the money might be seized or stolen from him. As a matter of course, the United States authorities did not feel inclined to convert the arm of public defence or revenue to any private speculation, and therefore the fortune hunter left with the determination of seeking assistance elsewhere.—N. Y. Her.

The story looks fishy; nevertheless, some persons may believe it, and dig or dive for the treasure.

THE LONDON CHURCHES.—Much has been lately said in Parliament about taking down some of the London churches, and building new ones in the out skirts to which the people have migrated. There is certainly some reason for such a change. We (Liverpool Albion) lately visited one of the old churches, in a dense district of warehouses. Service commenced for the clerk, the Sexton, the pew-opener, and ourself. After church we said to "dearly-beloved Roger:"

"Have you never a better congregation than this?"

"O, dear, yes, sir," he briskly answered, "some times a sudden and heavy shower of rain will drive in crowds of people to take shelter."

A terror of rain does more good than a reign of terror.

WIDOW OF JOHN HANCOCK.—Mrs. Hancock, the widow of John Hancock, of the Revolution, married James Scott. Her last days were secluded. Those who were admitted to her little supper table, were considered highly honored. When Lafayette was last in this country, he made an early call upon her, and they who were witnesses, speak of it with admiration. The once youthful chevalier and the unrivalled belle met, as if only a summer had passed since they had enjoyed social interviews during the perils of the Revolution.—She was attentive in her very last days to taste in dress, as when in the circles of fashion.—"She would never forgive a young girl," she said, "who did not dress to please, nor one who seemed pleased with her dress."—Newark Daily Advertiser.

How very kindly a certain feathered gentleman with red gills takes to hens' eggs, is shown by a Vermont journalist, who records the achievement of a Turkey-cock belonging to Mr. Odell of Odelltown, which sat upon twelve hen's eggs, and hatched seven chickens. He continues to take charge of his young brood, covering them at night under his wings, the mother of the brood meanwhile being in attendance at a hen convention.

Morning Chronicle.

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 28, 1853.

GRAIN AND SPIRIT.

The Boston Chronicle of Monday contains an editorial article which embodies some valuable statistics of the Grain and Liquor trades, digested from the Census returns.

The object of the Chronicle in bringing them forward, is to enlist the Cultivators of the Soil against the Maine Law, on the plea that this law, if adopted in New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio, where it is now proposed, will greatly injure and depress the farming business in those States.

"Of course, (says the Boston Chronicle,) the agriculturists in the States mentioned are viewing with no little solicitude, the efforts of these fanatics to render valueless the immense products of their uncounted acres of barley, rye and corn, with their hop fields and flourishing vineyards." The agriculturists, being a numerous class, can settle this question for themselves. But the statistics are interesting to all classes.

"The whole amount of ale and spirituous liquors produced in the United States in the year 1850, exceeded eighty-six millions of gallons, the value of which must have been at least twenty-five millions of dollars. This does not, of course, include the wine produced, which in 1850 amounted to 221,240 gallons, and must have yielded from a half to a million of dollars additional.

The chief ingredients in the manufacture of this eighty-six million gallons, produced as above mentioned, are barley, rye, corn and hops. These are grown principally in the great States of New York, Ohio, and Pennsylvania, as thus:—

	Bushels of barley.	Bushels of rye.	Pounds of hops.
New York	3,885,069	4,148,182	2,538,299
Ohio	354,358	425,718	22,088
Pennsylvania	165,564	4,805,160	63,731

We have not included corn in the above.—The quantity raised in 1850, was 592,326,612 bushels; of which only about eleven millions of bushels entered into the manufacture of malt and spirituous liquor.

Of the whole amount of rye (14,188,639 bushels) raised in the country in 1850, about two and a quarter millions were consumed in the manufacture of malt and spirituous liquors. Nine tenths of this was grown in the central and western states.

Of the whole amount of barley raised in the states during the same year (viz: 5,167,016 bushels) a very large portion of which was consumed in the manufacture of malt and spirituous liquors, viz., 3,780,000 bushels, according to the official returns.

The quantity of hops raised in the country in 1850 was 3,496,029 pounds. Of this large amount, Pennsylvania produces but a small item, viz: 22,088 pounds, and Ohio 63,734 pounds, while New York produces nearly five sixths of the whole amount raised throughout the states, viz: 2,536,299 pounds. New York stands foremost in the production of ale, beer and porter, in the manufacture of which most of the hops are used. The breweries of the state produced 645,000 barrels of ale, &c., in 1850, or more than a third of the whole quantity manufactured in the United States."

From the above statistics we select these items:

Corn distilled, bushels,	11,000,000
Barley,	3,780,000
Rye,	2,250,000
	17,030,000

We are glad to have something tangible on these subjects. The beer and ale of course, are all made for drinking, and all drank, except a little wasted, and a little more used for vinegar.

A very considerable portion of all the spirits distilled from grain, is used for burning, and for various chemical and manufacturing purposes. The new editor of the Boston Chronicle is evidently a man of facts and figures. If he will get, from one or two distillers and dealers, an account or estimate of the quantity of spirits made into burning fluid, or sold as alcohol, he will do a public service.

As for all the grain that is distilled to make bad liquor for drinking, we think it would be vastly better to make cheap bread of one half, and give the other to the hogs, cattle and sheep, to make meat better and cheaper.

We must be allowed to think the country would be more prosperous with cheap bread and good meat, than it is now with cheap rum and vile whiskey. We submit this opinion with great diffidence, and stand ready to be corrected.

KILLING THE WRONG MAN.—California Lynch Law is very fast law indeed, but not exactly sure footed. A crime is committed—the avenger rushes out and kills somebody, it may be the criminal—or it may not.

From various circumstances, it is more than probable that the "Joaquin Rangers," whose supposed capture of the renowned bandit Joaquin created so much talk lately, were mistaken in their man, and decapitated an unlucky person who went out with a party from Los Angelos to catch wild horses.

The country is not exactly safe, yet.

A rendezvous of villians, of all grades and character, was recently discovered in the sink of the Humbolt River, east of the Sierra Nevada. A murderer was traced by a party from Calaveras county, to the rendezvous, where about one hundred and fifty of the outlaws were discovered. A volunteer force will probably go out to dislodge the villains.

THE EARTHQUAKE AT THEBES.—A letter from Athens, of the 26th ult., gives the following particulars of the destruction of Thebes by an earthquake:—"Eleven persons have lost their lives, and eighteen have been taken from the ruins badly wounded. The town was composed partly of new houses, solidly built, and partly of old ones, constructed of wood and bricks. The first have been entirely destroyed, and had not the inhabitants hurried away they would have been buried in the ruins; and the second class of houses are so much injured as to be uninhabitable. The whole population are encamped in the open air. Thebes, where water was formerly so abundant, has now scarcely any, and the dust raised by the falling of the houses has so covered the gardens and vineyards that the fruit has lost all its savour. The King and the Queen, when informed of this sad event, sent 500 drachmas and a quantity of military tents to the inhabitants. Not only Thebes, but also the neighboring villages as far as Platea, have so much suffered, that there are seventeen of them which are quite uninhabitable. The town of Chalcis also has had some houses destroyed by this earthquake. For the last eighteen years, shocks have been frequently felt at Thebes and Athens, and sometimes several shocks have been felt within the space of twenty-four hours."

A WELL-DESERVED PUNISHMENT.—On Thursday night last, two young men refused to pay their fares between Boston and Lynn. Their names are William Chase and John Ward, residents of Lynn. The following morning, the two men were arrested by order of Mr. Kinsman, superintendent of the road, upon complaint of conductor Harris. They were taken before Mr. Justice Waters on Saturday, and fined $25 each and costs, amounting to about $15 more for each defendant.—The same men also assailed the conductor, Mr. Harris, and for this offence they were ordered to find bail in $300 each, for their appearance for trial at the Court of Common Pleas, to be holden at Lawrence on the first of November. A Mr. Chase, of Lynn, appeared and offered himself as bail for the two men. He conducted with so much impropriety before the Court, that Mr. Justice Waters ordered him to be committed to jail for four days for contempt of Court. This not being a bailable offence, the wealthy man was locked up, and will have to remain in Salem jail until his sentence expires. In the meantime, the two young men obtained other bail, and are now at liberty.—Sunday News.

SHADRACH IN CANADA.—The slave Shadrach is a resident of Montreal. He keeps an eating house at No. 172 1-2 Notre Dame st., and displays upon his show board these words—"Uncle Tom's Cabin, by Shadrach." He is married to an Irish woman, and has added a subject to her Majesty's dominion within a year.

The reader may remember that Shadrach (of whom the Boston Courier gives the above accounts,) was the runaway who was rescued by the negroes and mulattoes of Boston, from the Court room in which he was watched by a temporary deputy marshal.

☞ The Fair of the Mechanic Association, now open in Boston, will be closed on Saturday evening next.

The gas has been "let on" in some parts of Nashua. A city, gas, and water works all at once!

There are over one thousand applications for admission to Mount Holyoke Seminary.

For the Chronicle.

AN ANSWER.—The question proposed to me by J. D. Jr., in the Chronicle of the 24th, requires but a moment's thought. The three cube numbers are 1, 217 and 512, and their sum 729, which is both a square and cube number. I presume every school boy who has investigated the principles of square and cube root, in the care of an intelligent instructor, is aware not only that there are some cube numbers whose squares are perfect cubes, and some square numbers whose cubes are perfect squares, but that every power of every square is a perfect square, and every power of every cube is a perfect cube—it follows then as a matter of course, that every power of 729 (which is both a square and cube number) will be both a perfect square and cube. In reference to the question published in the Journal, I regret that N. D. jr. will not admit the correctness of J. N. F.'s solution, as I must again assert its entire accuracy, and while N. D. jr. admits in his solution that A wrought 21 7-13, hours, still with the proportion 48 : 21 7-13 :: 300 : 134 8-13 before him, he asserts that A's share of money is only $1.33⅓. He promised to show us the fallacy of J. N. F.'s reasoning, but I fear nous ne le verrons pas. The solution of the question in reference to the block of stone, bears strong marks of force; as the same extractions, multiplications, &c., which he employed would not have produced the answer had the stone been 12 feet long, 6 feet wide, and 3 feet thick. Take the following: The stone is twice as long as it is wide; twice as wide as it is thick, and costs twice as many cents per cubic foot as the stone was feet in length, the whole cost was $51.84. Required the length. Now on N. D. jr.'s principle, the square root of 51.84 will give half the cubic contents of the stone. The square root of 5184 is 72, which multiplied by 2, gives 144—but this stone contains 216 cubic feet, being 12 feet long, 6 feet wide, and 3 feet thick. Again, he makes the square root of the cubic contents to be the length, and the cube root to be the width—but the square root of 216 is 14.69 † instead of 12. It is not enough to say that the square root of the cost is the square feet on the surface of the stone, for although this is the only statement in the whole solution which will hold good in every case, yet no use was made of it in determining the answer, although it was stated that the numbers, of which 32 was the product, could be determined by Algebra or Double Position—so could any one go to Exeter, via Berwick, Dover and Newmarket. I have not before mingled in this almost useless discussion, and shall not feel myself called upon to continue it any farther, till N. D. jr. fulfils his pledge to prove that his solution published in the Journal of 17th is correct. Yours, J. P. P.

Reported for the Chronicle.

Court of Common Pleas—Sept. Term.

ROCKINGHAM CO.—AT PORTSMOUTH.
HON. GEO. Y SAWYER OF Nashua, Presiding Justice.

The State, vs. Levi Brackett.—The jury returned a verdict (Tuesday morning) that Deft. is guilty.

The State, vs. Eliphalet G. Robinson and Chas. H. Moore.—The indictment alleges that the respondents at Exeter on the 9th July last, obstructed Nathaniel K. Leavitt, a Deputy Sheriff of Exeter, in the service of a mesne process committed to him for service. The defence was that the instrument in virtue of which said Sheriff was deputized, was not under seal as required by the statute. The Court held that the objection was valid, upon which a nol pros was entered.

A. R. Hatch for the State—E. F. Tucker for respondents.

The action No. 85—of Bradbury P. Cilley, vs. Isaac Bartlett, the trial of which it was expected would occupy several days, was unexpectedly continued. This continuance produced some confusion in respect to the actions next in order, and it is therefore expected that the Court will adjourn to some time in October.

At 4 o'clock, the Court adjourned till Monday, the 17th of October next, at 11 o'clock A. M., at the Court House in this city.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—Yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock, as Mr. Samuel Milton was engaged in taking down the old elm trees in Daniel Street, he stood on a long ladder about 25 feet above the ground, sawing off an Elm tree in front of the old Wentworth house now occupied by Mr. C. Ewer, an assistant was drawing the body of the limb from him, and as it separated from the trunk, its large end swinging against the ladder, forced it against the house, about 10 feet, with Mr. Milton upon it. The back of his neck struck the eaves, the ladder broke, he fell upon the portico—then upon the ground inside of the front fence. The first blow upon the back of the neck, which displaced one of the bones, probably caused death instantly, though he was badly bruised about the carotid artery, and over the left back of the thorax.

He was taken up, and carried into the house of Mr. C. E. Myers, close at hand, where he breathed his last in a few moments.

Mr. Milton was a most industrious, honest and worthy man, who has always lived in our midst, and whose loss will be sensibly felt by his townsmen, and deplored by his bereaved family. His age was about 60.

A TOWN CEMETERY.

The Bunker Hill Aurora informs us that the town of Medford, Mass., has recently purchased a piece of land located on High street, near Winchester, which is being walled in and fitted up as a Cemetery. The area includes thirteen acres, (for which the sum of $5000 was paid,) thickly wooded, and will be when completed, a beautiful resting place for the dead. A receiving tomb has been built, and is now ready for use.

What the town of Medford has thus done, the City of Portsmouth will be obliged to do in a few years, and ought to do immediately—because it can now be done on a large scale and at a reasonable price, but will in ten years have become much more difficult and expensive.

ACCIDENT.—A little girl, the child of Rev. A. R. Bradbury, was run over by a wagon, in Islington street, on Saturday last, and its arm broken. The limb was dressed by Dr. Leighton, and the child is now doing well.

☞ A boy named Thomas Jones, whose parents reside in Water street, fell from a horse chestnut tree in Mr. J. N. Handy's front yard, in State street, on Saturday, and broke his arm. Dr. Folsom was called to set the injured limb, and the patient is doing finely.

☞ At the Cameneum, This Evening, comes off the benefit of Mrs. J. P. Adams; the play is Uncle Tom's Cabin, in which Mrs. Adams as Cassy is a decided attraction for those who have seen her once. Those who have not, may be assured she plays the character finely.—The whole bill is a good one—and the season draws near its close.

A CRASH.—On Monday evening in New York City, at the grand hard shell meeting in the Park, just as James T. Brady was about to speak, the platform, containing the speakers, reporters, and three or four hundred men and boys, broke down with a tremendous crash. Two men had their legs broken, and others were slightly injured. Mr. Brady, and Daniel S. Dickinson, who stood beside him, were not injured. In ten minutes the meeting was again organized on the steps of the City Hall, and the business of the meeting proceeded with.

WORCESTER COUNTY.—We learn from the Worcester Spy that a man named John Brough, from Barre, came to Worcester on Friday, and drew $450 in gold, from the Savings Bank, with the intention of proceeding to his native country, England, on a visit; after visiting several drinking places, he found himself lying upon the ground without his money.

The Directors of the Manchester and Lawrence Railroad have voted to run their own road on and after the first of October, independent of the Concord road, with which it has been connected for several years.

MR. S. GILBERT, Dear Sir—
Having been afflicted with a diseased Liver, attended with pain in the side. I was advised by a friend to try your Extract Polypodium, and am happy to inform you that it has not only cured me of the above disease, but it also relieved me of a Chronic Diarrhea which I contracted in the war with Mexico, to cure which I had tried the popular remedies of the day to no effect. I can cheerfully recommend it to the public as the best medicine for the above complaint of which I have any knowledge. I have also proved it to be an invaluable purifier of the blood.
Respectfully yours. WM. H. FRANKLIN.
The above excellent Medicine is sold at wholesale or retail by the proprietor, S. GILBERT, at his Medicine Store, No, 18 Pleasant street. s23

THE FEVER.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 24.—There were thirty-four interments for the twenty-four hours ending this morning, of which twelve were from yellow fever.

During the week there were two hundred and fifty three deaths, one hundred and fifty-eight of which were from the fever.

The epidemic is still raging with great violence at Vicksburg and all along the river coast.

MOBILE, Sept. 24. The fever in this city is abating. Interments yesterday were thirteen. Still prevailing very extensively at Galveston—one hundred citizens, including several eminent physicians, have already died. It is also raging in Houston.

September 26. The number of deaths for the 24 hours ending last night was 14, including 9 from yellow fever.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 26.—The southern mail, as late as due, is through. The yellow fever had abated at Pensacola. Commander Tatnall was rapidly recovering.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 26.—U. S. Steamer Fulton, from the fishing grounds, passed the Breakwater this morning, bound to this port.

MAINE LEGISLATURE.—The bill authorizing a change of the shares of the Atlantic and St. Lawrence Railroad stock, to be changed to sterling currency, passed to be engrossed in both branches of the Legislature on Saturday last.

The report of the Committee on the subject of the purchase of the Massachusetts lands, with the accompanying resolves, was ordered to be printed, after some discussion. The report is in favor of the purchase of all the Massachusetts land, and the Portland Advertiser understands, was adopted in committee by a vote of 24 to 4.

OGDENSBURG RAILROAD.—The negotiations which have been pending for a week past, between the Ogdensburg Company and the lower lines, were finally brought to a close yesterday afternoon, by a sale of all the second mortgage bonds of the Ogdensburg Corporation, at Par! This highly satisfactory arrangement enables the Ogdensburg Railroad, not only to pay its coupons on the 1st of October, but also to meet all its liabilities and have a handsome surplus—besides the unsold shares on hand, and a very large amount of valuable real estate at Ogdensburg and Rouse's Point not wanted for the purposes of the corporation. The receipts of the line are now very large, and there is not a shadow of doubt that the net income will be more than enough to pay the interest on its entire indebtedness.—Boston Courier.

SINGULAR CHARGE TO A JURY.—A New York correspondent to the Boston Post mentions the most remarkable charge that ever passed from the bench to the jury box. A Mr. Spendler sued a Mr. Miller for slander against the plaintiff's wife. It appeared that Miller made dishonorable overtures to Spendler's wife, and in revenge for the rejection of his suit, accused the lady of being unfaithful to her marriage vow; it appeared in evidence that she was a virtuous woman, and that a knowledge of the slander was of serious injury to her health. The judge charged the jury that inasmuch as the plaintiff had sustained no pecuniary damage, the action could not be maintained. Can the decision of this Justice Shallow be law?

THE LIQUOR MOVEMENTS IN NEW YORK. The bar keepers in New York have settled upon the advance in the price of drinks, which is to be extended to brandy only. Now, if the drinkers would only strike, and agree not to touch the article at the advanced price, and the sellers would obstinately refuse to give in, it would be a capital move, and we should advise both sides to hold out.—Providence Jour.

TOOK HIM FOR A FILLIBUSTER.—When Commodore Vanderbilt's yacht, the North Star, arrived at Civita Vecchia, she was looked upon as a very suspicious craft. The Papal government connected her visit with the recently discovered Mazzina conspiracy, and refused the Commodore permission to land.—After two or three days of useless negotiation, the North Star proceeded to Naples, where she was also an object of suspicion, and had eventually to seek refuge at Malta. Though a most "progressive" Yankee, Commodore Vanderbilt is no fillibuster.

PROMPTNESS AND DECISION.—The Manchester Mirror of Saturday evening says, the Directors of the Print Works, met in Boston, yesterday, the 23d, and chose a committee to rebuild as soon as possible, and to-day 300 men, mostly those who were thrown out of employ by the fire, are busy at work cleaning the bricks and removing the rubbish; and we expect ere the deep snows of winter are come, to see the Print Works rise, phœnix like, from their ashes. The Amoskeag Company have charge of rebuilding.

We are glad to learn that the company are putting up several machines in the buildings that were saved, and that material enough was left, so that, in the short space of four weeks, their goods will again be in the market to supply the trade. This prompt action of the company is very gratifying to the 400 persons who were temporarily thrown out of employment as by it they will lose but little time.

FATAL RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—The special train which left Boston Monday afternoon, on the Worcester Railroad, to attend a land sale at "Bostonville," was composed in part of open cars, and a sudden stop being made, six or eight miles out, many of the passengers rose to ascertain what was the matter, when the train suddenly started, many were involuntarily seated, and one man, Mr. Morton Beal of Boscity, about fifty years of age, who was on a rear seat, fell backwards on the track, was cut nearly in two, and killed instantly. His remains were taken into a house in the neighborhood and were subsequently brought into the city.

Hereafter the price of admission to the Crystal Palace, on Saturday, will be 25 cents. This reduction is made for the benefit of the working classes. The Directors announce that no more applications to exhibit articles can now be granted.

Bay State Stoves.

THE Subscriber would inform his friends and the public, that he has for sale, all sizes of this favorite Stove. Having sold them in this city for five years past, they have been thoroughly tested with wood and coal, and are found perfect in every respect.

Those put in operation four and five years since have had no repairs made upon them, and are to all appearance as good as ever. So great is the popularity of these Stoves, that many imitations of it are put into the market, such as the Granite State, Empire State, &c.; but none of them are equal to it in weight or quality of castings, cooking facilities, or economy of fuel.

To all who are in want of a GOOD Cooking Stove, we would say—buy a BAY STATE, and you are sure to get THE BEST STOVE IN THE WORLD.

The subscriber has for sale, also, a variety of other Cook Stoves, Cooking Ranges, Parlor Grates, Office and Parlor Stoves. Funnel, &c. for sale low for cash. E. A. STEVENS,

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefited by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S
Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,
PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.

One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.
[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]

First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as her or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 139 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be ignorant.

☞ On receipt of One Dollar (for the fine Edition, extra binding), "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION" is sent (mailed free) to any part of the United States. AN OLD REVOLUTIONARY SOLDIER.—The old heroes of the "times that tried men's Souls" are not all dead yet. Now and then one starts up to confront the present generation, and gives his personal experience of those events, so grave in consequence to present and future generations.

We saw one of these "living witnesses" yesterday, in the person of James McDonald, a spare but well knit and lithe man; young looking indeed for his age; for as he stood with eye in which the fires of life had no begun to burn dim, and with head and body erect, no one would have supposed for a moment that he was 105 years of age, which is the fact. He was born in 1748, in Glasgow, Scotland, of Highland parents, who soon afterwards emigrated to this country. He has a son living, who is now seventy three years of age.

Mr. McDonald gives the following short sketch of his revolutionary experience:—"I am an old revolutionary soldier, having fought in most of the battles, both north and south. I lost my eye at the battle of the Cowpens, South Carolina, in Gen. Morgan's Brigade, at the taking of Tarlton's troops. I received two wounds at the battle of Camden, South Carolina, while under the command of Generals Gates and De Kalb. I was at the battle of Guilford Courthouse, under the command of Gen. Greene. I received a wound at Brandywine, while fighting under the command of Washington and Lafayette. I fought in seventeen battles in the State of New York, under the command of Generals Gates and Arnold. I saw Gen. Warren fall at Bunker Hill, while gallantly cheering his soldiers on to victory. I was born in Glasgow in September, 1748."

When asked if he was a temperance man, Mr. McDonald candidly acknowledged that he was not, and never had been. He had drank regularly since his boyhood. He said he was never, however, overcome by liquor, except upon meeting with General Lafayette in the State of New York on his visit to this country. At that time he was employed upon the Erie Canal, and suffering with the ague; and upon drinking a tumbler of Champagne which General Lafayette ordered filled for him, it completely overcame him, and, as he said, made him see double and laid him on his back.

Mr. McDonald is now on his way to St. Louis to visit his daughter. On his way up he had the misfortune to have his pension papers and a couple of land warrants stolen from him at Cleveland, which has left him destitute of money for the necessary expense of his journey. By the assistance of friends, however, he has no doubt he will get along very well. In appearance he does not look over fifty or sixty years of age.—Chicago Dem ocrat, Aug. 26.

STUDYING DEAD LANGUAGES.—Without contesting the point, whether dead languages are of any use, it will be allowed that the study costs pretty dear. Three quarters of the time for seven years, at least, is the expense. Not above one in one hundred learns to read even Latin decently well, that is one good reader for every 10,000 pounds sterling expended.—As to speaking Latin, perhaps one out of one thousand may learn that, so that there is a speaker for each 100,000 pounds spent on the languages. It will, perhaps, be said, that Latin is necessary to the understanding English, but the Greeks (particularly at Athens,) who learned no language but their own, understood and spoke it better than the people of any other country.—Professor Playfair.

HUMORS OF POLITICS.—The Albany Atlas refers those who wish to know where the Adamantine bolters of New York got their name, to the story of a much older bolt, in which Satan & Co. withdrew and made a separate organization. See Paradise Lost, book 2:

"At last appears
Hell's bounds, high-reaching to the horrid roof,
And thrice three fold the gates; three folds were brass,
Three iron, and three of Adamantine rock
Impenetrable, impaled with circling fire,
Yet unconsumed."

CATCHING OLD BIRDS WITH CHAFF—A couple of thieves called at the house of Mr. Mathews, Pleasant street, Boston, on Monday, and asked if they could be accomodated with board. The lady gave an answer in the affirmative, whereupon, one of the rogues expressed a desire to "see his room," and finally went up stairs. The other rogue stood talking with the lady in the hall. Soon the room inspector returned to his companion, and both thieves left, saying that they would return soon with their baggage. The lady soon after found that a gold watch had been stolen from the room visited by her new boarder.

FASHIONABLE BONNETS.—It is difficult to imagine, says the Albion, anything more tasteless, vulgar and unbecoming than the present style of ladies' bonnets, which Punch admirably rebukes in announcing as the October fashion, that they "will be worn on the small of the back." How long will the fair sex remain in bondage to the whims of shopkeepers? Of course, the modistes like the absurdity of to-day: it does not cost them much for material.

OSSIFICATION.—We hear that our fellow townsman, Mr. John McGinnis, a farmer in the northeastern part of the town, lies in a peculiar and distressing condition as regards bodily health, occasioned by his extremities becoming ossified, or converting of the flesh parts of the same into a bony substance Mr. McGinnis about a year since, at the burning of the factory near this village, contracted a violent cold, and the result is above stated.—Skaneateles Dem.

BEAT THIS IF YOU CAN.—The Machias Union, of Tuesday, the 20th inst., is responsible for the following:

"A correspondent writing from Wesley, gives an account of "a great cranberry excursion" to Lake Sabio, on a branch of Machias river. He says, "six of us started on Monday, 29th ult., and returned on Thursday following, with sixty-five bushels of clean cranberries!"

ROMANCE IN A ROYAL MARRIAGE.—Vienna correspondents narrate a romantic tale of the Emperor's recent espousal, or affiancement. His Majesty saw his intended, for the first time, at a ball at Ischel, and was so much struck with her beauty that he requested her mother's permission to converse with her alone for five minutes. At the expiration of that brief courtship he brought and presented her as the future empress of Austria.

WIDE CARS FOR THE CENTRAL LINE.—All the new cars for the New York Central rail road are to be nine feet eight inches in width, which is only four inches narrower than the broad gauge cars—making a difference in each seat of only two inches. This change will conduce vastly to the comfort of the passengers.—Buffalo Commercial Advertiser.

A child of Lorin Field of Somers, Conn., aged three years, died quite suddenly a few days since, after having eaten a stick of colored candy. An examination of the contents of the stomach showed the presence of a quantity of lead, supposed to have been contained in the candy

"A young man, a member of an evangelical church," advertises in a New York paper for Board "in a pious family where his christian example would be considered a compensation."

The act to abate the smoke nuisance, which has lately gone into effect in London, requires all furnaces, factories, engines and steam vessels, to burn their own smoke, under severe and summary penalties.

THURSDAY, SEPT. 29, 1853.

A STIR AMONG THE BANKERS.

The redemption of foreign money at the Suffolk Bank in Boston, has been a fixed fact for many years, and seemed to be permanent. Great power, however, kept long in the hands of the same men, is apt to be abused, and money kings are apt, in this wise, to be no better than other kings.

A day or two since the directors of the Suffolk Bank issued a circular in regard to the redemption of foreign money, wherein they stated that owing to the large amount sent into them at a late hour, requiring the clerks to work until an unseasonable hour, they had decided after the 1st of October, to receive no foreign money after 12 o'clock.

The other Banks, immediately on the appearance of this circular, called a meeting, and the Presidents of the various Banking Institutions in the city, convened at the Merchants' Bank Building to consult as to what course it was best to pursue in the matter. The grievance of not allowing all the foreign money received during the hours of business, to be assorted and counted on the same day, was duly discussed, and after considerable consultation, a committee was instructed to notify the Suffolk Bank to withdraw their circular, and to receive all foreign money from the Banks up to two o'clock, or else the Boston Banks should all withdraw their special deposit, and immediately organize a new Bank under the General Banking Law, to redeem the bills of all the New England Banks. The Boston Banks have about $200,000 deposited with the Suffolk Bank to pay them for redeeming foreign money, and this it is proposed to withdraw as a capital for the new institution.—Considerable feeling seemed to exist in regard to the matter, it being thought that the profits of the Suffolk Bank from the foreign money department, would warrant the employment of enough clerks to do the work.

Here then, is a strife among the money kings. If the Suffolk Bank does not back out, or compromise, the new Bank will be created speedily.

LIQUOR LAW IN BOSTON.

It appears that the Mayor and Aldermen of that city, have finally voted upon the Liquor Law question, and in regard to the law of 1852, decided virtually, that they had performed all that was required of them. In regard to the enforcement of the law, the Board considered both the majority and minority reports, in quite a lengthy discusssion. One of the Aldermen thought it enough for the Board to do to enforce a Sunday law.

In the course of the debate, Mayor Seaver desired to know what was meant by "tippling shops," as alluded to in the order. He lived in a house which some might designate as a "tippling shop," * yet it was as orderly and well-regulated as any gentleman's private residence; and said the substance of the resolve was simply that we, the Board, will do our duty. Legal opinion had been given that all that was required by the law of the Board had been done. He, the Mayor, did not hesitate to declare that the cause of temperance had been injured by the operation of this law.—Clergymen could not now effectively preach on temperance from fear of misrepresentation. The good old word of "mori suasion" was no longer in use.

The Mayor referred to the decision of Judge Merrick, upon the liquor law question, as carried into Police Courts, which had no jurisdiction in case of complaint, and in Municipal Courts juries could not agree. Arrangements were also made by several Aldermen for the enforcement of the Sunday law. If the Sunday tippling shops were not closed, the Board was false to the city. It was their duty to stop the Sunday traffic, before trying to enforce the Maine law. The grogshops were in full blast in South Boston on Sunday, as well as in other places.

Three Aldermen voted in favor of enforcing the Massachusetts Law,—and five including the Mayor against it.

The enforcement of the Sunday law against tippling is a good step. If the Aldermen do that faithfully, they must have due credit for it.

* The Mayor is wrong here. He lives in a "drinking house," not in a "tippling shop."

PACIFIC RAILROAD.—The discussion, as to the relative merits of the different routes, is continued as if the building of the Road itself, on some one route, was a settled point. The strongest competition for the choice of the route is likely to be between the friends of the Texas route to terminate at New Orleans, and the Missouri route, to terminate at St. Louis, unless the question should be compromised by conceding either a separate road to each, from different parts of the Pacific, or a single route from San Francisco, branching near El Paso, in the directions of Missouri and Texas. This latter scheme is in accordance with the proposition of Senator Gwynn, already laid before Congress.

BONES OF THE MASTODON.—Quite a lot of these great bones have been found within a few days, near St. Louis, Wisconsin, and deposited in the Museum of the St. Louis University. They were 25 feet under ground.

SUICIDE, PERHAPS.—The following is a copy of a letter found on Russia wharf, Boston, on Tuesday afternoon. It was marked "open and read:"

My body lays in the harbor, and at my request I want you to let it remain there, for I am tired of my life. I came here to end it, and to throw myself from wretchedness and discontent—unhappy wretch as I am. The cause of this is poverty; it makes discontentment and unhappiness; and they all stared me in the face, and forced me to do this deed, and regret it not. Oh, that I never was born! I leave a wife, and father and mother, brothers and sisters, and many friends after me.—My parents reside in the town of Lunenburg, Nova Scotia, and of that place I am a native. No. 10 Oxford place—boarding house.

THOMAS H. TAYLOR,
aged 21 years and 9 months.

Taylor has been, for some time past, a barkeeper in a hotel at the South end. His young wife resides at No. 10 Oxford place. Some persons who knew Taylor, doubt the statement in the above letter, and are bold enough to insinuate that he has left the city in company with a "missing girl." We think the thing looks more like the artful dodge of a scoundrel, than like the despair and suicide of a victim.

EXTRAORDINARY BALLOON EXCURSION.—A letter from San Francisco, to the New York Commercial Advertiser, gives the following account of a perilous balloon excursion by a young California lad:

Last Sunday (August 28) a man advertised to go up from Contra Costa (a village on the opposite side of the bay, nine miles distant,) in a balloon. Three steamboats were employed, and a multitude went over to see the ascent. The experiment was a failure. The multitude, unwilling to be disappointed, induced a boy of sixteen (small of his age) to sit upon a board four inches wide, the car having been detached, and he went up soaring above the lower clouds, and was soon lost to sight. On Monday evening, the boy returned to this place, having landed near Benecia, five miles from any house. To-day (Tuesday, August 30,) I saw him in the street, selling at a dollar apiece, in an extra, an account of his aerial excursion.

The narrative amounts to about this: in attempting to open the valve, so that the gas might escape, he broke the cord, and then seated himself to think, as he sped upward.

Soon he began to feel cold, and, taking off one of his shoes, wrapped his foot in a handkerchief, and, having two handkerchiefs, attempted to envelop the other foot, but lost the handkerchief in the attempt, and replacing his shoes, reflected what next to do.

Opening a pocket knife, he, to use his own words, "shinned up a cord" to the balloon, with his knife in his mouth, and in that attitude and perilous position, holding by one hand, and vibrating to and fro, he pierced the balloon, and, sliding down to his narrow seat, found, to his joy, the balloon descending. He landed, and as he says, attempted in vain to hold the machine, for when relieved of his weight, it rose beyond his sight. His hands were slightly injured by climbing up a cord of three-fourths of an inch, and his ancles were a little sprained when he touched the earth, but he walked five miles to a farm house, and is now here the hero of San Francisco.

MORALS OF PORTLAND.—The Advertiser says:

Our city is exceedingly free from disturbance of every sort. The police docket shows but little drunkenness, and but very few arrests for crime in general.

Per contra, it says:

An interesting spectacle it was to see a woman going along the streets yesterday so drunk as to require the support of a tipsy companion of the other gender. This woman was evidently a woman's rights man, who, disinclined to longer acknowledge that men are the "lords of creation," resolved to give a practical repudiation of the idea by getting "drunk as a lord," herself.

MARSHFIELD.—The Boston correspondent of the New York Journal of Commerce says:

"As we predicted, Marshfield has begun to be another Mount Vernon. We learn directly from Marshfield, that there have been crowds of visitors to the grounds and tomb of Webster all summer. One week there were 1000 visitors, and 100 a day has been a common number. There cannot have been less than 12,000 visitors there this season. The crowds there still continue, so that the family in the mansion can hardly find time to eat their meals. Many of the visitors do not forget to volunteer presents for the trouble they make, and the aggregate of the money thus given to those who reside on the premises is quite large. The latter rains have made the farm look in its full beauty and glory."

DEAD LETTERS.—A correspondent of the Baltimore Sun says:—The General Post Office on the 22d instant transmitted to the post office at Bremen 6,901 dead letters for the several German States. These letters were duly received here, and placed for delivery in our respective post offices, then regularly advertised; but from the absence of the persons the letters were intended for, their omission to apply for them, or other causes, having failed to reach the parties superscribed, they are now returned to the place from whence they came. Letters received in the closed mails from Prussia are now being mailed.—About 475 bushels of dead letters (American) have been opened in the office during the present quarter.

LIGHTNING AT SEA.—Sir William S. Harris received from the British Government the sum of five thousand pounds in reward for his invention of a lightning rod for the use of vessels; he was moreover knighted, in further attestation of his services. Harris's invention has been improved by R. B. Forbes, Esq., of Boston, and its introduction in this form into the navy, and indeed upon all vessels, is a matter of much importance, and one deserving serious attention.

LOCAL.

☞ The Daily Chronicle is regularly and extensively circulated by carriers in all parts of this city, in New Castle, Kittery (Navy-Yard Village and the Point,) in Greenland and Epping; on the Eastern and P. S & P. Railroads; on the Portsmouth & Concord road to Concord, and in Concord—besides having quite a large transient circulation in all this vicinity. The Weekly Chronicle also goes into every neighboring town and village, and has a growing list. Advertisements inserted in the Daily, appear at least once in the Weekly, in most cases without extra charge; which renders this an excellent medium for communicating with the entire public in this region.

REV. DR. PEABODY'S LECTURES.

On Sunday evening last, the Stone Church in this city, was opened for the first public evening service since it has been furnished with gas lights; and was well filled with a miscellaneous audience.

Rev. Dr. Peabody took for his text, the 8th Psalm, part of 4th verse, "What is man?"—and after stating that he had, a few years since, delivered in the same place, a series of monthly lectures of a doctrinal cast, based on the character of God,—he announced his intention of delivering a like series of monthly lectures of a practical character, which should take the tone of inquiry into the nature of man. The lecture of last Sunday evening was the first of this series.

At the foundation of all inquiry into man's moral condition, lies the question between the Augustinian or Calvinistic Theory, and the Pelagian or Arminian. The former was distinctly repudiated by the speaker, who described it as teaching that since Adam's first transgression, all his posterity are born totally depraved and destitute of all moral goodness, so that it had been said that even their useful arts were of the nature of sin.

And as for the latter, which he described as teaching that the sons of men now born were as pure and sinless as if Adam or later progenitors had never sinned—he could not subscribe to that, as he deemed it contradicted by observation of actual life, as also by the whole tenor of scripture.

He was disposed to take a middle ground, which should assign to man a kind of mixed character, the product or average of the moral and religious character of his immediate and more remote ancestry.

It occurred to us, in the hearing, that the facts and deductions of phrenology, are exerting a strong influence on theologians in their studies.

The lecture was heard with fixed attention; and the course will doubtless be well attended, and afford food for much thought on a most important class of subjects.

☞ The Temperance Meeting at the Temple on Monday evening, was attended by a very respectable but not very numerous audience. Prayer was offered by Rev. Mr. Bradbury. The speakers were Rev. Messrs. Peabody, Moore, Lamson and Willis. Mr. Peabody expressed doubts whether the people of this State were prepared for the passage and proper execution of the Maine Law, and under present circumstances advocated an observance of existing laws, and the use of moral and religious means to promote temperance. Mr. Moore added some remarks on the abuse of the moral question by designing politicians. And Messrs. Lamson and Willis spoke in favor of the usefulness of the Maine Law, and its effect elsewhere.

THE CAMENEUM.—The theatrical company which has for the past two weeks, catered for the amusement of our citizens, is about to leave the city. The manager, Mr. J. P. Addams, has, at considerable expense, secured the services of Wyzeman Marshall, a leading tragedian, and one of the most talented actors in the country, for two evenings only. To-night Mr. Marshall will personate the character of Ingomar, in the play of that name—the beautiful character of Parthenia to be assumed by the talented actress, Mrs. J. P. Addams. To-morrow evening will be the last night of this company in Portsmouth, and our seekers after amusement in the drama should govern themselves accordingly.

☞ The Whig Convention at Fitchburg, Massachusetts, yesterday, numbered, it is said, over 1000 delegates; Mr. Winthrop was president; the nomination for Governor was likely to fall on Emory Washburn.

THE ACCIDENT IN NEW YORK.—NEW YORK, Sept. 27—Ten persons were injured by the falling of the platform at the Park last evening. Among them was Michael Walsh, member elect to Congress.

The London City Mission is the largest society of the kind in the world. It employed last year no less than 297 missionaries, who were constantly engaged in domiciliary visitation. The number of visits they made during the year was 1,240,318, and they distributed, 1,766,131 religious tracts.

INSANE.—The Boston Herald learns that the Irish girl who discovered a skeleton in the cellar of a house in Everett street, three or four weeks ago, has never recovered from the fright received on that occasion, and is now in the Insane Asylum in consequence.

BELL.—A beautiful bell, weighing four thousand pounds, cast at the establishment of H. N. Hooper & Co., for the City Government of San Francisco, was placed upon a platform in South Market street, this morning. Boston Journal of Saturday.

Rev. Moses Springer of Gardiner, has been appointed superintendent of the custom house building in Bath.

Yellow corn is selling in Tennessee for 30 cents a bushel. As a whiskey drinker once observed, "it is worth that for vcituals."

The Irish exhibition is open now, twice a week, at a sixpenny admission price.

There were about a dozen liquor seizures in Bangor last weed.

SPREAD OF THE YELLOW FEVER.—Baltimore, Sept. 27.—New Orleans papers of Wednesday last are received. They contain the details of Texas news to the 16th inst.—The fever was prevailing extensively not only in Galveston, but through the interior of the State.

The steamship Louisiana, at Galveston, was prevented from sailing by sickness among her crew and passengers.

The papers continue to record the fatal prevalence of the fever at Vicksburg, Jackson, Yazoo City, and other places where it had become epidemic. One of the editors of the Church Herald at Vicksburg, had died, and from that city the disease was spreading into the interior.

New Orleans, Sept. 27.—The number of deaths to-day were 33, of which number 14 were produced by yellow fever.

Mobile, Sept. 27.—The number of interments for the twenty-four hours ending this morning was 20, 13 of which were produced by yellow fever.

New York, Sept. 26.—FROM THE PLAINS.—A letter from a gentleman attached to Gen. Stevens's surveying expedition, dated Fort Union, August 6th, states that the whole party had arrived there, having for the greater part of the way made three lines of survey for the Pacific road. A few days previously an engineer (soldier) named White, accidentally shot himself, dying instantly. With this exception everything had gone on safely. The party would start on the 8th for Fort Benton, and thence to the Mountains.

CINCINNATI FINANCIERS.—A despatch from Cincinnati states that John S. Dye, proprietor of Dye's Bank Mirror, has been arrested and held to bail in that city for keeping an office for the redemption of fraudulent bank notes—notes issued by bogus companies.

A telegraphic despatch from Washington mentions the appointment of surgeon William Whelan, as chief of the bureau of medicine and surgery in the navy department. Dr. W. has been upwards of twenty-five years in the naval service, and nearly all that time has been employed either at sea or in shore duty.

SEDUCTION AND ATTEMPTED MURDER.—A daughter of a widow lady, in Philadelphia, having been seduced by a young man in that city; the brother of the girl, on Sunday, sent for him, and appealed to him to contribute to the support of the ruined sister and her offspring, avowing his own inability to bear the burthen imposed on him, in consequence of long continued ill-health. The author of the girl's ruin finally declared his willingness to marry the sister, and Sunday night, at 7 o'clock, was fixed on the wedding; everything was in readiness, but the groom did not make his appearance.

The brother is said to be a very exemplary young man, but rendered desperate by the conduct of the seducer, on Monday morning he went to the boarding house of the latter, at the corner of Callowhill and Nixon streets, and had an interview with him. Some words passed between them, and the brother drew a pistol from his pocket, for the purpose, as he declared, of shooting the destroyer of his sister. The weapon was cocked, and exploded prematurely, the entire load passing through his own right hand, and wounding his leg. The sufferer was conveyed home in a high state of excitement. A warrant for the arrest of the seducer was issued and placed in the hands of a police officer.

HORRIBLE DEATH.—On Saturday morning last, Mr. Gore Green of Winslow, son of Col. Isaac Green, left his house and proceeded to the barn for the purpose of leading a bull to water. Having been gone a longer time than it was deemed necessary, some one went to the barn to learn the cause of the detention, when in one corner of the barn-yard was discovered the mangled remains of the unfortunate man. His clothes were rent entirely to peices, and life was all but extinct. There was no difficulty in arriving at the cause. He had been gored to death by the infuriated bull. The animal was immediately shot.—Portland Advertiser.

A HUNDRED MILES AN HOUR.—The Scientific American has an engraving of the rail road which is to run a hundred miles an hour with perfect safety. Its distinctive principle is that the cars run upon a single rail, which is raised sufficiently high from the track for the train to be hung to it. The train is, in fact, placed a-straddle of the rail—running upon wheels, to whose axles the cars are hung. It is obvious that, with the rail running as it were through the car, the latter could not be thrown off the track by any amount of speed; and no obstruction of sufficient magnitude to do mischief could be made to lay upon a single rail raised six or eight feet from the ground.

SPIRIT MANIFESTATIONS.—Allen Putnam Esq., of Roxbury, delivered a lecture last evening on the subject of "Spirit Manifestations." The lecture was given in the City Hall, of Roxbury, which was filled with a highly respectable and intelligent audience, who listened with deep attention to Mr. Putnam, while in an address of more than two hours in duration, he described many extraordinary facts which he himself had witnessed, and furnished other evidence that these manifestations were actually from the spirit land. He read various extracts from spirit communications, couched in eloquent language, and breathing an elevated and religious tone, to illustrate his position that the object of these visitations was to improve mankind, and urge the human race to progress in intelligence and virtue. Several of these communications purported to come from Benjamin Franklin.

Mr. Putnam is well known in this section of the State, as a high-minded and intelligent gentleman, formerly a member of one of the learned professions, and decidedly conservative in his general views and character. The statements, opinions, and philosophic speculations of such a man, enforced with much earnestness and eloquence, are calculated to give a new impulse to this subject, which already engages the attention of a considerable portion of the public.—Boston Journal.

Bay State Stoves.

THE Subscriber would inform his friends and the public, that he has for sale all sizes of this favorite Stove. Having sold them in this city for five years past, they have been thoroughly tested with wood and coal, and are found perfect in every respect.

Those put in operation four and five years since have had no repairs made upon them, and are to all appearance as good as ever. So great is the popularity of these Stoves, that many imitations of it are put into the market, such as the Granite State, Empire State, &c.; but none of them are equal to it in weight or quality of castings, cooking facilities, or economy of fuel.

To all who are in want of a GOOD Cooking Stove, we would say—buy a BAY STATE, and you are sure to get THE BEST STOVE IN THE WORLD.

The subscriber has for sale, also, a variety of other Cook Stoves, Cooking Ranges, Parlor Grates, Office and Parlor Stoves, Funnel, &c. for sale low for cash. E. A. STEVENS,

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the fall consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglects to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,
PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.

One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.
[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]

First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriage, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title-page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be Ignorant.

☞ On receipt of One Dollar (for the fine Edition, extra binding) "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION" is sent (postaid free) to any part of the United States. All letters must be post-paid, and addressed to Dr. A. M. MAURICEAU, Box 1294, New York City. Publishing Office, No. 129 Liberty Street, New York.

A number of capitalists in New York have determined to build houses upon the plan of the dwellings in Paris, each building to be divided into suites of apartments, and then to be let to families. In this way, comfortable and respectable accommodations may be afforded within the means of moderate men, which is quite out of the question at present.

PRESENT.—The New York Evangelist states that Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, of Brooklyn, has purchased an estate in Lenox, Mass., with $15,000 presented to him for the purpose by several members of his congregation; and intends to erect a house there for a summer residence.

A lady in Maine has a fig tree which has matured four figs this season. The tree is five or six years old, and was started in Massachusetts. It has about a hundred figs on it, and will no doubt do well, unless the Maine law should happen to get hold of it.—Boston Chronicle.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.

DOCTOR ALFRED G. HALL,

AUTHOR of the New Theory of cure by the NUTRITIVE PRINCIPLE, in Physiology and Medicine, sustaining the laws of life and removing the cause of disease, confirmed as a NATURAL SCIENCE by the Nutritive Process; expelling dead and depositing living matter at the same time in the Body, increasing its weight and strength while under treatment, being the great discovery of the constitutional power resisting disease; ample proof can be given in the person of any invalid.

Dr. H. receives visits, makes examinations, ascertains the cause of disease, describes the precise condition of the patient, furnishes prescriptions, medicines and recipes for his Nutritive Fluids and cordials.

Three months' attention and treatment is requisite in all cases, with printed instructions, for diet and washing, and the use of the Alkaline Girdle for the spine and kidneys—a restorative action is produced in all parts of the system immediately by the natural laws sustained by nutrition.

He is the inventor and sole proprietor of 12 nutritive fluids; they can be made by any family—are adapted to the several temperaments, and to every form of disease. His works, "Views of the New Theory, &c.," "Womanhood," and the "Mother's Own Book," are furnished to invalids under his supervision. It is now before Congress.

Doctor Alfred G. Hall may be consulted by letter, or in person at his rooms, No. 15 Winter St., Boston, from 10 A.M. to 5 P.M. ☞ Medicines, &c. forwarded by Express to any part.

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S

Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 950,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Depot and manufactory, No. 137 Broadway, New York. Retail price 25 cents a large bottle.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w6m je29

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KNOWN REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. Its continued use may be persued in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

DR. HAMPTON'S

VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the best family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. K. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Dunan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

Lieutenant ——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezzia.

The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of Dyspepsia.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered. "Consumption can be cured!" and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE.

ELEVEN SHIPWRECKED SEAMEN, SAVED BY A DOG.—The London papers give the following account of the wreck of the ship Rebecca, on the coast of Van Dieman's Land, with the loss of the Captain, his wife and 19 of the crew. Eleven seamen escaped on a desert shore and were rescued after suffering severe privation:

We regret to announce the total loss of the valuable ship Rebecca, with unhappily, many lives, which occurred on the west coast of Van Dieman's Land, between Sandy Cape and Arthier River, while on her passage to Sidney, from London, with a cargo of wines, beer, and other articles. She sailed from Gravesend on the 2d of last December, in charge of Mr. Sheppard, the master, the number of her hands consisting of about 30—Mrs. Sheppard accompanying her husband. After starting she encountered some very heavy gales, and was obliged to put into Fowey (Cornwall) whence she sailed on the 18th of January and touched a the Cape Verd Islands for provisions.—On the 29th of April the ship reached the west coast of Van Dieman's Land, and while sailing at the rate of eight and a half knots an hour, with the wind north west, steering northeast, she struck violently on a reef, at 9 30 p. m. Her helm was immediately put down, and mainyard put back, but she continued to drive on shore fast, and within an hour was thrown on her broadside, the sea washing completely over her. The masts were immediately cut away, in the hope that it would bring her upright, but that failing, a boat was lowered, and the second mate and Mrs. Sheppard, aboy and seven seamen, having got into it, pushed off, but almost immediately after capsized, and with the exception of three seamen, all perished alongside the wreck. The seamen swam to the shore. About this time a tremendous sea struck the vessel and swept off the longboat. The master and the remainder of the crew remained on the wreck till four o'clock the next morning, when finding that the ship was fast breaking up, they resolved to make an attempt to reach the shore, only a quarter of a mile distant. In the attempt Captain Sheppard and several others were drowned, the remainder reaching the beach in a very exhausted state, through a very heavy surf which was running all the time; and out of 30 men only 11 were saved. The following day the bodies which were washed ashore were duly interred. Search was then made along the beach for food, the crew expecting to find most of the ship's stores, but all they could discover was a small portion of bread and seven small tins of herrings. The crew then formed an encampment; and having, in the course of their travels about the beach, noticed the footmarks of men and animals proceeding in a southerly direction, it was resolved to send a party in search of a habitation in that course; but after two days' absence, they returned without being able to trace a single living creature. During this time the allowance served was one herring per day and a cupful of biscuit; but subsequently quantities of bottled ale and porter were washed up from the wreck, which proved most acceptable.

They had no means of making a fire. It was then determined that two parties should start—one to the south, and the other to the north—both of which accordingly set out; but these likewise proved fruitless. After enduring great privations and suffering for nearly a fortnight, they were surprised at the appearance of a dog, which was hailed as the harbinger of their deliverance. Fearing he might run away, they wrote an account of their situation and tied it round his neck.

The dog it appeared, belonged to a gentleman named Burgess, who, with a party, was exploring the country to the southward. The moment they heard of the wreck, which was by the return of the dog, they set out, and came up with the survivors of the Rebecca on the 23d day after the ship's loss. The poor fellows were fast sinking when the exploring party came up, but through their attention and kindness their lives were preserved. On their recovery, they set out for Hobart Town, which they eventually reached in safety. The Rebecca was of 550 tons burthen, and is understood to have been fully insured. Many of the crew who perished have left families in the metropolis unprovided for.

SPONTANEOUS COMBUSTION.

Henry R. Worthington, Esq., has called the attention of the New York Courier and Enquirer to extracts of Professor Graham's report on the burning of the Amazon, wherein is given many results of spontaneous combustion, and enumerates the laws of safety which are to be regarded. This is of great importance to masters of steamboats, factories and even of private houses.

Mr. Worthington states that the general impression is that spontaneous combustion may occasionally occur, under very peculiar circumstances, but very few are prepared to believe that "wood, in contact with iron, appears to be brought by continued heating to an extraordinary degree of combustility, and to become peculiarly liable to spontaneous ignition."

Here are the extracts referred to:—

"The practice of mixing together the various stores of the engineers, consisting of oils, tallow, soft soap, turpentine, cotton waste and tow, and placing them in heated store rooms contiguous to the boilers, must be looked upon as dangerous in no ordinary degree, for for several reasons. Although oil in bulk is not easily ignited, particularly when preserved in iron tanks, still, when spilt upon wood, or imbibed by tow or cotton waste, which expose much surface to air, the oil often ovidates and heats spontaneously, and is allowed to be one of the most frequent causes of accidental fires.

The vegetable and drying oils used by painters are most liable to spontaneous ignition, but no kind of vegetable or animal oil or grease appears to be exempted by it; and instances could be given of olive oil igniting upon saw dust; of greasy rags from butter, heaped together, taking fire within a period of twenty-four hours; of the spontaneous combustion of tape measures, (which are covered with an oil varnish,) when heaped together; and even of an oil-skin umbrella, put aside in a damp state. Lamp-black and ground charcoal are still more inflammable, when the smallest quantity of oil obtains access to them, and should not be admitted at all among ships' stores.

"The showing of metallic cans or stone ware jars of either oil or turpentine in a warm place is also attended with a danger which is less obvious, namely, the starting of the vessels or the bursting of them by the great expansion of the liquid oil, which is caused by heat. These liquids expand in volumes so much as one upon thirty, by a rise of not more than 60 deg. of temperature, or by such a change as from the ordinary low temperature of 40 deg. to a blood heat; the latter temperature may easily be exceeded in an engine room."

"The tendency of coals to spontaneous ignition is increased by a moderate heat such as that of an engine room, from which they should be protected by a double partition."

The surface of deal in the partition opposed to the boiler would probably be better protected from fire by impregnating the wood with a saline solution, which diminishes combustibility, such as the zinc solution of Sir Wm. Burnett, rather than coating the wood on the side next to the boiler with sheet iron. Indeed, this use of iron appears to introduce a new danger. The iron being a good conductor of heat, the wood below is heated nearly as much as if uncovered, and wood, in conection with iron, appears to be brought by repeated heating to an extraordinary degree of combustibility, and to become peculiary liable to spontaneous ignition.

"Mr. Braidwood, who has been led to that conclusion, gave an instance of wood covered with sheet iron ignited spontaneously in a wadding factory. The numerous occasions, also, on which wood and paper have been ignited by Perkins's heated water pipes, equally exemplify the dangerous consequences which may arise from moderately heated iron in long contact with combustible matter.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 30, 1853.

ROCKINGHAM COUNTY TEMPERANCE CONVENTION.

A convention of the friends of temperance in this county was held at Exeter on Wednesday, September 28th. The convention was called to order by Mr. Henry Putnam of Hampstead; after prayer by Rev. Mr Clarke of Exeter—was organized by the choice of the following officers:—Woodbridge Odlin, Exeter, President; Rev. Mr. Chick, Plaistow, Vice Presidents; James Nowell, Portsmouth, Secretary.

For Business Committee, Rev. Mr. Chick, Plaistow; Mr. Gordon, Salem; Mr. Putnam, Hampstead; Rev. Mr. Brewster, Lowell; Mr. Dalton, Exeter.

The following resolution was offered by Rev. Mr. Chick, and adopted, vis:

Resolved, That the platform and object of this Convention are and shall be, primarily, exclusively and supremely, the promotion of the cause of temperance; that while we most cordially solicit the largest and most generous cooperation of all mankind, the design of this Convention is not and shall not be, the promotion or injury of any political, anti-political, religious or anti-religious party or sect, as such; but as good citizens, philanthropists, christians and men, we are bound by the laws of God and the love of humanity, to regard and treat all parties, sects and men as radically wrong—meriting universal disapprobation—so far as they are against the grand and glorious cause of Temperance, and oppose the best means and measures to prevent and destroy the wasting scourge and curse of intemperance.

The business committee recommended the choosing of a county committee and the following gentlemen were chosen:—Woodbridge Odlin, Exeter, Henry Putnam, Hampstead, James Nowell, Portsmouth.

At 12 o'clock the Convention adjourned to 1 1-2 P. M.

Second session.

The business committee reported the following resolutions, which were discussed by Rev. Mr. Brewster, Lowell; Mr. French, Sandown; Rev. Mr. Colver, Newmarket; Rev. Mr. Chick, Plaistow; and others, after which they were adopted:

Resolved, That the traffic in and use of intoxicating drinks as a beverage, being an evil fatal to the best interests of men, and in opposition to the will of God, should be discontinued at once and for ever;—and believing thus we will continue to use all reasonable means within our power to accomplish the work, never despairing of final success.

Resolved, That the liquor traffic—especially retailing of them as a beverage is a fraud upon the buyer—a moral wrong, and no law can make it right—and no body of men have a right to license it, any more than they have to license theft, robbery or murder!

Resolved, That we will do what we can to secure the nomination of men in favor of the Maine Law, in the different parties, and we recommend the appointment of town committees who shall give due and impartial information as to the real position of all candidates for the office of Governor or for the State Legislature.

Resolved, That we earnestly recommend that our friends in each town have an article inserted in their warrant for calling their annual town meeting, making their selectmen a prosecuting committee for enforcing the present law, or any law the State Legislature may make respecting this nefarious traffic.

Resolved, That New Hampshire surrounded as she is by water and three Maine Law States, ought speedily to enact some stringent liquor law, both for the encouragement of sister States and for her own protection against their refugee traffickers and drinkers.

Resolved, That the power of the pulpit when taking sides with God and conscience, for truth and human progress is inestimable; we therefore invoke its aid in the present crisis of our cause, and regard not only opposition but silence, as a dereliction from duty.

The following resolutions were adopted at the close of the afternoon session, most of the delegates from the neighboring towns leaving before the evening meeting.

Resolved, That when this Convention adjourn, it adjourn to meet again at Manchester, at the State Temperance Convention in October.

Resolved, That a copy of the proceedings of this Convention be sent to the Crusader, with a request that other papers in the State give it an insertion.

WOODBRIDGE ODLIN, Pres.
JAMES NOWELL, Secretary.

AN ODD DESCRIPTION.—A letter writer to the Newburyport Union, under date of Louisville, Ky., Sept. 3, says:

"Again, in our religious opinions we are as prone to be found at the extreme, as in our politics. There are none of your "Yankee half way people," in this part of the world, I assure you. A person here is either religious or he is not—he is either an honest man or a villain—he is either confident of eternal happiness or dreads everlasting woe. The consequence is we have more religious excitement and fanaticism, and at the same time more villainy and sin than any other people in the world."

Under this singular description, there is no doubt an important statement of a great truth. Fanaticism is no safeguard against dishonesty, and where the religion so called is only fanaticism and spiritual pride, there are the very soil and circumstance in which villainy and sin will flourish most.

Runaway slaves are constantly escaping over the Texas frontier into Mexico.

mory Washburn is the Whig candidate for Governor of Massachusetts, and Wm. C. Plunket for Lt. Governor.

MR. WASHBURN, the whig candidate for Governor of Massachusetts, is characterized by the Boston Chronicle, as an able man—one of as stern integrity, of as solid and unwavering principle, and of as pure a character as could be selected.

In regard to the liquor law, he is said to be a strenuous advocate of the prohibitory policy—and, indeed, while a member of the legislature, to have opposed a license system. It may be added, in this connection, that Mr. Washburn has always boasted of being a warm and consistent opponent of Mr. Webster, during the exciting political discussions of the last few years.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE, for October, is on our table from Fetridge & Co., Boston, via J. F. Shores, jr., Portsmouth. The first four articles are handsomely illustrated with wood cuts, adding life and interest to the letter-press. These articles are Damascus, Prisons and Prisoners of Paris, the Susquehannah, and Napoleon Bonaparte.

Bleak House is closed in this number.—The Comicalities at the close are capital.

REV. T. STARR KING.—It is understood that Rev. T. Starr King, of this city, (says the Boston Bee) will deliver but few lyceum lectures during the coming season. His duties as a clergyman, in addition to authorship, will prevent all but occasional absences from the city. Mr. King is one of the most laborious students in Boston—but not more laborious than successful.

The printers' strike in Pittsburg has resulted in a partial substitution of females as compositors in the Chronicle, Despatch, and Visitor offices in that city.

The employment of females as compositors, was tried as an experiment, long ago. There were half a dozen female compositors, (who wrought at the press sometimes,) in the United States, forty years ago; and there have been a considerable number of female compositors and feeders for twenty years past.

SAD.—We have already published an item mentioning the death of Martin Beal, aged 50, on the Worcester Railroad, by falling backward from an open car. The Lowell News says the deceased had led an irregular life for some time past, and was under the influence of intoxicating liquor at the time of the accident.

THE MORGAN AFFAIR.—We met on Saturday last, our friend Col. Cranston, editor of the Newport news, and one of the counsel in the Morgan difficulty. He informed us that he had just seen Mr. and Mrs. Morgan off in the "Franklin" for Paris; and that they went together harmoniously. Colonel Cranston added that the story of the flogging of the woman was entirely false—that the husband never lifted a finger against his wife; and but for the interference of Mr. Hone, the scandal would never have been bruited by the newspapers.—N. Y. Mirror.

Well; that's a likely story. We suppose Col. Cranston wishes us to believe there was no difficulty at all worth mentioning. Tell that to the marines. Mr. Morgan will forfeit his bonds of $1000, very wisely, and the scandal of the newspapers will die out. But there was not quite so much smoke without some fire. We suspect there was something like what the Indians call fire-water.

MONKS.—Sixteen hundred acres of land have recently been purchased in Iowa, on which a colony of monks have settled.—Among their peculiar habits may be mentioned they never mingle with the world, and when they put on a new suit of clothes, that suit is kept on, waking or sleeping, till it falls off or becomes unfit for wear.

So say the papers. We can't believe such a story about their clothes. Will the Pilot tell us whether it is so, and if so, what it is for.

ITEMS FROM BANGOR.—The Bangor Courier says, that on Saturday night last, the schooner Waldo, Capt. Elwell, was about two miles below the city discharging liquors, which were hauled away by Hathaway's teams and other small teams. Twenty barrels were seized by Constable Buzzell. A portion of that hauled away was traced to May street and the lower part of Union street. One barrel was seized in the May St. House.

On Saturday Marshal Farnham searched the steamer Boston, and seized two hundred and eight gallons of liquor.

The Courier says, in relation to the spirits sold by the city agency there, "the amount is less than these same people have all along been accustomed to pay to individual dealers, and at the same time they get a better article."

Will the Courier please to state the amount in gallons and dollars.

Nearly one hundred merchants and firms doing business in Bangor, have published a card, in which they say they will not patronize any vessel, or the master of any vessel, who is known to smuggle liquors of any kind into the city.

THE CHOLERA IN CUBA.—A letter from Havana of Sept. 15, received by steamer Black Warrior, at Mobile, gives in a postscript the following:—

"The cholera still prevails in the interior, and on one plantation there were 116 deaths out of a force of 119."

LOCAL.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN,

THURSDAY EVENING, SEPT. 29.—A petn. from Danl. Knight and 48 others, for repairs on Hanover st. was referred.

J. Rider, R. K. Oxford, and Samuel Plumer, applied for side walks. Granted.

Petns. were received, from friends of three persons, for remission of punishment, they being sentenced to three months each in the House of correction, for drunkenness. Referred to the Mayor.

Petns. for Gas Lights on Corner of Congress and Middle sts., also Islington st. and corner of Pearl, were granted.

A communication was read from Mr. Sewall, accepting the Clerkship of Brick Market, and asking for repairs. Referred. Mr. Sheldon applied for a new floor to the brick Market. Referred.

The Mayor reported the Plains School House to be unsafe, and in need of immediate repair. Ordered to be repaired under direction of Alderman Stackpole.

Mr. Moore's claim on the city, 19.50, as damages which his wife sustained by the firing of a small cannon on the 4th of July on board of the small ship in the procession, viz. doctors bill 9,00, nursing 10,50; ordered to be paid.

THE THEATRE.—We were present last evening at the personation of the beautiful character of Ingomar in the Drama of that name, by Mr. W. Marshall, of Boston. We were prepared to see good acting, from the well-known reputation of this gentleman, but must acknowledge that the result exceeded our most sanguine expectations.

Mr. Marshall is a true artist. Without the ranting, tearing manner of Forest, he yet possesses a freedom and vigor or action, and a happiness of manner which the great tragedian might do well to copy—and if his forte consists not in "tearing a passion to pieces," he certainly does not "let it come tamely off."

We cannot refrain from offering our meed of praise in behalf of Mrs. J. P. Addams and her very able representation of the arduous character of Parthenia, which drew down the plaudits of the delighted audience.

At the close of the play Mr. Marshall and Mrs. Addams were called out, and were received with three cheers.

To-night, for the first time in five years, a representation of one of Shakspeare's plays is to be presented to our citizens—the comedy of Katharine and Petruchio, or the Taming of a Shrew; the character of Katharine to be sustained by Mrs. Addams, and that of Petruchio by Mr. Marshall. It is positively the last night of this company in Portsmouth, aside from which consideration the entertainment itself is eminently worthy of the patronage of our citizens, and we would advise all to attend.

THE HIGH SCHOOL.—Mr. Kimball, on Wednesday, accompanied a couple of his late scholars, Edward A. Rand, and Joshua J. Laighton, sons of Messrs. Edward Rand and Charles E. Laighton, to Brunswick, Me.,—these promising youths designing to enter the College at that place on the 1st of October.

We learn that it is expected Mr. K. will resume his duties as Teacher of the High School, on his return, probably the first of next week—Rev. Dr. Burroughs having effected an adjustment of the difficulty between the Committee and Mr. Kimball.

☞ Company K, 3d Artillery, U. S. A., now stationed at Fort Constitution, Newcastle, and commanded by Bvt. Maj. Austine, have been ordered to California, and will leave this post on Monday next.

EVENING SINGING SCHOOL.—Mr. J. P. Payson is to commence his usual winter term of lessons in Vocal Music, in the Methodist Chapel, on Monday evening next, at half past seven. The Chapel has just been finely fitted up, gas introduced, &c., and is now an admirable place for a social gathering of this description. Entrance east of the Methodist Church.

☞ In a mathematical answer of J. P. P. to N. D. jr., published in Wednesday's Daily Chronicle, there are some errors in figures, which were not made by the writer. The piece will be republished in the Weekly Chronicle, corrected.

☞ Rev. Mr. Spaulding of the Methodist Church, will preach at the Pleasant Street next Sunday, when the communion will be administered to both churches.

At the Theatre this evening will be performed The Taming of the Shrew;—which will be the first of Shakspeare's plays acted here for five years. The part of Petrochio will be ably sustained by Mr. Marshal.

This is positively the last night of the season.

REAL ESTATE SALE.—The house on Wibird's hill, advertised in yesterday's paper was sold on Thursday, by Geo. W. Towle & Co. to Mr. J. D. Addms for $690.

THE ANSWER TO THE KOSTA PROTEST.—NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—The Herald's Washington correspondent gives the conclusions arrived at in Marcy's letter to Hulsemann, on the Kosta affair. .They are, that Kosta was arrested within the nationality of the United States, which therefore had the right to extend the protection to him, and that Commander Ingraham's interference in his behalf was therefore right, and the present detention of Kosta being illegal, the President expects that the Emperor of Austria will place him in the same condition he was in when seized by the Austrians in Smyrna.

BUFFALO, Sept. 29. The brig Northampton, with a cargo of 7000 bushels of wheat, and the schooner Puritan, loaded with railroad iron, were sunk yesterday afternoon during the gale, while lying at the dock in Michigan City. A great portion of the dock was also carried away. The Puritan will be a total loss. The Northampton is insured.

ACCIDENT ON THE WORCESTER RAIL ROAD.—About two o'clock on Wednesday morning, three cars of a freight train were thrown off from the track in West Newton, and badly damaged. An engine was sent into Boston to procure assistance, and an extra engine with a platform car and a gang of hands started, but on passing under the Tremont bridge, this train was also thrown off the track, in consequence of the misplacement of a switch, but no person was injured. In consequence of these accidents, the track at West Newton was not cleared until about 9 o'clock, detaining all the inward trains until that hour.

FATAL RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—On Wednesday afternoon, as the Dedham train was entering the Providence depot, at Boston, the baggage car struck Mr. Roger M. Herring, who was walking very near the track, knocking him down and injuring him so sevely that he died shortly afterwards. He was a well known slater.

FATAL RESULT OF A RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—The Boston Traveller says that Samuel Gandall, Conductor of the ice train on the Eastern Railroad, who was run over by the cars Monday while the train was being switched from one track to another, breaking both his legs, died at the depot at 7 o'clock Tuesday evening. He was fifty years of age, and resided in North Chelsea, where he leaves a wife and several children. It is stated that his wife lost her first husband some fifteen years ago by a similar accident.

LAUNCH IN BOSTON.

The following is a copy of Mr. McKay's invitation to our merchants and others, to attend the launch of his great ship next Tuesday.

EAST BOSTON, Sept. 27th, 1853.

To the Hon. Mayor of Portsmouth, N. H.:

DEAR SIR:—Having been requested by several of your citizens to notify them of the day of launching the large clipper ship "Great Republic," of 4000 tons, I would respectfully inform you that the day which has been set is Tuesday, October 4th, at 11 o'clock, at which time I would cordially invite your company, and as many of your friends and citizens generally as can, to attend, at my ship yard, Border street, East Boston, and witness the launch.

By giving the above notice to your friends and citizens generally, and also through your journals, you will oblige many.

Yours, very truly,
DONALD MCKAY.

The residence of G. P. R. James, Esq., British consul at Norfolk, was fired on Friday for the fifth time. The flames, however, were extinguished without doing serious damge.—Exchange.

The cause of these repeated attempts to fire Mr. James' residence, is said to be in the fact that many years ago he wrote a poem against slavery.

Some negroes belonging to a bachelor gentleman not far from Paulding, Miss., amused themselves by blowing him up one night last week with a keg of gunpowder. He was projected through the roof, and fatally burnt.

MR. S. GILBERT, Ear Sir—
Having been afflicted with a diseased Liver, attended with pain in the side. I was advised by a friend to try your Extract Polypodium, and am happy to inform you that it has not only cured me of the above disease, but it also relieved me of a Chronic Diarrhea which I contracted in the war with Mexico, to cure which I had tried the popular remedies of the day to no effect. I can cheerfully recommend it to the public as the best medicine for the above complaint of which I have any knowledge. I have also proved it to be an invaluable purifier of the blood.
Respectfully yours, WM. H. FRANKLIN.

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT!

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.
Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.
What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.
In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S
Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,
PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.
One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.
[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]
First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.
It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title-page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.
To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be ignorant.

☞ On receipt of One Dollar (for the fine Edition, extra binding,) "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION" is sent (mailed free) to any part of the United States. All letters must be post-paid, and addressed to Dr. A. M. MAURICEAU, Box 1924, New York City, Publishing Office, No. 129 Liberty Street, New York.

TRAVELLING!—The editor of the Boston Post, who, it is fair to presume, has travelled, gives us the following ocular sentiment on the periodical spasm felt by most people to go away from home, about these days:—

Travelling is a vastly funny thing, for those who like it; of which number—a legion as multitudinous as the waves of the ocean—are not we. Walking is tiresome and out of fashion; staging is dull, and steam-boating is dangerous. To travel (to our prosy conception of the matter,) is to leave a comfortable home in exchange for dubious hotels; to be thumped and bumped in coaches—lumped with ill-sorted companions, and sometimes "dumped" with them into the mud and mire; to be locked up in narrow, ill ventilated boxes, facetiously called "state-rooms," to blow up the captain for going so slow, and he blows up yourself because he was fool enough to take your advice; to be rushed over the road in cars at a rate which not only annihilates time and distance, but a considerable number of the passengers; arriving at last through a long list of "moving accidents by flood and field," at your place of destination, to find your toilet in disorder, your trunks, 'in chancery,' (if you chance to find it,) your "traps" in chaos, your body battered, your wallet wasted to an alarming tenuity, and your man (or woman) whom you went five hundred miles to see, just started on an equally long journey, to be absent "about ten days!" This is to travel!

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S

Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 850,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidence of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest sale ever yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&wsm,je22*

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

DR. HAMPTON'S VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the BEST family medicine in use, and IS WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered. Consumption can be cured! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

SALE OF MARSH'S MUSEUM AT GREENFIELD.—The sale of the Museum belonging to the estate of the late Dexter Marsh of Greenfield, Mass., commenced at that place on Wednesday, the 21st inst., and was completed on the 22d. The circumstances under which the collection was made, were somewhat remarkable. Mr. Marsh was a laboring man, without the advantage of education, but possessed of an industry, energy, judgment and enthusiasm, which, with greater educational advantages, would have given him a high rank among the scientific men of the country. Nearly twenty years ago, the discovery of animal foot-prints among the layers of the red sandstone of the Conneticut River Valley, caused a profound sensation throughout the whole scientific world. The foot-prints happened to be first noticed in the town where Mr. Marsh resided; and from the time when his attention was first called to them, he followed from year to year with increasing fervor and zeal the vast range of inquiry which they suggested, among the records of the antediluvian history of the earth. While he still continued diligent in his vocation as a day laborer and gardener, he used every moment which he could take from his business, in searching for, and obtaining a set of specimens which, in its own line, is said to have been unrivalled; and at the time of his death his labors had become widely and gratefully appreciated by scientific men.

The sale of his collection was attended by gentlemen representing societies from various points abroad, and the best specimens were sold under active competion at prices largely exceeding the apprisal. Among those present and engaged in the bidding, were President Hitchcock, of Amherst, Dr. Deane, of Greenfield, Messrs. Alger and Bouve, of Boston. Gebhardt of Albany, W. C. Redfield, of New York, Cobb, of Portland, and Chase, of Natchez. The largest and finest slab of sandstontone, presenting a number of distinct tracks, apprised at $350, mas struck off to Mr. Alger at $375. The corresponding slab of less size, and exhibiting similar tracks in relief, apprised at $150, was struck off to President Hitchcock, at $160. One stone apprised at $5. was run up to $26. The principal competition appeared to be between the representatives of the Boston Society of Natural History on the one hand, and those of Portland, Albany, and New York on the other. A fine fossil fish impression, found in Sunderland, and apprised at $25, was struck off to Mr. Cobb for $51. Another stone with well-defined traces of tracks, apprised at $30 was run up, between Mr. Alger and Mr. Cobb to $87; and finally struck off to the former. The stone apprised at $75 and another at $25, were struck off to Mr. Bouve at $130 and $68, respectively. There was a single impression of an enormous foot, apparently of a bird five or six times the size of the ostrich, which was apprised at $25—two similar and connected impressions having heretofore been sold to the British museum for $25. This, after active bidding between Mr. Chase and Mr. Alger, beca e the the property of Mr. Alger, at $100.

The total amount of the sales considerably exceeded the apprisal. It is a gratification to know that the gems of this unique and most remarkable collection, thanks to the public spirit of Amherest and of Boston, will still remain in Massachusetts.—Springfield Repub.

A BANGOR DIALOGUE.—The Bangor Courier says a little incident occurred on Saturday night, connected with the liquor seizures, which illustrates the feeling of the community.

One of those connected with the liquor seizures called upon a teamster at midnight to assist in hauling liquors to the city watch house. The teamster engaged to go, but whilethe applicants were waiting for the teamster, they heard a female voice inquiring where he was going. He replied that he was going to haul some liquor.

"I would not go, nor have anything to do with it."

"But I have promised, to go, and cannot now refuse."

"I would not go—here it is midnight and almost Sunday. I would have nothing to do with it.—smuggling liquor into the city."

"It is not smuggling—the liquor has been seized by the police, and I am to haul it to the watch house."

"O! then go by all means, and help all you can. I would go myself if I could be of any assistance in saving the city from the evils of rum."

"Good! good!" involuntarily burst from the men who were outside the house, waiting, in being thus encouraged in their work.

AMUSEMENTS.—The licentiousness of American pleasures seems to be a reaction against the puritanical scrupulosity which so long formed the characteristic of our national manners. Pleasure of all kind was proscribed either as immoral or unprofitable. We desire to promulgate the important truth, that rational amusements are neither unmanly, undignified, immoral, or irreligious. No man need seek them in a reckless, or shame-faced, or clandestine manner; but the community and each individual should recognize their importance to sound health, good spirits and long life. Daily we encounter men with careworn faces, impaired digestions, and shattered nerves, who would be far better able to discharge their duties as citizens and as Christians, if they would abstract a few hours for judicious relaxation, from the time devoted to what they mistakenly regard as more important objects. Instead of stigmatizing as a reprobate the man who is seen to enter a bowling alley or a theatre, and thus doing much towards making him one, let the moral and religious direct their efforts to improving the tone of all places of amusement which are not of an essentially vicious character. Do not try to make the young believe that vice and pleasure are identical. Teach them rather to distinguish the use from the abuse of pleasures. The former will help them to maintain health of body and serenity of mind, both of which may be sacrificed in the latter, together with the loss of self-respect, and the respect of others.—Philadelphia City Item.

A WARNING TO GIRLS.—A man named James Manard, recently stopped at St. Louis, having in company with him a young lady whom he had married only seven days before, at Decatur, in Illinois. While in Decatur, he professed to be a minister of the gospel, preached sermons, held prayer meetings, and otherwise affected the manners and calling of a clergyman. This lady to whom he was united, married him under the belief that he was a preacher. After remaining at St. Louis a few days, he fled, leaving his wife in a destitute condition, at the hotel where they stopped. It has since been ascertained that he had stolen the horse and carriage, and a large quantity of goods at Alton. The young lady, thus deceived and deserted, returned to her mother in Decatur. She probably married the man, as too many young ladies do, after a few week's acquaintance, knowing nothing of his previous life. A little prudenee, on the part of young ladies, and as much discretion as they would exercise in buying a new dress, would save many of them the shame and mortification of such a deception.

A WHISTLER.—A boy in Vermont, accustomed to work alone, was so prone to whistling that soon as he was by himself he unconsciously commenced. When asleep, the muscles of his mouth, chest and lungs were completely concatenated in the association; he whistled with astonishing shrillness. A pale countenance, loss of appetite, and almost total prostration of strength, convinced his mother that it would end in death if not speedily overcome; which was accomplished by placing him in the society of another boy, who had orders to give him a blow as soon as he began to whistle.

Mrs. Thompson, a widow lady, last week obtained a judgment against R. Barnes, at Bardstown, Ky., for $2000. He had publicly impeached her chastity.

Morning Chronicle.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1853.

MASSACHUSETTS ELECTION.

Four distinct and well defined parties are in the field, with candidates nominated, and fairly before the people. There are besides two other parties of some strength, neither of which have nominated candidates, but which nevertheless must aid in the success or defeat of the other parties and their candidates. We mean the temperance and the liberal parties, both of which have their organs and modes of action. The four candidates are very fairly enumerated and characterized, both as to politics and liquor laws, by the Boston Chronicle, where we extract an item descriptive of each.

Henry Wilson is the free soil candidate.—He was one of the originators or authors of the liquor law, and, since it went into operation, he has used his influence personally and actively, not only in his own town, but in other towns of Middlesex, to secure its rigid enforcement. His doing so, he of course regards as a great merit, as entitling him, in consequence, to a very liberal support, though not the support of the liberals.

The next candidate is Henry W. Bishop, the nominee of the coalition democracy. He is "the same old sixpence" of last year—noncommittal as touching the Liquor Law, or willing to be construed any way that his friends in different localities may desire, or think prudent, or that his partisan impulses may at the moment suggest. A year since he was—really nowhere on the Maine Law question. He is a perfect specimen of non-committalism.

Next we have Bradford Wales of Randolph—the candidate of the "National" democracy. The convention which nominated him is the only one which has seemed to know that there is such a statute in existence as the Maine Law. The resolutions which it adopted, condemn and repudiate the enactment.—They commit their candidate fully and unequivocally to the repeal of the law; so far as his official influence, if elected, can secure it.

The candidate last in order of nomination is Emory Washburn, the nominee of the whigs. It can be doing him no injustice to say that he is a proscriptive, Maine law, anti-license man, so known to the delegates of the large and enthusiastic Convention which nominated him. That he is an honorable, consistent conscientious friend of the present law, which meets with such determined opposition from the citizens of Boston,—must be regarded as a fact.

The Chronicle adds, "As matters now stand, they [the repealers] can not hesitate to support Mr. Wales, and there is reason to believe that they will do it to a man."

SUNDAY LAWS.

We learn from the Boston Courier, that the Mayor and Aldermen of that city are determined to punish all violations of the Sunday laws, and that hereafter any person who "shall keep open his house, cellar, shop, store or place of business on any part of the Lord's day or evening," will be prosecuted under the law of 1832. During the present week, several persons have been prosecuted in the Police Court for keeping their "places of business" open last Sunday, and were fined $10 each and costs. If the parties already prosecuted persist in their violations of the law, it will be competent for the Court in addition to a fine, to send the offenders to jail for a term of ninety days. A vigorous enforcement of this law would be fruitful of much good. The police, we are informed, have received peremptory orders to prosecute all offenders. If the officers do their duty (adds the Courier)—and we have no doubt but that they will—the result will be sobriety and peace throughout the city on the Sabbath day.

We have no doubt great good would result from the shutting up of such places one day in seven—but will not somebody get up an indignation party at this shameful invasion of the poor man's rights? and will not somebody else lay in a double stock of combustibles on Saturday night? We hope the Mayor and Aldermen will do as they say:—but are somewhat inclined to wait and see.

A Sad Story.—The Gardiner, Me., Fountain & Journal, of Sept. 29, states that eleven convictions of common sellers of intoxicating drinks in Augusta, have been had at the present term of court. None of the cases were lost. Two of the convicted have since suffered from continued violation of the law.—Marshal Jones has seized 100 gallons of liquor from T. J. Cox, and about 50 gallons from "Dr. Brown." Brown has gone to jail for 30 days; Cox's case was continued one week.

A correspondent of the same paper, tells the following sad story concerning a Court case:—

"One individual who was summoned before the Grand Jury boasted beforehand that he should swear he had bought but one pint, and that at the city agency, since he came into town—and that he had not drank any. He did so swear. That individual had been in the city about six months, and probably had not seen a sober day during that time. He was intoxicated when on the stand; and when leaving the jury room, actually went upon the run into the rum shop, occupied by the notorious "Doctor Brown,"—and when returning home I saw him in such a state that he could not keep the sidewalk.—He went into his house—was taken with delirium tremens, and in five weeks was a corpse."

On Saturday morning, Miss Elicia Shubrick, daughter of the late Capt. Shubrick, took the white veil at St. Catharine's Convent, Houston street, New York.

Clothed in her right mind.—We have seen the following paragraph lately published in twenty papers or more.

One of the witnesses in a case on trial, a lady, was saying that she expected on going to the house, to find the lady a maniac. "Instead of that," said the counsel, "you found her clothed in her right mind?" "Why," said the witness, "she had her clothes on."

We suppose the intent of the paragraph is to create a laugh at the expense of the lady witness. If so, the laugh is on the wrong side: the lawyer and the writer of the paragraph are the party to be ridiculed for ignorance of language.

In the account given by the Evangelists Mark and Luke, of the Devils entering the swine, it is said that the people saw the man, out of whom the devils were cast, "sitting clothed, and in his right mind." This is intelligible English. But to be clothed in a mind, is very much like being clothed in a conscience—and evidently means nothing.

A Liberal Merchant.—The New Orleans Delta says that the late Harry R. W. Hill of that city, gave away during his life, more than three hundred thousand dollars to charities, and died worth more than a million! Nor was that million accumulated by any other means than the legitimate enterprise of an honorable, liberal, just, and energetic merchant.

In his will he says:

My charities will all be done in my lifetime, and justice to all while living; so I leave no obligations, only gratitude and friendship.

Charge full commissions on my estate. It is worth this day over fifteen hundred thousand dollars.

I believe in the Christian religion, though an unworthy believer.

I want my negroes well treated. But for abolitionism, I should have been able to do more for them.

May God bless you!

Rev. Edward Beecher, D. D., will soon issue a treatise on Theology which is expected to command very general attention. It is entitled "The Conflict of Ages, or The Great Debate on the Moral Relation of God and Man." It maintains the pre-existence of Man ere he became a denizen of this cloudy planet, and will be, as we opine, rather a cloudy, or misty book.

Sad Accident on the Lowell Railroad.—As the Lowell train was going up on Wednesday evening, from Boston, Mr. Justin Hayward of Woburn, found that he was not in the Woburn car when it was switched off, in Winchester, and jumped from the train. He struck upon his head, and fractured his skull so that he cannot recover. Mr. Hayward was a ship carpenter, and was married the second time about one month ago. He has one child.

Singular Suicide.—Helen Wilson, a young woman employed in the bindery department of the Ohio State Journal office, Columbus, disappeared on Saturday night, leaving behind a letter enclosing her gold ear-rings, and stating that having been falsely accused of some improper conduct with a young man, she could not bear to live longer under such an imputation. She gave directions about the disposition of her clothes and ornaments, and said that her body would be found in the river, near the bridge. She was eighteen years of age, and was generally esteemed for her amiable disposition and correct deportment.

New York, Sept. 29.—The Atlantic and Pacific Rail Road Company met at the Metropolitian Hotel to-day; forty-three millions were subscribed by 57 persons from all parts of the country. The meeting adjourned for two weeks.

General James Tallmadge, Ex-Senator and Ex-Minister to Russia, died very suddenly at the Metropolitian Hotel, on his return from a visit to the Crystal Palace.

At the Episcopal Convention today the colored church of St. Philips was admitted by an overwhelming majority of votes, both clerical and lay members voting in the affirmative.

Dartmouth College,—Sixty-four students have joined the different classes in Dartmouth College the present term. The number in the classes is as follows: Seniors 50, Juniors 60, Sophmores 76, Freshmen 54.—Total 240. Thirty have entered the Chandler School, and between 50 and 60 the Medical Institution, making in the whole about 325.

The Observatory is in the process of erection on the eminence in the rear of the College building, and will be a very perfect edifice for the purpose intended. It is built of brick.

A case has just been decided in the Somerset Co. Court, against the Central R. R. Co., by a verdict of $2100 in favor of Isaac Moore, who sued for damages by the collision of a train with a stage which he drove. The Somerset Court, some years since, awarded $2000 damages, but the case was appealed and finally brought back, with the above result. The verdict appears to have been based on the want of sufficient notice at the crossing that the cars were coming.—Newark Daily Advertiser.

Evangelical Fibms.—The Post alludes to "the queer names" on the Canadian barges, and says: "There is one which is decidedly unique, being entitled and registered as the "Jean Baptiste et Campagnie," or, in our vernacular, "John the Baptist & Co." Strong firm, that!" Such names, (says the Boston Chronicle) are quite common in Catholic countries. Thus in the city of Mexico you will see over a grog or pulque shop "Jesu y Maria," and over the door of another, "Jesu, Maria & Jose."

LOCAL.

The Fair.—By our advertising columns, it will be seen that good arrangements are made for visiting the State Fair, at Manchester, next week. The fare on all the railroads in the State will be put at half the usual rate, on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday; and passengers from this vicinity will arrive in good season, by taking the morning train on the P. & C. Road.

P. & C. Railroad.—It will be seen that the morning train has changed its time—and on and after Monday next, starts 40 minutes later than during the summer.

☞ We are requested to announce to members of Eureka Club No. 16, Temperance Watchmen, that their quarterly election of Officers takes place this evening at half-past 7.

☞ We understand that the Directors of the Portsmouth Steam Factory have decided to adopt the eleven hour system in that corporation—commencing work an Monday morning at 7 o'clock.

☞ By request, Rev. Mr. Moore will repeat a sermon on "Conscience and the Holy Spirit," in the North Church, to-morrow afternoon.

☞ Commodore Morris, Head of the Naval Bureau of Ordnance, visited the Navy Yard at this station yesterday, and was received with the usual salute.

For the Chronicle.

Congress st., Sept. 30, 1853.

Editors of the Chronicle:—Gentlemen:—That portion of the notice in your paper of this date, headed "High School," which refers to the adjustment of difficulties between the High School Committee, and the late High School Teacher, Mr. Kimball, was wholly unauthorized by the parties acting for the committee and Mr. Kimball, respectively; and is also substantially incorrect. Rev. Dr. Burroughs and myself have been for some time in correspondence concerning the difficulty, and adjustment thereof; but the difficulty is not, up to this time of writing, adjusted. If it is adjusted, of which there is hope entertained, the corresponding parties will duly announce it. Considering the notice impolitic, as well as incorrect, you will oblige by inserting this note. Yours, truly, Henry D. Moore.

Sales by Auction.—Geo. W. Towle & Co. are to knock off goods in great quantity and variety, this morning at 9 o'clock—to make space at City Sales Room for a large stock of the beautiful American Porcelain, for which they are sole agents in this vicinity.

H. F. Wendell, Esq., also has a sale at 10 o'clock, of Furniture, Clothing, Paintings, &c. Now is a chance to procure some very fine Paintings and Engravings—some of them framed very handsomely.

☞ The Great Falls Journal understands that the Irishmen charged with the murder of Alexander Lewis Maxwell, are to be taken to this state for indictment and trial. It is stated that they cannot be tried in Maine, from the fact that Maxwell died in New Hampshire.

Eighty Pounds of Cents Stolen.—An entrance to the store of Messrs. Sumner & Swasey, at the head of Ferry wharf, Newburyport, was effected Wednesday night, by forcing the cellar door, and a bucket containing fifty dollars in cents, and weighing 80 pounds, stolen.

A New Star.—A few evenings since some of the class in Astronomy connected with the Great Falls High School, were out on a star gazing excursion, and during their rambler discovered what they decided to be a new star, and with no small degree of satisfaction, ran to the house of their teacher, who by the way was suffering from an ill turn, and insisted upon his taking a peep at the "new star." The teacher was forced to comply, but the star turned out to be a lantern fastened to the tail of a kite.

Mount Washington.—The proprietors of the Summit House, after a sojourn of one hundred days, upon the top of Mount Washington, have closed their hotel for the season. They report, "that eagles and hawks are sometimes seen from the top of the mountain. Weasels, squirrels, mice and bats are found on the very mountain top. Anthracite coal costs from $45 to $50 per ton on the top of Mount Washington." They did not keep a record of the wind currents, but they estimate that the wind was from the Northwest three-fourths of the time.

The Norwalk tragedy was rather a costly operation to the company. It has already paid near two hundred thousand dollars to those who were injured, and to the relatives of those who were killed.

A writer in Putnam's Magazine says that "the man who will be President of the United States in 1900, is, in all likelihood, running barefoot at this moment among the whortleberry bushes of Oregon."

The next Congress will contain more new members than any previous one. Nearly two-thirds of the whole number have never been in Congress before.

The yellow fever in Philadelphia is on increase. There were eight new cases on Monday.

The Newark (N. J.) Mercury says that Rev. Mr. Chambers, in his address to the ladies and clergymen at Philadelphia, on Thursday afternoon, of last week, spoke of visiting "Taylor's Saloon," when in New York, and declared it was the most splendid of all the saloons in the world, and he saw ladies there with all the boldness imaginable sitting with tumblers and straws, and though they had been weaned 30 or 40 years they were still sucking.

ARRIVAL OF THE WASHINGTON.

THREE DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—The steamer Washington arrived at this port at 3 o'clock P. M. today, having left Southampton the 18 days, and brings 242 passengers.

Cotton was heavy. Sales of the 3 days 15,000 bales.

Breadstuffs buoyant. Advance of 1s on Flour since Friday, and fully three pence on Wheat.

Buyers are holding back at these prices.—Corn firm and wanted at last quotations.

The weather in England was again unfavorable for the harvest, in consequence of which Breadstuffs at Mark Lane were firmer.

The cholera was progressing in England.

Rejection of the Ultimatum by Russia.—The London Times announces that the Emperor of Russia had rejected the Turkish modifications. War was considered therefore, inevitable.

Previous accounts state that the English and French Consols had left Jassy, creating a great panic. General Landers was advancing with a fresh corps of Russian troops upon Moldavia. The Czar was to proceed to Warsaw, and was to meet the Emperor of Austria at Olmutz on the 23d of September.

The troops of Omar Pacha on the lower Danube insist on fighting the Russians, and it is feared that the Pacha will not be able to subdue their fanaticism, in order to effect further negotiations.

There was an increased pressure in the money market. A panic was experienced on the Stock Exchange. Funds and foreign stocks were experiencing a sudden and severe depreciation. It was feared that the Bank would raise the rate of interest to 5 per cent. Consols opened on Tuesday at 95 3-4 a 96, and closed at 96 a 96 1-4.

The ship building yard and machinery factory of Messrs Scott, Russell & Co., at Millwall Poplar, near London, was destroyed by fire on the 10th inst.; the estimated loss was over £100,000.

The Madrid correspondent of the Morning Chronicle states that the reception of Mr. Soule, the American Envoy, was discussed by the Council of Ministers at La Grande on the 2d. It was understood that Mr. Soule would be received, although several journals had advocated an opposite course.

Telegraphic accounts from Vienna announce that the lost Jewels of Hungary, affirmed by the Austrian Government to have been stolen by Kossuth and his Ministry, had been discovered near Orschova, buried under ground; the jewelry comprises the Hungarian crown and insignia, and the cloak of St. Stephen; the latter was almost destroyed by the damp.

From Paris we learn that the Emperor of France had returned to the capitol, and was present at a Cabinet Council held at St. Cloud on the 11th inst.

In consequence of the financial measures of the Government, the French funds had again declined.

The Moniteur publishes another denial of the statements that large quantities of corn had been purchased by the French government. "The purchase of 19,000 hectolitres made about six weeks since in England, for the army and navy, is the only fact of the kind," says that Journal, "which can have furnished a pretence for such allegations."

VIENNA, Sept. 8.—The warlike preparations of the Turks are carried on with unabated vigor, both in Europe and in Asia.—The troops were literally day and night in the fortifications, on the right bank of the Danube, and a cavalry cordon has been formed from Widdin to Shumla, and from Shumla to Varna; towards the end of August, another detachment of 2300 men was conveyed on board a steam frigate, and another vessel, to Varna. The Turkish army in the neighborhood of Varna is estimated at 90,000 men, with 250 guns. In the various fortresses and in the passes of the Balkan are guns of a large calibre. In Varna there are six batteries of heavy metal. The order and discipline maintained in Omar Pacha's camp are highly spoken of, but the financial difficulties with which he has to contend are great.

The Turkish government had entered into a contract for the supply of 300,000 great coats, lined with leather, for the troops, and this was thought indicative of a further complication of the question, and consequently the probability of hostilities.

A supplement of the Milan Gazette of the 7th inst., publishes the sentence issued on the 18th of July, 1853, by the Council of War, sitting at Milan, against 64 persons implicated in the insurrection of the 6th of February; 20 were condemned to death.

The ship Marco Polo arrived at Liverpool from Australia, with $280,000 in gold. Her advices are to the 8th of June.

It is reported that the Persian city of Ispahan was nearly destroyed by an earthquake on the 11th of July.

TERRIBLE MORTALITY BY YELLOW FEVER AT ST. GEORGES.—NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—A passenger by the steamer Merlin, from Bermuda, states that the deaths from yellow fever at St. Georges up to Sept. 25th, were 300, out of a population of 2400, including the military. Gov. Phillpots died on the 18th, leaving Col. Rose as his successor, who also died a few days afterwards. The foreign population have all been suffering from the effects of the disease. In the 56th regiment 110 men had died.

A TEXAS MURDER.—Eli Urcury, a planter, was recently shot dead near Jefferson, Texas, by Dr. A. L. Landen, who had an adjourned quarrel with him. He discharged two barrels of a shot-loaded gun deliberately at Urcury as the latter was riding along the road, and the victim fell from his horse and died instantly. The Doctor gave himself up, was holden to bail in $5000, and discharged thereupon. They were neighbors. The Jefferson Herald moralizes upon the matter thus:—"It is a horrible state of morals when resource to bloody measures is rendered absolutely necessary. For one, we are sick of blood, and earnestly desire a better state of affairs for the future."

BALTIMORE, Sept. 29.—Advices from St. Georges, Bermuda, of the 18th, state that the yellow fever was still spreading there and had become very fatal. The Governor of the Island had fallen a victim to the disease.

MR. S. GILBERT, Dear Sir—

Having been afflicted with a diseased Liver, attended with pain in the side, I was advised by a friend to try your Extract Polypodium, and am happy to inform you that it has not only cured me of the above disease, but it also relieved me of a Chronic Diarrhea which I contracted in the war with Mexico, to cure which I had tried the popular remedies of the day to no effect. I can cheerfully recommend it to the public as the best medicine for the above complaint of which I have any knowledge. I have also proved it to be an invaluable purifier of the blood.

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglects to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,

PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.

One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.

[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]

First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married or those contemplating marriage, or any female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title-page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be ignorant.

☞ On receipt of One Dollar (for the fine Edition, extra binding,) "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION" is sent (postage free) to any part of the United States. In his Preface to "Bleak House," (which by the way, is finished,) Dickens says, that, at present, there is before the English Court of Chancery, a suit which was commenced nearly twenty years ago; in which from thirty to forty counsel have been known to appear at one time; in which costs have been incurred to the amount of seventy thousand pounds; which is no nearer to its termination now than when it was begun. There is another well-known suit of Chancery, not yet decided, which was commenced before the close of the last century, and in which more than double the amount of seventy thousand pounds has been swallowed up in costs.

FOREIGN ITEMS.—Bartholomew Fair, hitherto held in Smithfield, (in the centre of which "Bloody Mary" had the heretics burned alive,) virtually ceased on Tuesday, after an existence of 720 years, the charter under which it was held bearing date 1133.

Flogging in the army having been virtually ended, only 58 floggings having occurred last year in an army of 110,000 men, which is less than one in every 2000, it is now proposed wholly to abolish it. At present 50 lashes is the maximum punishment. A few years ago 500, or even 1000 lashes, were not uncommon, but the sufferer was never worth anything after such cruelty.

On Wednesday the 14th inst., after a most animating chase of over an hour, Mr. James M'Phelim, of Buctouche, succeeded in killing a fine Moose, measuring six feet—and weighing over 500 lbs (the four quarters) in the Buctouche Bay, and about a mile and a half from land. It was not till after receiving the tenth shot—in which a pocket knife was substituted for a bullet—shot being all exhausted, that the stately stranger surrendered. This is the first of the aristocracy of the forest which has visited this quarter for the last forty seven years. We hope he is not alone.—St. John N. B. Freeman.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.
DOCTOR ALFRED G. HALL,

AUTHOR of the New Theory of cure by the NUTRITIVE FLUIDS, in Physiology and Medicine, sustaining the laws of life and removing the cause of disease, confirmed as a NATURAL SCIENCE by the Nutritive Process; expelling dead and depositing living matter at the same time in the Body, increasing its weight and strength while under treatment, being the great discovery of the constitutional power resisting decease; ample proof can be given in the person of any invalid.

Dr. H. receives visits, makes examinations, ascertains the cause of disease, describes the proper condition of the patient, furnishes prescriptions, medicines and recipes for his Nutritive Fluids and cordials.

Three months' attention and treatment is requisite in all cases, with printed instructions, for diet and washing, and the use of the Alkaline Girdle for the spine and kidneys—a restorative action is produced in all parts of the system immediately by the natural laws sustained by nutrition.

He is the inventor and sole proprietor of 12 nutritive fluids; they can be made by any family—are adapted to the several temperaments, and to every form of disease. His works, "Views of the New Theory, &c.," "Womanhood," and the "Mother's Own Book," are furnished to invalids under his supervision. It is now before Congress.

Doctor Alfred G. Hall may be consulted by letter, or in person at his room, No. 15 Winter St., Boston, from 10 A. M. to 2 P. M. ☞ Medicines, &c. forwarded by Express to any part.

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 350,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the first bottle exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom
AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers even in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

DR. HAMPTON'S
VEGETABLE TINCTURE!
The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the best family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal. It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. K. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Dunan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

Genoa, Sardinia, January 17, 1853.

Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray—Gentlemen: The first Lieutenant of this ship, who has been suffering many years from the Dyspepsia, and who has been nearly restored to his usual health by the use of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," desires you to send him one dozen bottles of that medicine.

Lieutenant ——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezzia.

The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of DYSPEPSIA.

I am respectfully yours,

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered. Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and colds, the parents of this fatal disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the pub. as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

YOUNG LADIES vs. YOUNG GIRLS.

The independence of the national character is its most striking characteristic, and is developed in a multiplicity of phases—many of which are as objectionable as others are praiseworthy. Among the former, one of the most prominent is the repulsiveness with which American girls regard what they term "housework." The great difficulty of obtaining good and intelligent servants is universally admitted, and the absurd dread of that very innocent term "servant" is a principal producing cause of that difficulty.

The daughters of farmers, mechanics, and others, who find themselves compelled to labor for a livelihood, choose as a general rule, any employment rather than domestic service, and although it is notorious that a respectable girl of this class is eagerly sought for, liberally paid, and treated generally with all the respect due to her, yet it is no less strange than true, that in nineteen cases out of twenty, an American girl in her morbid fear of the title of dependent, will seek the most exhausting and poorly paid drudgery, rather than obtain a comfortable living in such a manner.

Take for example the two following advertisements, which we cut at random from a city daily, and of which hundreds are to be found in their columns continually:

"Wanted—A nice, tidy Protestant girl, to do general housework in a private family.—Apply at 37 McDougal street."

"Wanted—A few young ladies to learn the vest making. Enquire at 38 Bridge street, second floor."

Experience proves that out of a hundred applications for the first employment, not more than three or four will be Americans; while for the latter, the large majority will be of native birth.

The first advertiser wants a nice, tidy Protestant girl, the italicised term showing that he does not even hope for an application from an American girl. Moreover, he wants a girl not a lady! The distinctions are doubtless fine, and occasionally difficult to draw; but it is truly astounding with what potency they operate in the minds of applicants.

The high spirited daughter of a poor farmer resolves to go to the great cities in pursuit of fortune. In looking over the advertisements in the newspapers the above two quoted stand side by side. As a "help" or house servant, her past experience would insure for her the highest wages paid; she is just what two-thirds of the advertisers want, and might obtain two, three or four dollars a month more than the foreign rivals; that is to say, after the first month she may safely count upon eight dollars the month in addition to good board, comfortable lodging, washing, &c. But she will not earn it because she will not be called a servant, and cannot lay claim in such position to the title of a lady!

Rejecting, for such reasons, the opportunity, she avails herself of the second, and at once becomes a lady. That is to say, she gives her employer one, two or three months' labor, paying her own expense the while; at the expiration of which time, she finds herself qualified to earn from thirty to sixty cents per day, according to her experience, by working from six in the morning to eight or nine at night. Seated in a close room, amid a bevy of a dozen, twenty or forty, poor white slaves just like her, she stitch, stitch, stitches away at the same everlasting task, in the same unwholesome room, the same unnatural position, and in the same eternal—monotonous round—week after week, month after month, and year after year; until, when health is gone, and deformity come; eyesight failed, and spirits broken; she at length finds herself a poor, withered, broken-down creature, returning to spend among the friends of her youth the misapplied strength.

Let us compare the rate of remuneration. The servant has earned besides her comfortable living, at least a hundred dollars the year, besides presents which good girls are sure to receive, and may accept without any sacrifice of a proper pride; and which have nearly, if not quite sufficed to clothe her. But she has earned infinitely more than this; she has preserved unimpaired a good constitution, a clear eye and an erect form; has grown into robust womanhood in a healthy employment, and in a few years has laid by a comfortable fund to aid a good husband, or as a provision for old age.

On the other hand our poor vest maker, or shirt maker, has earned by the exhausting toil we have described, her forty or fifty cents per diem; her two or three dollars per week; nearly every dollar of which she is compelled to spend for the meagre fare upon which she feeds, an occasional illness, or support during necessary absence from labor.

The picture is not over painted. It has been verified, and is, in scores of cases, daily. To be sure being a lady! she may, if blessed with personal attractions, pick up a gentleman, and become a wife before care and toil have too much reduced her for such a responsibility, but so, in the other case, may the "girl," having become a woman! pick up a man! and the chances are that though she may marry less fine clothes and fewer financial habits, she may succeed in obtaining a better husband, and becoming a mother to healthier children.

In nothing we have said, would we be understood as condemning a proper spirit of independence, no man or woman was ever yet worth a "candle end," without it, but the pride growing out of such a feeling is quite a different affair to that morbid vanity which is the reverse of pride, and which, we regret to believe, actuates too many of the class of laborers we allude to. True dignity is inseperable from virtue, and none ever yet in our land, deserved consideration who did not find it. Honest labor is never degrading, nor is there in household or other service, aught that is derogatory position or reputation of those who render it, for

"True dignity is never gained by place,
And never lost when honors are withdrawn."

We would, then, that a better estimation of mere terms, prevailed with those whom we now venture to advise; that they might learn that to be a woman! such as God designed she should be, is to obtain the loftiest title know on earth; to fulfil her destiny, and maintain her position is to accomplish the greatest work, the highest good permitted to mortals, and that all this she may accomplish in the kitchen, as in the parlor; in the humblest cot, as in the proudest palace, for

"Virtue though chained to earth, will still live free,
And hell itself will yield to industry."

—Worcester Transcript.

LIABILITY FOR ACCIDENTAL KILLING.—A German woman, in Chicago, was recently killed, by being struck on the head by a large ball, with which some persons were playing in a garden, by which the woman was passing. Her husband sued the owner of the garden for $5000 damages, sustained by the loss of his wife. The case was carried up to the Supreme Court of Illinois, upon the question whether or not the owner of the garden could be liable under such circumstances. The opinion of the Court was in the affirmative.—The Judge (Caton) said:

"If a party sets in motion inanimate matter or brute force, in such a way that injury to another is the result, no one doubts his liability for injuries which ensue. And why should he be less liable when the instruments are intelligent beings? An infinite variety of cases might be put, and will readily occur, to show that if the defendant set people to playing in his garden without reasonably and properly securing it, to protect those who were lawfully passing the adjoining highway from danger likely to result from the playing of the game, he is liable for injuries thus produced.

The American Bible Society has distributed 800,000 Bibles and Testaments during the past year, and more than 9,000,000 since the origin of the societes.

The entire issues for the thirty-seven years of the Society's existance, would cover more than forty acres with Bibles and Testaments; or extend in long measure, nearly a thousand miles, or make more than eighteen hundred and fifty solid cords.

MONDAY, OCT. 3, 1853.

FROM HALIFAX.

Halifax dates to Sept. 27, and St. Johns, N. B. to Sept. 21, give us a paragraph or two on the fisheries, as well as a sad account of expected famine or scarcity.

H. M. steamer Devastation, commander DeHorsey, arrived at Pictou, on the 14th inst.,—coaled, and sailed on the 18th, for a cruise at Gaspe and the adjacent coast.

The steamer Basalisk paid a visit to Mirimichi on Sunday, 18th inst., and after procuring water and other supplies, sailed to continue her protection to the Fisheries.

Halifax harbor still swams with little mackerel.

The steamer Osprey, which arrived at Halifax on the 26th, from St. John, N. F., reports that a number of fishing boats have been lost, together with their crews, on the North side of Newfoundland, during a gale about the 15th ult.

The grass and grain crops of the Colony have been good, but the potato blight appears to be almost universal throughout the Island. This in connection with the short catch of fish, is subject matter for gloomy forebodings on the part of the local press.—The St. Johns Courier of the 20th inst. says:

Our worst apprehension of a winter of scarcity and suffering are being strengthened by every day's intelligence. Every one arriving from the outports, both north and south, bears testimony to the impending calamity of want; and so wofully apparent has it s approach become, that the fact is mentioned with feeling of intense anxiety and dread. That the fishery has been but very partial is too true—that it has been in many localties, the next thing to a total failure, is unfortunately indisputable; and that the potato disease has deprived the poor of the last resource against want, is a fact that becomes more authentic every day. Some short time since we alluded to this painful subject, and our representations of the extent of the potato blight, were by many deemed exaggerated; but we know how deceptive the first appearance of the malady is, and how tenaciously hope is indulged so long as there is the slightest ground for it: but the potatoes which at first were but slightly affected have, after being dug, exhibited unmistakable tendency to rapid and total decay. We believe every one is now convinced that there is not two month's stock of sound potatoes in the Island, and under such circumstances it is full time to call attention to the threatened danger.

The Harbor Grace Herald of Sept. 14 says:

"We feel we should be remiss in our duty if we suffered the present opportunity to pass without urging upon the government the necessity of making provision for the forthcoming winter. The fisheries and potato crops are, in this part of the country at least, a dead failure, so that hundreds of the population will be entirely destitute of food before the middle of December. The probability is, too, that the winter will be one of extreme severity. This is generally the case here after a hot summer, especially when the weather undergoes a decided change on the approach of the equinox. We hope, therefore, that steps will be immediately taken to meet the emergency."

The weather at Bonavista continued fine up to the 3d Sept., and the fishermen were doing pretty well. Several Labradormen had returned with good fares; they report fish plenty below Fox Harbor. The potato rot was prevalent at Ragged Harbor and Catalina.

ITEMS FROM AUSTRIA.—Among the foreign items, by the last steamer, we notice, under the head of Austria, that the Governor of Terni had been put to death by the people for insulting their petition for cheaper bread, and that on the 1st of September the reading committee of Holy Inquisition again condemned Uncle Tom's Cabin as damnable and pernicious.

That a starving people should resent such an insult in such a way, is horrible, but not surprising. Nor is it very strange that the Holy Office should pronounce poor Uncle Tom to be damnable. He has been the subject of much uncanonical objurgation in this country, from the newspapers; and now in Austria he is put for the second time under the ban ecclesiastic. Nevertheless, he still lives; and bids fair to outlive the curses which are thus heaped on his head.

PUTNAM'S MONTHLY, for October, has come in from the publisher. The contents are, What Impression do We, and Should We Make Abroad?; Institutions of Learning and Science (continued); In the Garden; The Early Poetry of France; The Late Patriotic Celebration at Berne; The Retort Courteous; The Text of Shakspeare; Art-Manufactures; Wensley (continued); To Let; Reminiscences of an Ex-Jesuit (continued); The Orchestra: Julien; Fishing at the West; Sketches in a Paris Cafe; Avington; Our New President; Editorial Notes.

The article on Our New President, is a neat and spirited defence of a former article; and the whole tone of the book is independent and fearless. This number is not inferior to any of its predecessors.

G. P. Putnam & Co., Publishers, 10 Park Place, New York.

For sale in Boston by Petridge & Co.; in Portsmouth by J. F. Shores, Jr.

THE KNICKERBOCKER, for October, 1853, is on our table, from the publishers, Samuel Hueston, New York; Petridge, Colby & Nichols, Boston.

It contains an article on Our Old Church; with its usual excellent galeries and gravtiies.

LOWELL MUSEUM.

On Friday morning, at 3 o'clock, the Lowell Museum was discovered to be on fire, the flames issuing from the tower. It burnt till about five o'clock, when the fire was extinguished, but the building was almost totally destroyed, as were also the collection of curiosities and the theatrical property, which were owned by Fisher A. Hildreth of the Lowell Advertiser, and John T. Chesley of the Vox Populi. The value is estimated at $5000, and was uninsured. The building was owned by Fisher A. Hildreth, and Benj. F. Butler, and was insured for $8000, which may cover the loss. The whole losses, in that and other buildings, was about $20,000.

The building was originally erected through the instrumentality of Rev. Mr. Thurston, for a Free Will Baptist Church; it became involved in law and was finally sold—proving to the stockholders an unprofitable investment. It was established as a Museum, July 4th, 1840, by N. A. Gates.

BURNING SPIRITS.

In answer to our request for information as to the proportion of the spirits distilled in this country, which is made into burning fluid and alcohol, the Boston Chronicle says:

"It is very large, though we are not able to give the statistics for all the States. We can inform our namesake, however, that in Massachusetts, of the 5,000,000 gallons of spirits, annually distilled from molasses, three-fourths at least are used for alcohol or for other purposes than as a beverage. At this season of the year, especially, nearly the entire product is used for burning fluid, and alcohol for chemical and manufacturing purposes. This statement is believed to be a perfectly reliable one—borne out by the facts in the case, and taking it as a basis of calculation, it will not be a difficult matter to arrive at a very correct estimate of the whole amount of spirits used in manufacturing and in the arts, or as a burning fluid throughout the country. It is much—very much larger than is supposed."

These facts are important; and if our namesake will pursue the inquiry into other States, with the facilities it possesses for getting at the truth, a table of reliable facts on the subject can be prepared, which will be of great value for reference and use in various ways.

FURTHER FROM TEXAS.—The Houston Telegarph has the following paragraphs:

The west bank of the Rio Grande is lined with troops, and it was supposed not less than fifteen thousand Mexican troops are now stationed at the towns east of the Sierra Madre.

We learn from a gentle man who lately returned from Brownsville, that the trade in that place has been nearly destroyed, owing to the rigid revenue laws of Mexico.

The Martagorda Tribune says:

"Instructions have been received here by the quartermaster to make immediate preparations for the accommodation of 10,000 U. S. troops."

The Tribune makes the following observations:

"Santa Anna has intestine enemies to contend with, and he is preparing to carry out the oppressive measures of his own ambitious and indominitable will at the point of the bayonet. The Northern States are murmuring disaffection, Camargo, Monterey, Matamoras, and other towns adjacent to the lower Rio Grande, are bristling with his bayonets, while higher up near the Presidio road, a heavy army of 32,000 men is said to be on the march"

The San Antonio Texas of the 8th, says:

"Lieut. Mecklyn's party of the United States Boundary Commission arrived in this city a few days ago, from Eagle Pass and the Upper Rio Grande. They report every thing quiet in that region."

The Nueces Valley, of Corpus Christi, in its issue of the 6th inst., says:

Gen. Smith and Major Delafield are to leave here soon for the Rio Grande, to select for and locate their fortifications."

We learn from the Trumpet that the Rev. C. H. Fay, of Orchard street Society, city of New York, has accepted the invitation to remove to Nashua, N. H., at a salary of $1200; and Rev. D. P. Livermore of Weymouth, has received an invitation to settle with the first Parish in Malden, at a salary of $1000.

The seventieth annual convention of the clergy and laity of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the diocese of New York commenced its sessions at New York on Wednesday morning. The first discourse was preached by Bishop Spencer, late of Madras.

A great missionary demonstration is connected with the Methodist Episcopal Church, whose labors in spreading Christianity throughout the heathen lands are now so world wide, is to be held on the 2d of November, in New York.

Rev. Daniel P. Goodwin, D. D., the new President of Trinity College, Hartford, has entered upon his duties.

The New Hampshire Baptist State Convention will meet in the Baptist-meeting house at Meredith Village, on the 19th of October.

Rev. J. G. Forman has resigned the charge of the Unitarian Society in Nantucket.

☞ We have just received Nos. 7 and 8 of the Illustrated Record of the Industry of All Nations,—an excellent record of the Crystal Palace, New York.

RAILROAD DAMAGES.—It is reported that the Camden and Amboy Rail Road Co., have compromised with the Rev. James Purviance, of Mississippi, (formerly of Baltimore,) who, with his wife and child, were injured in the fearful collision of cars on their road on the 8th of August, by paying him $10,000 damages. Mr. Purviance's foot was slightly hurt, his daughter's thigh broken, and his lady badly hurt in the hips.

LOCAL.

WOMAN MISSING.—Mrs. Bridget O'Conner, wife of Mr. John B. Conner, of Kittery Foreside, left Boston on the 8th of August, in the three o'clock train on the Providence Railroad, on her way to Sing Sing, N. Y.—Since this her husband has been able to learn nothing of her. She has been subject to fits—and as there has recently been published a statement of some unknown woman's being taken from the cars somewhere, apparently deranged, it is thought she may now be confined in some hospital. Any information concerning her, will be thankfully received by her husband, at Kittery Foreside, Me. Will the press circulate.

☞ A slight alarm of fire was raised at the north end on Sunday noon, by the burning of some chips in an upper room in the house on the corner of Deer and Market streets. The fire was caused by a defective chimney.

ACCIDENT.—Mr. Albert Parsons and his wife were thrown from a chaise, and Mrs. P. severely injured, on Saturday afternoon. The accident was caused by the falling of the horse on the walk across High street, the driver attempting to turn too short a corner.

YANKEE ADDAMS' Dramatic Company, on Friday evening closed a very successful series of entertainments at the Cameneum. The house was filled with a very respectable audience, who were highly entertained. We have already given opinion of the principal actors. Mr. Addams only left Portsmouth to accept a liberal offer in a Western city.

We understand Mr. Wm. B. English is expected here soon, with a talented theatrical company.

SERVED HIM RIGHT.—A drunken sort of a fellow, residing at Cape Neddick, Me., who usually "follows the sea," has long excited the ire of the young men in his vicinity, by beating and otherwise abusing his wife. So one night last week, several of them took it upon themselves to avenge her injuries—and took the "master of the house" into a neighboring barn, shaved his head, and tarred and feathered him from head to foot. He must have had some cleansing help from his aggrieved spouse, however, for next morning he came out bright as ever—minus his hair and his feathers.

POLITENESS UNEQUALLED.—Mr. Barrett, who for many years has been conductor on the Lowell railroad, stands at the head of the list of polite and accommodating men—at least in the estimation of the ladies.

On Friday afternoon, as the inward express train passed through West Medford, a young pretty—and, we presume, affectionate—lady observed a female friend upon the platform in front of the station, and requested the Conductor to stop the train that she might kiss her. Mr. Barrett complied instantly. The train was stopped, the lady left the car, kissed her friend lovingly, resumed her seat and the train passed on.—Boston Chron.

SECTARIAN SCHOOLS.—It is stated that an act authorizing the pro rata apportionment of Public School Money to Schools organized and maintained by religious denominations, was pushed through the California Legislature at the heel of its last ssssion, and that the Roman Catholics, who incited its passage, are preparing to profit by it.

A GREAT MISTAKE.—It is a very common thing for lazy and worthless people to pretend to find some consolation and excuse in what may be regarded as a lying adage—"the world owes me a living"—which they offer as an apology for cumbering the face of the earth, sponging upon society. Thus Jeremy Diddler, whose hand was in every man's pocket from whom he could borrow, comforted himself with the idea that he was only getting some of that the world owed him. As well might the thief, who has helped himself out of his neighbor's till, intimate that he was only merely taking his own—that it was only a part of the debt uncancelled that "the world"—that monstrous bankrupt—had refused to pay him.

The whole theory is false and fraudulent. The true rule is exactly the reverse. We owe the world an upright honest life; we owe it labor; we owe it duties; and in return the world will give us a living. The lounger about the grog-shop, billiard rooms, or other loafing places, may fold his arms in idleness, under the consciousness of being so large a creditor for what the world owes him—but we think we can tell him how the world will pay him ultimately. It will square off by an instalment of hunger, poverty, contempt, of degredation and the poor house. It will give him rich dividends of scorn and starvation, and finally pay him in full with six feet of earth in the pauper's grave—even if no payment be made on account, of time in the county jail.

The best trust is in stout hands, clear brains, industry and economy—such drafts upon the world will be honored. Many a young man has risen by these means from poverty and obscurity to reputation and wealth, and become a wonder to the idle and thriftless how he got along so well. He was a hard worker, simply; not a mere waiter on providence, as would seem to be the loafer who would be perfectly willing, no doubt, to hold his hat if a shower of gold were falling; or if it would rain roast beef, he would have a platter ready to catch it. But to work—to work hard he can't condescend—let fortune come to him in any other shape than that.

In these stirring and busy times let no one take refuge in any lying proverb, such as we have exposed. The drones of nature are driven out of the hive; and men should renounce fellowship with the idle, whose company and example can only be pernicious and mischievous.

LATEST FOREIGN NEWS.

By the arrival of the America, we have Liverpool dates to Sept. 17, three days later than by the Washington.

Provision market generally firm, and prices not altered much. Flour and grain had advanced a little,and would probably hold their advance.

The advance in the week is variously called from 6 to 7d on wheat, 1s to 18d on flour, and 18d to 2s on Indian Corn. Principal houses agree in quoting United States Western Canal superfine flour 31s ; Baltimore and Philadelphia 31s 6d a 32s 6d ; Ohio 32s ; Southern 26 a 28s. Indian corn in moderate request at 34 a 35s 6d for fine white ; yellow 33s a 34s 6d. Some firms quote white as high as 36 a 37s. The advance was owing to variable weather, with more firmness in continental markets and the threatening aspect of the Turkish dispute. The prospect in Russia and Turkey remains as it was three days before.

The Asiatic cholera is spreading in England. Several cases are reported at Liverpool and London, and over a hundred at Newcastle, with about fifty deaths.

The attention of France seems to be occupied with the price of food. The Moniteur publishes a decree reducing the duties on cattle and wheat—the duties are to be three francs per head on oxen ; one franc on cows or young cattle;twenty-five centimes on calves, sheep, goats and pigs ; and ten centimes per hundred killograms on fresh meat.

The Municipal Department of the Seine had extended to Commissioners of the Department the measure which fixes the price of bread at Paris at forty cents per killogram.—The Prefect is authorized to advance to the bakers the difference between the cost price and the price of 40 centimes, commencing from Sept. 1st. It was reported that tickets would be issued to the poor, entitling them to receive bread at a nominal rate.

The Emperor Nicholas was to arrive at Olmutz on the 23d, acompanied by one or two of his sons, also by Count Nesselrode, to meet the Emperor of Austria and King of Prussia. The fate of Turkey is supposed to be the subject of the interview.

In Austria prices of breadstuffs this winter must range very high, but scarcity is not apprehended.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

The Czar has refused the Turkish note.—The impression is that war is now almost inevitable. It is currently reported, although with no apparent foundation, that the Turks had attacked the Russian outposts,but no general engagement had occurred. The whole rumor is doubtful. The words of the Vienna despatch are—that the Czar rejects the Turkish modifications, but abides by the Vienna note, and promises to evacuate the Principalities, if the Porte accepts it pure and simple.—This yet leaves one chance for peace. Another telegraph meassage says that a new manifesto is expected from Russia.

The Turks were quite ripe for war.—Omar Pacha had difficulty in restraining his troops from committing hostilities. Fanaticism on both sides were at its height. Anonymous placards posted on the walls, calling on the faithful to attack the Russians,had much excited the people, and it was only on the special demand of the representatives of the other powers, the Sultan has consented to postpone issuing his manifesto to the people. This manifesto is in warlike language, and is indeed a declaration of war.

The Turks continued their armaments paying for everything in specie, and the Turkish levy of 80,000 additional men went on actively.

The Russian Commander-in-Chief had addressed an order to the day of his troops, concluding by saying that "Russia is called to annihilate Paganism, and those who oppose her in that sacred mission shall be annihilated with the Pagans. Long live the Czar—Viva the God of the Russians!"

An English courier had just taken his departure for Marseilles, with orders to embark there at once, bearing a despatch for Lord Stratford d'Radcliffe, which it is said in well-informed circles, enjoins him to employ every possible means to induce the Sultan to accept without delay, the Vienna note, without modifications.

In case the Porte should object that she was no longer to keep in the population, his lordship is authorized to allow the English squadron to enter the Bosphorus and disembark troops for the purpose of causing the decision of the Sultan to be respected. A courier is also at once to be dispatched to Omar Pacha forbidding him to commence hostilities in any way. No disagreement existed between France and England on Eastern difficulties.

CHINA.—The revolutionary army retained its position. The Tartars had attempted to take the army, but without success. Trade was dull and inactive. Exchange 5s 3d.

MISCELLANEOUS.—Shipping is very scarce in the north of Europe. At Hamburg ships are clearing at 30 per cent. At Rotterdam merchandise is accumulating for want of means of transport.

The cholera, though still virulent, was decreasing.

The Austrian Prefect of Finance at Venice, had issued an additional tax on Lombardy to cover the deficiency in last year's revenue.—Seventy-four more victims are sentenced by Court Martial to heavy punishment for their share in the Milan revolution. More arrests at Fiole.

DEAR FUEL.—In the Boston Police Court, on Friday, George Brant, a teamster, and William Mealy, and his wife Susan Mealy, were examined on a joint charge of stealing 200 pounds of logwood, the property of Messrs. Ward & Boot, druggists, 116 Milk street. It appeared in evidence that Brant, upon passing through Leverett street, on Monday, with a load of logwood, stopped his team in front of the residence of the Mealys, and then took off several sticks, which the Mealys carried into their house and used for fuel.—This fact was proved; whereupon Brant was fined $10 and one third of the costs, and the Mealys were fined $5 each and two thirds of the costs.

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence,

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied, and better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S

Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,
PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.
One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.
[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]
First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title-page ; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be ignorant.

OUR GRANDFATHERS.—I once heard a vain, conceited chap, standing with some fifteen or twenty other fellows, round the almost red hot stove of a country store, one winter night, say, that we were much wiser now, in the present generation, that in generations gone by, in every thing; and all of us were wiser than those who had gone before us.

"Not all, I guess!" said one of them, "for there's a good deal of difference in folks."

"Well," said he, all that I know, is that my father knew more than my grandfather, and I know that I know more than my father did, for I've had a chance to see a great deal more than he did."

"Ha! ha! ha!" went all around the store.

"What are you laughing at?" says he.

"Nothing," said a red-haired, lounging-gaited young man; "I never know'd your father, but your grandfather must have been a natural fool, according to your argument."

They laughed heartily at first; but he looked so sheepish that they felt sorry for him, and he slipped out pretty soon.

SERVED HIM RIGHT.—Last spring, an association for the relief of distressed seamstresses was organized in Cincinnati, one Mrs. Pendery being the Superintendent. A Mr. Darling accused the lady of 'defalcation,' whereupon she indignantly demanded a committee of investigation. The report being in her favor, she was "down" upon her accuser, and at a meeting of the association, slapped his face after the adjournment. In consequence of this act Mr. Darling had her brought before the Police Court on a charge of assault. The testimony given elicited a great deal of fun at the prosecutor's expense, and the judge decided that he had not been punished as much as he deserved, and therefore dismissed the case, and made Darling pay the costs.

PROF. ALEY. C. BARRY'S

Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 950,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Depot and manufactory, No. 137 Broadway, New York. Retail price 25 cents a large bottle.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w6m je22

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

DR. HAMPTON'S

VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the BEST family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial &

Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. K. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Dunan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

JNO. H. T. JEROME.

A Voice from the Birth-place of Christopher Columbus, the Discoverer of America.

U. S. SHIP CUMBERLAND, Genoa, Sardinia, January 17, 1853.

Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray.—Gentlemen: The first Lieutenant of this ship, who has been suffering many years from the Dyspepsia, and who has been nearly restored to his usual health by the use of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," desires you to send him one dozen bottles of that medicine.

Lieutenant ——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezzia.

The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of DYSPEPSIA.

I am respectfully yours,

THE WONDER OF THE WORLD

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered. Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

WM. SCHLATTER—HIS LAST HOURS.—Not many days since we had a conversation with one of the persons who first saw Mr. Schlatter after he was frozen to death last winter near the Quincy mine, on Portage Lake. The whole affair is so sad and striking that it deserves more notice than it received. Mr. S. it is well known, was one of the best draughtsmen in the United States. His maps made for the Geological survey were mistaken by many persons at Washington city, for engravings. His sketches and plans of mines are familiar to every one who has visited Lake Superior. He had been in the country from the commencement of operations, engaged in surveys, explorations and mapping of locations, and was a good woodsman. His health and strength, owing to an unfortunate failing not uncommon in the early days in the mining region, had become impaired; but as he had some pride in performing his part well, although there was no road; and he had his surveying instruments with him. There was a track in the snow made by snow shoes of other parties who preceeded him. He left the North American location about ten o'clock in the morning without a blanket, or food, and without matches, flint and steel, expecting to reach the Quincy mine that night.

The distance is about fifteen miles through the woods, and is easily walked on snow shoes in half a day. The next day some parties came through, and reported that Mr Schlatter had started in the morning just related, and that on the way his track had been seen leaving the usual route. Mr. Shelden, Mr. Van Anden and others at the Quincy, at once concluded he must have been lost, and although it was now night, immediately started out to find him.

About sun down they discovered the place where he left the track, and following his trail entered a thick cedar swamp.

It was evident he had been in the swamps the night previous, and that he was lost. He had crawled under logs and tree tops to find shelter from the snow, and wandered about crossing and re-crossing his own tracks, as people do when they are bewildered, but did not go to sleep or remain long in a place.

It is supposed that in the morning he left the swamp, but did not take the proper course for the mine, and did not use his compass to determine the direction.

Although the night was cold even for this region and the snow deep, it does not appear that his feet or his hands were frozen. When it became dark the party lighted torches, and pursued the steps of the lost man by the blaze of parcels of birch bark. His strength was evidently failing; his paces were slow and short, with frequent rests; he was no doubt aware that he was in a bewildered state, for he followed not a straight course but the valley of a brook.

About nine o'clock in the evening the party came upon the body, lying at full length under the shelter of a stout cedar.

The tops and drooping limbs of this tree are so thick as frequently to keep the snow from falling for a space around the roots.

Mr. Schlatter, conscious that his fate was fixed, had crawled under this shelter and calmly lay down to die—his compass was laid on one side, his hat and wig remained on the other; and he was found, the vital warmth not all gone, lying with his hands folded across the breast, his limbs and body perfectly straight, and the face upwards.

ORIGIN OF THE WORD "BLACKGUARDS."—In all great houses, but particularly in royal residences, there were a number of mean and dirty dependents, whose office it was to attend the wood-yard, sculleries, &c. Of these (for in the lowest depth there was a lower still) the most forlorn wretches seem to have been selected to carry coals to the kitchen, halls &c. To this smutty regiment, who attended the progresses and rode the carts with the pots and kettles, which, with every other article of furniture were then removed from palace to palace, the people in derision gave them the name of blackguards—a term since become sufficiently familiar, and never before properly explained.—Gifford's Notes to Ben. Johnson's Plays.

The "Poem by Milton in His Old Age," which is going the rounds of the papers, is an American production; it was written by Elizabeth Lloyd, a Philadelphia Quakeress; although the English publishers did actually mistake it for one of Milton's poems and publish it in a late collection of his writings.—Boston Journal.

Snails fed on strawberries are the last invented delicacy. They are brought to Paris from Ulm on the Danube. The flavor is said to be—unutterable!

JURY TRIALS.—Juries undoubtedly sometimes make erroneous decisions—and so do Courts and Judges. "To err is human."—But our experience has taught us that a man with a good case, strong in law and equity, may generally appeal with entire safety to a "jury of his country."

We know that some—generally superficial observers, and men entirely incompetent to take a comprehensive view of our judicial system—are prone to discharge juries, and delight in fictitious anecdotes which tend to bring them into disrepute. But the experienced lawyer, if inclined, might with almost equal propriety, disparage our Judges. No men differ more widely upon nice constitutional and legal questions, that learned lawyers and judges. The quick perception of an honest and intelligent man, not leared in the law, founded upon his own convictions of right and wrong, is almost as likely to lead to a correct decision in such cases, where there has been no decision, as the investigations of a lawyer influenced, perhaps in a greater degree by technicalities. Where questions have been investigated, discussed and decided, the lawyer and judge know it—and they are familiar with the reasons for the decisions, and in this respect have a great advantage over others. It is well, therefore, that our juries must take the law from the judges. But the province of the jury—the right of deciding upon the facts—we hope never to see invaded.—Portland Advertiser.

ACCIDENT FROM POWDER.—On Monday afternoon last, a son of Mr. Oliver Akerman, about 16 years of age, came near losing his life under the following circumstances:—In the slaughter house of Mr. Joseph Akerman is a box in which candles and matches are kept. The lad in lighting a match, ignited those in the box, when an explosion followed, which severely burned his head and face, and otherwise injured him. Some unknown person had placed a quantity of powder, (a half pound probably) in the box, but for what purpose is not known, or whether or not with evil intent. As it was, the lad had a narrow escape with his life.—Newburyport Union.

BELGIUM.—We read in the Journal de Bruxelles:—His Holiness Pope Pius IX. has just sent to the Duke de Brabant a fragment of the wood of the manger which formed the cradle of our Saviour. In the private audience which Mgr. Gonella obtained, in order to present this precious relic, his royal highness was much affected at the present made to him by his Holiness."

TUESDAY, OCT. 4, 1853.

MR. MARCY'S LETTER.

Secretary Marcy's Letter to Chevalier Hulsemann, is a long, well-written, and able document, which receives the general and almost universal applause of the press. It is, we suppose, a plain case, that Austria had no right, in a neutral port to seize one of her banished subjects, who had half become an American citizen, and thus placed himself in some sort, under our protection.

The following abstract, a very fair one, is from the Boston Journal.

Mr. Hulsemann, in his despatch, to which Mr. Marcy replies, asserts that the declaration of an intention to become a citizen, signed by Kosta, and exhibited to the Austrian minister by Mr. Brown of the American legation, was informal in not mentioning the tribunal before which the declaration was made; that the act of commander Ingraham, in threatening to fire upon the Austrian brig, was a declaration of war; and that such an act of hostility, committed within a neutral port, is clearly in contravention of the laws of nations. It is further urged, with regard to the nationality of Kosta, that he has never ceased to be an Austrian subject; and that the Consul-General of Austria at Smyrna was without doubt perfectly justified, when, in virtue of those treaties which subject Austria subjects in Turkey to consular jurisdiction, he seized the person of Kosta within the pale of his jurisdiction.

Secretary Marcy, in reply, recapitulates the facts with the regard to the seizure—and asserts that some Greek ruffians in the unacknowledged employ of the Austrian Government, were the first aggressors. He then asserts that Kosta being beyond the jurisdiction of Austria, her laws were entirely inoperative in his case, unless the Sultan of Turkey has consented to give them vigor within his own dominions by treaty stipulations; that Turkey was not bound to surrender Kosta, as was proved by the fact that the principal governments of Europe had pronounced the claim which Austria made against Turkey for the delivery of Kosta, and other companions of Kossuth, in 1849, indefensible, as to that Austria had assented; that Kosta owed no allegiance whatever to Austria, she having by banishing him, practically extinguished his allegiance; that he, on the contrary, was under the nationality of the United States, having resided here two years, having acquired a domicil, and having declared in due form his attention to become a citizen; that by the laws of Turkey and other eastern nations, the consulates therein may receive under their protection strangers and sojourners whose religion and social manners do not assimilate with the religion and manners of those countries—the persons thus received becoming thereby invested with the nationality of the protecting Consulates; that Kosta was thus under the protection of the American consul, and invested with the nationality of the United States. It is further contended, and this is a very strong point in the document, that Kosta was seized without any rightful authority; he was suffering grievous wrong; any one that could, might relieve him; to do so was a duty imposed in the peculiar circumstances of the case by the laws of humanity.—Captain Ingraham, in doing what he did for the release of Kosta, would in this view of the case be fully justified.

To do the Secretary's letter full justice on the latter point, we copy the paragraph on this point, in full.j

It will be conceded that the civil authority of Turkey, during the whole period of the occurrences at Smyrna, was dormant, and in no way called into action. Under these circumstances—Austria without any authority.—Turkey exercising none—and the American function rises, as Austria asserts, having no right in behalf of their government, to interfere in the affair, (a proposition which will be hereafter contested,)—what, then, was the condition of the parties at the commencement of the outrage, and through its whole progress? They were all, in this view of the case, without immediate presence and controlling direction of civil and international law, in regard to the treatment of Kosta. The Greek hirelings, Kosta their victim, and the Austrian and American agents, were, upon this supposition, all on the same condition at Smyrna in respect to rights and duties, so far as regards that transaction, as they would have been in if it had occurred in the presence of some unappropriated region lying far beyond the confines of any sovereign State whatever; they were the liege subjects of the law of nature, moral agents, bound each and all alike to observe the precepts of that law; and especially that which is confirmed by Divine sanction, and enjoins upon all men everywhere, when not acting under legal restraints, to do unto others whatsoever they would that others should do unto them; they were bound to do no wrong, and to the extent of their means to prevent wrong from being done; to protect the weak from being oppressed by the strong, and to relieve the distressed. In the case supposed, Kosta was seized without any rightful authority. He was suffering grievous wrong—any one that could might relieve him. To do so was a duty imposed on the peculiar circumstances of the case by the law of humanity. Captain Ingraham, in doing what he did for the release of Kosta, would, in the view of the case, be fully justified upon this principle. Who, in such a case, can fairly take offence? Who have a right to complain? Not the wrong doers, surely; for they can appeal to no law to justify their conduct. They can derive no support from civil authority for there was none called into action; nor from the law of nature, for that they have violated.

We believe fully in all that the Secretary here says about the law of Nature, the laws of Humanity, and the Golden Rule of Christianity. But when we look at the conduct of our government and people at home; when we look, especially, at two paragraphs in another part of our paper, headed Jerry Rescue Anniversary, and Jerry Rescue Trials,—we are constrained to say, O Consistency, Thou art a Jewel. It is very well to take pity on poor Kosta—nature and humanity demand it,—and it would be well to let the same nature and humanity have full play when these poor fellows are in trouble, equal to his, or greater.

JERRY RESCUE CELEBRATION.—Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 1.—The anniversary of the Jerry rescue was celebrated to-day in this city, in the City Hall, the use of which was granted by the casting vote of the Mayor. About 3000 persons were present. Gerritt Smith presided, and speeches were made by Messrs. Smith and C. C. Burleigh, and by Misses Lucy Stone, Antoinette Brown and others.—There was no disturbance.

THE JERRY RESCUE TRIALS.—The Jerry Rescue Trials were not held as expected Wednesday—the Court having adjourned on account of the sickness of McReynolds, the claimant of Jerry, who was the most important witness for the goverament. The trials therefore go down to another term.—N. Y. Ex.

IMPORTANT DECISION.

Owners of ships, captains and officers, have their rights, and they must be respected. So also, sailors have their rights. Here is a case, where those of a mate were called in question; in the United States District Court in Boston, as reported in the Post.

In Admiralty—John Hunt vs. Charles W. Colburn. This was an action of contract, to recover damages of the master and owners of barque Trinity, for wrongful dismissal of libellant, the second mate, by the master, and leaving him at Galveston, in December, 1852, and for the price of his clothes, carried off with the vessel. It was in evidence that Hunt was sick; thought it imprudent to come in the vessel; wished his discharge so as to stay in the hospital, and went down to the bar where the vessel was lying ready for sea, to procure his clothes; defendant pointed a pistol at him, and threatened to shoot him if he came on board. Libellant said if he would pay the man that brought him down $2, he would not come; the vessel sailed away with his clothes on board. Hunt, being detained sick, returned to Boston after an absence of about seven months.

The Court said the rule of damages in the books, giving wages up to return of vessel, and libellant's passage and expenses home, less his earnings during the time, was not correct.—Some of the cases give wages up to return of vessel, and libellant's passage and expenses home, less his earnings, if any, during the time; this was not correct either. The true rule was to give damages commensurate with the injury under the circumstances in each case. In this case he would give wages during the necessary detention of libellant, and his expenses and passage home, and also the price of his clothes, the loss thereof being the direct and necessary consequence of the master's wrong dismissal, contrary to the maritime contract between libellant and master and owners. Decree for libellant $225 and costs. C. G. Thomas for libellant; C. B. Goodrich for defendants.

SINGULAR AFFAIR.—Mr. George Baron, Steward of Wamesit Engine Co. No. 3, after the alarm of fire on Monday evening, with a friend went into an apothecary store and drank some liquor, and then went to his boarding house, near by. When he reached the door a stupefaction came over him, and he was unable to open it with his night key, but watchman Weymouth coming along, let him in.—This was the last Mr. Baron recollects until he was found in the yard back of the house the next morning, with a cut in the breast, which his physician says was done with a knife, and a severe bruise on the back part of his head. He was nearly naked when found, and his wallet had been robbed of $47. How Mr. B. could have come there, or who robbed him, is a mystery, but it is thought that the liquor which he drank was drugged. Mr. B. is a young man who but seldom indulges in strong drink, and thinks that he could not have drank enough to have placed him in such a condition as he was found in. It has since been ascertained that four glasses was the extent of his drinking upon that evening.—Lowell News.

Exactly as might be expected. "A young man who but seldom indulges in strong drink," drank in one evening "four glasses"—could not open his door with a night key, laid out of doors, and was robbed, cut and bruised.—There is no need of supposing he was 'drugged' with any thing worse than common liquor.—A young man who never indulges in that way, is in no such danger. But all dabblers with edge tools are liable to be bled.

It is said that the Rev. C. W. Dennison, lately appointed chaplain of the Penitentiary at Washington, has received the appointment of consul to Demerara.

We think Br. Dennison would make an excellent consul; for his manners are pleasant, and he is one of the kindest of men. But somehow it happens that he never sticks to one office a great while, but gets another and another.

SILVER COIN.—The Newburyport Herald says, the new silver coinage, though reduced in value 6 or 7 per cent. is still a better remittance to foreign countries than gold, and is being bought up for export. This being the case, the "good time coming," when silver will be plentiful, seems yet "a good way off."

☞ Rev. J. O'Donnell, Catholic priest at Portland, has come out against the Maine Law. We intend to publish the material part of his letter to-morrow.

The manufacture of umbrellas, parasols, &c., is pursued so extensively in New York, that seven different firms turn out annually about $1,500,000 worth. One of the largest firms employs 325 persons, including 250 girls.

LOCAL.

TRIP TO MANCHESTER.

The New Hampshire Annual Agricultural Fair and Cattle Show, will be held this year in the City of Manchester, on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of the present week.—The attractions will be so great as to collect a large concourse of people from all quarters, and the occasion, we trust, will bring out a show worthy of New Hampshire.

It will be seen, by reference to the advertisments, that the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad has put its tickets at half price to go and return,—that stages go from Rowe's Corner and Cass' Crossing to Manchester—and that the hours of starting are so arraanged by the Concord Railroad with the Portsmouth and Concord road, as that passengers can go through without delay.

It is expected that Portsmouth will be handsomely represented by her delegation, if not by her products.

COMPANY K, THIRD ARTILLERY.

The Company stationed at Fort Constitution, are to take leave in a few days for California. We publish below a word of farewell. Their present commander, Brevet Maj. Austine, has been very popular with our citizens and his more immediate neighbors, the residents of New Castle, and leaves many friends to regret his departure.

For the Chronicle.

Messrs. Editors:—

Our boat is on the shore,
Our bark is on the sea,
But ere we go, old "Strawberry Bank,"
Here's a double health to thee!

We hope that the occasion of our hasty departure from your ancient and goodly neighborhood, may excuse the above plagarism.—In the line of our duty we are compelled to say farewell to all the enjoyments of social life, which your city has for the last five years bestowed upon us with an unsparing hand; but the memory of these things will serve to cheer many a weary hour in our trackless journey over the ocean, and relieve many a lonely watch in the far distant and inhospitable mountains and forests of the almost new world we are destined for some time to occupy. Fresh, green and lasting is our recollection of the cordial welcome we received, when just five years ago, flushed with the success of our Mexican victories, we came among you, and commenced an intercourse which has continued one of uninterrupted harmony. And we cannot forget, that in parting, we leave in your cemeteries the remains of a beloved, respected commander, and more than one comrade.

The kindly regret expressed by your citizens at our departure, we respectfully reciprocate; and may we venture to hope and look forward to the period when

We may pay again
A visit to these scenes, doubly endeared to us all, and renew those friendships so happily formed.

With much respect, we subscribe ourselves,
Company K, 3d Regt. Artillery.

THE SAGAMORE MILL in this city has been disposed of at private sale, to a Providence, R. I. Company. The price has not transpired, but is understood to be a handsome advance on the last sale. The business is to be resumed and enlarged on the present location.

THE 'SONS OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.'—Mr. W. Pickering Hill, of Concord, New Hampshire, formerly editor of the N. H. Gazette in this city, has been appointed to a clerkship in the office of the Naval Officer of Boston.

SETTLING AN ESTATE IN PERSON.—Dr. Sappington, a wealthy gentleman of Saline county, Missouri, recently called to his family mansion his two sons, three sons-in-law, and two grandsons, to divide his property among them. With the utmost harmony, they fixed upon the value of his lands, about eight thousand acres, and a large number of negroes. The valuation being made, by the same consent each took such part as best suited his purpose, at the price named. The personal property, consisting of stocks of mules, horses &c., &c., were put up at auction, and the proceeds of the sale divided in like manner. Thus the whole estate, except so much as the Doctor reserved for himself, was disposed of, to the entire srtisfaction of the donor and the recipients, leaving no cause for dispute or litigation hereafter. The Doctor reserved for his own use twenty thousand dollars in cash, ten thousand or twelve thousand of which he intends properly to invest as a permanent fund for the education of poor children in the county of Saline.

The Christian Witness, of this week, says of the schools and hospital at Jerusalem:—The establishment of a Protestant bishopric in the Hebrew metropolis has already been followed by the most beneficial results. The inhabitants, to whatever profession they might have previously belonged, can now read the Bible without molestation. There are already two schools of Protestant children at Jerusalem, numbering nearly 100 pupils of both sexes. The hospital also, attended by the Prussian Protestant Sisters of mercy, is doing immense good.

Ice formed half an inch thick at the White Mountain Station House, on Thursday night, and all the mountains in the vicinity are covered with snow.

LATEST FROM EUROPE.

Steamer Baltic, which arrived at New York on Monday, brings news four days later, viz: Liverpool dates to Sept. 24 at 1 P. M.

The Eastern Question remains unchanged. In Breadstuffs—the market continued animated with a further advance of 3d per 70 lbs on wheat and 1s per bbl on flour. Indian corn is in fair demand at an average on former rates, say—white 35s a 36s on the spot. Western canal flour 31s 6d a 32s 6d. Philadelphia and Raltimore 32s 6d a 33s 6d, Ohio 33s 6d a 34s 6d for choice.

FROM HAVANA.—New York, Oct. 2.—The steamer Black Warrior arrived here this morning from Havana, with advices to the 27th ult. The health of Havana was good. A slight disturbance had occurred at Cardenas, and several arrests were made.

Mexican advices state that the bark Lady Suffolk had arrived at Vera Cruz, in charge of a Mexican officer, she having been seized under Mexican colors, equipped for the slave trade. A cargo of 580 slaves is reported to have been recently landed at Trinidad; the Captain General was making an effort to detect the parties connected with the affair.

Seditious pamphlets, supposed to have come from the United States, have been distributed on the Island, and the police were endeavoring to discover the parties having possession of them.

It was reported that Messrs. Diago, planters, had failed for $250,000.

The three American seamen belonging to the bark Jasper would soon be discharged, through the exertions of Col. Robinson, the acting Consul of the United States.

Freights were high, and vessels were in demand.

The steamship Philadelphia, for New York, sailed from Havana Sept. 26, with one wheel, having the Havana mails.

FROM VENEZUELA.—Advices of Sept. 19, state that the revolution was completely quelled, and the country quiet.

MURDER TRIAL.—George Lane has been found guilty at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., of the murder of his wife and two children on the 7th of June last; the plea of insanity urged in his behalf not being admitted. He was sentenced to be hung on the 18th of November.

PERSECUTION OF THE BAPTISTS IN FRANCE AND GERMANY.—The Missionary Magazine contains a letter from Northern France, stating that in one department the Baptist chapels are all closed and their public worship completely suppressed. The Macedonian states that in Hesse Cassel and Mecklenburg Schwerin, the most stringent measures are taken to repress all Baptist meetings. Hesse threatens martial law, and in Mecklenburg the preachers are forbidden to leave their respective towns.

THE SUFFOLK BANK DIFFICULTY.—The Directors of the Suffolk Bank, Boston, as a "compromise measure," have agreed to split the difference, so that foreign money will hereafter be received until 1 o'clock P. M., instead of 2 o'clock, as formerly. The excuse the Suffolk Bank offers for its limitation of time is, that facilities at present are not favorable to the continuation of the usual period. When new buildings for the bank are finished, matters will proceed as has been custoamry.

A MODERN TRAVELLER.—Sir George Ross, from Montreal, arrived in this city on Sunday morning, by the Michigan Southern railroad. He has twenty-one dogs with him, three servants, four tons of baggage,—comprising any quantity of guns, knapsacks, and other shooting utensils. He leaves in a few days for Minnesota, to take a hunt, from thence he will proceed to Texas to spend the winter, and designs taking an excursion to the Racky Mountains in the Spring.—Chicago Tribune, 21st.

A SAD CHAPTER.—On Tuesday morning, 27th Sept. (says the News Letter) about eleven o'clock, George W. Bickford, of Exeter, took an old musket from his widowed mother's residence on Cross Street, and went, as was supposed, in pursuit of game, into the extensive woods lying in the western part of Exeter, and known as the Oak Lands. The day was rainy, and upon his failing to return at night, considerable anxiety for his safety was felt by his friends. The storm continued during Wednesday, and no regularly organized search was made on that day. On Thursday, messengers were sent in different directions, in the vain hope that some news of his safety might be ascertained. On Friday morning, many of our citizens turned out to make an extensive and thorough search, and the dead body of the young man was finally discovered by Retire H. Parker, Esq., near the edge of the woods, and only about a third of a mile from several residences.

The gun which the deceased had taken with him, was lashed to a stone wall; and from the appearance it was ascertained that he had loaded the gun with one or more balls or slugs, applied a slow match of paper, placed himself before the muzzle of the gun, and thus coolly awaited his fate.

The charge entered the left breast in the vicinity of the heart, and passed out at the back between the shoulder blades. The heart could hardly have been lacerated, as there was no hemorrhage from the mouth, and but very little from the wound.

The deceased was doubtless under mental alienation when he committed the act; indeed, it is difficult to believe that a suicide is ever committed, except under the goadings of morbid sensibilities. A previous attempt at self destruction by poison, had failed, and that together with the fact that he disposed of most of his effects on Monday, indicate that the accomplishment of the act had become with him a settled purpose.

He was about 19 years of age, and had worked for some years at the shoe-making business.

Freese Dearborn, Esq., of Exeter, Coroner, held an inquest on the body on Friday afternoon, and returned the following verdict:

That the said George W. Bickford, at some time between the morning of the 27th, and 30th inst., came to his death in Exeter, by his own hand, by shooting himself through the body with a gun.

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT!

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S

Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,

PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.

One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.

[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]

First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold nearest and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be ignorant.

THE DEAD SEA.—A new traveller to the Dead Sea, M. DeSauley, gives an entirely fresh description of this famous water. He affirms that, so far from finding it as most persons have represented it, it was "a splendid lake, glittering in the sunshine, with its blue waves gently breaking on the sands of the softest beach." He also saw a flock of wild ducks sporting in its waters, and observed beautiful insects on the gravelly beach. M. DeSauly also remarks, that every tradition compels the traveller to regard the Holy Scriptures as genuine, as nothing connected with them is changed even in name, and the memory of human transactions has alone been lost.

Patrick Clansley, arrested in Salem on suspicion of being the Indiana murderer, has been discharged. It appears that he is not the man, although there is a strong resemblance.

In South Carrollton, Kentucky, a young lady, daughter of Col. Wilson, went with her father in search of a young man who had slaudered her, and herself shot him in the throat. The wound is probably mortal.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS

With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,

No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries: besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

PROF. ALEX. C. HARRY'S

Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Harry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Harry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 950,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was offered to the wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind. The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Depot and manufactory, No. 137 Broadway, New York. Retail price 25 cents a large bottle.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&wśm je22*

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases resulting from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly pleasing from its agreeable taste. It will prove in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

DR. HAMPTON'S

VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the BEST family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. R. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Dunan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

U. S. SHIP CUMBERLAND,
Genoa, Sardinia, January 17, 1853.

Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray—Gentlemen: The first Lieutenant of this ship, who has been suffering many years from the Dyspepsia, and who has been nearly restored to his usual health by the use of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," desires you to send him one dozen bottles of that medicine.

Lieutenant ——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezzia.

The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of DYSPEPSIA.

I am respectfully yours,

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered. Consumption can be cured! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full truth and fact to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE.

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

THE UTILITY OF COMMON SCHOOLS.—South Carolina probably contains more white adults of both sexes who cannot read or write, than any State in the Union. It probably contains more of native birth thus delinquent than all the four Middle States together.—And probably any one county of the Tide Water region contains more of native birth thus delinquent, than all New England collectively. We do not believe that a single white person of native birth, fifteen years old or more, of sound mind, unable to read, can be found in all New England. We certainly never met with or heard of such a phenomenon. But while South Carolina contains so many persons immersed in European ignorance, it probably sends more of its youth to College in proportion to population, than any other State.—In the "lower regions," all the sons of wealthy families go to college. Formerly many of them went to the English Universities, or to Cambridge or Yale Colleges in New England. But since South Carolina has had a college or university, we forget which, and which, we believe, was established about twenty-five years ago, most of its college bred youths are educated at home. We remember that when Dr. Cooper, an Englishman, once known in the politics of Pennsylvania, and who became a sudden convert to the antipodes of his opinions here, and went to South Carolina, was appointed regent or president or some officer of the college, he very earnestly enjoined upon the youth of the State, that is, the youth to be put to college, the vital importance of being educated at home, and thus saved from the fatal heresies of those Yankee Colleges.

Here then is a State containing a very ignorant many, and a few educated in college-learning at home. Is this a key to the politics of South Carolina? We think that it is. The old learning of colleges, consisting of Latin and Greek classics, the theology and logic of the middle ages, and the stupifying stuff called metaphysics, to be dug out of such writers as Locke, never fitted any body for any useful occupation. It was auxiliary to the pulpit only, and is even rapidly disappearing from that among all Christian sects who maintain the right of private judgement, and believe that progress is a law of moral creation. It still reigns in the Universities of England, but is overpowered by the brighter light of modern progress in most American Colleges. But in South Carolina, which scorns to borrow light from any other State of the Union, and which goes back to the middle ages for models, this learned fog still envelopes the College where all or most of its youth are taught. We mean that portion who alone are taught anything.—Men thus taught, if teaching it can be called, devote themselves to politics as a profession; as the business of their lives. They cultivate what they call elocution and eloquence, and imagine that they are new and improved editions of Demosthenes and Cicero. They regard their own State as the nation, and its interests as alone worthy of a statesman's attention; and according to their views the interests of South Carolina consist entirely of negroes, cotton and rice, to which all the world should be tributary, and can be maintained only by keeping this collegiate aristocracy in political life. From statesmen thus prepared, what kind of statesmanship should we expect?—Precisely what we receive; arrogant self-conceit, shallow pretension, idle boasting, long speeches according to "classic models of antiquity," worthy of "the best days of Greece and Rome," fully answering the description of the Saxon Bill Quiverlance, "full of sound and fury, signifying nothing." In short South Carolina is the Sophomore Class of the Union, and all her contentions at home and demonstrations in Congress remind us of a Sophomore quarter day in college.

The class called the "Corn Crackers" are scarcely above the Russian or Polish peasantry in mental cultivation. And this state of ignorance is the only thing desirable by the educated few, because it secures their domination. If South Carolina had common schools, she would not long be governed by Sophomores. She would cease to be governed by Sophomores, if she reformed her rotten-borough constitution. And she will reform this constitution, as soon as the people are cool enough to examine their own affairs. That day will come.—Philadelphia Ledger.

SUBSTITUTE FOR THE POTATO.—A liliaceous plant, the fritillaria, known commonly by the name of crown imperial, is said to contain in its bulbs as least as much nourishment as the potato. The fecula of the fritillaria is white, and serves perfectly well for nourishment, whether for man or cattle. The plant is of easy culture, and its fecula can be obtained at a less cost than that of potatoes. It has been tried in France for cakes and other purposes, and found to be excellent.—Maine Farmer.

LORD HAILES AND THE NEW TESTAMENT.—"I was dining," said Dr. Buchanan, "some time ago, with a literary party at old Mr. Ralph Abercromby's, of Trillibody (the father of Mr. Abercromby, who was slain in Egypt,) and we spent the evening together. A gentleman present put a question which puzzled the whole company. It was this: Supposing all the New Testaments in the world had been destroyed at the end of the third century, could their contents have been recovered from the writings of the first three centuries? The question was novel to all, and no one hazarded a guess in answer to the inquiry.

"About two months after this meeting, I received an invitation to breakfast with Lord Hailes (Sir David Dalymple) next morning. He had been to the party. During breakfast he asked me if I recollected the curious question about the possibility of recovering the contents of the New Testament from the writings of the first three centuries? "I remember it well, and have thought of it often, without being able to form an opinion or conjecture on the subject."

"Well," said Lord Hailes, "that question quite accorded with the turn or taste of my antiquarian mind. On returning home, as I knew I had all the writers of those centuries, I began immediately to collect them, that I might set to work on the arduous task as soon as possible." Pointing to a table covered with papers, he said, "There I have been busy for these two months searching for chapters, half chapters, and sentences of the New Testament, and have marked down what I found and where I found it, so that any person may examine and see for himself. I have actually discovered the whole New Testament, except seven or eleven verses, (I forget which,) which satisfies me that I could discover them also.—"Now," said he, "here was a way in which God concealed or hid the treasures of his word, that Julian, the apostate emperor, and other enemies of Christ, who wished to extirpate the Gospel from the world, never would have thought of; and though they had, they never could have effected their destruction."—Holdane's Memoir.

DEFALCATION.—The rumor which has been in circulation for several days, that a defalcation had occurred in this city, was this morning made public. The individual charged is L. S. Norwood, Clerk to the Court of Common Pleas. The sum is variously stated, but the exact amount is not known, and probably will not be ascertained. The lowest sum named is $30,000, and his securities will have to make it good, if they are able to do so. We have not heard who his boudsmen are. Mr. Norwood has yielded to temptations which have been his ruin. Naturally convivial and open hearted, he was, no doubt, in an unguarded moment led astray, and the first step being taken—the line of integrity once crossed—he has plunged on from one quicksand into another, until all is lost. We hope his unfortunate course may be a warning to other young men, to refrain from the two greatest evils in all the train—the intoxicating cup and the gambling table—these have ruined poor Norwood, whom every body liked.—Baltimore Patriot, 28th ult.

THE MORMON BLOCK OF MARBLE.—The committee appointed by Brigham Young, Governor of the territory of Utah, to accompany the block of marble—furnished, in accordance with the resolution of the provisional government of the State of Deseret, before it was made a territory, for the Washington monument, arrived yesterday evening, and left the city this morning before any formal reception of the stone by the monumental committee should take place. The block of marble is of oolite white limestone, procured from Manite city, Sanpete county, three hundred and thirty-three miles south southeast from Great Salt Lake, and carved in accordance with the resolution mentioned above of the provisional government of Deseret, which will account for the name "Deseret" which appears upon the stone. Those of our readers who would like to see the stone, can do so by visiting the monument.—Washington Star. Sept. 24.

Morning Chronicle.

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 5, 1853.

MR. O'DONNELL'S LETTER.

The State of Maine newspaper contains a letter, written by Rev. J. O'Donnell, the Catholic priest in Portland, on the subject of the Maine law, dated Sept. 1, 1853. He begins by alluding to the controversy between John Neil and Neal Dow, and to the fact that his own name had often been called in question, and his supposed opinions quoted. He then proceeds as follows:

I signed the petition for the Maine Law; for I hoped that it would exercise a salutary influence over the community; but the law hardly started its operations when I saw its inutility. I supported the law publicly and privately, and called upon those under my care to obey it, until its influence opened my eyes to the alarming consequences. I beheld in the law a shield to protect the seller, an encouragement to the hard working man to gain an easy living by opening a groggery, and making the room which answered for a kitchen and bed-room, answer also for a grog shop. As soon as the Maine liquor law was passed, and whilst our mayor was entertaining the country with the glorious results of the law, men abandoned their hard work, and walked about the city, talking politics; but it was nobody's business how they made a living. One man who lived on Union street, assured me that during Neal Dow's Mayoralty, he cleared nine hundred dollars, drank six glasses a day, and did not sell during that time two gallons to Irishmen. During the same year I saw several empty barrels, marked rose gin, taken in an open cart at noon day from a house in one of our public courts. I know many who have made a smart business of it during the past three years; and one who had but forty-five dollars when the liquor law was passed, and has already acquired a nice property, on which he has, I am informed, paid fifteen hundred dollars.

It does not require much argument to show the injurious tendency of the law. As soon as the public sale of liquors was prohibited, private apartments were opened, where clubs of young men assembled to pass away the hour. The seller was obliged to submit to every insult rather than be exposed. Blasphemous denunciations against the promoters of the law; impure jests, and not unfrequently boisterous language characterized their nightly revels. The seller, who was at first somewhat timorous, became by smart profits bold and venturesome,—his wife and daughters, who, previous to the introduction of the sale of this forbidden drug, would not listen to an impure remark, are obliged, by the secrecy of the sale, not only to listen to, but also to take part in the lewd conversation of some of our nice young men. Hence, as the public should be acquainted with the immoral tendency of the community, which like a frightful epidemic preys upon the virtues of the rising generation, and blasts the hopes of many fond parents, I unhesitatingly assert that the Maine law, as at present executed, is a grievous injury to the morals of our community—that the private sale of intoxicating liquors has increased to an alarming extent—and that there are more places where liquor is sold at present, than when the law was passed,—hence the result,—the liquor seller is protected,—grog-shops are more numerous,—bad liquor and a high price paid for it.

We are frequently entertained with the salutary workings of the law. At one time we are informed that the grog-shops are shut up; there has not been a man found drunk in the streets during a fortnight; and that liquor is driven from the community. It is hard, I grant, to find good liquor, and when the experienced finds it, he has to pay a smart price for it; but there is plenty of bad liquor to be sold. It is not for me to know whence it comes or how it comes; perhaps the liquor merchants of Boston and New York can throw some light upon the subject. This much I know, it comes in large quantities, and is freely sold. Would that some of our zealous liquor law men could sometimes accompany me on my visits; I would point out to them the terrible results of the law. A whole family reduced to poverty, girls becoming acquainted with low and sensual life, boys fit subjects for the house of correction, mothers a disgrace to their sex, and fathers lost to all consciousness of duty; all of whom, a few years ago, were respectable, moral, and worthy members of the community.

This morning a poor man presented himself to take the pledge; his flesh was quivering on his body; he is the relic of respectability; a few years ago he was a sober, industrious man; he saw the advantages which the liquor law offers to private sale, and forthwith he introduced the sale of liquor into his chamber, in the second story of his house, in one of our public streets. He is at present a sad example of intemperance, and regrets much the disgraceful life he has been leading; he has promised that he will not sell another drop, yet I fear that the temptation is too great for him to resist. I have just listened to the tale of a poor woman; she is determined to leave her husband. Her statement of his drunken frolics is truly sad. These, however, are not solitary examples. Were I to relate the history of each day of the week, it would of itself be sufficient to show the inutility of the law. I might here call the reader's attention to the course pursued by the proprietors of hotels towards travellers,—the conduct, too, of gentlemen of fashion, whose acts pass unnoticed because they are not Irishmen,—the many artful dodges of excursionists to conceal from public scrutiny a little brandy, which they carry with them to destroy the evil effects of bad water. Yet, in dealing with facts of this kind, I know that I am exposing myself to the unscrupulous and unjust attacts of men who are so intoxicated with this subject that they will not see the evils which surround them.

We are frequently asked what has the Maine liquor law accomplished? We should answer: It has raised up a generation of informers; it has fostered spies, and encouraged perjury; it has broke the golden bond of brotherhood, and glaringly exposed the secrets of private life—it is corrupting the youth of our city; boys are frequently seen, from ten to sixteen, marching up and down the street with a cigar in their mouths, and a flask in their pockets, calling the attention of their companions to the cork which is seen. Sometimes this is done for fun, but the conduct of these little men shows the tendency of the age. Boys are not slow to imitate men, and to follow fast in their footsteps.

I have said more than I intended when I opened these remarks, but I have simply stated these facts as they presented themselves to me; I have seen both sides of the picture, and it is with not any desire of my own, that I wish to make my own observation public. It would be most pleasing to me if gentlemen, in their public and private discussions on this subject would pass by me unnoticed. I am far from seeking a public notoriety in connection with the Maine liquor law; and they who have witnessed my conduct whilst in Portland, know that I have labored hard for the suppression of drink, and I am ready and willing to engage my humble efforts in promoting any good and salutary measure in regard to temperance. But it is my faith, and it seems to be the settled conviction of the public generally, that it was not the province of a legislator to enforce a moral virtue; and that men, to be temperate, must be temperate in all things.

In another letter to the same paper, dated Oct. 3, the Reverend writer says:

"The statements which I made in your paper are doubted by many warm friends of temperance. All that I have said regards the Irish population. I have little intercourse with the American population; and anything which I may say about the non-Irish, I simply quote on reliable information."

This paragraph carries his testimony to this point: that among his own flock and countrymen in Portland, there is a vast amount of selling and drinking, drunkenness and misery; and that all these evils, so far from being diminished, are increased among that people, by the law. The few facts, which he states in his second letter, do not seem to warrant his conclusions.

He states that only about eight Irishmen have been induced [by the law we suppose] to give up the traffic, while he knows of twelve who went into it since the law was passed, and who "have averaged together fifty gallons a week," for the last nine months. He confesses himself unable to say except 'by guess, 'how much liquor is sold; and if the sale exceeds the consumption before the law.'

We are sorry to hear so bad an account of Irish catholic morals in Portland, from one who ought not to represent things any worse than they are: and glad at the same time, that a better state of things exists among the native American population.

MEXICO.—Washington, Oct. 3.—We have news this morning from the Texan and Mexican frontiers, which inform the President that serious disturbances had taken place between the Mexican and American troops stationed in the Mesilla Valley. Apprehension is felt by the President and Secretary of War, should the reports prove true, that the peaceful relations between the two countries will be seriously jeopardized by the conflict.

We have very little doubt these peaceful relations will be jeopardized somehow or other; and perhaps this occasion may be as good as any other. A war will exist, by and by, "by the act of Mexico." and we shall recover and reannex territories which we never explored, and of which we know little more than the name. It will be, for the people of Mexico, a change for the better; perhaps none the worse for us. But we would rather buy the country in the first place, than to fight first and buy afterwards.

APPOINTMENT.—The Boston Post states that Mr. A. N. Baker has been appointed second Lieutenant in the marine corps. He is a son of Capt. Baker, who died recently of yellow fever at Pensacola. A letter from that place says:—

"The appointment does credit to the President, as it arose from no political motives, but from the respect he entertained for the father, and sympathy for the loss his family have sustained, a more deserving man could not have been selected."

AN OFFICER KILLED.—The papers contain a particular account of the recent killing of Major Arnold, of the Second Dragoons, by Assistant (army) Surgeon Steiner, at Fort Graham, Texas. It seems that Steiner and Lieut. Bincham, from drinking fell to quarreling, so disturbing the garrison as to compel the commander, Major Arnold, to go to them, and order them to their respective quarters.—Steiner then told Arnold that if he placed him under arrest, he would kill him. This threat being taken as a mere ebullition of passion, Arnold took no notice of it, and the quarrelers went to their respective quarters. On the next day, when they had had time to cool their passion, Arnold sent the Adjutant of the post with an order to arrest both. They were found at Lieut. Bingham's quarters, apparently about to renew the quarrel. Steiner went to the Major's quarters, and shot him with a pistol, hitting him four times; Arnold fired twice at Steiner, but did not hit him. The Major died in a few minutes. Mrs. Arnold saw the whole. Steiner is arrested. The penalty is death.

TEMPERANCE WATCHMEN.—At the quarterly election of officers, in Eureka Club, No. 16, Temperance Watchmen, on Saturday evening last, the following board was chosen for the ensuing term:

Wm. W. Dow, S. O.; W. M. Conant, J. O.; S. M. DeMeritt, R. S.; F. W. Miller, C. S.; John Durgin, C.; C. C. Cushman, T.; David Tooke, M.; Adams Perry, jr., A. M.

We have sent it to the Fair at Manchester.

ACCIDENT.—We learn that Mr. David Towle, an elderly gentleman of Hampton, on Tuesday the 27th Sept., while in the act of passing out of the door of his house, made a misstep and fell, striking upon his head, it was bent under his body and he was taken up insensible, and unable to move a single limb, the spinal cord having been so strained as for the time being to threaten life and take away all control over his muscular system. He is now recovering, and hopes are entertained that he will soon get out again.

POST OFFICE CHANGE.—We learn that there has been a removal of the Post Office at Hampton. Mr. John A. Towle has received the appointment, vice Edwin B. Lane removed, and entered upon his duties on the 1st inst.

We understand the appointment is well liked by the people, and though Mr. Lane is removed, he is well and favorably remembered as an accommodating and efficient officer.

INSTALLATION AT EXETER.—Rev. Wm. D. Hitchcock, recently of Clinton, Mass., having received and accepted a call of the First Congregational Church and Society in Exeter to become their pastor, will be publicly installed this, (Wednesday,) afternoon, services commencing at two o'clock. The sermon will be preached by Rev. Dr. Child, of Lowell, Mass. The Council will meet in the forenoon at 9 1-2 o'clock, for the purpose of making the customary examination of the candidate.

☞ Through the attention of Grand Representative T. G. Senter, we have received the proceedings of the Grand Lodge of the United States, I. O. of O. F. at its last annual session at Baltimore.

STATE TEMPERANCE CONVENTION POSTPONED.

We learn by a letter from the Chairman of the State Central Committee, that owing to the great variety of meetings to be held at Manchester this week, it has been thought best to postpone the Temperance Convention to Thursday the 27th inst. Due notice will be given by the call from the Committee.

James Burns killed Minard T. Adee, in New York city, on the night of Sept. 29, by beating him on the head with a bottle. Burns kept a small drinking saloon in Fourth Avenue; and Adee had been drinking, as well as all the rest of the company, who are witnesses.

ARMY ORDERS.—By some army orders recently issued it appears that the following posts are to be abandoned and turned over to the proper department, viz: Forts Sullivan, Preble, Constitution, Adams, Trumbell, Wood, Mifflin and New Smyrna, E. F., and New Orleans Barracks. The three companies of the 4th Artillery (C, E, and I) now at Forts Wood, Mifflin and Washington, N. Y., and two at Fort Independence, Mass.

KOSZTA—who, by the way, held the rank of captain in the Hungarian army, and distinguished himself under Gen. Bem—was at the last advices confined in the French Hospital at Smyrna, guarded, but not rigorously, by an old grey-headed Turk. The walls of his room are of stone, and his windows are covered with an iron grating. His room is ten feet square, and contains a sofa, or more properly a Turkish divan, coarsely covered, but very comfortable nevertheless, several chairs, two tables, upon both of which stand vases of flowers, lately gathered.

A letter from Genoa mentions that Capt Ingraham of the sloop-of-war St. Louis, now at Spezzia, was serenaded a few nights since by a large company of Italians in boats, and received a complimentary address from them in commemoration of his conduct at Smyrna. The affair excited the attention of the foreign Consuls, and the local police deemed it prudent to warn the parties to abstain in future from such demonstrations.

ASSAULT.—Sunday night a dispute took place on board the schooner Citizen, of Portland, lying at Central wharf, Boston, between Capt. Wallace and the cook, named O'Brien, the latter assaulted the captain with great violence, with a frying pan, and inflicted a severe gash on his nose. O'Brien then fled.

The proprietors of the Weddell House, Cleaveland have dismissed all their white waiters, and employed colored men in their places. This is in consequence of being engaged in strikes.

NEWS FROM THE MORMONS.

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 3.—The Salt Lake mail arrived at Independence on Wednesday last, (28th ult.) Mr. J. M. Bernhisel, delegate to Congress was among the passengers. The emigrants for California had all passed Salt Lake.

The Indians had been very troublesome in Utah, killing many persons. The Governor had issued a proclamation, calling all the military forces of the territory into service; he had also ordered a wall to be built around the city twenty feet high and eight feet thick, with a ditch on the outside.

A body of fifty armed men had been sent out against the Indians, but no captures had been made; hot work is anticipated.

This massive wall is a new feature in American civilization, and may probably be used not only as now to keep off the Indians, but by and by to keep off United States troops, when the Mormon fanaticism has kindled up a civil war.

RUMORED SETTLEMENT OF THE KOSTA DIFFICULTY.—NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Chevalier Hulsemann, the Austrian Minister, arrived in this city and had an interview with Secretary Marcy. It is rumored that arrangements have been agreed upon for the release of Kosta and his return to this country.

☞ The New Orleans papers up to the 27th Sept. containing Mexican advices to Sept. 8, do not speak of any difficulty in the Mesilla Valley—but on the contrary speak of quiet there.

FLOUR, in New York on Tuesday, was in less demand, and fell 6 cents per barrel.—Corn, easier and less active. 82 to 85 cts.

The report that Chevalier Wikoff and Miss Gamble had reconciled their difficulties and were about to be married, is contradicted.

FISHING GROUNDS.

If our treaties on the fisheries are bad, let them be amended as soon as possible. But there can be no good reason given for insolence such as is described in the following letter from an American now at Prince Edward's Island, which is published in the Boston Journal.

Such continued vexations are no less ruinous to the business than actual capture.

COSUMPEC, P. E. I., Sept. 15, 1853.

I write you the news. There are about ninety sail of mackerel fishers at anchor in this harbor; they report mackerel to be very scarce. The general complaint among the fishermen here is, that they now are and have been left without one gun for protection—Com. Shubrick to the contrary notwithstanding. Capt. Pierce of the schooner Lant, of and from Southport, Maine, reports that on Sept. 11th, the schooner Winged Racer, Parker, of Gloucester, was towed into Douglass Town from Gaspe Harbor by the Argus, (steamer) and anchored under the guns of a sloop-of-war. Capt. Pierce said he was informed by Capt. Parker, that he (Parker) was lying at anchor in Gaspe, when the Argus came in and boarded the Winged Racer to know why the W. R. did not show her colors on the approach of the steamer in the harbor. Capt. Parker said that he did, on a pole run up over his boat, as his signal halliards were made fast at the cross-trees. The boarding officer, on leaving Capt. Parker, told him to get under way and leave the harbor for not showing his colors. Whereupon Capt. Parker said he should not obey his orders, inasmuch as he exhibited his colors, and if he (the officer) failed to see them, that was not his fault. Presently twenty-five or thirty men came from the steamer and got the Winged Racer under way, and the steamer towed her down to Douglass Town and anchored her as above. September 7th, the Argus fired several shot among a fleet of about one hundred sail, as they were running for Gaspe Harbor.—Some of the shot just cleared the vessels, and had the effect to bring them to in the wind. The steamer ordered them all to sea, notwithstanding the threatening aspect of the weather, and said if they went in he would take them or tow them out again; he even refused those who said they were out of wood and water, admission into the harbor. But a few resolute ones said they were bound to go in, let what would come,—therefore if he chose to take their vessels, so be it—they were bound in, with or without their vessels, after wood and water. Thus while the steamer was stopping a part of the fleet, others feared neither him nor his guns, but went ahead, so the whole like sheep followed and made a harbor.

It is thought that the Winged Racer will not be detained long. It is said that Capt. McQuin, of Gloucester, told the commander of the steamer that he was bound in for wood and water, and he should go, notwithstanding his orders. The commander said he would take him, adding, "how do I know that you want wood and water?" Capt. McQuin in answer said, "if you don't believe me, come and look for yourself, here are the barrels." The officer said, "don't you insult me."—Whereupon Capt. McQuin said, "I think that I am insulted the most by your doubting my word; however, I am bound in and shall go; therefore if you wish to take my vessel, here she is; if you take her I shall go in without her if I can." "If you go in," said the officer, "I will tow you out again." But finding the vessels were going in, notwithstanding his orders to the contrary, the commander of the steamer said that they might go in to a certain one sided place and lay twenty-four hours. The offer was not accepted by the fishermen: they sought a proper shelter.

The weather is changeable and windy, so much so that the vessels have not even tried to fish for about a week. The average catch of mackerel for three weeks is very small. The prospect for a Fall catch is not so good as usual, owing to the great extension of small mackerel over the fishing grounds of this bay. It is well known that small mackerel are famous bait eaters, hence they may devour the bait so freely as to prevent the large mackerel from obtaining a taste. Oats are rather scarce. Yours truly, J. P.

Bay State Stoves.

THE Subscriber would inform his friends and the public, that he has for sale all sizes of this favorite Stove. Having sold them in this city for five years past, they have been thoroughly tested with wood and coal, and are found perfect in every respect.

Those put in operation four and five years since have had no repairs made upon them, and are to all appearance as good as ever. So great is the popularity of these Stoves, that many imitations of it are put into the market, such as the Granite State, Empire State, &c.; but none of them are equal to it in weight or quality of castings, cooking facilities, or economy of fuel.

To all who are in want of a GOOD Cooking Stove, we would say—buy a BAY STATE, and you are sure to get THE BEST STOVE IN THE WORLD.

The subscriber has for sale, also, a variety of other Cook Stoves, Cooking Ranges, Parlor Grates, Office and Parlor Stoves, Funnel, &c.; for sale low for cash. E. A. STEVENS,

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT!

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S
Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,
PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.

One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.

[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]

First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no female desirous of good health, and that family, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as he is or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title-page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be ignorant.

☞ On receipt of One Dollar (for the fine Edition, extra binding,) "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION" is sent (mailed free) to any part of the United States. All letters must be post-paid, and addressed to Dr. A. M. MAURICEAU, Box 1224, New York City. Publishing Office, No. 129 Liberty Street, New York.

THE HALF HOUSEKEEPER.—She was only a half housekeeper. Go where you would about her home there was neither taste nor neatness. She would begin things with great avidity, but lose all her zeal before she got through. Of her husband's half dozen new shirts all were partially finished—one wanted sleeves, another collar and wristbands, another bosom and gussets, and so on through the list. Several skeletons of quilts lay unfolded in her drawers, and her tables and trunks were loaded with magnificent promises.

Her bread was always unpalatable, because she forgot this or that—and though she had been married ten years, in all that time the table was never rightly laid for a meal. Either or the salt was wanting, a knife or spoon, or some important ingredient. This afforded good exercise for the family, and there was at all times a continued running to and fro.

She was a half a housekeeper. Her meats were never properly cared for after dinner—and then it was—"Oh! throw it away, it ain't much." Much or little, it made the butcher's bill enormous, and her husband half distracted. There always stood in her musty smelling pantry, mouldy milk, mouldy bread, mouldy meat, and mouldy cheese. There always laid about her room a dozen garments worn out by trampling rather than use. She was forever tripping over brooms, forever wondering why on earth work came so hard to her—forever running up stairs for something she had left down cellar, or flying down cellar for what she had thrown in the garret.

Her children's clothes came to pieces the second day, because they were only half made, her preserves soured the second month because they were only half done, and her temper soured quicker than any thing else. She was continually lamenting that she ever married, and wondering where some folks got their knack of house-work. She loved to clear a corner for herself and sit with her arms folded. She loved to gossip—loved to have some new scheme on hand, for then she was furious till it was begun, always lessening her enthusiasm at the first stitch. "Oh! dear me!" seemed some days the whole extent of her vocabulary, and it would make one sad to watch her listless movements, and hear her declare that no woman worked so hard as she, which was partly true, for she had no method.

She never received company without an apology on her tongue, and never sat them down to a decent table. She dragged through life and worried through death, for which, I fear, like every thing else, she was only half prepared, and left six daughters to follow her example, and curse the world with six more miserable half house keepers.—N. Y. Organ.

BLOOMER COSTUME OUTDONE.—Six or seven days past, two young persons came to a boarding and coffee house, called the North Shades, on Broadway, and giving out that they were brothers, engaged boarding, saying that they intended to remain a few weeks.—On Saturday, the host having noticed them in the meanwhile, became suspicious that they were not brothers, as they were so dissimilar in personal appearance, but supposed the couple had assumed to be so for some sinister and heinous intent. He therefore disclosed his opinions to the police, and the suspected parties were arrested, and taken to the calaboose. One of the arrested parties proved to be a woman, although in full masculine equipments. Being questioned as to her assumption of male attire, she gave the following explanation:

Her maiden name was Phebe Hays; she was married to her companion, and pretended brother, whose name was Ashley C. Baker, in Plattsburg, N. Y., eight or nine months ago. Soon after the marriage was solemnized, he declared his intention of going west, and desired her to dress herself in male attire, alleging, as a reason for it, that they could travel cheaper than otherwise. She did so—her husband thinking it more becoming and convenient, than her rightful and proper garb, insisted that she continue to wear it, and she has therefore retained it until discovered on Saturday.

The policemen expressing some doubt as to her marriage, she quickly quieted them by producing a genuine marriage certificate. She is very handsome, and about 23 years of age. The discovery of her sex, and the questions that were asked her, affected her to tears, and she wept freely. Her husband was released from custody; but a charge of wearing men's clothes was preferred against her, and she will probably be fined.—St. Louis Republican, Sept. 20.

Hon. Thos. W. Newton, of Arkansas, late M. C., dined with his sister, Mrs. Woolsey, last week, in his usual health, and died during the night.—N. Y. Express.

THREE FATAL RAILROAD ACCIDENTS.—On Saturday morning last, as we learn from the Springfield republican, Daniel Ferre of Springfield, an engineer of the Western Railroad, forty years of age, was killed at the Chester Factories, by being run over by a freight train, while engaged in carrying before his engine a long shackling iron to attach to the last car of another train. While thus walking, he stepped into a cattle guard and fell upon the track, and the engine, tender and three cars passed over his legs. His head and one hand were also badly injured, yet notwithstanding this, he crawled out clear of the track. When asked if Dr. Chaffee should be sent for, he replied—"no; I shall die before he can get here." He was then taken into a house, in a perfectly conscious condition, and, bidding an attendant to give his love to his wife and two children, and to ask Mr. Gray, the Superintendent, to look after them, calmly expired.

On the same day, the eleven o'clock express train West, when approaching the Schodac Depot, near Albany, came in collision with a one horse team, driven by an old man named Jones, killing him, cutting the horse in two, and breaking up the waggon.

On the evening of the same day, at Springfield, an Englishman named Benjamin Spread by, who had been drunk all day, and had swapped some of his clothes for liquor, was killed by the nine o'clock train from Hartford, he being on the track at the time.

EXODUS FROM NEWFOUNDLAND.—The St. Johns Courier, of the 3d instant, says:—A new phase in the history of this colony has been revealing itself for some considerable time past, and now appears more distinctly and unmistakably day by day; we allude to the constant drain of the population by emigration to the neighboring States and provinces. For the past two years almost every vessel leaving this port for Boston, New York, Quebec, or Montreal, has taken off a considerable number of passengers, and now we observe regular packets are being established for a fixed emigration trade.

Many local causes might be cited which have induced this desire to emigrate. For years past the produce of the fisheries has not been sufficient for the requirements of the population; the prices of produce have been low; the great auxiliary of the fishermen—the potato crops—have been disheartening failures, and the people have found themselves reduced to the pitiable extremity of imploring the means of a scanty subsistence in the winter time from the public revenue.

A WATERLOGGED SHIP.—A timber-laden ship, the Wolfe, has arrived in the Mersey in a waterlogged state. The circumstances attending her perilous voyage are curious. The Wolfe sailed from Quebec for this port last autumn, but got ashore at St. Peter's Island, near Cape Breton. She remained ashore, encompassed by ice, all winter, and while lying there was purchased as a wreck. Early in the spring of the present year she was got afloat again, and reached Pictou, but in consequence of the little rise of tide there, she could not be repaired at that port, nor could a steamer be procured to tow her to Quebec. Under these circumstances the present owners decided to send her over, waterlogged as she was, to this port, and take the risk; and for this purpose she was placed in charge of Capt. Evan Crearar, who, by enterprise and care, succeeded in bringing her safely into port without further damage, and with all hands well and hearty, although she was drawing 24 feet of water.—Liverpool Times.

Morning Chronicle.

THURSDAY, OCT. 6, 1853.

MASSACHUSETTS POLITICS.

In an article on "the Constitution of the Whig Party," the New York Herald says.

"The Whig Convention of Massachusetts, held at Fitchburg, is the opening scene of the labors of that party in 1853. It was presided over by Mr. Winthrop, and from the remarks of that gentleman we gather the only distinctive points of whig tactics, as far as Massachusetts is concerned, to be urged upon the country. The Pacific Railroad is adopted and the foreign policy of President Pierce is distinctly opposed. The Maine law was given an outside berth, and we do not find that the old party issues have been more hospitably entertained. * * *

It was supposed that Massachusetts, on the basis of Mr. Everett's recent letters, and in view of the practical settlement of all the outstanding accounts of parties in the line of their former trade, to say nothing of the judgment of the country on the compromise measures of 1850 and the agency of Mr. Webster in securing their passage, would at its Fitchburg Convention, unfold a new programme."

Whoever supposed such things as these, knew but little about the people of Massachusetts. Mr. Webster was admired by them as a man of talent and eloquence; and Mr. Everett is now likewise admired. But aside from a few Webster whigs in Boston, and a very few in the country: aside from a few "Old Guard" Democrats here and there,—amounting in the whole to but a few thousand voters,—the people of Massachusetts, without regard to party, have very strong prejudices in favor of liberty and against slavery. These prejudices they have not yet learned to conquer: and when they mourn, as they do sincerely, the demise of their departed Statesman, they drop a bitter tear on the memory of what he did and said in 1850. They would fain blot it out: would fain forget it: but as they cannot do this, they look above it; and their religious and moral culture teaches them to look towards the Mount of Olives for their precepts, and to Heaven for their fundamental law. Parties may force them, orators may draw them, to the right hand or the left, for a time;—but their "sober second thought," their christian purpose is, to do right—to love liberty for themselves—to wish and pray for it as a boon for others. Politicians of all colors, in Massachusetts, know this; and are compelled to remember it very frequently, when they could choose to forget it. Nay the most wily and crafty, who have little conscience themselves, make use not unfrequently, of the conscience of others, to carry their own points, and promote their own objects.—That man who does not know that the people of Massachusetts have an invincible love of liberty, and a consequent hatred of slavery, has either studied them superficially, or to little purpose. Neither the Whigs, nor the Coalition could get along till Christmas of the present year, without the help of many thousands of voters, who disregard all party platforms and catch-words, which seem to them to contradict the Decalogue and the Sermon on the Mount. They would hardly believe a contrary doctrine, even though great men should rise from the dead to proclaim it. Massachusetts as a christian, puritan State laughed to scorn all finalities that are not based on eternal justice. Her best people are peaceably, and many of them do not say much; but they keep up a perpetual thinking, as they plough, and sail, and hammer, and weave, and drive shoe-pegs: and by actual converse with thousands of them, we know that their principles on this subject are fixed—their prejudices, if the reader pleases, deep rooted.

MASSACHUSETTS GOVERNOR.—The Newburyport Union, a liberal Democratic print, and very spicy withal, after remarking that the Whig, Democratic and Free soil parties in Massachusetts, are preparing to show good fight at the coming election, speaks thus of the Whig candidate's prospects:—

The whig candidate, besides being in a minority of 20,000 in the popular vote, has got this labor to perform to reach the gubernatorial chair; he must carry the Maine law upon his back, for to that he is fully committed—he must eat all that he has ever said against the Hoosac Tunnel, or that borer will make a terrible hole in his votes in the northwest counties; and then he must fight his way through twenty thousand Webster whigs, to whose idol he refused to bow down and worship, and whose speech on the compromise he would endorse. If Judge Washburn can do all that, he deserves to be govenor, and as he never was a Boston whig or a hunker, we shall have some hopes of him if he survives the conflict, to sit down in the chair of state.

☞ The Episcopal Convention in New York, as we have already mentioned, lately voted to admit the pastor and delegates from a negro church. Whereupon the Providence Journal very quietly remarks:—"We do not learn that the committee of safety has been called together, but if the Union is not in danger now, it is our opinion that it has not been for some time past."

☞ The Manchester Stark Mills "Willow Room" machinery, caught fire by friction, on Tuesday, and damaged the work and building about $1000.

THE FISHERIES.

The Newburyport Herald has the following report:—

Arrived schooner Huntress, Disney, fishing—200 barrels mackerel—absent 3 1-2 months. Captain Disney reports that mackerel continued scarce up to the time he left. The weather for the last three weeks had been very rough. Was boarded by boats from the steamers Basilisk and Devastation. They were very particular in knowing the number of barrels of mackerel, number of men, size of vessel, owners' names, &c. The officer from the Basilisk was quite a gentleman.

The Pictou (N. S.) Chronicle of Sept. 27 says:—

Her Majesty's steamer Basilisk, Com. Egerton, arrived here this morning from a cruise on the fishing grounds. A rumor was received here by telegraph, on Saturday, to the effect that the American Eastern squadron had again been ordered to the gulf fishing grounds, there to remain till the end of the season.

A telegraphic report from New York states that U. S. ship Albany "sailed on Tuesday for the fishing grounds." There is some curiosity to know for what purpose the Albany visits the fishing grounds, if it is a fact that she is going there. Commodore Perry went to the grounds last year, and the fishermen only knew him as a pompous fretful scold. Commodore Shubrick followed him this year; his fleet was of no use to the fishermen, and he might be named Commodor Do Little or Commodore Do Nothing, for the government might as well have sent a paper yacht to the fishing grounds, as the ostentatious force which went there and did nothing. It may not be fair to quarrel with the officers of the squadron because they piped and danced with the Provincialists, for it is not likely that they were sent there for any other purpose.—Boston Courier.

The above, from the Courier, is a sharp cut on somebody,—but what is wanted is first a plain statement from our own government, as to what our treaties really give our fishermen and withhold from them,—in a short document. Then we want one good steamer, and two or three cutters or other small vessels, as tenders, to keep both parties in their place and to their duties.

SHIP DEFIANCE.—Further particulars of the state of affairs at Chincha, in which the captain of the American ship Defiance, was wounded, are here given. The Defiance, on going to sea, saluted the other American vessels, and was fined. A second salute was then fired, which so enraged the Peruvian commander, that he went on board the Defiance with three armed boats' crews, and after a severe encounter, seized the captain, bound him and threw him into one of their boats, severely injuring him. A Peruvian officer and crew then took the defiance to Callao; the captain being retained in confinement. Mr. Clay, U. S. Minister to Lima, forthwith chartered the British steamship Bolivia, and went to the Chinchas to investigate, and has sent despatches to Washington on the subject.

The Boston Advertiser says, "the name of the master of the Defiance is M'Cerren; he is the same person who had a controversy with Capt. Sears, of ship Cape Cod, which was little to his credit." He was for some time in the employ of the Messrs. Kingsland, of New York, and for them superintended the construction of ship Kalamazoo, at this port, and sailed hence in command of her in 1840.

KIDNAPPING.—The Maysville Eagle states that on the evening of the 15th ult., about 10 o'clock, a party of eight men entered by force the house of a free man named Isaac Henseley, living near Sardinia, Brown County, Ohio. The family of Henseley consisted of his wife and four children, two of them girls nearly grown, and two boys somewhat younger. They were all in bed. The kidnapping parties knocked Henseley's wife in the head, rendering her insensible; then bound him and his four children, and put them into an old wagon. The wagon was driven through Logan's Gap; and Hensley and his children were taken out of the wagon, and rowed across the Ohio river to the Kentucky shore. About midnight of the 16th, Henseley and the children were conveyed to Maysville, and put in the private jail of James McMillen, about midnight.

Meantime the neighbors of Henseley were aroused, and by telegraphing, got ahead of the kidnappers, and on Sunday arrived in the city with his certificate of freedom under the hand and seal of the Clerk of the Montgomery County Court of Kentucky. It appears that Henseley was enfranchised by Joseph Henseley, by his last will and testament, duly proven and recorded in the aforesaid County Court. The description of Henseley in the certificate of freedom was so individual and precise, that Mr. McMillen at once delivered Henseley and his children over to his friends, who returned with them to Ohio.

MORE ADOPTED CITIZENS.—A company of hale and hearty Swedes, have just landed in Boston, and passed up through the streets, with cheers. The women and children, with the baggage, were in wagons, while the men, bearing the muskets and American and Swedish flags followed on foot in procession. There were about a hundred and twenty in the party, and are on their way to the West.

KENTUCKY.—The people of Louisville have been endeavoring to get the slave markets or pens suppressed in that city. The Common Council have voted to repeal the ordinance licensing them, but their action was thwarted by the voice of the mayor.

LOCAL.

GOOD LIGHTS.—It is agreed on all hands, that the Gas used in Portsmouth is of superior quality. Those who have had opportunity for comparing it with that furnished elsewhere, find it unsurpassed. And the arrangements for circulating it are excellent. We have often been troubled by the temporary failure of the supply, in Boston and New York, from some cause or other, and had to bring out the candles; but here, during fourteen months steady use, it has never once been wanting. Whether this is owing to the efficient watchfulness of the Superintendent, John Trundy, Esq., or the superior manner in which Mr. E. A. Stevens put in our fixtures, we know not; but in a business where a good substitute for Sol's rays is required from six to eight hours per day, or night, this is no small consideration—and we desire to return thanks to somebody.

☞ The keepers of Eating Houses in Boston, have agreed to raise their prices next Monday.

☞ It was rumored on 'Change in this city, yesterday, that the Eastern Railroad has taken a lease of the Portsmouth, Dover & Great Falls Railroad, and the Cochecho Railroad (running from Dover to Alton Bay,) at six per cent., for a term of years; and that there will straightway be a completion of the line of rails from this port to the Weirs.

THE CRAFT.—The young printers in this city have their share of honorary offices, though not especially lucrative berths. The Mercantile Library Association, the Club of Temperance Watchmen, and the Young Men's Christian Association, have each for their presiding officer, a practical printer.

☞ That box of Sardines, from LaFayette Laighton, was decidedly acceptable. Of course they were of the best quality—Laighton don't keep any other.

THE GRANITE FARMER, printed at Manchester, N. H., has been sold by James O. Adams, who has been its proprietor from its start, to Hon. Chandler E. Potter of the Monthly Visitor, whose name will appear as its editor in its issue of this week.

THE FIRST UNIVERSALIST CHURCH, BOSTON. The Society has two pastors, Rev. Sebastian Streeter and Rev. Sumner Ellis. At a parish meeting, held on Sunday evening last, a resolution was adopted, after considerable discussion, requesting Mr. Streeter to ask a dismission. Many influential members of the society disapproved of the course taken by Mr. Streeter, in signing the clerical document addressed to the Mayor and Aldermen in reference to the "Maine Liquor Law." As soon as Mr. Ellis was apprised of the feeling which existed in the society, he gave the customary notice, that he wished to withdraw his connection as pastor at the end of six months.—Mr. Streeter was settled pastor of the society in 1824.—Transcript.

MACKEREL.—The season for mackerel is fast drawing to a close, but about six weeks remain before the vessels will be hauled up.—Present appearances indicate that the catch will be very small compared with last year. At this port not more than one third as many mackerel have been packed as there were up to this time last year. The vessels which return from the Bay do not average half a fare, and those which are fishing off this coast, are doing no better comparatively. There are no mackerel around our Cape, which is unusual at this time of the year. This scarcity of the article has carried the price up higher than ever before known, and the tendency is still upward. Sales have been made in this town, this week, of Bay mackerel at $15.75 for No. 1s; $13.75 for 2s; $8 1-8 for 3s; Shore do. at $14 for 1s; $10.75 for 2s; 7 50 for 3s, and 5 1-8 for 4s.—Gloucester Telegraph.

THE GREAT REPUBLIC.—Mr. McKay's mammoth ship at East Boston, was launched successfully and without accident, on Tuesday. She glided gently and easily into the water, and exhibited to the immense crowd of spectators, one of the most beautiful, as well as by far the largest specimen of naval architecture, which has ever floated upon the waters of the ocean. It is expected that she will be ready for sea within a month. The Newburyport Herald, whose editor was present at the launch, remarks—

Mr. McKay has been signally successful in his great ships. Three or four months ago, the croakers thought this mammoth would be a losing concern and absorb all the profits of those which he had previously constructed; but the times have now changed, and she will start off on her first voyage with a freight which will materially reduce her cost, always a very fortunate occurrence at the commencement of an enterprise.

Mr. McKay, we hear, will immediately commence the construction of a ship larger than this, which he is to build by contract. The theory has been started of building a ship so large that she will pass through the ocean with comparatively little motion, ploughing directly through the waves without rising upon them, and so high above them that the rolling of the highest waves will always be below her decks. It is a daring thought, but in view of what has been accomplished already, who will venture to denounce it as absurd? There are those bold enough to predict that a ship will yet be built that will pass through the stormy waves of the ocean with as stately a progress as a vessel of a hundred tons through a river in the same gale. If any one is to realize the fruition of this dream, it is, we doubt not, Mr. McKay, if his life is spared five years longer.

MAN MISSING.—James Oliver Bruce arrived at Boston, from New York, on Saturday morning. He sent his wife and another lady in a coach to the Central House, and stopped to see to the baggage, and has not since been heard of. He had in his possession two steel bead purses, one with the name of L. Bompiani wrought in it, containing ten sovereigns and about $15 in gold and silver, and the other containing ten sovereigns, and a check on some house in New York for $60.

LATER FROM CALIFORNIA.

ARRIVAL OF THE CRESCENT CITY.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4th.

The steamship Crescent City, with the California mails of 1st September, 500 passengers, and about $1,000,000 in specie, arrived at 10 o'clock this evening. Among the treasure is $40,000 from Australia, per Adams & Co., the first shipment from that country to the United States.

The Crescent City left Aspinwall on the morning of the 25th ult. The second day out met the steamship Star of the West. Saw a ship on West Carcos, dismasted; could not ascertain her name.

The health of the Isthmus was good; the weather was pleasant.

Melbourne, Australia, dates to the 20th of July, had reached Panama. The miners were agitating for a reduction of the license tax; large meetings had been held, and those in attendance were armed to the teeth; great excitement prevailed on the subject.

Fresh discoveries of gold are reported, and the mining intelligence is favorable.

A box containing £10,000 in specie had been lost in the Yarra, by the swamping of a boat.

Great anxiety had prevailed, owing to the non-arrival of the Georgia.

SOUTH AMERICAN NEWS.—Valparaiso dates are to the 1st of September. The markets were dull, except for flour, which was brisk at $8.50. The Rattler was advertised to sail for Boston on the 2d. Catharine Hayes was soon to complete her career at $2000 per night. The construction of a canal from the Quillota to Valparaiso had been undertaken by J. W. Waddington.

Two millions on account of the Peruvian debt to Chili, had been paid to Baring's agents, and was to be devoted to the Valparaiso and and Santiago railway.

The Bolivian port of Cobya was still blockaded by Peru, and a proposition by Chili for mediation was said to be rejected.

The Bolivian President, Belzu, was constantly engaged against revolutionary movements at home, and cannot attack Peru.—Business was paralized throughout the republic.

Most exciting stories have reached Santiade Borgia, of gold discoveries on the Amazon and its branches. The washings are said to extend forty leagues, and twenty-five pounds per day is said to be the average product of one man's labor.

DEPUTY MARSHALS IN TROUBLE.—Washington, Oct. 4th.—The Department of the Interior yesterday received a letter from Col. Wynkoop, Marshal of the eastern district of Pennsylvania, stating that three of his deputies were on the point of being arrested on a State warrant, charging them with riotous or illegal conduct in the execution of a warrant of Justice Greer, of the Supreme Court, for the arrest of a negro claimed as a slave of Ishman Keith, of Virginia. The Marshal asks authority to employ counsel and incur the necessary expenses for defending the suit. The Secretary replied by telegraph, directing him to lose no time in consulting the District Attorney, and taking any measures for the defence that he might deem necessary, assuring him that the Department and the whole Government, are determined, at all hazards and at any cost to carry out the provisions of the fugitive slave law.

GALE ON LAKE ERIE.—Buffalo Oct. 4,—A terrible gale is blowing on the Lake, and the sea is running so high as to prevent vessels from leaving the harbor. A wreck was seen last night, near the Canada shore, with three men clinging to the masts. She was afterwards seen with only one man.

The steamer Mayflower was fired up in order to go to her assistance, but feared to make the attempt. A life boat has been sent along the Canada shore, and several citizens are making efforts to save him.

THE RECENT GALE.—St. John N. B., Oct. 1.—By telegraph this evening from Richibucto, it appears that the heaviest gale occurred on Thursday last, the 26th ult., that has been experienced for the last twenty years; ten vessels are on shore, mostly English and Norwegian. The tides are very much higher than ordinarily. At Pouctouche, also, several vessels are ashore. Considerable damage has been done to wharves, booms, scows, and boats.

THE YELLOW FEVER.—New Orleans, Oct. 3.—The yellow fever interments for the last 24 hours were only six. The Board of Health have discontinued their daily reports—considering the epidemic to be over.

MORTALITY OF MOBILE.—Mobile, Oct. 4. The sickness in this city is rapidly abating. The total number of deaths was seven, including only two from yellow fever.

A WOLF IN SHEEP'S CLOTHING.—We learn from the Worcester Spy, that a man calling himself Dearborn S. Moody, has recently absconded from Worcester with $500 in funds which were entrusted to him to pay the workmen on a building which he was putting up in connection with another man. The workmen were notified that he had the money, and were advertized to secure their pay as soon as possible, but they expressed the strongest faith in his integrity, because he was supposed to be an active member of the Methodist Church, and had been in the habit of praying and exorting at the meetings. On examining his trunks they were found to contain a large assortment of burglar's instruments, skeleton keys, pistols, dirk knives, &c.

The Irishmen of Shasta county, California, have raised a purse of $1000 to be presented to Captain Kendrick, of the American barque Otranto, for his assistance in enabling the Irish patriot, O'Donohue, to escape from exile.

MANUMISSION.—Mr. Francis Gideon, who died at Atalanta, Ga., on the 13th ult., left a will liberating twenty nine slaves. He also set apart a portion of his other property to divide for their shipment to Liberia, and their maintenance after they arrive there.

NEW FIGS.—The steamship "America" brought two hundred and forty-one cases fresh figs, the first of the new crop received the present season.

It is said that 10,000 negroes have died of the present yellow fever in Cuba.

THE Subscriber would inform his friends and the public, that he has for sale all sizes of this favorite Stove. Having sold them in this city for five years past, they have been thoroughly tested with wood and coal, and are found perfect in every respect.

MR. S. GILBERT, Dear Sir—

Having been afflicted with a diseased Liver, attended with pain in the side. I was advised by a friend to try your Extract Polypodium, and am happy to inform you that it has not only cured me of the above disease, but it also relieved me of a Chronic Diarrhea which I contracted in the war with Mexico, to cure which I had tried the popular remedies of the day to no effect. I can cheerfully recommend it to the public as the best medicine for the above complaint of which I have any knowledge. I have also proved it to be an invaluable purifier of the blood.

Respectfully yours. WM. H. FRANKLIN

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT!

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits, with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during childhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which he has a right to expect, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S

Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,

PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.

One Hundredth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.

[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]

First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, be her's or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title-page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as many spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be Ignorant.

☞ On receipt of One Dollar (for the fine Edition, extra binding,) "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION" is sent (mailed free) to any part of the United States. MANUFACTURE OF LINEN.—The Boston Chronicle says:—"A company of enterprising young men are about to commence the manufacture of linen at Lewiston Falls.—They have secured and put into operation newly invented machinery, which will remove the difficulty which has been in the way of the manufacture here—of breaking or separating the tow from the genuine flax. It is calculated that this machine will take the flax in its natural state after being harvested by the husbandman, and prepare it for the carder, as in the manufacture of cotton, with the addition as is perceived of breaking, which is an important item in the manufacture of linen.—The Maine farmers will have an inducement to go extensively into the culture of flax, and raise it for the double purpose of its seed and the straw for manufacturing purposes.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.
DOCTOR ALFRED G. HALL,

AUTHOR of the New Theory of cure by the NUTRITIVE PRINCIPLE, in Physiology and Medicine, sustaining the laws of life and removing the cause of disease, confirmed as a NATURAL SCIENCE by the Nutritive Process; expelling dead and depositing living matter at the same time in the Body, increasing its weight and strength while under treatment, being the great discovery of the constitutional power resisting disease; ample proof can be given in the person of any invalid.

Dr. H. receives visits, makes examinations, ascertains the cause of disease, describes the precise condition of the patient, furnishes prescriptions, medicines and recipes for his Nutritive Fluids and cordials.

Three months' attention and treatment is requisite in all cases, with printed instructions, for diet and washing, and the use of the Alkaline Girdle for the spine and kidneys—a restorative action is produced in all parts of the system immediately by the natural laws sustained by nutrition.

He is the inventor and sole proprietor of 12 nutritive fluids; they can be made by any family—are adapted to the most common complaints, and to every form of disease. His works, "Views of the New Theory, &c.," "Womanhood," and the "Mother's Own Book," are furnished to invalids under his supervision. It is now before Congress.

Doctor Alfred G. Hall may be consulted by letter, or in person at his rooms, No. 15 Winter St., Boston, from 10 A.M. to 5 P.M. ☞ Medicines, &c. forwarded by Express to any part.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 950,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Depot and manufactory, No. 137 Broadway, New York. Retail price 25 cents a large bottle.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w6m je22

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the Islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any bottled bitters, or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

DR. HAMPTON'S
VEGETABLE TINCTURE!
The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the BEST family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names which have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. K. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Dunan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

JNO. H. T. JEROME.

A Voice from the Birth-place of Christopher Columbus, the Discoverer of America.

U. S. SHIP CUMBERLAND,
Genoa, Sardinia, January 17, 1853.

Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray—Gentlemen: The first Lieutenant of this ship, who has been suffering many years from the Dyspepsia, and who has been nearly restored to his usual health by the use of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," desires you to send him one dozen bottles of that medicine.

Lieutenant ——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezzia.

The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of DYSPEPSIA.

I am respectfully yours,

This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

ST. LOUIS IN DANGER.—The citizens of St. Louis have long entertained fears that the waters of the Missouri would eventually force for themselves a new channel, which would, of course leave the Mississippi a mere stream, and their city far inland. They have made every effort to avoid this catastrophe, but all their breakwaters and embankments do not seem to lessen the danger. We learn from the report of Mr. John H. Shipman, an engineer employed to make surveys of the two rivers and of the ground between them, that these fears have not been magnified. His survey was made in furtherence of a project to divert the waters of the Missouri into an artificial channel, so that they shall reach the Mississippi at a point below the city of Alton.

Mr. Shipman reports the entire practibility of this measure, and states that, from the situation of the ground, and from the fact (never before ascertained) that the waters of the Missouri are seven feet higher than those of the Mississippi, the expense would be comparatively trifling. He even fixes the amount at fifteen thousand dollars. It seems only necessary to dig a narrow channel, commencing at the Mississippi, which the back-water will naturally wash out and enlarge to a sufficient breadth and depth to receive the waters of the Missouri, when the excavation should reach that river. Mr. Shipman says there is not the least doubt that if this is not done, the Missouri will, at no very distant day, either make her way to the chain of lakes below St. Louis, or else force a passage along the bluffs on the Illinois shore. In either case, that city would be left far inland and shorn of her present high prospects.

EXTRAVAGANCE OF GENTLEMEN.—The newspapers have rather ungallantly referred to the extravagance of the ladies in articles of dress and ornament, but it would appear that gentlemen were liable to the same censure in the prices paid for many articles of dress now in vogue. The most fashionable cravats are sold for five dollers. The fall style of velvet vests range from $10 to $25 each. Most of the desirable patterns of the best quality have been already taken at prices above $20.

In the matter of vest buttons, there is great extravagance. We hear of sales of single sets at upwards of a hundred dollars, and the jewellers on Washington street have elegant styles at prices ranging from $10 to $20 a button, or from $60 to $120 a set of six. At the latthr price, a superb set with diamond centres can be obtained.

The finest shirts on exhibition in Faneuil Hall cost $12 each, and a small fortune is required for a "fashionable suit" of gentleman's clothes.—Boston Transcript.

BERKSHIRE COUNTY.—At the Berkshire County Cattle Show, held at Great Barrington, last week, it was stated that the Potato crop in that section of the State is but slightly affected by rot, but the crop is light, though the quality is good. Corn and grain of all kinds have yielded good crops, and grain has been exceedingly good.

Mr. Leavitt of New York, has recently purchased a farm about a mile south of the village of Great Barrington, and is putting up a barn, which, when completed, will cost from $25,000 to $30,000. It is placed upon a water privilege, and is to "go by water"—that is, machinery for cutting fodder, grinding roots, &c., is to be driven by water power.

A GOOD CABINET FOR ADVICE.—The Washington Union announces that the President will adhere to the policy indicated in the formation of his Cabinet, on the eclectic principle, and will not countenance any attack upon that Cabinet—that it must be supported as a whole, &c. It adds also that the President selected his Cabinet to advise with him, and he has full confidence in their fitness as advisers. In this, the Republican Journal thinks the Union is correct—for, it says, if he wants free soil advice, he can call on Mr. McLellan; if he wants disunion advice, he can apply to Jefferson Davis; if Hunker advice, to Guthrie; and if he wants "all sorts" of advice he can apply to Cushing.

GROSS SUPERSTITION.—We were not a little astonished to witness a number of young and middle-aged women going round a "holy well," at Loughatalia, on Sunday afternoon, near the railway terminus, walking on their bare feet on a circular walk made of small sharp stones. It was truly pitiable to see the poor creatures, as they proceeded on their work of penance, writhe under the pain inflicted by the stones. On each penitent making a circuit of the well, when they came in front of its entrance, they dropped a bead, and made a very low curtsey.—Galaway (Ireland) Express.

IRISH AND ENGLISH CHILDREN.—A late English paper gives some statistics which show that a larger proportion of Irish children attend school than of English. Thus at the close last year there were in effective operation in Ireland 4,875 national schools, having on their rolls the names of 544,604 pupils; seventy-five other schools capable of accommodating 7,457 pupils, were in progress; so that, at the present moment there are probably somewhat more than 550,000 scholars receiving a sound secular training in the sister island.—Taking the wole population, men, women and children, at six millions, this is a large proportion, much larger, it is believed, than will prove to be the case in England, including schools of all shades of opinion and degrees of excellence.

NORTHERN FARMERS IN VIRGINIA.—Mr. R. C. Farnsworth, of Stockbridge, in this county, has recently purchased a farm in Alexandria county, Virginia, three miles from Washington city. He this week took his departure, with his family, for his new home. He represents that that portion of Virginia is fast filling up with northern men, and that lands are steadily and rapidly on the rise. Freedom and free labor will yet make an Eden of the "Old Dominion," so bounteously favored with a naturally fertile soil, and a genial climate.—Oneida (N. Y.) Telegraph.

There is a theory of government. The true field for all such speculations lie among the facts of each special case. The true form of the inquiry is not what are the rules on which to administer all the governments upon earth, present and to come, but it assumes the shape of this problem—given the character, manners, history, locality, substance and accidents of a people, what sort of government will suit them best? We defy any philosopher to make any more of the science of politics than this.—Boston Courier

LIQUOR AT THE BROOKLN NAVY YARD.—It is said that attempts are frequently made to carry liquor secretly on board the receiving ship North Carolina at the Brooklyn Navy Yard. On Friday an Irishman was detected who had a bladder filled with liquor in the cap on his head, and two bladders in each of his large boots. The liquor was thrown into the water and the man prohibited from attempting to again set his foot upon the vessel.

INDIAN RESERVATIONS.—The Commissioner of Indian Affairs had, up to the 17th ult., visited the Shawnees, Delawares and Kikapoos, and ascertained that the two former tribes are willing to sell a portion of their reservations, and the latter the whole of theirs. He had been in council with the Owaos, Otteas, and Missourians, and has probably proposed to buy out for the government their claim to ten millions acres which they hold.

The Newark (N. J.) Mercury states that single women who were freeholders, voted in that State as late as the year 1800. In a newspaper of that date is a complimentary editorial to the female voters for unanimously supporting John Adams for President, in opposition to Mr. Jefferson, who was denounced as wanting in religion.

For the first time in the history of the Turks, the walls of Constantinople have been placarded with lithographic notices, calling upon the people to take up arms against the Russians, and reproaching the Ministers for their cowardice in modifying, in place of rejecting, the Vienna note.

THE STATE FAIR.

MANCHESTER, Oct. 5, 1853.

The great New Hampshire Agricultural Fair opened this morning, with a good show of articles for the use of the farmer, mechanic, housewife—in fact almost every article in use in civilized society; and at this time (two o'clock, P. M.) entries of articles for exhibition are still being made. The variety is so large and the contributors so numerous, it is almost impossible to particularize; neither could it be done without injustice to some deserving person.

The entries of Live Stock are fair—though it is said not so large as at previous exhibitions. The show of horses, in particular, is but ordinary; the best are owned by D. M. Tagget, of Goffstown, who has on the ground several very handsome Morgan colts.

The Cattle are ordinary; the handsomest animal on the ground being a cow, entered by Wm. Shepard of Manchester—a Durham short horn, four years old, and weighing about 1500 pounds.

The premiums awarded for cattle, young stock in particular, cannot give a fair idea of the value of the competing animals, as the best calves from 6 to 18 months old, have been allowed to run with the cows, and of course present a better appearance than a weaned animal of the same age.

The display of sheep and hogs is good, though we noticed none remarkable; the favorite breed appears to be the Suffolk.

The bulk of the Exhibition is under a long shed, open from the eaves about six feet down, for the admittance of light, and is quite extensive. Here may be found almost every article, from an apple peeler to the plow and winnowing machine—from the smallest article of embroidery to the daguerreotype and splendid crayon.

From Rockingham County the entries are but few. From Portsmouth we notice a variety of fruit by A. W. Haven, Esq., which as a whole is the best, though not so great a variety as that contributed by Mr. C. F. Putnam, of Salem, Mass. Mr. Haven contributed the following varieties of Pears:—Easter Beurre, Bury Diel, Duchess d'Angoulême, Delicis d'Handenpont, Vicar of Wakefield, Echassery, Seckle, Flemish Beauty, Wobaniste, Uzedale, St. Germain, Gansel's Bergamot, Napoleon, Louis Bonne de Jersey, Winter Nelis, Dix, Passe Colmar, French Pear, unknown.

Thos. Goldsmith of Dover, exhibited four beautiful Bartlett pears, the largest of which weighed over a pound, the four averaging about one pound each.

The best plate of Peaches was by F. A. Harradan, of Concord, from a native tree.

The show of Vegetables was large and fine.

Many beautiful Crayons were on exhibition, but none compare in design, boldness of execution, and fineness of finish, with the eight colored specimens exhibited by Mr. Thomas P. Moses, of Portsmouth, and he will undoubtedly receive the highest premium on those articles. His specimens are a copy of Cole's "Youth" in the Voyage of Life, a copy of Sparks's full length portrait of Washington in middle life, a Portrait of the exhibitor, a copy of a female head, and several original fancy Landscapes.

The judges for the distribution of premiums are now in session, and after organization will proceed to the execution of their respective duties. Their awards will be made public on Friday.

The committee of arrangements have performed their duty in a most acceptable manner, and to them the press owe their acknowledgements. The "press gang" have at their control a commodious room, well supplied with conveniences for literary operations, and also a sufficiency for the inner man,—so that, in the words of the Mirror, they are not obliged to "live by faith alone."

The Exhibition as a whole, will compare favorably with the three previous ones, and the attendance of strangers is quite as large as ever before on the first day. G.

MANCHESTER, Oct. 6th.

The Judge this morning, examined the various articles in their respective departments, and some informal reports have been made; among them was a premium to A. W. Haven, Esq. of Portsmouth, for pears, which he declined.

The business of the first day was remarkably good, $2000 being taken for entrance tickets to the grounds, and as fees of Membership to the Agricultural Society.

There are a few articles from our section of the State, which we overlooked yesterday, from Portsmouth: the Steam Factory sends a piece of Lawn, and a piece of Organde—both of a very beautiful texture; Rev Dr. Burroughs exhibits the largest squash in the building, weighing 84 lbs.

J. H. Dimon of Stratham contributed a splendid pyramidical boquet, 2ft high, base 2ft. in diameter.

Abraham Folsom of Dover exhibited specimens of Painted Carpeting—very beautiful. The productions of his factory are well known to the trade, and compare favorably with the manufacture of other establishmets.

Mr. Chas. Emerson, the well known bird fancier of Dover, exhibited a coop of fine Hens. The collection of the feathered tribe is not large, but very good as to quality.

The grand exhibition of the day was the parade of the City Engine companies, with several from other towns. These, with the City Guards, and their guests—the Hale Guards from Haverhill, Mass., form the escort to the procession. The Hale Guards are a fine body of men, 65 in number—one entire section of whom is made up of men measuring 6 feet 4 inches. Last evening the City Guards, Capt. Bruce, gave a Levee to the guests in their armory. Our thanks are due to Capt. Bruce for an invitation.

The most energetic of the board of Managers of the Fair, is Hon. Frederick Smythe, the Treasurer of the Society. He is quite a young man, but whether as Treasurer of the Society, or Mayor of the City, he shows the same agreeable, enterprising, go-ahead Yankee disposition, which accomplishes wonders.

Hon. Edward Everett arrived this forenoon, s and will address the public thisafternoon.

The number of spectators to-day is much larger than yesterday, and the receipts by the Society will probably be nearly doubled. G.

☞ Forester's Boys' and Girls' Magazine for October, is received from the publishers, F. & G. C. Rand, 7 Cornhill, Boston. Mr. Morse has it. $100 per year, 10 cts. per single monthly number.

FIREMAN'S MUSTER.—The firemen of Newburyport raised quite a breeze in that city on Wednesday, by a trial of their eight Engines. Three of the six engines which appeared in conformity with the arrangements, were disabled, and many joints of hose were found of not sufficient strength to stand the presure. The day was very unfavorable, owning to the strong wind which blew in violent squalls. The rules adopted allowed each company to play twice on height, on the spire of the Green street Baptist Church; and once, on distance, down Green street,—each tub drafting and playing through 400 feet of hose.

No. 1, first trial attained a height of 118 1-2 feet, and at this point burst air vessel and withdrew.

No. 3, first trial 105 feet; 2d, 109 feet; distance 166 1-2 feet.

No. 5, on first trial broke plunger rod and burst air vessel, and withdrew.

No. 6, first trial reached 88 feet, and at this point broke hose; 2d trial reached 86 feet and broke plunger rod, and withdrew.

No. 1, first trial 102 feet; 2d do. 118 feet; distance 168 1-2 feet.

No. 8, first trial 80 feet; 2d do. 121 feet; distance 160 feet.

In the excitement, a young man named Edward Reed, stumbled and fell over a stake: an engine was rapidly turning a corner, and both wheels passed over his chest, breaking some of his ribs and otherwise dangerously injuring him.

A FRATERNAL DIALOGUE.—The Boston Post says "That the Judge (Bishop) considers the (Maine) law injudicious and prejudicial to the cause of temperance, we have good evidence—he is opposed to all sumptuary laws, as every consistent Democrat must be."

To this the Boston Chronicle replies, "Why were there not consistent democrats enough at the Worcester Convention to say so? It is possible Judge Bishop may be privately opposed to the law—so was Governor Clifford last year—but of what benefit is that circumstance to the repealers?"

And a bystander chimes in, and says, No, no, name sake, "it wont do." No Democrat will answer unless he labels himself a "Brandy Democrat" like Dr. Bradford Wales.—By the way, we never heard the Dr. drank brandy, and don't quite believe it now.

JAPAN—RUSSIA—HOLLAND.

With reference to the American Japan expidition, we find the following from the Weser Gazette;—"It is stated that the Russian government has resolved to resist the attempts of the Americans against Japan, and that the Russian squadron which recently sailed for those seas was intended for that purpose.—The Russian government has sent for Professor Siebold, who resides on the bank of the Rhine, to obtain from him every information relative to Japan, and as to the best means to be adopted to defeat the attempts of the United States. M. Siebold is well acquainted with Japan, having resided there many years.—The Dutch government is said to be pleased with this determination of the cabinet of St. Petersburg, as the Americans also threaten the Dutch Archipelago, and as, moreover, the English express themselves in favor of the American, and have lately begun to throw discredit on the Dutch rule in the East Indies."

We give this as we find it—but do not rely upon its statements. We have no idea that the Weser Gazette knows any more about the matter than the papers in this country, i. e. nothing at all.

Charles Backhouse, a victim of delirium tremens, was eaten by hogs in Troy, Ohio; nothing left of him but the biggest bones.

☞ A schooner of 160 tons just launched at Newport, R. I., is called the 'Fanny Fern.'

LOCAL.

CITY COUNCIL.

MAYOR AND ALDERMEN, October 6th.—A request for a gas light, corner of Fleet and State streets, was granted.

A request from J. W. & H. M. Grant, to remodel their two stalls in the Brick Market—granted under the direction of the com. on buildings.

The committee on Fire Engines reported that they had contracted with Messrs. Hunnewell of Boston, for two engines, to be delivered in November, at the expense of $1549.

Ira Haselton, Esq. appeared before the Board, and stated that the Chief Justice had cited him to appear at Manchester, on the 15th inst. to show cause why an injunction should not issue against the building of his foundry near the Sagamore Mill. Mr. H. contended that the statements of the petitioners, on which they reqnired the injunction, were not correct, and requested the City Council to give him liberty to proceed with his works.—Laid on the table.

A petition was sent in from a family, asking the aid and protection of the city council, to secure their maintenance and safety, which they allege are neglected and jeopardized by its legal head. Accompanying this petn. was a request, signed by a number of citizens, approving of said petition. Received and laid on the table.

The Common Council met at the proper hour, but as there was no quorum, and no business to come up if there had been a quorum, it was thought best to adjourn.

☞ Company K, 3d Art. U. S. A., left us yesterday. With their new uniforms and everything about them bright and fresh, they looked finely. Parting with them is like bidding farewell to old friends. G.

RUMORS.—Messrs. Editors:—The Railroad ramors on 'Change, in Thursday's paper, seem altogether too good to be true. It is incredible that the Eastern Railroad has leased the Portsmouth, Dover and Great Falls Railroad, which has not yet been commenced, and for which, as yet, only a small portion of the stock has been subscribed. And it is rather too much to expect, that the rails from this port to the Weirs, are to be laid very soon on that foundation. We would wish the rumers true: but we see no sign of such good fortune quite now. A. B.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE,

ROCKINGHAM COUNTY.

The Fall Session of this Institute will be held in the VESTRY of the 1st Congregational Church in EXETER. The exercises will commence on MONDAY, Oct. 31st, at 10 o'clock A. M., and close on Saturday, November 5th. The usual hours for commencing will be half past 8 o'clock in the morning, and 2 and 7 o'clock P. M.

The services of the following eminent instructors are engaged:

Prof. DANA P. COLBURN, in Arithmetic and Geography,
Prof. J. G. HOYT, in Algebra;
" S. S. GREEN, of Brown University, in Grammar;
Prof. T. J. WHITTAKER, in Drawing and Penmanship;
DANIEL BARNARD, Esq., in reading;
JAMES W. CLARK, in Music;
CALVIN CUTTER, M. D., in Physiology and Hygiene.

There will be a lecture on Monday Evening, by Rev. ASA MANN, of Exeter. The other evenings will be occupied by Lectures of a general character, by some of the Instructors, on subjects connected with their respective departments.

Each member of the Institute is requested to have present a Bible, Dictionary, Russell's School Reader or Town's Fourth Reader, and a small Blank-book; and to have his or her full name and residence written on a slip of paper or card, ready to hand to the Committe of Reception, on entering the Institute, so as to expedite the organization. Arrangements will be made for commodious boarding places, at reasonable rates.

Committee of Arrangements, Visitation and Report: Rev. A. MANN; WM. G. PERRY, M.D., C. F. GERRY, A. B., and E. G. DALTON, A. M.

Arrangements have been made to render the institute every way worthy of the hearty support of the Teachers of the County. The interests of our Common Schools demand such a support. It is therefore earnestly desired that every resident teacher of the County, and those residing in other counties who propose to teach in this, young and old,—the patriarchs of the profession, as well as the fresh candidates for its hard earned honors, should be present at the opening of the Institute, and continue to its close.

Prudential Committees are respectfully requested to defer the commencement of the Winter Schools so far as to allow the Teachers to attend the Institute; and it is hoped that they will encourage their attendance. And the Commissioner invites the attendance of Superintending and Prudential Committees and parents, of the older pupils in our Schools, and of the friends of our Common Schools generally, upon the Institute.

☞ The Committees and other citizens, who receive circulars, are requested to see that they are suitably distributed through their towns, and posted up in the most public places.

EXETER, Oct. 4th, 1853. A. H. HOYT,
School Commissioner for Rockingham County.

☞ The Ocean Steam Mills, in Newburyport, have declared a semi-annual dividend of 5 per cent, payable Oct. 6, making 9 per cent. for the year, and an average of about 3 1-2 per cent. per annum for the six years the mill has been in operation.

☞ The funeral of Hon. Samuel H. Ayer, whose death has been announced, took place on Thursday afternoon, at the Unitarian Church in Manchester. After the close of the services his body was conveyed to Concord for interment.

Anson, Bangs & Co., of Pendleton, S. C., have advertised for 3000 laborers to work on the line of the railroad from Clayton, in Rabun county, Geogia, to its eastern terminus in Carolina.

Governor Gorman, of Minnesota, has given Agent Murphy postive instructions to destroy all intoxicating liquors found for sale in the Indian country.

There were 398 arrivals of vessels at Hyannis for three months ending Sept. 30.

The aspect of the Turkish difficulty is more threatening than ever. The Turks are roused to the highest pitch of fanaticism, and even call on the Sultan to declare war or abdicate his throne.

Meantime the great European powers are endeavoring to induce the Sultan to accept the Vienna note, but Austria shows symptoms of backing out of the alliance with France and England, and siding with Russia.

LIVES LOST.—Buffalo, Oct. 5.—The schooner Onedia was lost yesterday; she was owned by Capt. W. Allen, who was drowned in her. She was run down by some steamer bound up, and sunk in fifteen minutes. All hands were lost except the cook, who clung to the mast till he was rescued last evening by the lifeboat, having been in his perilous position twenty-four hours through the terrific gale. The number drowned is four, including the captain. The vessel and cargo are insured for $12,000.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.—Buffalo Oct. 5.—At about 2 o'clock this morning a fire broke out in Evans street, Five Points, and burned down over 100 buildings, lately erected on the burnt district. The wind blew with such fury, that before the engines reached the spot nearly a dozen buildings were in flames. Some four or five acres of ground was covered over by the flames, inclucing the whole locality called the Five Points.

SHIP DEFIANCE.

Extract from a letter from a young man on board a Portsmouth ship at Chincha Islands, September 3, 1853:

"About three weeks ago some men belonging to the Defiance, Capt. McCerren, killed a pelican, which is contrary to the harbor regulations, and a fixed fine is the penalty. The Commandante, Senor Cerates, took these men and put them in irons, aboard the hulk, (the old Nestor;) then Capt. McC. sent his mate with the fine, which Cerates refused to take, whereupon McC. went himself to the hulk, and being rather abusive, Cerates tells him either to clear out or he will put him in irons also, and McC. left.

The next day, McC. called a meeting of the American masters, to consult with them as to what it was best to do, and they decided to go together to Cerates and ask the reason why he would not take the fine, and let the men go. When the Captains, (some twenty) arrived at the hulk, Cerates was not there, but was sent for at the Island, and soon came.—When he came on deck and saw the Captains standing there, without hearing a word from one of them, he ordered 50 or 60 soldiers with loaded muskets to charge bayonets on them, which they did, and drove them into the gangway. Several of them were pricked with the bayonets, some were pushed overboard, and some jumped, but they all managed to get into the boats and get away. The Captains then met and appointed four of their number to go to Lima, and represent the case to the U. S. Minister.

The Sunday following, down came a Peruvian war steamer filled with soldiers, a French man-of-war brig, and the English frigate Portland. When Admiral Burseley, of the Portland, heard what had transpired, he said he would act in the case the same as if English Captains had been insulted, or as though he was an American. He requested Senor Cerates to meet the Americans on board the frigate, but he would not meet them, although he acknowledged to the Admiral that he did as they said; and would make no apology.—The English sloop-of-war Dido came here a few days after, and after some further parley both sailed, and also the Frenchman.

Everything remained about the same until yesterday, when the Defiance got under way. It is the custom here for the Captains to lend one another a hand to get away, and leave him only when the ship is fairly on her way and all right. In accordance with this plan, our boat went to the Defiance, Mr. S. being in charge of her. Capt. McC., contrary to the harbor regulations, fired a cannon as soon as he started, and loaded another with grape shot to receive the guard boats when they came for the fine. He also had six musketa loaded on the poop, and carried his cutlass. Two guard boats came up presently, loaded with soldiers armed to the teeth. Capt. McC.'s friends there, who had advised him not to fire the cannon, now advised him to pay the fine and let the officer go; but he told them he was master of his own ship,and wanted no advice.

However he paid the fine, and then shaking his cutlass at the officer, asked him if he meant to force him to pay it. To this the officer made no reply except to ask McC. what he meant by force. McC. repeated it. The officer then called his men out of the boats, charged and fired. Our boat was ahead towing, but Mr. S. was on deck. Capt. McC. was shot through the neck and cut in several places; a Peruvian and a boy were also shot; one bullet passed between two of our men in the boat, and cut away their painter. Capt. McC. was bound hand and foot, and thrown into the boat, and carried to the Hulk; the American Flag was hauled down, and the Peruvian hoisted in its stead.

Capt. McCormick, late of the Greenpoint, who was aboard the Defiance as pilot, was left in charge by the Peruvians. McC. is still on board the Hulk, but they will let no one see him except his son Robert, a fine little fellow about twelve years of age. I understand his ship is to be sent to Callao under Peruvian officers, and himself to Lima in irons, if he lives.

MR. S. GILBERT, Ear Sir—

Having been afflicted with a diseased Liver, attended with pain in the side, I was advised by a friend to try your Extract Polypodium, and am happy to inform you that it has not only cured me of the above disease, but it also relieved me of a Chronic Diarrhea which I contracted in the war with Mexico, to cure which I had tried the popular remedies of the day to no effect. I can cheerfully recommend it to the public as the best medicine for the above complaint of which I have any knowledge. I have also proved it to be an invaluable purifier of the blood.

Respectfully yours. WM. H. FRANKLIN

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

A Big Apple.—The Portland "State of Maine" has in its office an apple raised in the town of Norway, Me., by Isaac A. Dennison, that is bigger, according to all accounts, than the one Eve picked in the garden of Eden. This apple measures 14 inches over the poles and 14 1-2 on its equatorial line, and its weight is 18 1-2 ounces. Can this be beat?

Bay State Stoves.

THE Subscriber would inform his friends and the public, that he has for sale all sizes of this favorite Stove. Having sold them in this city for five years past, they have been thoroughly tested with wood and coal, and are found perfect in every respect.

Those put in operation four and five years since have had no repairs made upon them, and are to all appearance as good as ever. So great is the popularity of these Stoves, that many imitations of it are put into the market, such as the Granite State, Empire State, &c.; but none of them are equal to it in weight or quality of castings, cooking facilities, or economy of fuel.

To all who are in want of a GOOD Cooking Stove, we would say—buy a BAY STATE, and you are sure to get THE BEST STOVE IN THE WORLD.

The subscriber has for sale, also, a variety of other Cook Stoves, Cooking Ranges, Parlor Grates, Office and Parlor Stoves, Funnel, &c. for sale low for cash. E. A. STEVENS,

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S

Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricophorous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 950,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricophorous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that before this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Depot and manufactory, No. 137 Broadway, New York. Retail price 25 cents a large bottle.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity. And by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&wtm 1e29

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travel'd many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as Nature's Kindest Remedy for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

it probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner,—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

DR. HAMPTON'S

VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the best family medicine in use, and is warranted free from all mineral substances. By its mild action on the Stomach, Liver and Kidneys, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

Mayor's Office, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. K. Stapleton, William A. Schaeffer, G. Dowan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

JNO. H. T. JEROME.

A Voice from the Birth-place of Christopher Columbus, the Discoverer of America.

U. S. Ship Cumberland,
Genoa, Sardinia, January 17, 1853.

Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray—Gentlemen: The first Lieutenant of this ship, who has been suffering many years from the Dyspepsia, and who has been nearly restored to his usual health by the use of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," desires you to send him one dozen bottles of that medicine.

Lieutenant—one of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezzia.

The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of Dyspepsia.

I am respectfully yours,

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered. Consumption can be cured! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption; and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box.

A PROPOSITION.

The following paragraph is from an article in the last number of the North American Review:

"Slavery, therefore, exists rightfully in the South. No rights of the negro are violated when he is made a slave. His right, like that of all men, is, to be governed for his own benefit. Some even go so far as to maintain that a social condition, founded on the same principle, and modified to suit different circumstances, a relation more strict than that of master and apprentice, and less severe and permanent than that of slavery, might, with equal justice and much advantage, be introduced into some of the Northern States, in relation not only to negroes, but to the SWARMS OF EMIGRANTS who crowd our shores."

The Boston Times calls this, "a whig proposition to sell Irish and German emigrants to the United States into slavery!" and says:

"Here is a distinct avowal of a desire to have "the swarms of emigrants," most of whom are Irish people, or Germans, sold into slavery, emanating from the highest literary whig organ in the country! Why do we call it a whig proposition? Because it proceeds from Francis Bowen, editor of the North American Review, who, having been turned out of the office of Professor of History in Harvard University, by the coalition, for his lies and misrepresentations about the patriots of Hungary, was made Professor of Moral Philosophy in same institution, by the whigs. In the Constitutional Convention, Mr. Hillard, one of the best and ablest whigs in New England, spoke warmly of Mr. Bowen having been a victim of the coalition, which was true, and if the coalition could get another blow at him, they would not leave a shadow of him in the land.

The Boston Courier, the organ of the ultra venomous whig fogies, as the Advertiser is of the slow fogies, has always been a defender of Mr. Bowen, and has censured the coalition for not allowing him to murder history at Harvard. Finally, Mr. Bowen is notoriously a whig, always voting the whig ticket, and in other ways supporting the whig party. Let it be recollected that this Whig writer, in a Whig periodical, proposes to have the thousands of European emigrants who annually arrive in the Northern States sold into slavery, and to make the same disposition of our free colored population, most of whom are among the most orderly and best behaved of our people.

We need not say to our constant readers, that we have little sympathy with the extract from the North American Review. The theory of government there broached, is precisely that of George the Third and his Ministers which brought on our Revolution, and of the tories of that day in this country.

The remarks of the Times have the appearance of an ad captandum appeal to Irish and German voters, to the abolitionists and "our free colored population," against the whigs.

There is to be an election in Massachusetts in six weeks or so, and this is in part the preparation for that important crisis.

Were it not for this circumstance, we are doubtful whether the Times would have complimented our colored people so highly as to say, Most of them are among the most orderly and best behaved of our people. Nevertheless, the testimony is very important. We put in on file.

But we must have one word more, of criticism. The Times evidently uses the word proposition, in the sense of a proposal, and not merely a suggestion. The use of the word desire, in nearly the same connection, settles that. But the editor of the Times cannot be such a greenhorn as to believe that Professor Bowen or any body else, seriously proposes or hopes to do any such thing—and still less can he believe that any party would make a move at once so absurd and so self destructive.

As an abstract proposition, I may, if I please, suggest the idea of separating Church and State, in Great Britain; but if I seriously propose the measure, and send my desire across the Atlantic, the English papers will laugh at me. And on the other hand if they choose to consider my mere suggestion a proposal and a desire, and to call me hard names in consequence, I shall laugh at them.

As we look at it, the whig party would be about as responsible for this proposition, as they now are for that of Prof. Bowen, or whoever wrote the article in the North American Review; that is, not at all.

ARREST.—Philadelphia, Oct. 5.—The U. S. Marshals, Crossian and Jenkins, had warrants of arrest served upon them yesterday, on a charge of riot, and assault and battery upon Bill Thomas, a fugitive slave, arrested at Wilkesbarre. They were brought up on a writ of habeas corpus this morning, before Judge Grier of the Circuit Court, when District Attorney Ashmead asked for their discharge on the ground that no more force was used than necessary, the fugitives being armed. The Judge said: If writs of habeas corpus are to be taken out after this manner, I will have an indictment sent to the Grand Jury against the person who applies for the writ, or assists in getting it; the lawyer who defends it, and the sheriff who serves it, —to see whether the United States officers are to be arrested and harrassed whenever they attempt to serve a process. David Paul Brown, counsel for the Abolition Society, asked for one week's delay, in order to procure witnesses, which was granted.

The above telegraphic report appears in this form in several Boston papers. We think there is an error in it. Judge Grier could not mean to cut up his own friends, who brought the writ of habeas corpus. His threats must have been intended for the abolitionists, who procured the warrants of arrest on the Marshals for alleged cruelty and brutality in making the arrest of Bill Thomas. We hope somebody will give us an intelligible report of the evidence in the case, when it comes off.

It may be worth while to mention, that this is the case of which Secetary McClelland says "the Department and the Government are determined, at all hazards, and at any cost to carry out the fugitive slave law." This statement will give the case more than ordinary interest.

U. S. FLEET AT CHINA.—The North China Herald, of July 9th, says: Information has reached us privately, that while the United States fleet were in the neighborhood of Napican, (Napakian,) the Susquehannah and Sartoga went on a cruise eastward, and touched at several beautiful islands, where they distributed live stock. They also touched at an island named Boncan. To their surprise they found a few European residents, consisting of English, Scotch, Irish and Spanish, who had left whalers, and established themselves there. Among them there were about eleven women. The Governor is a Scotchman. He claims the island as his own, and has been settled there about twenty years.

The Commodore has made a purchase of a piece of land containing about ten acres, for fifty dollars. It is a good situation, on one of the best sites fo the harbor, and is intended for the government coal depot.

The Russi n frigate Callus, and a Russian brig-of-war, immediately followed the American squadron.

RELIGIOUS WARS.

It is worthy of remark that most of the actual and apprehended wars at the present time, are of the nature of religious crusades. In China, the Rebels quote scripture, reprint the decalogue, call themselves Christians, deem themselves favorites of Heaven, and march to battle with the idea that their slain are martyrs bound to bliss, and that victory belongs to their party by divine right. Of their opponents we know less, but it is easy and natural to suppose that the old established priesthood, with the nobility and dignitaries generally, would oppose with all their might the blood thirsty fanatical rebels, who conspire at once to overturn church and state.

The Emperor of Russia, dispensing with Patriarchs in the Greek Church, plants himself in its chair as ruler of the faithful and defender of the faith. He goes out to rescue or demand the Holy Sepulchre from the Infidel Turks, and in his rallying cry to his troops, bids them go into battle, and strike, if need be, in the name of the God of the Russians, which they may do with the fanatical and foolish idea that as they do his bidding they serve God and merit salvation. The Mohammedan, in his turn, pastes placards on the walls of Constantinople, urging the followers of the great Prophet to defend their altars as well as their homes.

The Pope is not now in a civil war; but his present peace and power were created and are preserved by a military force, not of native Romans, but of foreigners who keep the Romans down, and prevent them from hissing out and driving away the papal power from among them.

And in looking at causes of disquiet in this country, the Mormon military fanatics, and the organized military companies of foreigners, which we have before noticed as being of one sect, seem to indicate that much of what goes by the name of religion, fits men to be proud, contentious, vindictive and hateful.

It is doubtful, indeed, if rancor enough on grounds merely political or economical, could be produced among the nations, to maintain a long war, without some mixture of superstition or fanaticism. The latter go into the cauldron, and make the compound boil over or explode.

General Convention.—The General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church is now in session in New York City. The meeting commenced on Wednesday morning, at ten o'clock, in Trinity church.—An English prelate, the Right Reverend Doctor Spencer, late Bishop of Madras, is present; together with the venerable John Sinclair, Archdeacon of Middlesex; the Reverend Earnest Hawkins, one of the prebendaries of St. Paul's, London; and the Reverend Henry Caswell, Vicar and Proctor, from the diocess of Salisbury.

The convention is an imposing assemblage, of about thirty prelates and between two and three hundred presbyters and eminent laymen, from all parts of the country. Fifty-five years ago, in 1798, in all the States north of Maryland there were but ninety Protestant Episcopal clergymen; in New York twenty, and in Pennsylvania seventeen. Now there are numbered more than thirty diocesses.—There is a Protestant Episcopal Missionary Bishop in China, and one in Western Africa. In Connecticut there are more than a hundred clergymen; and in Pennsylvania, 150; in Virginia, 120; in Maryland, 120; in Western New York, 130; and in the New York diocese, composed of thirty-one eastern counties of the State, 300 clergymen. The whole number of Protestant Episcopal clergymen in the United States is rapidly approaching 2,000.

Union and Democracy.—In Ohio the gratifying fact is now seen of union on the platform, and the press is rallying the democracy most zealously. The Ohio Statesman remarks—

"No one doubts the result. No one expects anything but a democratic victory. It is admitted by all candid men that the democracy will carry their State ticket and a majority of both branches of the legislature.—Last year the whigs made their last desperate effort as a party against the democracy.—They were scattered into a thousand fragments. Now we meet our opponents arrayed under numerous banners, representing as many isms and schisms as there are black and white stripes upon the zebra. The second Tuesday of October will give the coup de grace—the death-stroke—to such fusionism."

The Boston Post copies this, and adds:

The example of the Ohio and Pennsylvania democracy ought not to be lost on other states. They stand a united party warring against all other parties. This example ought not to be lost on Massachusetts, and we hope the Democrats will rally zealously about Bishop and Dowley.

From these premises, it would be fair to infer that there ought to be neither isms nor schisms among the Democracy of Massachusetts; no stripes of black or white to be seen: but we cannot truly say it is so.

Editorial Correspondence of the Chronicle.

NEW HAMPSHIRE STATE FAIR.

Manchester, Sept. 7.

On Thursday, being the great day of the fair, the attendance was very large. At eleven o'clock a grand procession was formed at the City Hall, and moved to the exhibition ground, where Mr. Woodbury, the President, called the company to order, and the Amphions opened the services by a song, entitled "the soil."

Hon. B. P. Johnson, at New York, delivered the Address, which is highly spoken of, as able, and pertinent to the occasion.

Mr. Everett followed, in a brief address, of which we have only room for the following paragraphs:

Speaking of New Hampshire, he says:

On your western boundary you have the noble Connecticut, queen of the rivers of New England; bordered by a line of railroad almost from your northernmost limit to Long Island Sound, giving you a broad belt of fertile land on its banks, and giving you a direct communication with the great commercial metropolis of the Union. The railroads which traverse the centre of the State, and that which is just opened from Portland to Montreal, through your northeastern territory, place you in immediate communication with the St. Lawrence and Canada. At the mouth of the Piscataqua you have one of the best ports and harbors in the United States; and where in the world, for its length, is there a stream which excels this admirable Merrimac?—whether we consider the beautiful lake in which it takes its origin; the fertile meadows that are watered with its upper tributaries; or the industry, enterprise, and creative capital concentrated at its falls; Hooksett, Manchester, Lowell, Lawrence, the four great flights of stairs, by which the genius of your prosperity goes down from his mountain throne to the sea, scattering blessings as he descends. Why, sir, there is not a streamlet which leaps from the rocks and mingles its waters with the silver surface of your matchless lake; no, not a drop of dew condensed in the dark forests that surround it, that can find its way to the ocean, till it has contributed its share to move, one after another, fifty water-wheels, and by the products of their motion, to clothe hundreds of thousands of men in remote communities, and give an impulse to the commerce of the world.

And then, sir, for natural beauty. I have been something of a traveller in our own country,—though far less than I could wish,—and in Europe have seen all that is most attractive, from the highlands of Scotland to the golden horn of Constantinople; from the summit of the Hartz Mountains, to the fountain of Vaucluse; but my eye has yet to rest on a lovelier scene than that which smiles around you as you sail from Weir's Landing to Centre Harbor. I have yet to behold a sublimer spectacle, than that which is disclosed upon Mount Washington, when, on some clear, cool summer's morning at sunrise, the cloud curtain is drawn up from nature's grand proscenium, and all that chaos of wildness and beauty starts into life, the bare granite tops of the surrounding heights—the precipitous gorges a thousand fathoms deep, which foot of man or ray of light never entered—the sombre matted forest—the moss-clad rocky wall, weeping with crystal springs—winding streams, gleaming lakes, and peaceful villages below,—and in the dim misty distance, beyond the lower hills, faint glimpses of the sacred bosom of the eternal deep, ever-heaving, as with the consciousness of its own immensity,—all mingled in one indescribable panorama by the hand of the Divine Artist.

And can I speak of the historical legends—of her industrial resources—of her natural beauties—of New Hampshire, parent not of fruits only, but of men—without remembering the great and good who adorn her annals—her immortal Stark, who cheered the heart of the nation at the lowest ebb of despondency, and led the way at Bennington to the triumphs of Saratoga—your Sullivan, your Poor, your Scammel, your Dearborn, your McCleary, your Pierce—who from Bunker Hill to Yorktown heard every peal of the trumpet, and breasted every storm of war—the long line of your civilians—your Bartletts, your Whipples, your Thurstons, your Langdons, your Gilmans, your Smiths, your Masons, your Woodburys—your men of letters divines, your Wheelocks, your Belknaps, your Buckminsters, your Abbots? How, especially, can I forget him, whose deecase not yet a twelvemonth ago, filled the whole land with sorrow, while, in the sublime language of your fellow citizen, the President of the United States, "the great heart of the nation beat heavily at the portals of his tomb." He was the offspring of your toil, he and his fathers. His infancy was cradled in the hardships of your frontier settlements; he was taught and trained in your schools and your college. You sent him forth in the panoply of his youthful strength, to the service of his country, and after the labors and the conflicts of life, you rose up as one man to welcome him, when but two years ago, on this anniversary; he came back, melting with tenderness and veneration, to revisit his native State.

As was stated in our last letter, informal reports were made by several of the committees, last evening, from which we copy the following awards for the best articles in their several departments.

A meeting of the members of the Society was held in the City Hall, at half past 7 o'clock last evening, when the following report was presented by the committee appointed to nominate officers of the Society for 1853-4, and unanimously accepted:

Defining his Position.—The Boston correspondent of the New York Evening Post, in alluding to the Gubernatorial nominee of the National Democrats in Massachusetts, says:

Mr. Wales is well known in the state, though some misapprehensions exist as to his position. He has been supposed to be a "rum democrat," but he disclaims this title. Some one said to him the other day: Mr. Wales, I believe you are a rum democrat. "Brandy, sir, brandy," said the doctor, correcting him.

TERRIBLE EXPLOSION.—On Tuesday morning, about ten o'clock, a gas manufactory in Mercer street was completely demolished by the explosion of the reservoir containing gas. This apparatus was established by a company in this city as an experiment. The St. Nicholas hotel had been lighted by it for two weeks, and the agreement was, that after a successful trial of three months, the new gas arrangment would be adopted. The explosion carried away a portion of the stables, damaged carriages, &c., and the water works connected with the apparatus being also disturbed, caused quite an overflow. The water, amounting to about 300 tons, rushed like a cataract through the stables and cellars of the neighboring houses, and occasioned considerable damage. Two men who were engaged in the stables at the time had to swim to save themselves.—The gas which escaped was very offensive and injurious, but fortunately no one was injured by it, or by the explosion or falling of the walls. The entire damage by this explosion was supposed to have been upwards of $8,000. The accident was supposed to have been caused by the pressure of gas against the reservoir, which was not sufficiently strong.—New York Courier.

HEAVENLY CHARITY.—The donations which have been made throughout the United States, to alleviate the sufferings of the unfortunate persons in our Southern cities who have been attacked by yellow fever, and to aid the many destitute widows and orphans which the epidemic has left on the borders of its destructive course, amount to upwards of three hundred thousand dollars, divided as follows:

N. Orleans	$247,743	Vicksburg	$4,000
Mobile	32,646	Houston	1,700
Galveston	5,780	Other towns	10,000
		Total	$301,939

PURSUIT OF A SEAT UNDER DIFFICULTIES.—At Ole Bull's concert, on Thursday evening, we are informed that a middle aged lady, we beg her pardon, we should rather say, a lady of no particular age, attended by some younger ones, came in early and took good seats. They were soon driven from it by its ticketed owners, so they vacated and occupied another. From this they were likewise driven, as they were from a third. There were no white-rosetted ushers, as were promised in the programme, and the audience began to be anxious, when the lady very coolly ascended the stage, drew three chairs over the foot lights, and seated her party in a convenient place.—At this summary mode of settling the doubtful proprietorship of seats, the audience gave the lady three cheers, and she very composedly arose and acknowledged the compliment with a courtesy. She deserves to be the next President of the Woman's Rights' convention.—Hartford Courant.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 6.—New Orleans papers of the 30th are received. The ravages of the yellow fever in the interior were awful. At Lake Providence, out of ninety inhabitants, sixty had died.

SAVANNAH, Oct. 5.—Georgia Election.—In forty-nine counties, Jenkins, Union Whig, for Governor, gains 500, and is probably elected. [Rather doubtful.]

LIQUOR DEALERS.—Upwards of 200 unlicensed dealers in liquor were fined yesterday in New York city, from $10 to $50 each, and 11 of the offenders were sentenced to short terms of imprisonment in the penitentiary in addition. Judge Beebe notified them that a repetition of the offence would subject them to the utmost severity of the law.

WITNESS FEES.—The fees of the witnesses subpœnaed in the Jerry Rescue Trial—which has been postponed on account of the absence of "Jerry's" reputed owner, amounting to $834,30. Four of the witnesses each charged for 1200 miles travel, and two for 2518 miles.—Albany Eve. Journal.

This may be sport to the witnesses, but not so to the accused, one of whom has been called to Court more than half a dozen times, but not yet tried. For this great cost and trouble, he has probably no remedy at law: and as for gospel it will hardly do to mention it in this connexion.

The $1000 which the king of Johanna paid for imprisoning Capt. Mooers, a New Bedford shipmaster, has been paid by the state department to Capt. M.'s wife. The Journal truly remarks that the forcing of this redress from the aforesaid king, is one instance in which Mr. Fillmore's administration protected the rights of an American. It is not impertinent, however, to remark that the money has just been paid by the present secretary of state.—Boston Post.

We are very much pleased with the pertinent remark of the Post; and hope to make a similar one, when the same Secretary, next spring, shall pay over five or ten millions of dollars to the widows, orphans and aged, who hold the Old French Claims.

John Fisher, Esq., cashier of the Bank of Westminster, Md., on Thursday last, liberated four of his slaves and gave them an outfit of nearly $1000. They moved to the neighborhood of Hanover, Pa., where, it is said, they have purchased land. Mr. Fisher has but two slaves left, and they have positively refused to take their free papers and leave for the free States, begging their master to let them stay with him. They were all very valuable negroes.

We copy the above from the Boston Times, in the hope that such of our readers, if we have any such, as suppose no good men are found among slaveholders, may read, and see their error. Others too, may read it with profit, and learn that good masters are worthy of good servants, and often make them valuable and good, by good management, kindness, and good example. This is truly a bright and glowing page for the new version of Uncle Tom, of which "the papers" sometimes talk.

There is no use in Talking!

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirit, with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during childhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and comfortable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

It is very of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,
PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.

One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.
[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]

First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title-page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be Ignorant.

☞ On receipt of One Dollar (for the fine Edition, extra binding,) "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION" is sent (mailed free) to any part of the United States. All letters must be post-paid, and addressed to Dr. A. M. MAURICEAU, Box 129, New York City. Publishing Office, No. 129 Liberty Street, New York.

ITALY.—A letter from Rome of August 31, in the Augsburg Gazette, says:

"It is officially confirmed that the Govenor of Terni has been the victim of popular fury. The increasing dearness of bread has produced great uneasiness in the town. Four persons seized on the govenor and threw him from a window into the street, where the people maltreated him by stuffing his mouth with straw. He died in consequence of the ill treatment which he received. Eight carbineers who hastened to his assistance were obliged to fly from the crowd. A company and a half of infantry have been sent from Rome to Terni, to reestablish tranquility."

THE CHINESE IMMIGRATION.—The immigration of Chinese, which has been interrupted for the last year by the harsh treatment they have experienced in the mines, is reviving somewhat, if we may judge from the numbers who recently reached here. Within the past five days no less than five vessels have arrived from Hong Kong with 450 Chinese passengers. They are beginning to exhibit a desire to establish themselves permanently in our State. Heretofore they have jealously refused their women permission to accompany them, but by one of their last vessels no less than 23 females arrived.—San Francisco paper.

At Cincinnati on Sunday last a woman entered the house in which Murray, the Henrie House barber, was seated with his new wife, and fired two bistol balls through his head, killing him instantly. Both mulattoes, and Murray had promised to marry his murderess. She is a child of the san, "with whom revenge is virtue." Cincinnati papers relate such events as this with sang froid.

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, by quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1862, was within a trifle of 950,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Depot and manufactory, No. 137 Broadway, New York. Retail price 25 cents a large bottle.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w6m jc22*

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom
AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

DR. HAMPTON'S
VEGETABLE TINCTURE!
The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the BEST family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1862.
I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize a gentleman of the first respectability, viz: Jos. K. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Dunan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.
JNO. H. T. JEROME.

A Voice from the Birth-place of Christopher Columbus, the Discoverer of America.

U. S. SHIP CUMBERLAND,
Genoa, Sardinia, January 17, 1853.
Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray—Gentlemen: The first Lieutenant of this ship, who has been suffering many years from the Dyspepsia, and who has been nearly restored to his usual health by the use of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," desires you to send him one dozen bottles of that medicine.
Lieutenant ——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezzia.
The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of DYSPEPSIA.
I am respectfully yours,

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered. Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

N.B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

MIND AND BODY.

Dr. James Johnson, in his essay on "Indigestion," has the follwing excellent remarks on the influence which the condition of the body has on the mind and heart.

Many a happy and lucky thought has sprung from an empty stomach. Many an important undertaking has been ruined by a bit of undigested pickle; many a well-laid scheme has failed in execution from a drop of green bile; many a terrible and merciless edict has gone forth in consequence of an irritated gastric nerve. The character of men's minds has often suffered from temporary derangements of the body; and thus health may make the same man a hero in the field whom dyspepsia may render imbecile in the cabinet.

Dr. Johnson illustrates his subject in the following manner:

I lately saw a gentleman of brilliant talents and prolific genius, who could sit down and write extemporaneously whole pages of superior poetical effusions with scarcely an effort of mind, and who would yet, from a sudden derangement of the digestive organs, be so completely and quickly prostrated in intellectual power as not to be able to write three lines on the most common subject. On a late occasion, when he had merely to communicate an official transaction that required not more than half a dozen lines in the plainest language, he could not put pen to paper, though the attempt was made fifty times in the course of two days. At length he was forced to throw himself into a postchaise and perform a long journey to deliver orally what might have been done in one minute by the pen.

In half an hour after this task was performed, he sat down and wrote an ode descriptive of his own state of nervous irritability, which would not have done discredit to the pen of Byron.

The author of this essay has himself been so enervated by a fit of what is called indigestion as to be utterly incapable of breaking the seal of a letter for twenty-four hours, though to all appearance in good health at this time. Equally astonishing and unaccountable is the degree of timidity, terror, incapacity, or whatever other magic spell it is, which annihilates for a time the whole energy of the mind, and renders the victim of dispepsia afraid of his own shadow, or of things less substantial, if possible, than shadows.

Again he says:

"It is under the influence of such paroxysms as these, I am thoroughly convinced, that nine-tenths of those melancholy instances of suicide which shock the ears of the public take place"

AMERICAN GOLD IN THE WEST INDIES.—Official notice has been given to our government, that by virtue of a proclamation of the Queen of Great Britain, the United States gold coins will circulate in the British West Indies, and are made a legal tender in all payments there, at the following rates, compared with the English sterling currency, viz:—

The eagle at 41 shillings sterling—half and quarter eagles in the same proportion—and gold dollars, at 4 shillings 1 penny.

This is fixing the rate of the pound sterling, as compared with the ordinary gold currency of the United States, as nearly as it can be expressed in a convenient fraction, at $4,87 4-5; and the shilling at 24 4-10 cents. The current rate of the gold dollar is established, for the avoidance of an inconvenient fraction at 2-5 of one per cent less.

This item shows that the government of Great Britain regards the convenience of her colonists more than any arbitrary rule of currency. For all practical purposes the English shilling may go with us as a quarter of the dollar.

DARNING AND PATCHING.—It does not speak very well for Young America, that two old fogies, one seventy-three and the other eighty-five, should bear off both premiums in this department, as they did at the Fair last week. The first premium was awarded to Miss Eames of this place, now seventy-three years of age, who has since informed us that the specimen of work on which her premium was awarded, was executed over a year ago, and was designed for family use and not for exhibition. She is a pattern of neatness in all her work, from whom all our young ladies might well copy. The second premium was awarded to Mrs. Mary Pearsons of Milford, aged eighty-five. What will the friends and advocates of progress say to this?—Amerherst, N. H. Cabinet.

MAKING WILLS.

The Paris correspondent of the Boston Atlas says:

"Let me revert to poor Charles Regnaud, whose sudden death, in the midst of youth and wealth, I mentioned recently. As soon as he was taken ill, he felt that he was on his death-bed, and wished to write his will; his friends dissuaded him; feeling worse the next day, he determined to send for a notary; again his friends dissuaded him—that night he died. His most particular friends were Emile Augier, Francis Ponsard, the well known poets; Meissonnier the painter, A. Lireux, the dramatic critic of the Constitutionnel, and Michel Levy, the publisher of these writers. It was in their favor he wished to write his will, leaving each of them 100,000 francs, for he was worth a million of francs. No will was made, and his mother, I believe, intends leaving them to the Church. M. Ozanam, the brilliant and profound professor of Italian literature in the faculty of the Sorbonne, died a few days ago, in Marseilles, whither he had gone for the benefit of his health, impaired by his studies; it is a great loss to the faculty.—Another death of the last few days is M. de Martray, an old bachelor, fond of pictures, a great admirer of Gen. Cavaignac. He ordains by his will that his picture gallery be sold (it is worth some $30,000 or $40,000) and the proceeds distributed to twenty of the exiles of the 2d December.

Let every man be his own executor. The difference between leaving a competency to half a dozen literary men and artists, and leaving a lump of money to maintain a set of lazy, useless monks, is quite considerable.—But tastes differ.

THE NATIONAL DEBTS OF THE COUNTRIES OF EUROPE.—The funds of the nations of Europe fall with the prospect of war, and the English funds have fallen, by the accounts from Europe by the Arabia. The New York Courier, writing of the indebtedness of Europe, observes that whatever the Four Powers can do to avert war they will do. To two of them—England and Prussia—war is most exhausting debt; to the other two—France and Austria—it is absolute bankruptcy. We quote:—

France has a debt of over one thousand millions of dollars. To pay the interest on her national debt; to support her standing army of three hundred and fifty thousand men, and navy of three hundred and thirty vessels; to sustain the dignity of her present court, and to meet the current expenses of civil government, France has to raise an annual revenue of three hundred millions of dollars, which is more than one-fifth of the annual amount of all the united incomes of the people.

Austria is worse off still. She has a debt of eleven hundred millions of dollars and a revenue of only one hundred and twelve millions.

Prussia has a debt of one hundred and thirty five millions of dollars.

The English debt every body knows. It would crush any nation but England; and the world sees how it grinds her, even with her gigantic energies.

No continental power, save perhaps Russia, has extensive credit.

MONDAY, OCT. 10, 1853.

BROWNSON'S REVIEW.

In Brownson's Review for October, he considers "that the Protestant world is divided thus. The dead men, who take Protestantism for better or worse, without knowing or caring whether it be good, bad or indifferent. The men whose faces are turned towards the Church. The men whose faces are turned towards infidelity." And in the words of the Pilot he concludes that "it is easy to see that, between these three classes, Protestantism is mortal danger." Brownson says:—

Protestants, it seems to us, must soon see that the only salvation of the race from this terrible catastrophe is a return to the Catholic Church. She alone has power to put the demons to flight, to dispel the darkness of error, and dissipate the clouds of superstition.

Have they not already learned this? We think they have, or well nigh learned it, and therefore we regard the fall of Islamism and Protestantism as an event by no means distant. Events march in our day with fearful rapidity, and as God is now evidently intervening in a special manner in behalf of his Spouse, his Beloved, for whom he gave his life, and whom he hath purchased with his own blood, there is no saying how soon such an event will take place.

Turkey is only propped up by the rivalries of the Christian powers of Europe, but must fall at fathest within a few years, in spite of those rivalries. And her fall will involve that of Islamism. Russia, a schismatic power, may indeed come down to the Bosphoros, which for a time may be disastrous; but if she does, she must, in order to continue there, cease to be schismatic.

England will ere long lose her colonies, for she is adopting the system of allowing them to govern themselves, and, once accustomed to govern themselves, they will not long consent to remain in the condition of colonies; and once reduced to her island home, she ceases to be able to uphold Protestantism, and must herself return to Catholic unity, which she broke only in a pet for political reasons. This country, of course, will follow in the footsteps of England. China must soon openly tolerate our missionaries, and Japan be opened to them, and then the whole world will acknowledge the successor of the Fisherman as the Vicar of Christ on earth. The child may now be born that will live to see this glorious consummation, which sooner or later is sure to be effected. The powers of darkness have had their day, and though the Church in this world will always be the Church Militant, yet not always shall we look back upon the Middle Ages, and regret them as the Ages of Faith."

There, reader, that is something rich. We are to march backwards from gas lights to oil, then to candles, and lastly to pitch pine knots. Let us make haste to acknowledge the divine right of kings, the supremacy of Rome, the infallibility of men no wiser than ourselves, and the immaculate purity of the monkish orders. And finally, let us carry back intellect, and science, and art, and literature, and religion, where they were four hundred years ago,—if we can! To do one of these things, is just about as easy as any of the others. And we may about as easily roll the earth backwards, as to check the current of events, the tide of progress.

Brother Brownson is a dreamer—and above we give the substance of one of his dreams.—It is a part of the history of our times.

PIUS NINTH.

It brings a sadness of feeling over the mind, as we read that the health of Pope Pius IX. is reported to be on the decline. He is only sixty-one years old, but broken with asthma and anxiety.

Yet why should we mourn for him? He is shut out, by the absurd regulations of his church, from all conjugal and paternal joys; he is not an ambitious man, and therefore cares not, as a matter of pride, that he stands at the head of the Roman Church; above all he is not a tyrannical man, and therefore must be pained at the tyranny enacted in his name at Rome.

Perhaps we should rather rejoice at the prospect of his release from bondage, and his prospects of a brighter and better inheritance.

The London correspondent of the New York Sunday Times says:

His successor, no doubt, will be in the Austrian interest, and as intolerant, therefore, as legitimacy can appoint. Cardinal Ferretti (the present Pope) was elected on account of the presumed neutrality of his politics and the known excellence of his life. He presumed to dream of Italian liberty, and then arose the movement which, in 1848, shook all the thrones of Europe, and overturned some of them. At this moment, Pope Pius occupies a very peculiar position. The liberals, all over the world, accuse him of being a renegade from the sacred cause of liberty, while the emperors and kings are angry with him for having virtually commenced the revolutionary era which is to end—no one knows how or when.

One favorite project of the Pope's, which he cannot now carry out, (having no influence in the College of Cardinals) was the holding a Council at which would be conceded, to a portion of the Romish clergy, the privilege of having wives. In the Greek Church, which differs from the Roman rather in discipline than doctrine, the clergy are actually all but compelled to be married. Pope Pius is said to have had in view the large number of Protestant clergymen in England and the United States, who would willingly go over to Popery provided they could retain their wives. Cardinal Wiseman is said to have suggested the privilege of such clerical converts being allowed to retain wives, when admitted to holy orders in the Church of Rome.

This single change would be an immense gain to that church, in respect to purity, propriety and common sense. It was worthy of so good a pope to devise or favor so cheap and essential an improvement;—but perhaps the church is not worthy of so good a pope as he would be if he could have his way, and so is justly left to cherish the errors and absurdities which prevent or retard her progress.

SUMMING UP.—The Portland Advertiser sums up the statements against the Maine Law, in the following manner.

'Its sale is as open and undisguised in Maine,' says one writer, "as it is in the city of New York!"

Another opponent of the law puts forth a long and plausible argument, founded upon the "secrecy of the sale."

"There is more rum drank now, than ever before for twenty years back!"—says one.

"Repeal the law, for it destroys or injures our business, and takes away our property!" shout the dealers.

And so on, to the end of the chapter!—They agree in opposing the law, but scarcely any two of them can agree in their grounds of opposition, and their arguments, when compared with each other, are a string of inconsistencies and senseless jaragon.

The same paper, the Advertiser, in noticing Rev. Mr. O'Donnell's Letters, says:

This is what we supposed. It is a notorious fact that the liquor traffic in this city has been driven into secret hiding places, and it is equally notorious that a great majority of those hiding places are among the Irish population. Mr. O'Donnell, having but "little intercourse with the American population"—frankly admitting that "all that he said regards the Irish"—sincerely laments this state of things, and is inclined to charge it upon the law. But how would he remedy it?—Would he have no law? And if he would have a law, what sort of a law? If he would undertake to answer these questions, we think he would soon find himself involved in a labyrinth of difficulties, not justly attributable to any law, but to the inherent difficulties of the subject, having their origin in the evil passions of human nature.

In his second letter Mr. O'Donnel says:

Should not the friends of temperance having found the weakness and imperfection of the law, bring it to such a state of perfection, as to destroy not only the private sale of liquor, but the temptation to sell it? Experience teaches, that as the danger and risk of sale are increased, under the existing law, the temptation is also increased; and the profits always keep pace with the risk and loss.

To this the Advertiser replies:

Now, how should this law be amended, so as to bring it to that "state of perfection" desired by Mr. O'Donnell. Repeal the law entirely—let everybody sell as much liquor as he pleases—and the risk and the profits of the kitchen liquor dealer will diminish, and the temptations will be diminished also. But at what a cost to the great mass of the people! On the other hand, shall the friends of temperance attempt to bring this law to a "state of perfection," by removing the restrictions on the right to search dwelling houses? Is this the 'perfection' referred to by Mr. O'Donnell? If so, many of the friends of the law might agree with him, but its opponents would not.

We have no room for further extracts.—Nor is there need of any. The arguments are familiar to all our readers. And we have now before us the fixed fact, that the active legal voters, of Maine, in their late election, have sustained the Maine Law, after a two years' trial. This they have done, notwithstanding the shrewdest managers of their strongest political party did all they could to break it down. This is one of the strongest possible proof that the people are not opposed to it, but will give it a fair trial for at least another year.

EARLY SNOW.—The Portland papers state that on Wednesday a fortnight since, snow fell in the town of Rangley, Maine, to the depth of one foot. Between that place and Philips, travel was interrupted several days in consequence. The trees bordering the road were so loaded with snow that they bent down and obstructed the way. In Carthage, Me., on the same day, snow fell to the depth of six inches, among the mountains. This is a little earlier than snow has dared to make its appearance in the State for a good many years.

AN AMUSING ANECDOTE.—The Detroit Daily Advertiser has the following:

Many of our readers doubtless know Hollis White of Niagara Falls, a tall, portly, florid gentleman, with a fine large figure, and a regular silver grey head upon his shoulders; bearing upon a casual view, a strong resemblance to Mr. Fillmore—albeit he is a warm Seward man. Learning that the Governor was to be at Buffalo on Monday night, Hollis came up from the Falls, met him at the cars, and walked up Main street with him arm-in-arm; which circumstance being observed by a warm Silver Grey, who mistook Hollis for Fillmore, he forthwith rushed into a friend's office, and throwing his hat into a corner, swore that hereafter politics and he should be two, for, said he, after all the fuss that we have kept up here for two years over Fillmore and Seward, I have just met them going up the street together, arm-in-arm.

FIRE ANNIHILATORS.—The Springfield Republican states that the Perkins and Dwight corporations, at Chicopee, have furnished their mills with fire annihilators. In view of the recent destructive fire at Manchester, such a prudent precautionary measure can scarcely be reasonably neglected by any large establishments.

LOCAL.

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT.

EXETER, Oct. 8th, 1853.

Hon. Matthew Harvey, Dist. Judge, presiding.

John H. George, Esq., District Attorney.

Albert R. Hatch Esq. Clerk.

After the usual proclamations, the Grand Jurors were empanneled.

Prayer was offered by Rev. Mr. Clarke, of Exeter.

The charge of Judge Harvey, in the absence of Judge Curtis, was brief, but a comprehensive and faithful exposition of the nature of the crimes, which are recognized by the U. S. Laws and the duties of the Grand Jury.

There being no Petit Jury in attendance, all actions which would otherwise have been tried, were continued.

At 2 1-2 P. M. Grand Jury came in and presented four Indictments against Charles L. Godfrey, & Woodbury Gilman, of Epping, and two against the latter person, for using fraud in procuring persons money and bounty land.

After which the court adjourned.

LIFE IN PORTSMOUTH.

On Saturday forenoon we witnessed a little running and scampering in the neighborhood of Spring Hill, and pretty soon saw an Irishman in the Custody of the City Marshal, bound towards the lock-up. Shortly after that, from the Post Office door, we saw a crowd in Penhallow street, reaching from the dramshops on one side, to the house with the broken windows on the other. Here, the Superintendent of the Alms House was in command; and the business in hand was to carry off a woman and some children to be maintained by the city. The Irishman above mentioned, it is said, had made some disturbance in the same house. The cause of the man's offence, the woman's misery, and the childrens' suffering, is strong drink, furnished by the establishments which abound in that neighborhood.

RAILROAD TO DOVER.—There appears to have been a substantial foundation for the rumors which was published in the Chronicle some days since, in regard to the Railroad from Dover to this city. It is now understood that the Eastern Railroad will guarantee an interest of 6 per cent for a term of years on $210,000, being the estimated cost of building the road from this place to Dover. The Cocheho road on the other hand, engaging to build said road, and to make Portsmouth the terminus of the Cocheco Road.

Thus the prospect is very fair that we shall shortly have a direct railroad communication from this city, on both banks of the Piscataqua, with all the manufataring towns on its branches, and with a large farming country beyond.

☞ A "gentleman" gave a party, not a hundred years ago nor a thousand miles off, on a cold windy night; and while his guests were enjoying his hospitality into the small hours, the hackmen were by the host refused a chance at the kitchen fire!

COURTS IN OCTOBER.—The Court of Probate for Rockingham County, holds a session at Exeter on Wednesday, 12th. The Court of Common Pleas commences an adjourned term in this city, on Monday next, 17th.

THE CAUSE.—It is said that disappointment in love, was the cause of suicide, in young Bickford, of Exeter, whose case we mentioned a few days ago. His mother, whose support he was, is said to have discouraged his desired connexion.

SAD AFFAIR.—Mr. James Woodsum, of Berwick, Me., was found dead in the road leading from Great Falls to Blackberry Hill in Berwick, on Tuesday afternoon, 4th inst. Woodsum had been to Great Falls with a load of straw, and having disposed of his straw was returning home. He was intoxicated, and was seen whipping his horses severely a short distance from where he was found. He probably fell from his cart while going at a rapid rate, and was instantly killed by the fall.

☞ At the late session of the Court at Alfred, Me., a prisoner who was up on an indictment for committing a crime, the punishment for which would be a term in the State Prison, actually fell asleep during the progress of his trial!

MAN DROWNED.—Mr. George Evans, ship joiner, in the employ of Messrs. Choate, at work on ship Dreadnought, at Newburyport, while attempting to board the vessel in the stream, was drowned Friday morning. In connection with four or five other workmen he put off for the vessel, with wind and tide strong down the river; failing to catch a rope that hung over the bows, Mr. E. reached the lower round of a ladder about midships, but not being able to check the boat, he was drawn overboard, where hanging a minute or two, he fell into the water, and sunk before assistance could reach him. He was about 21 years of age, and leaves a wife and one child.

WOMEN'S RIGHTS.

Cleveland, Oct. 7—The Woman's Rights Convention had a stormy time yesterday.—Resolutions characterised by the usual ultraism, claiming for females the elective franchise, elevation to political stations, and equal rights with men in all the walks of life.

A resolution introduced by a male delegate, that the speeches should be limited to fifteen minutes for one speech, was noisily and indignantly voted down by the women.

A woman named Clark attempted to speak against the main resolution, and commenced, by saying that woman was her own enemy, and man more willing to render her justice than woman herself. Cries of "turn her out," ensued, with applause from the outsiders.—Mrs. Clark was eventually gagged.

Abby Kelly then commenced a bitter attack on churches and preachers, which gave rise to another angry and stormy debate—Abby declaring she would not be put down.

The greatest tumult and confusion ensued; a dozen women commenced speaking at once in the shrillest tones, in the height of which a motion was made to adjourn. The President fled from the hall, and the meeting adjourned in an uproar.

WOMEN'S RIGHT CONVENTION.—THIRD DAY.—Cleveland, Oct. 8.—The Convention assembled yesterday very quietly, with scarcely any traces of the storm of the day previous. The harmony of the assembly was soon again threatened by the introduction of a letlet from the Rev. J. W. Higginson of Rochester, asking the Convention to take up a collection for the purpose of raising a fund to print cheap tracts on woman's rights.

Mrs. Barker and Abby Kelly objected, denouncing the reverend gentleman as a heretic. To this charge Lucy Stone replied in indignant terms. After which the collection was taken up. While the plate was going round some young men in the gallery told the man who passed it to them that if Miss Lucy would come herself they would "shell out." That lady on hearing the remark, instantly went to the young gentlemen, when they launched out $40 in behalf of the cause.

Mr. Garrison introduced a resolution abusing the World's Temperance Convention for its action against Antoinette Brown. After some remarks by Messrs. Giddings and Burleigh, it was carried.

Mr. Barker made an address quite blasphemous in its tone; he railed at the church and Bible, and abused the clergy generally. Much confusion and excitement prevailed. While he was speaking, Antoinette Brown, in indignant terms, signified her readiness to reply to Mr. Barker to-day. The meeting then adjourned.

GENERAL CONVENTION.—At the General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church, now holding a triennial session in New York, the discourse was delivered on Wednesday, by Bishop McIlvaine, of Ohio.

The convention is divided into two houses, the house of bishops, and the lower house of the laity and clergy; the former holding secret sessions, and exercising a veto power, at its discretion, over the proceedings of the latter. The lower house was organized by the election of Rev. Dr. Creighton of Tarrytown, to the chair, and of the Rev. Dr. De Wolf Howe, of Philadelphia, as secretary.

Bishop Wainwright, from the House of bishops, announced the organization of that body, Bishop Brownell, President; Bishop Wainwright, Secretary.

Cincinnati, Oct. 7.—The American Board of Missions met again this morning. The Prudential Committee announced that the Sandwich Islands having been christianized, could no longer receive aid from the Board. The foreign missionaries then took leave of their brethren. Ex-Chief Justice Williams returned thanks to the citizens of Cincinnati, for their Christian hospitality; which was responded to by Rev. S. W. Fisher, and at 12 the Board adjourned to meet at Hartford in July next.

LIQUOR DEALERS SENTENCED.—In New York, on Wednesday, about four hundred liquor dealers were sentenced for selling without licenses—a few to heavy fines and imprisonment, and the greater portion to fines of $10 to $20. The Tribune says, the great number of women in the party is not a particularly pleasant fact for those who look upon the sex as mild and law-abiding patterns for the sterner half of mankind. We are told that this is only a beginning—that the authorities are are fully determined that rum drinking shall be done according to law, and that all contraband tippling shall be put down. We trust the proper authorities will also extend their attentions to the Sabbath rum sellers, a class including about 6,000 persons, every one of whom got a licence (if they have any at all) under a threat on the part of the government, that, "if they kept open on Sunday, the license would be at once taken away."

DEATH OF HON. SIMON GREENLEAF.—Simon Greenleaf, LL. D., died at Cambridge, on Thursday night. He was in Boston on Thursday, apparently in good health, and returned to his residence in Cambridge late in the afternoon. Professor Greenleaf was universally esteemed and respected by all classes. He was widely known throughout the country from his connection as Professor of Law at Cambridge, and as the author of numerous publications. He had filled various public offices, and at the time of his death was President of the Massachusetts Bible Society.

BRUTAL MURDER.—At Fort Hamilton, in New York harbor, 4th inst., an Irishman by the name of Sullivan, beat and kicked his wife in so shocking a manner that she died within an hour. The provocation was very slight. He called upon his wife to help him in with a box of coal. The woman was too weak to lift the box, and let her end fall on her husband's foot. The brute, who was intoxicated at the time, has been arrested.

Stamford, Ct., Oct. 7th.—The Ladies' Riding Match came off at 2 o'clock; but 6 of the 35 who entered their names appeared on the ground.

The match was well contested, and very exciting. Miss Burr Weston took the first premium.

A great revival of religion is going on in the Methodist Church at Athens, Georgia.

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT!

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge we timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years from causes simple and comfortable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S

Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,

PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.

One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.

[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]

First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no Female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title-page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

☞ To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing post-paid, as herein.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be Ignorant.

☞ On receipt of One Dollar (for the fine Edition, extra binding,) a "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION" is sent (mailed free) to any part of the United States. All letters must be post-paid, and addressed to Dr. A. M. MAURICEAU, Box 1234, New York City. Publishing Office, No. 129 Liberty Street, New York.

BREAD IN FRANCE.—The French Government continues preoccupied by the scarcity of breadstuffs. The Moniteur contains a decree lowering the tariff on cattle and provisions. The city of Paris yesterday voted an appropriation to indemnify the bakers for their loss on bread, and the tax on bread continues at 40c., although this is several centimes below the usual rate, if based on the prices current. Stringent measures are taken throughout the country against persons who seek to push up prices—the truth is, these measures suppress fair trading, and are very tyrannical, but then it is a matter of life and death with the government; a famine in France has invariably been followed by a revolution.

The government of France is Tyranny, sure enough: but if it did nothing worse than to keep the poor from being ground down by starvation prices for bread, we would not grumble much PRECOCITY OF INTELLECT.—Chatterton wrote all his beautiful things, exhausted all hopes of life, and saw nothing better than death at the age of eighteen. Burns and Byron died in their thirty-seventh year. Raffaelle, after filling the world with divine beauty, perished also at thirty-seven. Mozart earlier. These might have produced still greater works. On the other hand, Handel was forty-eight before he gave the world "assurance of a man." Dryden came up to London from the Provinces, dressed in Norwich drugget, somewhat above the age of thirty, and did not even then know that he could write a line of poetry, yet what towering vigor and swinging ease appeared all at once in "glorious John." Milton had indeed written "Comus" at twenty-eight, but he was upward of fifty when he began his great work. Cowper knew not his own might till he was far beyond thirty, and his "Task" was not written till about his fiftieth year.

Bay State Stoves.

THE Subscriber would inform his friends and the public, that he has for sale all sizes of this favorite Stove. Having sold them in this city for five years past, they have been thoroughly tested with wood and coal, and are found perfect in every respect.

Those put in operation four and five years since have had no repairs made upon them, and are to all appearance as good as new. So great is the popularity of these Stoves, that many imitations of it are put into the market, such as the Granite State, Empire State, &c.; but none of them are equal to it in weight or quality of castings, cooking facilities, or economy of fuel.

To all who are in want of a GOOD Cooking Stove, we would say—buy a BAY STATE, and you are sure to get THE BEST STOVE IN THE WORLD.

The subscriber has for sale, also, a variety of other Cook Stoves, Cooking Ranges, Parlor Grates, Office and Parlor Stoves, Funnel, &c., for sale low for cash. E. A. STEVENS,

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S

Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Its celebrity became at length its own. The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a demand for a trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

DR. HAMPTON'S

VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the BEST family medicine in use, and IS WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. K. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Dunan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered. Consumption can be cured! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

THOUGHTS ABOUT SNUFF.

BY ONE WHO NEVER TAKES IT.

It's curious how one snuff-taker will pick on another. Place two snuff-takers in the most crowded room, and before ten minutes are over they will have found out each other, and be in earnest conversation together.

A snuff-box is an opening for conversation between two persons, who, without it, would not probably have exchanged a single word.

The English who are generally so punctilious about introductions, cheerfully dispense with the ceremony if a stranger only advance with a snuff-box in hand.

There is a Freemasonry in snuff-taking, not enjoyed by the worshippers of any other social vice. Gamblers are necessarily discontented, scowling, suspicious people. Smokers are generally dreamers, wandering in the clouds which they themselves have blown. Drinkers are surly, quarrelsome creatures, who fling insults and bottles about. But snuff-takers are invariably open, communicative souls, who associate with one another all over the world. Put two foreigners together, and though they never saw each other before, and cannot speak a word of each other's language, still they become friendly, and bow, and smile, and show each other all manner of little civilities, as soon as a pinch of snuff has been exchanged between them. Besides, I am confident snuff-takers have signs known only to themselves—like the Freemasons—or else how can you account for snuff-takers always huddling together in the same circle, exactly like corks in a pail?

A foreigner can travel with no better letter of reccommendation than a snuff-box.

It is a question, however, if the handsome present of a snuff box has not made many a person take snuff who never took snuff before.

Snuff is a great leveller. The poet who takes snuff out of a prince's snuff box, puts himself, for the moment, on the same footing.

There is a great deal of communion, also, in a snuff-box. I know of no other species of property that undergoes the same equal distribution without being followed by discontent or quarrelling. Snuff-takers seem to have adopted for their motto, Share and share alike.

In fact, when I consider the good feeling, the perfect freedom and the equality amongst all persons who take snuff, I think there could not be a better inscription for a snuff-box than the oft-abused one of 'Liberte, Egalite, Fraternite.'

The freedom of a town could not be presented, for the above reasons, in a better vehicle than a snuff-box. It says at once, you are free, and, wherever you present it, you will be received and treated as an equal by all men.

I wonder that no monarch has ever thought of instituting the 'Order of the Snuff-box,' to which none but distinguished men—great poets and philanthropists—should be admitted.—Perhaps, however, the Order has been thought of, and condemned as being too liberal in its tendencies.

IS THE WHIG PARTY DEAD?—Horace Greeley says it is not. Hear him describe the Whig Party at Syracuse, in a late Tribune.

The Whig party is not dead—neither doth it longer sleep. True, after an important event which occurred sometime in November last, it found itself in an admirable position for repose. It did take a nap, during which it did not even snore, and consequently, many whose wish was farther to the thought, believed its day of life and vigor o'er. How completely were they mistaken. To-day it stands up before them, united and harmonious. Delegates from all parts of the State gathered at Syracuse. They met in friendship, conducted the business of the convention with pleasing unanimity; presented with three cheers for it; three for the cause; and three for Washington Hunt, adjourned, and returned rejoicing to those who sent them there.

The speech of the ex-Governor, on taking the Chair; the ticket agreed upon, and the resolutions passed by the Convention, we commend for the careful persual, to the members of the living and breathing Whig Party of the State of New York.

AMERICAN WINE.—There are, it is estimated, about two thousand three hundred acres in Ohio, Indiana, and Kentucky, in cultivation and bearing grape vines. The average crop is 200 gallons of wine per acre. A half million of gallons is therefore about the annual wine crop of these States, or about one twelfth of that imported into the country. It will probably not be many years before the native wine will exceed the imported, perhaps become an article of export.

P. T. Barnum has presented $200 to the fund for the erection of a monument to Knud Iverson, the noble Norwegian youth, who preferred death rather than to steal.

PRESENCE OF MIND AND COURAGE.—An incident in which wolves are concerned, shows what may be done by presence of mind and courage. "A perilous adventure," relates the Major, "once befel my brother-in-law, James. He was a bold, brave boy, of ten years old at the time, and was on his return home with a pair of oxen, with which he had been visiting a neighbor, residing about six miles from his father's house. His road lay on the river shore, which was dreary enough in the fall of the year and in the evening hour; but the child was fearless, and saw the deepening shades sink into night, without experiencing anything like apprehension.

"He was trudging on steadily, singing cheerfully as he walked, when a sound came on the night wind that sent a shiver through the young pedestrian's frame,—the war-cry of the wolves. At first he hoped that he was not the object of pursuit,—but the hideous uproar came nearer and nearer, and then he knew that he must instantly adopt some plan for his escape.

"His route lay by the river shore, and he could swim well: but the night was dark, and he might be hurried into the rapids, and to be dashed to pieces on the rocks was scarcely less dreadful than to be mangled and devoured by wolves. In this extremity, the child lifted up his brave young heart to God, and resolved to use the only chance left him for escape. So he mounted Buck, the near-ox, making use of his goad, shouting at the same time to the animal, to excite him to his utmost speed.

"In most cases the horned steed would have flung off his rider, and left him for wolves' meat without hesitation; but Buck set off with the speed of a race horse, as if fully aware of his young rider's peril. Nor was his companion less nimble. Fast, however, as the trio fled, still faster came upon them the yelling pack behind, and James could over hear

Their long, hard gallop, which could tire
The hound's deep hate for hunter's fire.

"Happily for him, old Buck heard it too, and galloped on and on; but still the wolves came nearer and nearer. James shouted to keep them off; the oxen almost flying, their chains rattling as they went. This clanking sound, to which the hateful pack were unaccustomed, made them pause whenever they came close upon the oxen, while the latter re-doubled their speed, till at length those gallant racers left the wolves behind, and finding themselves within a short distance of home, never stopped till they had brought the brave little fellow safely to his own door."

An unknown man lately shot himself in a house of ill-fame in Dublin. On his trunks was the name of Daniel E. Webster. He had abundance of fashionable clothing, and a large amount in gold. His age was about 35, of medium stature, slight make, sallow, brown hair, and supposed to be an American.

Where is the schoolmaster? asks a correspondent of the Montreal Hearld, and cites an instance which leads to the impression that the sage had been drowned. He says a neat little skiff in the harbor had its name handsomely lettered—"British Quinn."

TUESDAY, OCT. 11, 1853.

POLITICAL AND OFFICIAL.

President Pierce has stepped in as the third man, between the hards and softs in New York, as will be seen by a perusal of the following curious and significant notes:—

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3, 1853.

Dear Sir:—Since the conversation we had upon the subject of the unfortunate division of the Democratic party in New York, I feel more and more convinced that the present disorganization cannot fail to endanger the success of the principles of the party there, and to prove injurious elsewhere. But the separation is effected. A conviction has forced itself on my mind, that by Democrats pledged to each other upon a common platform of principles, the division could and ought to have been prevented.

You are aware that the principles of the Baltimore Convention, and the policy intimated in the inaugural address, the President and his constitutional advisers stand pledged to before the world. They have been and are united as one man upon these principles and that policy, and had reasons to believe that all gentlemen who consented to accept office under the administration stood pledged to the same principles and policy.

As the President understands the principles avowed as the platform of the party at Baltimore, all Democrats who joined in upholding and carrying out the same were entitled to be recognized as worthy of the confidence of the united party, and consequently eligible to official station.

That all could not obtain office was manifest, and that the distribution could not be exactly equal amongst the different sections of the party was equally certain. Yet the distribution was intended to be so made as to give just cause of complaint to no one section, and it is believed that this intention has been carried out, not only by the President himself, but by most of his appointees, in respect to offices under the latter.

It has so happened that your appointments have been very generally made from that portion of the party to which you adhere. This you thought best calculated to secure union and harmony. That desirable object has failed to be obtained, and the other portion of the party feel that they have not been fully recognized by you, and, as things now stand, may not do justice to your motives. I call your attention to this subject, and to the fact that the President and his Cabinet, with entire unanimity, recognize that portion of the party as Democrats distinctly avowing and firmly maintaining the principles of the Baltimore platform, and entitled to be recognized by appointment to official stations in your department. Allow me to express the expectation that you will so recognize them in the only way that will carry conviction with it.

I have not hitherto deemed it necessary to make any particular inquiry as to the section of the Democratic party to which persons nominated for positions in the Custom House at New York belonged prior to the union of the party in 1849—which reunion was supposed to have been thoroughly cemented in the great and triumphant contest in 1852.—But as the present excited state of feeling among political friends who acted together in 1852, and who now stand unequivocally upon the same platform and principles in New York, is suggestive of a discrimination, of which the administration will not approve. I shall send a copy of this letter to the Naval Officer and the Surveyor of the Port, in order that there may be no misapprehension as to the policy which the President will require to be pursued. I am, very respectfully,

JAMES GUTHRIE.

To G. C. BRONSON, Esq., Collector at New York.

Copies of the above letter were sent to the Naval Officer and Surveyor, with the following note:—

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4, 1853.

Dear Sir:—I enclose herewith a copy of a letter this day addressed to the Hon. G. C. Bronson. It will explain itself, and show you what the President expects in relation to the distribution of patronage in the respective offices in the New York Custom House, to which you will conform your action in any future nominations you may have occasion to make. I am, very respectfully,

JAMES GUTHRIE.

The New York Mirror remarks that "the above extraordinary edict from the Secretary of the Treasury will be read with mingled feelings of astonishment and indignation. It is decidedly a "Soft" document, intellectually as well as politically, and indicates a narrow, proscriptive, vindictive policy. We regret to learn from Washington that this pitiful pronunciamento has received the sanction of the President."

The New York correspondent of the Boston Post says, under date of Oct. 3:

Mr. Secretary Guthrie's letter to Collector Bronson, is the engrossing topic of this morning's conversation in political circles. The most vicious adamantines do not deny that it is a disaster and almost admit it to be a defeat.

P. S.—Collector Bronson has written a reply disregarding the letter of Mr. Guthrie. This is so, you may rely upon it. The "hards" hold their adamantine faces an inch higher than they did at noon to-day. What next?

JUDGE GRIER.—In the Daily Chronicle of Saturday, we expressed our disbelief of the statement that Judge Grier of Philadelphia made such a blunder as to berate his own friends who procured a writ of habeas corpus in a certain case. But the full report of that case published in the New York Herald and Philadelphia Bulletin, shows that he did make the blunder; and shows, moreover, that the Judge's language was far worse than the telegraphic reports gave it. He appears to have been foaming with passion, and therefore is in a most unfit state to try any case whatever.

WHIG DISCONTENT.—In New York, the Whig State Nominations are not entirely pleasant to all the party. The Troy Whig, while it is "not disposed to question the personal respectability of any of the nominees, with but a single exception, or to dispute that the ticket as it stands has considerable positive strength in itself, on the score of ability," yet says:

"It was unwise—it was unjust—to disoblige so large a class of Whigs of the State as have been disobliged by placing the six members of the Canal Board all practically on one side."

The Whig hoists the ticket at the head of its columns, though making the above reservations. This looks like accepting the candidate, with the platform annexed, but protesting against them and yet voting for them.—These circumstances may give some votes to the Adamantines.

COURTEOUS—VERY.—John Neal Esq., and the Rev. Mr. O'Donnell, have each of them contributed a column of personal defence of themselves, to the "State of Maine" newspaper of Monday. Neither of the articles contains any new fact about temperance or in temperance; and neither of them gives one hint at the best method of promoting the former or diminishing the latter. Of course we need not copy much of such matter. But the closing paragraph of Mr. Neal's piece is so choice a specimen of courtesy, that we must give it. Here it is.

"But enough. Mr. Henry Carter will find it no child's play, if he continues crossing my path; for, although I have higher purposes to engage me than he has any idea of, I may stoop now and then, to lash a yelping cur out of my path, or back to his kennel if need be.

JOHN NEAL."

Mr. Henry Carter is one of the editors of the Portland Advertiser. We trust he will keep out of the way of so much danger; and be sure not to cross Mr. Neal's path. If matters go on so in Portland, we shall feel compelled to send a pronunciamento down that way, a la Secretary Guthrie to the New Yorkers.

ADMIRAL COE.—We are indebted to a correspondent for the following extract of a letter from Rio de Janeiro, dated Aug. 11, 1853.

Admiral Coe, who abscended from the River Platte with a large sum of money belonging to Urquiza, arrived in the U. S. sloop Jamestown on the 20th ult., with his family.

I knew him at Buenos Ayres, and have since met him at the Opera here.

A great many condemn his conduct, which certainly looks very much like a barefaced robbery. But I have been told that Gen. Urquiza owed him a large sum, which he had no possibility of obtaining, and beyond this there were many extenuating circumstances connected with the case.

Admiral Coe has recently arrived at New York.

In connection with this case, and as tending at least to disarm British criticism on our countryman's conduct, it may be remembered that the present Admiral, the Earl of Dundonald, when Lord Cochran, was charged with performing the same feat precisely. He was in the employ of the Brazilian Government, and his pay and that of his crew, being much in arrears, he took advantage of a freight of treasure to make sail for England, where he paid off himself and ship's company, and left the Brazilian service forever. It is said that the Emperor, Don Pedro 1st, only remarked upon this operation, 'very well done.' Such, at least, is the current account of that transaction.

DEDICATION OF ANTIOCH COLLEGE.—The services for the dedication of Antioch College were held at the College buildings, at Yellow Springs, Ohio, 5th inst. Some elegantly bound Bibles, donated by churches and individuals, were presented by Elder John Phillips, in a brief speech, and received by Horace Mann in behalf of the Trustees, in a very neat and appropriate address. The proceedings were then continued as follows:—

Elder Phillips then addressed the audience at some length, in a peculiar and forcible style, in which he recounted the trials and obstacles already encountered in the erection of the College buildings, the work already done, and what is expected to be done before the task is finished. He described the spot of land on which the college is located, as being, by seven feet, the highest in the state of Ohio, it being 148 feet higher than Columbus, and 48 feet higher than Akron, on the summit of the Ohio Canal. On this spot it was their intention to establish a College, which should not only surpass any in the state, but any in the United States or in the world. Accommodations for 2000 students would be furnished when their plan was completed. He closed his address by an appeal for funds, and $646 were given and pledged.

A procession was then formed, and proceeded to the chapel, where, after prayer by Elder Ross of New York, Elder J. N. Walter of Springfield presented to President Mann the keys and charter, in a short speech, which was appropriately responded to by Mr. Mann. Mr. Mann proceeded to deliver his inaugural address, occupying over two hours. As a literary composition, it was in the highest style of the art, generally sound in principle, refined in sentiment, and polished in diction. His theme was the capacities of men, and the best means of redeeming the race from the degradation into which it has fallen. Mr. Mann then went on to unfold the three classes of duties, in their order. The services were closed by singing and benediction.

LOWELL POSTMASTER.—The Lowell Courier states that a host of patriots are willing to serve their country in the capacity of Postmaster at Lowell, but the contest will be principally between F. A. Hildreth, J. G. Peabody and A. R. Brown.

LOCAL.

RAILROAD TO DOVER.—We are glad to learn that it is proposed to commence the building of the new Railroad between Dover and this city as soon as the needful arrangements can be made; and to complete it in July next.

The guaranty of the Eastern Railroad, will give confidence and stability to the stock, in the public estimation; and the direct and easy communication between this place and Dover must be advantageous to both places.—The fact that the trains between these places are to be run by the Eastern Railroad, will be a sufficient pledge to the public that due care will be exercised for the safety and comfort of passengers.

OLE BULL'S CONCERT

By the advertisement this morning, it will be seen that this concert of Ole Bull's, will come off on WEDNESDAY evening instead of Thursday, as at first advertised.

This great artist and wonderful musician, is to be aided by other performers of rare excellence, and will offer an amount of attraction rarely presented in this place by distinguished musicians from abroad.

From the Boston Journal.

OLE BULL.—Some two thousand people were in attendance last evening, at the second concert given by Ole Bull, Patti, and Strakosch. The chief attraction of the evening, of course was the performance of Ole Bull. He was particularly successful in "The Witches' Dance," and "The Carnival of Venice." In the performance of the last, he always discovers to his audience some new beauty, and challenges their admiration by his mastery of the king of musical instruments.

Little Patti, the wee cantatrice, sung four songs, in all of which she achieved a triumph. Each time she appears upon the stage, her wonderful execution, her equally wonderful voice, and her child-like innocence and winning ways, win the feelings of her audience.—Her rendering of Jenny Lind's "Echo Song" was very acceptable, and called to mind vividly the tones of the Swedish songstress. M. Strakosch received a fair share of the applause for his skilful accompaniments, as well as his vigorous playing.

Ole Bull announces his farewell concerts in several of the New England cities. As these are his last concerts in America, they will undoubtedly be his most brilliant and successful.

A PROLIFIC PEAR TREE.—In the garden of Thomas Tredick, Esq., is a St. Andrew's pear tree, which has borne three crops of pears the present season, and is now in bud for the fourth crop. Specimens of the several crops, and of the present buds, may be seen in Mr. Shores's window, Congress Block.

COURTS IN OCTOBER.—The Court of Probate for Rockingham County, holds a session at Exeter on Wednesday, 12th. The Court of Common Pleas commences an adjourned term in this city, on Monday next, 17th.

INSTALLATION.—Rev. William D. Hitchcock, was installed pastor of the First Congregational Church and Society in Exeter, on Wednesday afternoon, 5th instant. the services were as follows:

Introductory Prayer and Reading of the Scriptures, by Rev. Mr. Parsons, of Dover; Prayer by Rev. Mr. Wellman, of Derry; Sermon by Rev. Dr. Child, of Lowell; Installation Prayer by Rev. Dr. French, of North-Hampton; Charge to the pastor, by Rev. Mr. Moore, of Portsmouth; Right hand of Fellowship by Rev. Mr. Mann, of Exeter; Charge to the People, by Rev. Mr. Atwater, of Great Falls; Benediction by the Pastor.

Mr. Hitchcock is the twelfth pastor that has been settled over this church since its organization in 1638. Rev. John Wheelwright having been the first. The immediate predecessor of Mr. Hitchcock, Rev. Roswell D. Hitchcock, closed his labors with this church on the 4th of July, 1852.—News Letter.

A SERIOUS CHARGE.—The Exeter News Letter speaks of the concourse of people at the Manchester Fair, as a great one; and of the Fair itself as a slender exhibition.—It recommends several changes, as improvements, and says:

We make these remarks now, preparatory to complaining of the deceptive and highly reprehensible management of the Manchester and Lawrence and Boston & Maine Railroads, both of which took the occasion of the Fair to practice shameful and extensive frauds upon the public, and neither of which can justly be considered trustworthy, on any great occasion, no matter what their promises may be, under their present inefficient management.

This is highly libellous unless it turns out to be true. What was the fraud?

☞ The Manufacturing corporations of Great Falls, and throughout New England generally, have adopted the eleven hour system.

MURDER.—James L. Hoare, keeper of a porter house in New York city, was committed to the tombs on Saturday, by the Coroner, for killing Susan McAnvany, his mistress, by stabbing her in the neck with a dirk pistol.—Hoare's barkeeper saw the whole affair, and testified that H. drank two glasses of port wine just before he gave the fatal stab; that he did not know whether he was drunk or not; and that he had drank hard lately.

MURDER CASES.—The Springfield Republican states that Horace Sands, a drunken negro, shot his brother George dead, in a quarrel on Friday night, in the precinct of that city called "Hayti." Also that Hugh Smith, an Irishman, has been remanded without bail for the murder of his wife who was killed in Chicopee, in August.

FROM CALIFORNIA.

On Saturday the steamer El Dorado arrived at New Orleans, from Aspinwall, with 16 days later dates from California, which were brought down by the John L. Stephens, to Panama, with 700 passengers and $1,300,000 in gold dust. And on Sunday the steamship Star of the West arrived at New York, having performed the distance from San Juan to Nicaragua, in less than eight days. She brings passengers by the Cortes, which left San Francisco on the 16th of September.

The Star of the West brings upwards of 500 passengers, and $816,000 on freight, and half a million dollars in the hands of the passengers.

The Cortes passed on the 18th ult, the steamship Uncle Sam bound to San Francisco.

The steamer Illinois from New York arrived at Aspinwall on the 1st inst., and would return with about 700 passengers.

The Isthmus of Panama is represented as being quite healthy.

The passengers per El Dorado reached New Orleans in 20 days and 16 hours from port to port.

The elections took place on the 7th of September, and resulted in a Democratic triumph. John Bigley being elected Governor, and Samuel Purdy Lieut. Governor.

The vote everywhere was very large and the contest close.

Governor Bigler's majority was about 1000; the rest of the Democratic state ticket received a majority ranging from 4000 to 10,000. Mr. Purdy for Lieut. Governor leads the ticket.

In San Francisco Captain C. K. Garrison, the agent of the Nicaragua Steamship Company, a popular man and a Democrat, was elected Mayor by a large majority.

The whole Democratic ticket for city and county officers of San Francisco is also elected, and both branches of the Legislature will be largely Democratic. It is thought that the Democrats will proceed to the election this year of a United States Senator, in place of Mr. Gwin, whose term expires in 1855.

Lieut. Beals and party had arrived in safety at Los Angelos.

Intelligence from Rogue River, Oregon, announces the cessation of hostilities, in consequence of a treaty having been effected by Governor Lane with teveral Indian tribes.

Lieut. Col. Mason died on the 7th ult.

Fresh discoveries of gold are being made almost daily. The miners are doing well.—Business was exceedingly dull at San Francisco and prices had undergone very few changes.

UTAH—FRESH DISTURBANCES.—Independence, Mo., Sept. 30, 1853.—The Salt Lake mail arrived on Wednesday. Some excitement exists in consequence of disturbances from the Utah Indians and Indian traders.

Fifty men were sent out to take old man Bridger, because it was thought he aided the Indians; and fifty more to take the traders at Green River. Bridger fled to the mountains, and they took possession of his store, and when reinforced, intended to hunt down all offenders.

The elections were over, and Bernheisel is returned as a delegate to Congress. It was termined in Council to surround the city with wall and ditch—mud wall and pickets. Major Fitzpatrick had concluded a treaty with the Sioux and Snake Indians, and was to return home shortly.

STEAMBOAT DISASTER.—A despatch from St. John, N. B., states that steamer Fairy Queen was lost, night of the 7th inst., between Pictou Island and the main land.—The captain and crew were saved, and it was at first reported that eleven passengers were lost. Eight of them floated ashore on the wreck. The captain and crew were arrested to await the result of an investigation.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 8th.—Georgia Elections.—In 63 counties of Georgia, Jenkins, Union Whig, for Governor, has 900 majority—a gain of 2500. The vote is close. Johnson, Democrat, is probably elected by a few hundred majority.

FATAL COLLISION ON THE HUDSON RIVER RAILROAD—COLLISION ON THE HUDSON RIVER.—New York, Oct. 10.—A collision occurred on the Hudson River Railroad, on Saturday evening, between the New York and Troy Express train, and a cattle train.—The engine and tender of the former were thrown off the track and smashed. The fireman, Abraham Folon, was kiled; and the engineer, Mr. Pearson, was slightly injured.

New York, Oct. 10.—The steamer Empire State, from Fall River, was run into on Saturday night, off Plumb Island, by an unknown schooner, and badly injured. There were 300 passengers on board at the time, but no one was injured. It will take a week to repair the Empire State. The steamer State of Maine will take her place for the present.

DESTRUCTION OF PROPERTY AT SOUTH BOSTON BY THE WIND.—At about 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, as workmen were employed in erecting the last bay of the roof of Washburn's new forge, on Dorchester Avenue, South Boston, a sudden gust of wind, which was blowing almost a hurricane at the time, struck the timbers, and in a moment the whole roof reeled and fell with a tremendous crash. A gang of men, about 20 in number, were directly under it, but mirculously escaped all harm. The timbers which were very heavy, were all broken and completely ruined and the walls were so badly shattered that at least half of the northerly side will have to be taken down.

The loss, which is estimated at least $2000, falls on the contractors. The loss by delay is also great. The roof timbers, which were destroyed, were cut near Bangor, and occupied the whole time of a large gang of cutters and hewers for two months—at least, that time must elapse before they can be renewed. The scene, as the immense structure fell, is described as most imposing.

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years? And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S

Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,

PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.

One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.

[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]

First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title-page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be Ignorant.

AN INCIDENT IN MARRIED LIFE.—Some thirteen years since a couple of loving ones were married a short distance from this city, and soon after the husband went to sea. A few months passed, and the young wife received news that the ship in which her husband had sailed was lost at sea, and all hands had perished. This report was subsequently corroborated. Time rolled on, and after the lapse of some seven years the widow married an industrious and hard working mechanic, who for a long time past has been and still is employed by a firm in Cornhill.—The last marriage proved a happy one to both parties, and matters passed between them as pleasantly as could be desired, until some ten days since, when, to their utter surprise, the first husband of the lady made his appearance and claimed his wife. Legal council was consulted by both parties, and the result was that the lady felt herself compelled to return to her first husband, much to the regret of the second, whose home is now desolate.—Boston Journal.

PUT THEM DOWN IN THE BILL.—A well dressed "gentleman" went a few days ago to a fashionable restaurant, where he took an excellent breakfast. As he was sipping his coffee, the waiter, who had some reason to suspect him, had his eye upon him, and saw him slip a silver spoon and fork into his pocket, whereupon he hastened to tell his master.—The latter, to avoid exposure, resolved to enter the stolen articles in the bill; and as he thought the thief deserved mulcting, he charged 45f for them. The "gentleman" examined the bill, but though surprised at the entry, displayed no emotion. He produced his purse and paid the whole of the bill, merely remarking: "Forty-five francs form rather a high sum for a silver spoon and fork! But however——." It was impossible that an affair between a thief and his victim could have been conducted with greater tact and courtesy. After a pause the "gentleman" calmly retired. —Galignani's Messenger.

Bay State Stoves.

THE Subscriber would inform his friends and the public, that he has for sale all sizes of this favorite Stove. Having sold them in this city for five years past, they have been thoroughly tested with wood and coal, and are found perfect in every respect.

Those put in operation four and five years since have had no repairs made upon them, and are to all appearance as good as ever. So great is the popularity of these Stoves, that many imitations of it are put into the market, such as the Granite State, Empire State, &c.; but none of them are equal to it in weight or quality of castings, cooking facilities, or economy of fuel.

To all who are in want of a GOOD Cooking Stove, we would say—buy a BAY STATE, and you are sure to get THE BEST STOVE IN THE WORLD.

The subscriber has for sale, also, a variety of other Cook Stoves, Cooking Ranges, Parlor Grates, Office and Parlor Stoves, Fannel, &c. for sale low for cash. E. A. STEVENS,

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S

Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 950,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Depot and manufactory, No. 137 Broadway, New York. Retail price 25 cents a large bottle.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w6m je22

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this remedy is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

DR. HAMPTON'S VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the BEST family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER AND KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. K. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Duman, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

JNO. H. T. JEROME.

A Voice from the Birth-place of Christopher Columbus, the Discoverer of America.

U. S. SHIP CUMBERLAND,
Genoa, Sardinia, January 17, 1853.

Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray—Gentlemen: The first Lieutenant of this ship, who has been suffering many years from the Dyspepsia, and who has been nearly restored to his usual health by the use of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," desires you to send him one dozen bottles of that medicine.

Lieutenant ——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezzia.

The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of DYSPEPSIA.

I am respectfully yours,

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered. Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE.

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

"($50 05). On demand I promise to pay to the bearer FIVE MILLS for value received.

From the True Flag.

THE GOLD WASHER;

OR THE DAINTIEST LADY WE EVER HEARD OF.

BY FALCONBRIDGE.

Mrs. Brown—you have heard of Mrs. Brown, probably?—was one of those very useful adjuncts to 'society,' more appreciated for their utility than their social worth,—videlicet, a washwoman.

Early one morning, while Mrs. Brown was rushing things through her foaming suds, a colored person knocked at the door of her humble domicil, and being invited in, opened at once the business part of the call.

'You wash for de ladies, ma'am?'

'I do,' says Mrs. Brown, straightening up from her washboard, and wiping the steam and honest sweat from her rather broad and carmine-colored brow.

'Yes, ma'am. Well, missus says she wa-wa-wants a pusson to do her nice wa-wa-wash. in', ma'am, for her,' says the girl.

'Well,' says Mrs. Brown, 'tell your missus to send along her things, I'll do 'em, and de 'em well I'll engage.'

'Yes, ma'am, an' missus wants to know if you wa-wa-wash for de quality, or not, ma'am?'

'Quality?' says Mrs. Brown, 'I guess I do, I don't wash for anybody else but quality; first-rate quality, tell you missus.'

'Yes, ma'am, I tell her,' and the girl disappeared, and the next day came again with a message from missus.

'Missus wants to know, ma'am, when you ca-ca-can do her washin'?'

'Why, any time—la, sakes, any time,' says Mrs. Brown, still in the foaming suds, lathering away.

'Missus says she do-do-don't want you to wash anybody's clo'es de same time as yo-yo-you wash hern, ma'am.'

"She don't? Sakes alive! she must be pertickerler. She don't 'spect I'm goin' for to put off everybody's wash to do hern, does she?" excaims Mrs. Brown with animation.

"Do'no, ma'am," says the girl; "'spect she does; missus bery 'tickler, gorry! guess she is, dat!'

'Umph!' says Mrs. Brown; 'ain't no stuck up' woman, I hope, who 'spects everybody to fly around for her, cos she can't fly around me. I know my business; people I wash for, know how I wash. Who is your missus, anyway?'

'Missus Pompaliner, ma'am,' says the girl.

'Pomperleener?' echoed Mrs. Brown.—'Umph. Well, if she wants me to do her washin' she mus'n't put on any pomposity with me, but send on her things, and I will do 'em; do 'em fine, I'll engage.'

'But missus 'tickler ma'am, an-an-an' she wants to have you do her things all in one time, wid nobody else's tings, you see.'

'Tell your missus that if she's got a hul day's wash, I'll wash a hul day for her; but if she wants me to do a few things for her, I'll do 'em with other people's things or I shant do 'em at all!'

'Yes ma'am,' says the girl, to Mrs. Brown's patriotic declamation.

In the afternoon came the girl with more despatches.

'Missus says, ma'am, she she-she's got a powerful big heap of things to wa-wa-wash, ebery week, an' dat she's mighty 'tickler 'bout 'em, and do 'em fuss rate, and I'll be bound missus pay you berry well for de work, ma'am.'

'Well fetch 'em along, fetch 'em along, child; I kin do 'em to suit, or I'd split up my tubs and board for kindlin', and go to rag gathering at once. Go, fetch 'em along.'

Imagine two girls, tugging, one at either end of a huge willow basket, filled as high as a hay cock with snowy-looking lawns, laces, cambricks, and dimity. Even Mrs. Brown, used to a great deal in her line, seemed quite pin'd to her board when she saw the mountain of Mrs. Pompaliner's things coming to her private laundry to be renovated and purified.

'Heavens and airth!' she exclaims; 'all them?'

'Yes, ma'am,' says one of the girls; 'dar's missus' fine tings—we do-do-do de odder tings ourself, at home.'

'Tumbled out upon the floor, Mrs. Brown again collapses over the pile.

'Heavens and airth! how many handkerchers is there?'

'Missus got de count ob 'em, ma'am; but I 'spects dar's about elebenteen dozen!' says the girl.

'God sakes!' says Mrs. Brown; 'does she use all them?'

'Oh! yes'm; missus use a power ob handkerchers.'

'Your missus sick!'

'Sick, ma'am?' echoes the girl.

'Yes, sick; cos these clothes have a quare smell.'

'Oh! dat's 'fumery, ma'am. Missus use a power ob de 'fumery, ma'am, dozen colones, dozen lavenders, rose-water, an'—an' oder 'fumery, ebery day.'

In fact the clothes were so impregnated with perfumes that the combined aroma about took away Mrs. Brown's breath, and perfumed her domicil equal to a barber's shop for a week's time.

When Mrs. Brown finally begun to sort out the clothes, which she did amid innumerable ejaculatory criticisms, monosyllabic anathemas at the wilful waste in the 'fumery, handkerchers, and so on, of some people,—she was quite 'beat out' to find twelve mortal dozens of fine pocket-handkerchiefs, twelve dozens of fine hose, and about twelve dozens of very fine wardrobe linen articles pertaining to the rather varied and always profuse personal attire of a lady! And of this vast invoice, nothing bore evidence of further speck or use than might occur from the mere putting on and off, the seizing of a handkerchief, the dash of the perfume bottle, the crush of the hand, and the possible presenting to an always soiless countenance!

'Well,' said the highly astonished washerwoman, 'ef that woman ain't a show; I'd like to see her. She seems to live to give other people work. Mussin up fine clothes, sendin' 'em back to be washed and ironed again; then muss 'em again! I'd like to see her; but she's cracked, maybe; a right down fool! Anyhow, she's rich, I 'spect—her clothes ain't hard to wet, wash, starch, iron, and send home, and so here goes to work for the poor cretur, anyway. Ah! what a world this is gitting to be. No sich doins, no such numskulls round when I was a gal,' and thus speaking—confidently to herself—Mrs. Brown dipped into the caloric fluid and—went at it. While thus firing away, in came the girl with another message from 'missus.'

'Missus says, ma'am, here's a bo-bo-bottle ob rose-water, and here's anudder what ain't rose-water; 'spect it's sumthing' else, ma'am. She says yo-yo-you must put dis in your suds, and when yo-yo-you wrench 'em out, put dis 'ere rose-water into de tub ob water ma'am.'

'All this stuff?' cries Mrs. Brown, elevating in her hands the two pint bottles of elaborately illuminated labeled bottles.

'Why, they'll pizen me, child! I ain't agoin' to make a right down fool of myself ef that woman is crazy, nohow,' grumbles Mrs. Brown, sotto voce, and then pitching her voice an octave higher—as she began to 'take the force' that there were fools in the world—people born with bran instead of brains in their heads; and to humor these 'poor creturs' sometimes paid well—she added: 'Go along, child I'll do it. Tell your missus I'll do it all right, and bring the clothes home to-morrow, bright and early.'

The girl left, Mrs. Brown placed the fumery in her closet, from which it was 'still later' extracted for the more utilitarian purposes of scenting the curled locks and slender wardrobe of Mrs. Brown's pretty and bouncing daughter—and went about the washing in the natural way. The morrow came, the things were done—and nicely, too, as Mrs. Brown could do them—and carried home.

The girl, who appeared to be the grand secretary, premier and body servant of Mrs. Pompaliner, came to the door of the plain but rather aristocratically situated domicil of the rara avis missus, and received the clothes, invited Mrs. Brown into the sitting room, and told her to wait, for missus wanted to see her. Mrs. Brown did wait, two mortal hours, as she averred, before the 'show' appeared. And what was Mrs. Brown's astonishment when the missus did appear, to find, instead of the haughty, imperious and elegant dame, or belle—a poor, silly, humble, peevish, fretful hypocondriacal woman, of about two and thirty! She was attended by the 'gal,' and her voice was feeble, and yet she propounded a dictionary of questions and observations, suggestions and reasons—all touching the manner and means by and in which Mrs. Brown executed that everlasting wash!

'But Mrs. Brown 'passed' the fiery or soapey ordeal, and became the washerwoman of the 'show.'

'I'm very particular, very particular, perhaps you think—eccentric, Mrs. Brown, but I am willing to pay well to have things done well,' said Mrs. Pompaliner. She then said to her girl—'Irene, go to my boudoir, select the small coin from the sieve in which I've been washing my gold pieces, and bring down the same.'

Mrs. Brown got a well washed and 'fumed half-eagle, and sloped—quite took down.

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 12, 1853.

CONSTITUTIONALITY OF THE MAINE LAW.

The clergymen of Philadelphia have issued an appeal in behalf of the "Maine Law." In regard to the constitutionality of a prohibitory law, they fortify their position by the highest judicial authority, to wit, the opinion of the Supreme Court of the United States.

The Daily Register says:

"The opinion of all the Judges of the Supreme Court of the United States, on the several points of the law, may be found in the fifth volume of Howard's Reports of Decisions in the United States Courts, page 504."

Chief Justic Taney said:

"If any State deems the retail and internal trafic in ardent spirits injurious to its citizens, and calculated to produce idleness, vice, and debauchery, I see nothing in the Constitution of the United States to prevent it from regulating and restraining the traffic, or from prohibiting it altogether, if it thinks proper."

"Every State therefore may regulate its own internal traffic according to its own judgment, and upon its own views of the interest and well being of its citizens."—[5 Howard, 237.]

Mr. Justice McLean said:

"If the foreign article be injurious to health or the morals of the community, a State may, in the exercise of that great and comprehensive police power, which lies at the foundation of its prosperity, prohibit the sale of it."—[5 Howard, 592.]

And in regard to the destruction of property he said:

"The acknowledged police power of a State extends often to the destruction of property. A nuisance may be abated. Everything prejudicial to the health or morals of a city may be removed. Merchandize from a port where a contagious disease exists, may be excluded, and in extreme cases it may be thrown into the sea."

Mr. Justice Catron said:

"I admit as inevitable, that if the State has the power of restraint by license to any extent, she has the discretionary power to judge of its limits, and may go the length of prohibiting it altogether, if such be its policy."

JESUIT SOLDIERS.—Hear what the Pilot says, in one of its editorials on Irish soldiers in America, who form uniform companies by themselves. Speaking of names of Companies, the editor says,

"If the name of the company indicate foreign sympathies, feelings and purposes, the natives will be positively alarmed, for, surmising as they do, that every Irish American soldier is a Jesuit, they will in fancy almost see in the soldiers a body-guard for the Pope, the cardinals and the Grand Inquisitor. We must never lose sight of the fact that the members of our companies are supposed to be Irishmen and Catholics, and that Ireland and the Church are made by the natives responsible for whatever is done, especially if anything bad be done."

He recommends American and conservative names, and condemns the choice of some companies, who "have chosen names of persons of whom Americans never heard, and who never had any thing in common with Americans. By their choice of name they distinctly announce that they have few sympathies with America—that they are a foreign body encamped on American ground, and that all their hopes, fears, and sympathies are reserved for men, things and places across the water."

All this is sensible, and well said. We have already expressed our objections to "foreign bodies encamped on American ground." We do not approve of any foreign armed company organized in our midst. There ought to be no such thing. No new one should be formed; and the old ones should be broken up as soon as they can be legally.

THE ARGUS AND MR. NEAL.—Some time ago, in an article which we copied, Mr. John Neal said, "there is more drinking in this city (Portland) and neighborhood, and probably throughout the whole State of Maine, with here and there a doubtful exception, than there has been for any time for many years." This paragraph found its way into the Boston Bee and there fell under the notice of the Portland Argus, which supported Pillsbury, democrat, for Governor. Says the Argus in reply—"If John Neal says so, he could not in the same number of lines, make a more gross misrepresentation, or one more apparent to the men, women and children of this State."

Six prisoners broke out of the county jail in Easton, Pa., on the 5th inst., by cutting the bars out of a window, and making a ladder of their bedding and bedsteads. The House Telegraph line, between that place and Belvidere, was cut the same night, and a large quantity of wire carried away. It is supposed to have been done by the fugitives."

This last dodge is evidence that these prisoners were of the first class of rogues, thoroughly trained, and well posted up in modern arts and sciences.

MORNING HERALD.—We have received the first number of a bright little paper, from Lowell, bearing the above name, purporting to be independent, and containing a good variety of matter.

THE PEACE OF EUROPE.—Robert Walsh, Esq., the regular Paris correspondent of the New York Journal of Commerce, says in a private note to the editors of that Journal, received by the Arabia "As to politics, I am still confident of a pacific solution."

LOCAL.

MORTALITY IN PORTSMOUTH.

The record of deaths in this city, for the four months ending with September, is stated by Mr. Robert Bell, who drives the hearse, as follows:—

JUNE—Males seven—aged respectively, 8 mos., 3 years, 4, 4, 42, 65, 67.

Females five—aged 1 year, 3, 24, 29, 80.

JULY—Males eleven—aged 6 mos., 2 years, 2, 2, 3, 3, 3, 8, 26, 41, 83.

Females fifteen—aged 10 mos., 2 years, 3, 4, 12, 16, 26, 26, 27, 40, 48, 56, 65, 74, 80.

AUGUST—Males four—aged 4 years, 17, 19, 59.

Females eight—aged 6 mos., 7 mos., 9 mos., 11 mos., 37 years, 42, 84, 90.

SEPTEMBER—Males five—aged 6 mos., 5 years, 25, 60, 94.

Females eleven—aged 8 mos., 3 years, 48, 54, 61, 65, 66, 76, 80, 86, 91.

Total in June 12, in July 26, in August 12, in September 16. Total for the four months 66—27 males, 39 females. There were perhaps a few interments of very young children, which did not come within the knowledge of our informant.

LECTURES ON ATHENS.—Mr. Robinson's lecture on Monday evening, at the Hanover Street Chapel, was attended by a rather select and intelligent audience, only about half a room full, but more people than we expected to see, after so modest and moderate an announcement.

Mr. Robinson has no tricks of oratory, and not many of its arts; but he is master of his subject, engrossed in it, and handles it with consummate ability. His manner of speaking is plain and distinct; in some passages energetic and impressive.

His lecture on Monday evening, after some general remarks on Athens as a Democracy, embraced particulars and accurate descriptions of the Temple of Theseus, the Pnyx, and Mars Hill, on the last of which Paul preached against idolatry. Each of these descriptions was illustrated and embellished with legends, myths, or quotations from history, at once refreshing to the classic scholar and intelligible to the most juvenile auditors. At the close he announced the next lecture for Wednesday evening, but on account of Ole Bull's Concert, it will be on Friday evening, when we bespeak for him a numerous audience.

HOWARD DRAMATIC COMPANY.—This excellent dramatic corps, under the management of Mr. W. B. English, the former director of the Howard Athenæum, Boston, we learn will open the Cameneum for three evenings, commencing Monday next. On this occasion, in addition to the usual attractions of the corps, which numbers many ladies and gentlemen of talent, will be introduced one of the greatest novelties of the day, the celebrated melo dramatic performers, Mr. B. Cony, E. F. Taylor and Master Eugene Cony, with their remarkable trained dogs, Bruin and Yankee, who have seen astonishing multitudes of people in all the principal theatres in the Union. Having just finished a fine engagement at the Portland theatre, and now being en route for Boston, they will remain but three nights in this city. They have, we hear, new and beautiful scenery, appropriate dresses and appointments, and everything requisite to give the most complete effect to their performances. The Orchestra will be under the direction of Mr. Henry Jungnicked, a gentleman of great talent and experience.

HIGH SCHOOL.—We understand that Aurin M. Payson, A. M., Preceptor of Berwick Academy, has been appointed Principal of the High School for Boys in this city, and has accepted the appointment. Mr. Payson is a graduate of Dartmouth College, and has won and sustained an excellent reputation as a teacher in the seminary which he now leaves to take up his residence among us. He is a brother of Mr. John P. Payson, who has long been a successful teacher of boys in this city.

☞ Secretary Dobbin, of the Navy, and suite, visited the Navy Yard at this station yesterday at 11 o'clock, and were received with the customary salute of 18 guns.

The U. S. Gazette, whig paper, in speaking of Mr. D., says:

"I am happy to know he is a reformer. He sees that the navy has fallen into a very inefficient and slip-shod condition, and has the courage to propose radical reforms. He does not see in the present condition of affairs arguments for the restoration of the lash. He will protest earnestly against corporeal punishment, and suggest effectual substitutes therefor."

We hope he may also suggest the abolishment of the spirit ration. It is gone from the merchant service; gone from the army. Why keep it in the navy?

LIGHT WANTED.—Does anybody know why we have no City gas lights, on such dark rainy evenings as were Monday evening, and one or two evenings last week. Doubtless here, as in Boston and New York, the lamplighter is bound to look at his Almanac, and if that says "moon," never a bit of gas does he ignite, come moon, rain, or what-not. But there should certainly be discretion used by somebody, and when light is needed, that should be used too.

THE STOCKING FACTORY.—We learn that Mr. John Brugger, who was formerly foreman in the Portsmouth Hosiery Co.'s works, and who since their removal to Franklin, has been manufacturing with another gentleman, on Church Hill, has in company with others, purchased the property of the old company, at the Crock, and will rebuild and resume the business there immediately.

☞ On our outside to-day, among other interesting things, we give the last insertion of three columns of Boston Business Cards, from the great American Newspaper Agent, V. B. Palmer. Our Advertising patrons, at home and abroad, so favor us, that we are obliged to put whatever we can on the outside; but the Chronicle is read, and there is no better way of bringing a thing before the public, than through its columns, as everybody knows. And like a city omnibus, though apparently crowded to its utmost capacity, there's always room in it somewhere.

☞ Mr. Kimball commences a Private School for Boys, this morning, in one of the Temple vestries—we understand, with quite quite a large number of scholars.

THE CONCERT THIS EVENING.

There was quite a rush for tickets at Shore's, yesterday, and there will be a good audience at the Temple to-night. Below we give a word for the performers, from a Boston paper of a few days since:—

From the Boston Transcript.

OLE BULL'S CONCERT.—The opening note of the musical campaign was struck last night at the New Music Hall, before a large and fashionable audience which had assembled once more to listen to the delicious playing of the world famous Ole Bull.

After the long and unbroken series of triumphs he has enjoyed since he first burst upon the sense of the musical world as a star of the first magnitude, he comes to bid us farewell. His memory will remain endeared to us by fond recollections of the purity of his style, the impassioned earnestness of his playing, and the amiable traits of his character which have made him beloved wherever he has been known. "May the future be for him as full of joy as has been the past of success."

He was worthily supported by Strakosch, and the child phenomenon, little Patti.—Strakosch played admirably. The arrangement from Lucia was beautiful, retaining clearly the meaning and force of the theme, while at the same time, the framework of variations and accompaniment in which they were set, heightened, and made still more pleasing, the whole. Of little Patti, what shall we say? We hardly know what is upermost in our mind surprise our admiration. That so young a child should possess the ease and nonchalance of the veteran cantatrice is amazing, and although much has been said in her praise, she has not received more than her due. Aiming at nothing less than the most difficult compositions, those combining requirements of vocal execution and expression in the highest degree, she achieved a success that fell but little short of perfect.—The purity of her intonation is remarkable, and the strength of her upper notes is truly wonderful. If she is not forced too much now, and improves as she naturally will with the increase of physical strength and mental cultivation, we can imagine no limits that will set bounds to her capabilities as a vocalist.

Another concert is announced for Friday evening, in the same hall. Patti will sing a cavatina from "Ernani," "Ah! non giunge," Madame Anna Bishop's celebrated song, "I am a Bayadere," and the "Echo Song." Strakosch will perform "Caprice Russe," and "Souvenir d'Otello." Ole Bull will perform four times; one of the selections is the famous "Witches' Dance," composed by Paganini.

THE STATE FAIR—Premiums.—The Manchester Mirror of Monday evening, gives a full report of the awards at the late Fair at Manchester, excepting on Farm crops and essays. Among them we find the following of particular local interest here. We are pleased to see that the Judges agree with us in awarding our talented townsman the highest premium in the department of Painting in which he competed.

Two of the judges decided that the Pears presented by A. W. Haven, Esq., of Portsmouth, were entitled to the first premium; but Mr. H. being on the committee, refused to receive any award.

COURTS IN OCTOBER.—The Court of Probate for Rockingham County, holds a session at Exeter on Wednesday, 12th. The Court of Common Pleas commences an adjourned term in this city, on Monday next, 17th.

SPUNKY.—On the day of the Cattle Show at Exeter, 16th Sept. we saw a little Bartlett Pear tree, in the garden of Isaac Flagg, Esq., so heavily laden with pears of the largest size, that we should judge from appearance, that the fruit was considerably heavier than the tree. And notwithstanding all this, the little tree, not more than four feet thigh, had exerted itself so mightily to do something wonderful, that it had actually blossomed; the bright full flower adorning the limb that was bending with delicious ripened fruit.—Dover Gazette.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—The dispute concerning the Methodist Book concern has been referred, by both parties, to Judge McLean, who is expected in this city in a few days, to meet the Commissioners of both branches of the Methodist Church.

Charles B. Morrison, a conductor on the Cincinnati and Dayton Railroad, was run over by the cars on Friday, and instantly killed.—He belonged to Massachusetts.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 10.—New Orleans papers of Tuesday last are received. They continue to give awful accounts of the ravages of the yellow fever in the interior of the State.—Washington had almost been depopulated.

The opening address of the Baltimore Mechanics' Institute Exhibition is being delivered this evening, by Attorney-General Cushing. There is an immense concourse of people.

PROVIDENCE, Oct. 10.—The elegant unfinished block on North Main street, owned by James Arnold, of New Bedford, and the lower floor occupied by Thomas Whittaker & Son, was destroyed by fire this morning. The loss is about $40,000. The Messrs. Whittaker lose about $5000 over their insurance. No insurance on the building. It is supposed that the building was struck by lightning; four persons were injured by the falling walls. One man named Neal O'Doughty, was beaten and killed in a fight at the fire.

BUFFALO, Oct. 10.—The steamer Keystone State, of the Dunkirk and Detroit line, collapsed a flue on Saturday in Detroit River, scalding two firemen badly.

CHICAGO, Oct. 6th.—The liquor store of Tirrill & Haven was burnt last night, together with its stock. Loss about $25,000.

DEATHS IN CALIFORNIA.—At Oregon Bar, Middle Fork American River, August 5, Mr. George B. Dean, aged 48 years, formerly of Providence, R. I.—In Stockton, Captain Andrew Pratt, late of Nantucket, Mass., aged 48.—In San Francisco, 14th September—Geo. S. Cutts of Portsmouth, N. H., aged 40. September 12th, at the U. S. Hospital, Mr. William Skinner, a native of Maine, 33 years.

INTERMENTS IN SAN FRANCISCO.—James T. Bigsby, Maine; George Scott, New Hamsphire, 25; Col. J. S. L. Mason, Providence, R. I., aged 37

RESULTS OF FEVER.—At New Orleans, the whole number of interments for nineteen weeks, was 10,960, of which 8,143 were of fever cases.

LICENSES REVOKED.—The United States Inspectors for the district of New Orleans have revoked the licenses of W. Elliot, pilot of the steamer Southern Belle, and Mr. Olmsted, pilot of the steamer Daiel Boone, for the neglect of duty, in consequence of which a disastrous collision occurred between these steamers.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—An accident occurred at the railroad bridge at Richmond, on Monday evening. Several persons who were in attendance at the annual meeting of the Friends at that Place, when two of them—an elderly man named David Miles, and a young lady—made a mis-step and fell through the bridge, a distance of eighteen feet. Mr. Miles died on Tuesday. The young lady fell on top of Mr. Miles, and escaped with slight injury.—Cincinnati Gazette.

POISON.—A little girl, five years old, named Margaret A. Fahrenholz, died in New York on Thursday, in consequence of eating the poisonous seeds of the plant Apple Peru, some times called stinkweed.

NEW YORK CANAL TOLLS AND TRADE.—The tolls on the New York canals on the 4th week in September amounted to $105,297. The whole amount this season is $2,230,484, and the increase this year over last is $28,567, which has accrued entirely on up freight or merchandise, and on down freight from New York state.

THE SPRINGFIELD MASS. MURDER.—Elijah Blake, Coroner, held an inquest on Saturday upon the body of George Sands, the negro killed Friday afternoon, on the hill. Five witnesses, three men and two women, gave an account of the affair. The verdict of the jury was that George Sands died of the two discharges of a musket fired by his brother, Horace Sands.

After the inquest, the prisoner was arraigned before Judge Morton. The complaint charging him with the murder of George Sands, was read to him, and upon being called to plead to it, he plead guilty. The Judge asked him if he understood the complaint and the effect of his plea, and he said he did not. The judge then told him he was under no obligation to plead guilty, and if he insisted upon that plea, he would be sentenced to be hung. If he pleaded not guilty, he would have a trial and counsel to assist him. The prisoner then said he would plead not guilty.

The parties and the witnesses present were all colored. The prisoner is a young man, apparently about 25 years old, and has a wife. He is said to have been of a quiet and peaceable disposition. It would seem from the evidence that George and his mother got into a fight, and Horace took his mother's part, and that the parties were all probably under the influence of liquor. There was evidence that Horace had suspected George of improper intimacy with his wife. The father of the young men is a steady and respectable man. The mother is notorious throughout Springfield as a drunken, fighting and ugly old woman.—Springfield Republican.

DEATH OF MRS. WEBSTER.—Mrs. Catharine Webster, widow of the late Professor John W. Webster, of Harvard Univerity, who murdered Dr. Parkman, died at her residence in Cambridge, on Monday morning, after an illness of about thirty-six hours. Her age was about fifty years. She was a native of the island of St. Michaels, in the Azores, and was half sister of the mother of Wm. H. Prescott, the historian. She was a lady of great amiability and cultivation, and was highly beloved and respected by a very large circle of acquaintances. She leaves four daughters, two of whom are married and reside at the Azores. The other two lived with their mother in Cambridge.

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and moarn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily arising upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglects to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriage, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has she love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

FRANK HOWARD;
OR, GETTING AN ENDORSER.
CHAPTER I.

My friend, Frank Howard, was a dry goods dealer in W— street. When I made his acquaintance, he was one of the most active and successful salesmen in the trade; and, being a prudent man, had saved a small sum of money, with which, and the credit he might be able to obtain, he proposed to commence business on his own account.

Among his acquaintances he had the good fortune to include a wealthy merchant, whose judgment had led him to form a lofty estimate of the business capacity of my friend.

To him the young aspirant for mercantile honors stated his case, and the conference ended in a voluntary proposition, on the part of the merchant, to supply the goods necessary to stock his store, taking his notes—the first of which would fall due in one year—in payment.

The arrangement was completed, and in a few days Frank found himself installed in a convenient store, on the best part of the street, ready to strike for his fortune.

The notes had not been signed, and one evening, in some business connected with them, Frank called, by appointment, at the princely mansion of his worthy benefactor. He was ushered into the sitting-room, where the merchant was reading the evening paper. By his side sat a beautiful young lady, to whom his patron politely introduced him.

My friend belonged to that anomalous class of beings styled handsome men—at least the ladies all said he was handsome, though, for the life of me, I could never tell wherein his beauty consisted. But, as I have no particular fancy for masculine beauty, it may have escaped my notice, or the natural selfishness of mankind may have prejudiced my judgment.

My friend was acknowledged by all the ladies to be a remarkably handsome man; and probably this was the secret of his immense success as a salesman. Whether he reckoned his beauty as one of the items of his stock in trade, when he went into business, I am unable to say; but I have not the least doubt he based his hopes of success, to a great extent, upon the influence of his prepossessing personal appearance.

Frank fixed his eyes on the young lady, as the merchant, who had, as he entered, half read a money article in his paper, turned to finish it. Miss Allen—such was the name by which she had been presented to him—was busily engaged in crotcheting a silk purse, and, as she bent over the work, Frank was perfectly satisfied that he had never seen so pretty a face in his life.

And then the neatest, most graceful little foot in the world protruded from beneath a light silk dress—a foot which completely turned Frank's head, so that he forgot all about the notes and the merchant.

Without the least regard to etiquette, politeness, good breeding, and all that sort of things, he stared mercilessly at her, and never, for even the fraction of a moment, removed his gaze, not even allowing himself the luxury of winking, lest the time so employed should be lost.

Frank was perfectly sure that he had never before felt exactly as he did at that halcyon moment. It seemed as tho' all the divinities of paradise were concentrated in the fair form before him—as though he had been transplanted to an elysium of love.

And the maiden was not altogether unmoved. The embryo merchant several times detected her in the act of stealing a glance at him thro' the long, fringing eyelashes that adorned her peerless brow. He plainly saw her blush—saw her bosom heave with a flutter, as she caught his earnest gaze.

Frank Howard was a handsome man, and, somehow or other, men and women, who are favored in this respect, always contrive to find it out. Frank know that he was a handsome man, and never in his life did he more devoutly thank his stars, which had given him personal beauty, than at this particular moment.

The lady had already found out that he was handsome, and, if the stupid fellow had not stared so furiously at her, she would no doubt have done the same thing he was doing.

Mr. Allen finished the money article, and laid down the paper. Frank has owned to me that he wished it had been twice, or even four times as long.

The details of the business were discussed and the papers drawn. While it was in operation, Frank more than once detected the beautiful fairy in the act of looking at him—several times detected her in the very act of blushing when their eyes met.

The business was finished at last, much to the regret of my handsome friend, who, when he got into the street, went straightway into a fit of abstraction, and had walked half way across C— bridge, on his way home, before he happened to think that he lived at the South End.

It was all up with poor Frank; he had fallen in love—was stark, staring mad in love—with whom he knew not, for it was well known that Mr. Allen had no daughter. She was a relative, however, for she bore his name.

But, if Frank was in love, there was some consolation in the fact that the fair creature who had stolen his heart was in the same predicament.

The next day she came a shopping at his store and the next, and the next; indeed, almost every day. No conversation had passed between them, and, tho' he had been introduced on the evening of his visit, he had been too much overwhelmed to use words.

My friend, however, did not lack that necessary attributed of a successful wooer, somewhat vulgarly termed 'spunk.' He had no further business with the merchant; but then his case was a desperate one, and he made an errand.

Miss Allen blushed as he entered, but she was social and agreeable to the last degree; so much so that Frank staid till the bells rang for nine o'clock before he knew it. The ice was broken, and my friend was in for it.

The lady was a niece of the merchant, twenty one years of age, and an heiress. In the course of a few months Frank's energy won the victory, and it was understood that they were engaged.

The merchant did not like it. Being somewhat exclusive in his ideas of social intercourse, the prospective marriage of his wealthy niece to a poor retailer was repugnant to the last degree, and he resolved to thwart the the purpose of the loving couple.

At first he appealed to the lady; but she only laughed at him; told him bluntly that she loved Mr. Howard, and would have him. Then he reasoned with Frank on his ingratitude, to him his benefactor.

The young man was touched, and promised to consider it. He did consider it, and his loving inamorata helped him to consider it.—After a hasty deliberation, it was unanimously agreed to lay the whole matter 'on the table.'

Mr. Allen was informed of the decision, and, as old fogies always do when they cannot do anything else, bit his lip and swallowed his words, fully resolved to do something dreadful whenever an opportunity occured.

Concluded to-morrow.

APPLES are scarce and dear in this quarter. But we are glad to learn, by the following item from the St. Louis, Missouri, Intelligencer, of the 4th inst., that apples, as well as other fruits, are plentiful there.

The Famous Fruit Year.—Like the many years which take their designation from some remarkable events which may have happened within their annual round, 1853 may fairly receive from us of the West the title of the "Fruit Year." Not only have those fruits of the orchard and garden, which flourish in ordinary years among us, such as the apple, peach, quince, pear and different varieties of cherry and plum, abounded this season, but other fruits, such as the apricot, nectarine and the more valued kinds of plum and cherry have come to great perfection and yielded profusely. These last have been spared from those pests of untimely heat and frosts, of destructive insects and unaccountable blights, which have hitherto for so long been fatal to the hopes of such of our horticulturists as have been anxious to extend the list of our fruits.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE,
ROCKINGHAM COUNTY.

The Fall Session of this Institute will be held in the VESTRY of the 1st Congregational Church in Exeter. The exercises will commence on and close on Saturday, November 5th. The usual hours for commencing will be half past 8 o'clock in the morning, and 2 and 7 o'clock P. M.

MONDAY, Oct. 31st, at 10 o'clock A. M.,

The services of the following eminent instructors are engaged:

Prof. DANA P. COLBURN, in Arithmetic and Geography,
Prof. J. G. HOYT, in Algebra;
" S. S. GREEN, of Brown University, in Grammar;
Prof. T. J. WHITTAKER, in Drawing and Penmanship;
DANIEL BARNARD, Esq., in reading;
JAMES W. CLARK, in Music;
CALVIN CUTTER, M. D., in Physiology and Hygiene.

There will be a lecture on Monday Evening, by Rev. ASA MANN, of Exeter. The other evenings will be occupied by Lectures of a general character, by some of the Instructors, on subjects connected with their respective departments.

Each member of the Institute is requested to have present a Bible, Dictionary, Russell's School Reader or Town's Fourth Reader, and a small Blank-book; and to have his or her full name and residence written on a slip of paper or card, ready to hand to the Committe of Reception, on entering the Institute, so as to expedite the organization. Arrangements will be made for commodious boarding places, at reasonable rates.

Committee of Arrangements, Visitation and Report: Rev. A. MANN; WM. G. PERRY, M. D., C. E. GERRY, A. B., and E. G. DALTON, A. M.

Arrangements have been made to render the institute every way worthy of the hearty support of the Teachers of the County. The interests of our Common Schools demand such a support. It is therefore earnestly desired that every resident teacher of the County, and those residing in other counties who propose to teach in this, young and old,—the patriarchs of the profession, as well as the fresh candidates for its hard earned honors, should be present at the opening of the Institute, and continue to its close.

Prudential Committees are respectfully requested to defer the commencement of the Winter Schools so far as to allow the Teachers to attend the Institute; and it is hoped that they will encourage their attendance. And the Commissioner invites the attendance of Superintending and Prudential Committees and parents, of the older pupils in our Schools, and of the friends of our Common Schools generally, upon the Institute.

☞ The Committees and other citizens, who receive circulars, are requested to see that they are suitably distributed through their towns, and posted up in the most public places.

School Commissioner for Rockingham County.

POLITICAL SPECULATIONS.

The New York Herald describes the split in the democratic party in New York more plainly than any other paper, and asserts that the whig party which was said by many to be dead, is alive and awake, being revivified "by the spell of the potent magician, Wm. H. Seward," whom the Herald expects to see nominated as the whig candidate for the presidency in 1856.

We deem this last predicted event to be quite unlikely. The signs of the times are not greatly in favor of nominating men so conspicuous or so able as he is, by either of the two great political parties. Were Mr. Seward a free soiler, or free democrat, he would doubtless be a candidate for that party. But Mr. Seward is and has been, of the whig party, and has been as eminent there, as Cass, or Buchanan, or Douglas, among the democrats.

Besides, Mr. Seward is as strongly and openly and steadily anti-slavery in his views, as he is whig. These things together, render his chances of a nomination and election to the presidency, small indeed. Some general, not yet known to fame, may start up on his war horse, and become victor in the race whose goal is the White House. Some obscure politician may suddenly become illustrious, suppose himself to be a statesman, and rise to eminence astonishing to himself and every body else.

And if none of these events happen, we expect rather to see some new men brought out on both sides. We take it for granted that the one term principle is established, if not for nomination, certainly for election. Since Andrew Jackson, no one has been re-elected president. We have had seven presidents since that time—of whom two have been run down on attempting to run in a second time, two have come in by succession, two have died, and one still lives in office. And our parties are splitting, and mixing, and fusing every hour.

Some whig party may rally, by and by, nominate a candidate, and run him in. Or some democratic party may do it. But what whig, or what democratic party it shall be, is wholly unknown. Shall these future parties have Conventions? Shall they have Platforms? Or shall some new expedient for nomination be devised? Shall we see such a state of things again, as we have once witnessed, when Adams, Clay and Jackson went to the House, and by the coalition of the two former, Adams was chosen?

Every man in the country can see, that the combined party which elected President Pierce is no longer combined. What new connexions and coalitions will be formed, no man can tell.

THE SANDWICH ISLANDS.

Late papers from Honolulu, give accounts of several meetings of the inhabitants, mostly foreign residents, which have petitioned the king to dismiss from office G. P. Judd and Richard Armstrong, Ministers of Finance and Instruction. Messrs. Judd and Armstrong were formerly ordained missionaries of the American Board.

One of the Vice Presidents of the great meeting, was Capt. David Pearce Penhallow, formerly of this city.

The meeting adopted a preamble stating that the people should be the source of power in all governments, and then resolved, in substance,—that the wishes of the people should be consulted in appointing ministers—that the members of the meeting were quite loyal to the king, so long as he behaved so as to suit them—

That the Ministers of Finance and Public Instruction, members of his Majesty's present cabinet, are not so fortunate as to have either the confidence or esteem of this meeting, nor, as we believe, of any considerable portion of his Majesty's native subjects, or of foreign residents throughout his kingdom, and that their retention in office is in direct opposition to the wishes and interests of a very large majority of the natives and citizens of the Sandwich Islands.

That these same ministers, having command of the principal channels of influence, viz.: Treasure, education, and the almost absolute control of government patronage, have most wickedly deserted their duty in not using the means within their control to protect the people from the pestilence which is now depopulating the islands.

They also resolve that about $2000 would vaccinate all the people—and lastly to appoint a committee to prepare their petition to the king.

We look upon the neglect of vaccination, not as the cause, but merely as the occasion of these revolutionary movements. The causes lay farther back; and perhaps we do not understand them all; but the foreign residents there have always been jealous of the influence of the missionaries, and especially of Dr. Judd.

The petition was presented to his majesty on the 2d of August, signed by 262 whites—a majority of the male white inhabitants of Honolulu, and 12,000 natives.

☞ The Illustrated Magazine of Art, for October, gives us a fine likeness of Father Beecher, we mean the Rev. Dr. Lyman, father of all the celebrated Beechers, including Mrs. Harriet B. Stowe, himself perhaps the noblest Roman of them all. Self possession, energy and determination, stand out on his portrait. Honesty and earnestness dwell in his eye. And, (though that is not in the portrait,) benevolence warms up his heart and gushes out through the charms of rocky philosophy and iron theology, like the living springs of Franconia from between their granite and metalic surroundings.

We have also in the same number, the Angels St. Michael and St. Margaret appeaning to Joan of Arc.—St. Michael being the well known military archangel mentioned in the epistle of Jude, and St. Margaret being—we don't exactly who.

Sancho Panza at Dinner, while Governor of Batavia, is a capital picture in itself, and a fine offset and contrast to that of Dr. Beecher.

Views of three old Abbeys in Ireland; of a Mosque; two of Hogarths best sketches; St. Robert's Chapel; Bianca; the Proscribed Royalist; and forty illustrations of Napoleon's Tomb,—all these complete the first of wood engravings. The matter accompanying and explaining the arts, is just enough to add interest to the pictorial part of the work.

We receive it from T. Parker, publisher.—Mr. Morse is the agent.

MUSIC.—We don't mean that made by Ole Bull or Jenny Lind, or any of that class of singers—but the political music is of the most extraordinary cast just now. The Concord Reporter and Patriot in this State, the Boston Courier and Post, the New York Evening Post and Tribune, the Washington Union, and last but not least, President Pierce and Secretary Guthrie, are getting up some of the most intricate chromatic passages. And the Grand Chorus, when Congress meets, will be something to remember for a life-time. The organists all over the country are piping up on all sorts of tunes now, and when Congress adds its "four and twenty fiddlers all in a row," we may expect a grand crash, not exactly of harmony, but certainly of 'noise and confusion.'

The Democracy of Suffolk Co., Mass, hold a meeting in Faneuil Hall, Boston, on Tuesday evening, when they resolved among other things, that the "liquor law" ought to be repealed.

The resolutions were followed by a speech on the new constitution, by Hon. Geo. S. Boutwell, who, as Governor, vetoed that law first, and signed it afterwards.

EDUCATION OF PEOPLE OF COLOR.—In the midst of all the conflicts and disputes that have arisen in relation to the social position of "free persons of color" in the United States, it is not a little remarkable that the work of education has progressed among them to the extent that it has in the larger cities on the border lines of slavery. In Baltimore there have long since been many prospering schools for colored children, as there have been of late years in Washington also; and we are to-day in receipt of a letter from a highly respectable and intelligent lady of the latter city, which says:

"I have gratified my curiosity by an examination of the school for colored girls, on M street, between 19th and 20th streets, opened last Monday. It was established nearly two years since, and has been well sustained; the pupils—an average of forty in number—making marked progress in all the branches taught, and paying strict regard to neatness in dress and person, and exhibiting great skill in whatever is attempted, and manifesting remarkable ease, quietness and propriety of manners and deportment. It is designed to give them thorough instruction in all the branches of school education, and thus to prepare them to instruct their own people in this or any other country where their services may be in demand. I think the popular objections to the instruction of these people are subsiding, and that the best slaves are found to be the best instructed."

We doubt the accuracy of this opinion, and incline to the belief that so long as the temptation and the opportunity are before the negroes to escape from slavery, so long will the indisposition of their masters to have them instructed continue.—Baltimore Clipper.

The Clipper is correct, undoubtedly. The masters, most of them, will withhold instruction, but the servants will steal learning, and having accomplished this, they will often manage to steal themselves.

FIENDISH.—On Tuesday morning as the New York train, via Norwich and Worcester, was within a few miles of the latter place, the engineer espied a big 'sleeper' or large, heavy timber lying across the track; he stopped the engine, however, in time to avoid a collision. The train had scarcely got well under way once more, when he encountered another—and yet another; and ere a mile had been passed, no less than six timbers were found lying directly across the track. The devils incarnate who placed these obstructions there, thereby endangering life, should, if possible, be ferretted out, and dealt with as they deserve.—Boston Post.

He who obstructs a train in this way, aims to kill and destroy, he knows not whom nor how many; and is, therefore, so much worse than a common murderer, who kills but one.

The Washington Star denies that the removal of collector Bronson, of New York, had been ordered.

LOCAL.

CONFECTIONERY.—Mr. Charles H. Fernald, who occupies the old Dunyon stand, corner of High and Ladd streets, has sent us a beautiful sample of his manufactures, in various shapes,—sugar and molasses, sticks, braids, twists, drops, plums, snaps, kisses, hearts, and a host of articles we can eat faster than name. Besides these, are several varieties of beautiful and delicious cake, including one too nice to be eaten anywhere but at a wedding. Mr. Fernald manufactures a large variety of cakes and candies, of the best quality, and purchasers at wholesale or retail will find him disposed to serve them about right. "Encourage your own."

☞ A misterious pie, not of types mixed up, but of custard, also made its appearance anonymously, at the office door yesterday, and was "taken in and done for" with considerable gust. If such doings are to continue and increase, there's no telling what our corpulency may be at Christmas.

N. B.—To whom shall we return the plate?

☞ Capt. Millikin, of schooner Adeline, which sailed from this port yesterday, complains in a letter to us, that a Pilot demanded half-pilotage fees on his vessel, a day or two since, and on his refusing to pay, attached his boat—detaining him a day or more during a fair wind. The Commissioners of Pilotage examined his vessel, and decided that she drew less than seven feet of water, and consequently was not subject to half-fees—and the boat was returned. It seems strange there should have been so much trouble regarding a thing so readily determined.

☞ There are some mean men in the world, and no mistake. The other day, a poor little half-starved, half-frozen bit of a boy, was gathering a few chips in a yard in this city, when the proprietor came out in wrath, tipped over 'the little basket, and gave the child a severe beating.'

☞ The Court of Common Pleas for Rockingham County, commences an adjourned term in this city, on Monday next, 17th.

NEW ICE COMPANY.—We learn that a company has been formed to cut the ice from Jones's Pond, in Raymond, near the P. & C. Railroad, and transport it over that road to export it from this city.

INTERESTING TRIAL.—A correspondent informs us that a trial of considerable importance has been occupying the attention of the Court in session at Alfred Me., Judge Howard presiding. The case is that of Lord vs. Moore, where one F. A. Lord sues John Moore, of Berwick, for procuring the blowing up and burning of his store in Great Falls in 1848, by which Lord lost some $3500. The case occupied four days, and was given to the jury on Monday afteroon, who, after an absence of two an a half hours, returned "unable to agree"—standing, as is stated, eight in favor of the plaintiff and four for defendant. There will probably be another trial next term. Jordan and Clifford for plaintiff, Wells, Bell, Leland, Eastman and Hayes for defendant. Lord was insured some $1400, which he recovered. There is another suit against Moore by the Great Falls Mutual Fire Insurance Co., to recover the amount paid said Lord and S. D. Whitehouse, damage and loss at the said fire. One Curtis is now in the State Prison at Concord, N. H., for the burning, being hired to blow up Lord's store by said Moore in 1849, as appears in evidence.—Boston Journal.

If it is plainly proved as above stated, that Moore hired Curtis to blow up the store, for which crime Curtis is now suffering, we can hardly see how Moore can avoid paying the damage in this civil action. The employment of five lawyers for the defence, looks a little like burying justice and equity out of sight, under a load of legal quibbles and special pleadings.

LOWELL POST OFFICE.—The editor of the new Lowell paper, the Herald, humorously complains that he cannot get so good a bone to pick, as the Lowell Post Office. He says:

Unfortunately, we had engaged in our present affair too soon; besides we are not in good standing in the Democratic faith. If personal service, however, weighs with the President, we would remind him that we had the honor of relieving him of his sword on his return from Mexico, and held the door open for him to rush into the bosom of his family. We flatter ourselves that is something towards it. Can any body show anything better? If so, we shall not pause for a reply.

NASHUA CITY ELECTION.—The first election for city officers of the new city of Nashua, N. H., took place on Saturday last. Two ballotings were had, and the result may be summed up in the election of Josephus Baldwin, whig, Mayor; 6 whig and 2 democratic Aldermen, and 11 whig, 4 democratic and 1 free soil Councilmen.

PENNSYLVANIA ELECTION has gone for the Democratic Ticket of State officers. In Philadelphia, Gilpin, the whig Mayor is re-elected; also, Murphy, the Police Marshal, democrat. In Delaware the new Constitution is doubtless rejected by the people in the election which took place on Wednesday.

Chicago papers bring us the sad news of the death of Annie, the last of Mr. De Wolf's four children, who suffered from the dreadful accident on board the Bay State.

MAINE LIQUOR LAW.—The Whig legislative candidates in Allegheny county, Pa., are all pledged to vote for and support the Maine Law at the next Legislature. Among them is Charles Naylor, formerly member of Congress from the third District, Pennsylvania.

The brother of Dr. J. M. Steiner, who shot Major Arnold, at Fort Graham, denies the truth of the published accounts. He says Arnold fired first upon his brother, which he returned, breaking his arm. Arnold then fired a second time, when Steiner shot him dead.

It is stated that the Queen of Sardinia, who recently paid a visit to the United States frigate Cumberland at Nice, was so pleased with what she saw, that she gave an order to distribute 4000 livres among the crew.

Rev. Henry Ward Beecher comes out in the Independent, denying that his congregation have presented him with "$15,000, to buy a summer residence," as had been stated in the newspapers.

CONSUMPTION OF PAPER.—The Bank of England uses in its accounts, sixty folio ledgers every day. The books are made on the premises, by persons employed by the Bank.

At Camden, N. J., Nathaniel J. Bird, convicted of bigamy, and who acknowledged that he had married twenty wives, was sentenced to ten years hard labor in the penitentiary.

Richard Hildreth in his "Theory of Politics" says, that "there were more ideas in the head of Thomas Jefferson alone, than in all Virginia at this moment."

GOING TO TAKE THE STUMP AGAIN.—It is stated that Rev. J. C. Lovejoy is to take the stump against the liquor law again this fall, in Massachusetts.

If you have a lazy servant, send him on an errand just before dinner, if you wish to see him move.

New Orleans, Oct. 10.—The weather at present is cool and fine, and absentees are returning by thousands, considering that the danger is entirely over.

The health of Mobile is nearly restored, there being only an occasional case of fever. The ships Espindola and Hudson, which have just arrived here from New York, have had their cargoes of dry goods nearly destroyed by the bursting of cases of chloride of lime which had been improperly prepared by Eastern manufacturers. The total loss is estimated at $80,000.

Norfolk, 11th.—The U.S. steamer Alleghany has returned from her trial trip, and is pronounced by the engineers as unfit for service; she made only 5 1-2 knots per hour, with the aid of her sails. Her engine frame split open by the expansion of the vessel, which is of iron, causing a general smash of her machinery.

Pittsburg, Oct. 11.—The contractor of the Steubenville Railroad, whilst riding with a lady near Noblestown in this county, was robbed of $600 by a footpad. He was badly beaten and left insensible.

Washington, Oct. 10th.—The Star of this evening says that there is fear of an armed collision between the Creek Indians and the U. S. Marshal of the Western District of Arkansas, in consequence of his having arrested Indians for introducing spirituous liquors into the Indian Country, and who had been punished under the Indian law for the same offence in the same cases. The Indians are said to be very indignant. The Secretary of the Interior is said to have directed that no more arrests be made until full information and further instructions are given.

Railroads in Boson.—The Mayor and Aldermen of that city on Monday afternoon last, passed an order, by nearly a unanimous vote, to the effect, that on and after January 1, 1854, the cars of the Boston and Maine Railroad, both freight and passenger, shall be drawn over Causeway and Traverse streets by horse instead of steam power, at a rate not exceeding four miles per hour, and that the gates be taken away. In the hearing before the Board, Mr. Minot, for the road, said that those who pressed this measure supposed that it would result in driving the Maine Railroad back beyond Causeway street; but whatever was the expense, they should draw their cars to the station house in Haymarket Square.—The Eastern and Lowell Railroads have also the right to enter Haymarket Square; but whether they will do so or stop beyond Causeway street remains to be seen.

A Wild Man.—A man named Williams was stopping at the United States Hotel yesterday, who might justly be styled a "wild man." He eats nothing that is cooked, nor drinks anything but water. His meats, potatoes, and his vegetables, cabbages, turnips, &c., are all raw. He alleges that he has not eaten any cooked food for several years, and that any deviation from his present mode of living would most probably cause his death.—He resides in Iowa, and is on his way to Washington, to make a purchase of some United States land.—Cincinnati Gazette, Oct. 5.

THE FIVE POINTS.

The New York Herald of Monday says:

For some weeks past considerable excitement has been existing in the neighborhood of the Mission House of the Five Points, in consequence of numbers of Roman Catholics assembling in front of the house and enticing children to leave the school of Rev. Mr. Pease, and enter a school lately started in the vicinity by one or more clergymen of their own sect. Occasionally on Sunday crowds of several hundreds of persons have congregated in front of the Mission House, and serious disturbance has been apprehended. A short time since, a Bible was taken from the hands of a child as he was going to the school, and burned, and while burning, was kicked about by the mob, and afterwards handed in to Mr. Pease. At times the mob have been violent, and Mr. Pease states that he has frequently applied to the police for assistance to arrest the ringleaders, but he has nearly always met with refusal to interfere, or downright abuse. A man named Bartholomew Smith, who has been one of the chief disturbers, as is said, was arrested yesterday by officer Prince John Davis, and held to bail in $300 to answer a charge of assault upon Mr. A. Stonelake, an assistant in the school of Mr. Pease.—Yesterday a serious disturbance was apprehended, and a force of police were on duty near the mission House to prevent it.

Singular Railroad Accident.—The Whitehall Chronicle says:—Mr. Josb Smith, a pedler, who has of late been travelling in this vicinity with a small wagon drawn by three dogs, was, on Saturday last, October first, coming into the village on the Granville turnpike road with his dog team. A short distance above the railraod crossing, at the south end of Williams steeet, he was overtaken by some boys driving a pony wagon. They proposed a race, and the dogs and pony started at high speed. The drivers were so much engaged with the race, while approaching the railroad track, that they did not observe the train of cars just then coming from the east, nor hear the whistle and bell of the engine, but without slackening their speed rushed on.

The boys barely escaped being struck by the locomotive. The man, unfortunately, being a little behind, came on the track just in time to be hit by the cow-catcher. Two of his dogs were killed almost instantly—one escaped uninjured. The man was thrown off the track with one leg broken above the knee in two places, several ribs broken, and some other parts of his body were considerably torn and mangled. He was immediately taken to the house of Mr. J. M. Thomas, where everything was done that kindness and medical skill could suggest. All efforts, however, were unavailing, and he expired about 11 o'clock P. M. Saturday. He had his senses until the last moments, and gave directions to those attending upon him as to the disposition of his property, &c. He had a family residing in Massachusetts, to whom he was returning from a trip to Michigan.

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT!

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefited by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the fall consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or rather still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable for the neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,

PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.

One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.

[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]

First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affections of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's office on the back of the title page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing, at full, Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be ignorant.

☞ On receipt of One Dollar (for the fine Edition, extra binding,) "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION" is sent (mailed free) to any part of the United States. All letters must be post-paid, and addressed to Dr. A. M. MAURICEAU, Box 1224, New York City. Publishing Office, No. 129 Liberty Street, New York.

LINES ON THE BURIAL OF A BRITISH PROTESTANT IN SPAIN.

Not a knell gave out any funeral note,
As his corpse to the shingles we hurried;
And below water mark we had bare leave got
That our countrymen's bones should be buried.

We buried him, dog like, on that mean site,
The tide on the point of turning,
As the wretched Spaniard's bigot spite
With contempt intensely burning.

No use in coffin enclosing his breast,
Nor in sheet nor in shroud that bound him!
For he lay where he scarce would remain long at rest,
With the ocean washing round him.

None at all were the prayers we read;
And we felt more of rage than sorrow,
As we thought on the brutes who insult us when dead,
And don't pay us alive what they borrow.

We thought as we hollowed his shelly bed,
And smoothed down his pebbly pillow,
That the crabs and the lobsters would creep o'er his head,
And we with our fleets on the billow!

Lightly they'll talk of our spirit as gone!
Our guns might to atoms have braved them,
Yet we've let the rascals in this way go on,
Treating those Britons who made them.

But half of our shameful job was done,
When the waves roared the hour of retiring,
And we knew we the distance should have to run,
To divert a rabble admiring.

Sharply and quickly we laid him down,
'Mid the jeers of the monks, young and hoary,
And we said, unless Spain is compelled to atone,
All a humbug is Old England's glory!—Punch

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 950,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous where the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Depot and manufactory, No. 137 Broadway, New York. Retail price 25 cents a large bottle.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w6m je22*

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and cure cases of debilitations as well exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

DR. HAMPTON'S
VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the BEST family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. K. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Dunan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

JNO. H. T. JEROME.

A Voice from the Birth-place of Christopher Columbus, the Discoverer of America.

U. S. SHIP CUMBERLAND,
Genoa, Sardinia, January 17, 1853.

Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray—Gentlemen: The first Lieutenant of this ship, who has been suffering many years from the Dyspepsia, and who has been nearly restored to his usual health by the use of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," desires you to send him one dozen bottles of that medicine.

Lieutenant ——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezzia.

The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of DYSPEPSIA.

I am respectfully yours,

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered. Consumption can be cured! Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

"($00 05) On demand I promise to pay to the bearer FIVE MILLS for value received.

FRANK HOWARD;

OR, GETTING AN ENDORSER.

(Concluded.)

CHAPTER II.

A year after my friend went into business, as I passed his store one morning, I was not a little surprised to find it closed. Before the window was that ominous white cloth, denoting that the occupant had failed.

I entered the store. Frank stood at his desk, glancing with a most woe begone aspect at the pages of his ledger.

'How's this, Frank?' I asked—and I never was more surprised in my life.

'Bust up, don't you see?' replied he, rather petulantly.

'But what does it mean?'

'Mean? why, that I had a note of a thousand dollars due yesterday, which I could not pay; and this morning early, my amiable friend, Mr. Allen, put in a keeper—that's all.'

'How does it happen? I tho't you were doing a rushing business.,

'So I was; I had the money to pay this not six weeks ago, and let Smith have it at two per cent a month,' replied he, with a ghastly smile.

'And Smith has failed?'

'Not exactly; he has stopped, but every body says he is good—if he has time to turn himself.'

'And you must make a fail of it in the meantime?'

'If I could only stave Mr Allen off a couple of months, I could get out of the scrape with flying colors.'

'Won't he wait?'

Frank shook his head; he had mortally offended the proud merchant, and there was no prospect that he would be lenient in the slightest degree.

'Can't you raise the money?

No; times haven't been so hard for four years. Everybody is failing, and the money men won't trust their own fathers.

At this moment Mr Allen entered the store. He looked stern and severe, like one who has the power in his own hands, and is disposed to use it. I seated myself near the desk as he approached.

The merchant politely saluted the unfortunate dealer, smiling as blandly as though nothing had happened—as though he had no niece, and Frank were a Stoic.

'Mr Howard, this is unfortunate; but in the midst of so much commercial disaster, you perceive that it was my only course,' said the merchant, soothingly.

'I suppose it was; but you know the cause of my inability to pay the note,' returned Frank, with a doleful expression.

'Ah, young man, you ought not to have lent the money to Smith; if you had asked my advice, I could have told you better.

'Smith was always supposed to be good.'

The merchant shook his head.

'But, Mr Allen, give me a short time and I can pay the note. Smith assures me he shall recover himself.'

'Mr Howard, I certainly wish you well; I have done all I could to give you a fair start.'

'So you have, sir, and I am very grateful to you.'

'Are you?' and the merchant fixed a keen glance upon the young man.

'I assure that I am.'

'How have you manifested it?' continued the merchant, sternly. But no matter: we meet now as business men.'

'Well, what shall be done?' You have stopped me; I can do no more.'

'I don't wish to be hard; I would wait if prudence would justify it' said Mr Allen. who was keenly sensitive in regard to his reputation for generosity and fairness.

In fact he was a man of good feelings, and only that he meant to punish Frank for falling in love with his wealthy niece, would not have disturbed him.

'You are just as secure two months hence as now,' pleaded Frank.

'I have not that confidence in you, Mr. Howard—I say it franky—which I had once. You have lost a thousand dollars. I doubt if your stock, under the hammer' would pay my notes.'

Frank looked savage, for though he was crest-fallen, he was Frank Howard yet, and felt keenly the unjust imputation of the merchant.

'I wish to be fair, and even indulgent,' continued Mr Allen, before Frank had time to utter the ungracious sentiment that rose to his lips. 'Here is the note; give me one good endorser, and I will wait two months.'

Frank looked up and smiled in contempt at the miserable subterfuge of the merchant, who meant to crush him, and still preserve an appearance of fairness. He knew it would be impossible for the young man, with his stock encumbered, to procure the security.

Will you take Smith? asked Frank hurriedly.

'Of course not.' replied Mr. Allen with a bland smile.

'I will see what can be done; but I think the case hopeless.'

The merchant withdrew, assured his own mind that his revenge was sure, and his reputation safe, at the same time.

Frank and myself canvassed the matter, but we could think of no person whose milk of human kindness was sufficiently abundant to prompt him to do such an insane act.

While we were debating the matter, Frank was struck up by the entrance of Miss Allen.

'How gloomy you look here to day, Frank,' said she, laughing, and showing, in the act, the prettiest row of pearly teeth I ever saw.

'We are gloomy, indeed,' replied Frank, mustering a sickly smile. 'But you know the reason?'

'Why, what reason?' asked she, her merry expression relasping into a serious one.

'You see that man?'

'Yes.'

'He is a keeper!' replied Frank, with tragic effect.

'A keeper! of what? Are you insane?' replied the lady, playfully, for it must be confessed she was not acquainted with the technicalities of business.

Frank laughed, and explained the disaster that had overtaken him.

'Poh!' exclaimed she, with an appearance of relief; and I really believe if the keeper and myself had not been in the way, she would have thrown her arms around his neck, and kissed away his mortification.

I had before been introduced to the lady, and at this moment advanced to join in the conversation.

'And my uncle is the wretch?' continued she, merrily. 'But what can you do—how can you get out of it?'

Frank explained the proposition to procure an endorser for the note. The light-hearted maiden appeared to have but little sympathy for the misfortunes of her lover, and asked all sorts or questions about endorsers, notes and business forms.

'Where is the note you are to have endorsed?' asked she.

'Mr. Allen has it.'

'How can you have it endorsed, then?'

'I can write another,' replied Frank, smiling at the inocence of his betrothed.

'Then write one,' said she, promptly.

'Frank looked at her a moment, to ascertain what mischief was lurking in her mind. She smiled, apparently without the power to prevent it.

The lover, impelled by curiosity as much as any other motive, wrote the note and signed it.

'Now how do you endorse it?' said she.

'By writing the name across the back.'

The lady approached the desk, and turning the note, wrote with two dashes of the pen, Isabella Allen' across it.

'It is endorsed,' said she, with a smile, that told Frank all she meant.

'But, Isabel—'

'Good morning, Frank,' interrupted she, and hastened out of the store.

'Bravo, Frank!' exclaimed I.

He smiled doubtfully; his pride was a little touched.

'Would you use it?' said he, after a long pause.

U'se it! to be sure;' and he did use it.

In the afternoon Mr. Allen called, satisfied in his own mind that he should witness the the complete humility of the young man who had had the audacity to fall in love with an heiress.—Knowing at what hour he would call, I was careful to be present.

'Well, Mr. Howard, how have you succeeded? I have really been in hopes you will be able to secure the paper,' said the merchant, and I could plainly discern the malicious chuckle on his face as he spoke.

'I have succeeded, Mr. Allen, and I am infinitely obliged to you for your good will.'

The merchant was completely staggered at the reply. It was wholly unexpected, and wholly unwelcome also.

'I hope you have procured a good one,' said he painfully.

'A wealthy one, but a name unknown on State street.'

'Can't take it, then,' answered the merchant, promptly, and with renewed hope.

'But a name well known to you,' and Frank handed him the note.

Mr. Allen started back in surprise and anger as he read the name of the fair endorser.

'Very well sir, when a man of any delicacy can resort to such a trick as this, I have nothing more to say to him,' and the crest-fallen merchant, after throwing the old note on the counter, hastened indignantly from the store.

The keeper was withdrawn, and Frank heard no more from Mr. Allen. A week after, Smith paid the money, and Frank took up his note.

Before another of the notes came due, Isabel Allen had become Mrs. Frank Howard. The stock and stand were sold out, the debts paid, and my handsome friend is as happy as a beautiful wife with a heart full of love can make him.

FRIDAY, OCT. 14, 1853.

THE SOFT LETTER.

The New Hampshire Patriot copies Secretary Guthrie's letter about the New York Custom House appointments, and says:

This "letter from the Secretary of the Treasury to the 'Hard' Collector of New York, shows pretty conclusively, what those acquainted with the President were well assured of before, that the policy of the administration in regard to the distribution of patronage is to be adhered to, in spite of the clamor of disappointed and disaffected men. This letter, with the note accompanying it to the Naval officer and Surveyor, is significant—too much so to require any explanation."

By this, we suppose we must understand that the President favors the softs, and will resist the hards, the Old Guard, and so forth. But before we are quite sure of this, we must wait to see Mr. Bronson's answer, and then see whether the President and Mr. Guthrie dismiss Mr. Bronson from his office. We can wait, very patiently, for a few days.

The New York Herald has lately contained several articles bitterly assailing the administration, and demanding the formation of a new Cabinet! These articles are said to have been written by Wm. H. Seward. They are evidently intended for his benefit.—N. H. Patriot.

It is just as likely that Wm. H. Seward wrote these articles against Pierce in the N. Y. Herald, as it is that John P. Hale wrote those against Burke in the N. H. Patriot. The man that can believe the one, need not have any difficulty about swallowing the other.

ATHEISTS.—Judge Bishop, of Massachusetts, in a late trial of a liquor case at Worcester, discharged the prisoner, because the principal witness against him was shown to be an Atheist, whose testimony was ruled out in accordance with the law of that State.

We have more than once alluded to the above as a bad law in its operation, frequently defeating the ends of justice. All witnesses should testify, but their creed, whether Jew or Christian, Atheist, Mahometan or Pagan, might also be put in evidence or in plea against their credibility. And this will be the case, probably, at no very distant day.

☞ Abbott Lawrence presided at a whig ratification meeting in Faneuil Hall, Boston, on Wednesday evening. It is said the house was crowded. Edward Everett was the chief speaker. The heaviest artillery was directed against the proposed new constitution of Massachusetts.

CORRECTING THE TURKS.—The New York Journal of Commerce publishes the following as the substance of a telegraphic despatch received at Liverpool just previous to the sailing of the Arabia, and which was furnished by a passenger in that vessel:

"Three French and English men-of-war had passed the Dardanelles and proceeded to Constantinople, for the purpose, it was said, of protecting the Europeans in that city from the fury of the Turkish populace."

NEW WORK BY MRS. STOWE.—Messrs. J. P. Jewett & Co., of Boston, will immediately put to press Mrs. Stowe's "Record of Travels Abroad," with illustrations by herself. It will make two volumes.

RECONSIDERATION.—Boston papers state, that the First Universalist Society in Boston have receded from a late vote, and appointed a special committee to request both pastors, Rev. Mr. Streeter and Rev. Mr. Ellis, to remain—on the principle we presume, that by going farther they might fare worse.

STREET AMUSEMENTS OF SAN FRANCISCO.—Some John Chinamen, with characteristic genius, have commenced the exhibition of puppet shows in the streets of San Francisco, and are realizing considerable sums by the operation. The shows are curious and interesting, and can scarcely be excelled in mechanical execution. One scene represents a lover meeting his lady; they sing to each other and go through various loving exercises; finally he goes away, and a frightful dragon comes in and devours the fair one.—John returns and slays the ungallant monster, and draws, with great effort, his female Jonah from its mouth.

SECOND ADVENTISM.—The Lowell Courier says that "a lad about 14 years old—rather smart and intelligent, and who has been employed in one of our city bookstores for some time past—has been attending 'Second Advent' meetings, and reading books of the same character, till his mind has received the one idea of the speedy end of the world as paramount to all else. He has left his employer, and cannot be induced to give any further attention to worldly matters. We hear that a day or two since he called on a venerable Doctor of Divinity and labored earnestly to convince and warn him of the near approach of "the end of the earth" and the advent of the Millenium."

RAIN IN SOUTH AMERIA.—Rain occurs at such long intervals in Peru and vicinity, that its occurrence occasions some excitement; the houses of the inhabitants, their apparel, &c., are not arranged with reference to a phenomenon so rare. A recent letter from Calderas, in the northern part of Chili, states that there had been two rainy days in succession, which had brought on an epidemic in the shape of a tertian fever.

A SHARP SHOOTER FROM NEW HAMPSHIRE.—We copy the following from the Portsmouth (Va) Transcript. The midshipman referred to is George H. Perkins, son of Hamilton E. Perkins, Esq., of Hopkinton, in this State:—

SHARP SHOOTING BY A MIDSHIPMAN.—During the recent cruise of the practising ship Preble, an acting midshipman named Perkins, from the Annapolis Naval School, fired with a thirty-two pound shot, twice in succession, directly through the head of a barrel, used as a target, at a distance at from a half to three-quarters of a mile, shivering it to atoms. A third barrel was then sent out, the third shot fired, and at that instant the target sunk in the hollow of the sea, the ball passed through the top of the swell to the spot where the barrel was placed, and had it remained in the position an instant longer, would have shared the fate of the others.—Few old veterans in the service could equal that.

TROUBLE AT THE WOMEN'S RIGHTS CONVENTION.—The following is telegraphed as the conclusion of the proceedings in the Women's Rights Convention, held at Cleveland last week:

"The closing scenes at the Women's Rights Convention were very exciting. Antoinette Brown replied to Barker's infidel speech, denouncing him as a heretic. Garrison replied to Antoinette, in defence of Mr. Barker. Mr. Nevins also replied to Barker, making several personal allusions. He was interrupted several times by Garrison and Barker, who were finally hissed down. Garrison called Nevins a blackguard and rowdy, whereupon great excitement ensued. It was voted to hold the next Convention at Philadelphia, Oct. 18th, 1854, when the Convention adjourned. After the adjournment, Nevins met Garrison in the street and demanded an apology, which was refused. Nevins then laid violent hands on Garrison, pulling his nose, and otherwise abusing him. The latter made no resistance, and Nevins was finally taken off by his friends."

TEMPERANCE LAW.—The meeting of the Boston Democracy, this week, passed the following resolution:

Resolved, That sumptuary laws form no part of the Democratic creed; and believing that the law of 1852, known as the "Maine liquor law," is anti-Democratic in principle, and productive of no good in practice,—that its friends give it only a declamatory support, we go for its speedy repeal; and will advocate, and support in its stead, any well devised law that shall be in harmony with the rights of the people—the popular sentiment and the enlightened judgment of the age; and which, looking to humane and practical results, shall more effectually than this obnoxious law diminish the great and acknowledged evils of intemperance, and prepare the way for the successful labor of the true and honest reformer.

We put this on record, as a part of the history of that law in Massachusetts; and also a distinct assertion of the right to regulate the subject by law.

RAILROADS AND THE MAILS.—The Providence and Worcester railroad ceased to carry the mails between those cities on Monday.—The Postmaster General offers the company $75 a mile, an increase of 15 per cent. on the last contract, but they demand more; and the mails are now carried by horse express twice a day between Providence and Blackstone, and once a day on the rest of the route.

The directors of the Boston, Concord and Montreal railroad company have also notified the Post Office Department, that they shall cease to carry the mails on and after Monday next. They demand the same compensation as is allowed to other roads in New Hampshire and Vermont, which carry the same amount or less mail matter.

SUCCESSFUL TREATMENT.—In Havana, it is said, among the foreign shipping in port there has been considerable mortality, and, what is very creditable to American enterprise and American intelligence, the facts show that in the hospital established by Dr. Wilson—the San Francisco—to break up a system of monopoly that had been obtained for the Pilott Hospital, the proportion of loss of patients has been thirty per cent. less than that at the other house, and the treatment far more successful than in any other institution within reach of the sick. So remarkable are the results, that the Spanish Admiral took advantage of it by sending thirty or forty patients from the Spanish men-of-war in port to the care of the American Institution.

Brig New World, Summers, from Cienfuegos, pat into Havana on the 30th ult., in distress, having lost captain's wife and three men, and having captain and rest of crew sick. She was to sail for New York on the afternoon of the 3d inst.

SHIPBUILDING IN MAINE—the Newcastle Democrat of the 30th, says: "From the windows of our office we can see nine large ships, two of them just launched, and the others in various stages of progress; the smallest of these ships is over a thousand tons burthen, and the largest about twenty-two hundred." In Thomaston the business is not less active, and we learn that there are seven ships of an average tonage of 1200 tons each, now on the stocks in that place, all of which will be launched in three or four weeks.

GOOD SUCCESS.—The Amesbury Flannel Manufacturing Co., after having run their mill for thirty years, during the whole time we believe under the management of Joshua Aubin, Esq., upon the retirement of this gentleman, some months ago, sold the mill and proceeded to close up the affairs. They have recently paid the stockholders $1000 a share, being the par value of the shares, and will probably divide $400 or $500 a share more.—Newburyport Herald.

In Utah they open their balls and dancing parties with prayer, and close with the benediction.

LOCAL.

☞ Ole Bull's Concert at the Temple on Wednesday evening, was worth seeing, hearing, and paying for. We are glad he came here, and glad he had so good a house, netting, as we understand $210, after paying the usual expenses. After Madame Bishop and Mr. Bochsa's insult we were not sure that any foreign artist would get a house here—but Ole Bull has done it. It is a pleasant circumstance that in a city no more populous than this, enough people are found to pay a good compensation for an evening's work of two or three good artists, whether native or exotic.

The audience was genteel or fashionable, as much so as any which we ever convene in like numbers.

As to the Concert; Strakosch, the Pianist, showed himself, as he is well known to be, a master of his instrument; and executed with his accustomed skill, not a few difficult passages.

La petite Patti, or as it might be if her name was spelt Patty, a dear little pie, looked somewhat like a spoiled child, but sung as if she had not been spoiled at all, but being naturally gifted with a fine voice, had had it cultivated to great advantage. Her performances were greatly admired.

Ole Bull, himself, on whose name the audience had collected, is a fine looking middle aged man, with every indication of health and vigor, defective only in a little crook of the neck and shouldier, turning the face somewhat downward, occasioned probably by holding and listening to his violin. This instrument, a very fine one, seems part and parcel of himself, with nerves and muscles, and voice and soul, like a man. Beginning with caution, it seems to the unmusical too much caution, he made it do all sorts of imaginable and unimaginable things except to make bad noises, and of these it did not make one.

We do not like everlasting solos; but he would make us like them, if any body could. And he showed us that a violin in the hands of a great master can do wonderful things, can express all sentiments and rouse all passions within the reach of music.

In short the concert realized all that it promised, and our citizens have listened to these fine foreign performers, who did not pretend to anything which they could not accomplish.

As a matter of mere pleasure, however, many a concert got up in our midst, by natives and residents, and not a few by itinerants, have given us vastly more,—because they had more variety, power, and beauty of selection.

We admire the genius and honor the industry of Ole Bull, in conceiving and bringing forth excellent music from a difficult instrument; but we love rather to be led captive by simple and artless but beautiful strains, and then carried away by a grand chorus of accumulated instruments and voices.

Ole Bull's visit here has not been in vain.

MORE LIFE IN PORTSMOUTH.—At nine o'clock yesterday morning, we met a middle aged man who looked like a laborer, staggering down what used to be called Dennie's hill, in Hanover street, on his winding way among pedestrians, drays, carts and wagons, of which the street at that time happened to be pretty full. He got on the side walk several times, but could not stay there, nor keep on one side of the street, but was all over it. He had evidently been drugged with some poisonous substance which crippled his limbs and bewildered his brain.

☞ Engine Co. No. 4, in Great Falls, are to give a Levee on the 20th inst., in honor of the introduction of the eleven hour system in the mills of that town. The Saco Quadrille Band are engaged for the occasion.

☞ The Court of Common Pleas for Rockingham County, commences an adjourned term in this city, on Monday next, 17th.

☞ We are indebted to Edward N. Mathes for a copy of the Catalogue of Dartmouth College. The total number of students is 318—medical students 54, undergraduates 236, scientific school 28. Besides Mr. Mathes, now in the senior class, we notice from Portsmouth—in the freshman class, John Burgin Hazelton, son of Mr. Ira Hazelton, who recently took one of the Haven prizes; and in the middle class of the Chandler School, Simeon Rufus Marston, son of Mr. Simeon Marston near the Plains.

CHARMS, OR CHASMS.—The types on Thursday morning made us talk of the charms of rocky philosophy and iron theology." These would not strike the reader as very charming; but we wrote of a good old man, that "his benevolence warms up his heart, and gushes out through the chasms of rocky philosophy and iron theology." This expressed our meaning exactly; but the change of one letter S into R, made utter nonsense of the passage.

Mr. Moses Foster of Groveland Mass., harvested 17 bushels winter Rye, from 10 quarts of seed, and 70 rods of land, the past season.

CHARLESTON, Oct. 12.—Jas. E. Broome was inaugurated as Governor of Florida on the 3d inst. In his inaugural he takes ground for the removal of the Seminole Indians, considering them as a blight to the prosperity of the State; that their stay is a violation of their treaty obligations and in open defiance of the power, authority and importunity of the Federal government; and will consider it a part of their constitutional duty to see the law of the last session providing for their final removal faithfully executed. He advocates common schools, rail roads, improvements, &c., and promises his hearty support to Gen. Pierce's administration.

HABEAS CORPUS CASE.

A Philadelphia despatch of Wednesday says:

The Habeas Corpus case of Deputy Marshals Jenkins and Crossier was again called up in the Circuit Court to-day. Judge Grier said he would not allow the counsel employed by the abolitionists, John Paul Brown, to come into court as a private prosecutor to interfere with the officers of the government in the execution of their duties.

Mr. Brown asked if it was to be understood that no private prosecution could be presented by counsel in proceedings against officers of the government.

The Judge said that the Court would not be questioned by any person.

Mr. Ashmead then asked that the officers be discharged.

Judge G. said that it must be shown that they were acting by authority.

Commissioner Ingraham testified to issuing the warrant.

The Marshal testified to sending his deputies to execute it; and Deputy Wynkoop testified to witnessing the resistance made by the fugitive to the deputies under arrest.

The Judge said he would give his decision on Saturday.

This is probably a mere skeleton report, and may do injustice to Judge Grier; but if it be correct, he should amend his temper or leave the bench.

SOUNDINGS IN THE GULF STREAM.—A letter from A. D. Bache, Superintendent of the Coast Survey, says:

"In running the section across the Gulf Stream from Charleston, Passed Midshipman Jones, of Lieutenant Maffit's party, in charge of the Coast Survey schooner Crawford, discovered that soundings could be kept at depths less than six hundred fathoms, entirely across the stream, bottom being brought up. Beyond the Gulf Stream the soundings correspond with those laid down upon the bank struck by Lieut. Craven, further south. The Crawford was on this bank on the 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th of June. On the 7th, bottom was brought up from three hundred fathoms, in latitude 31° 37', and longitude 78° 33½'.

On the 10th of June, in running the section of the Gulf Stream from Cape Canaveral, Florida, after crossing the stream, Lieut. Commanding Craven obtained soundings in four hundred and sixty fathoms, and the bottom was brought up, in latitude 28° 24' N., and longitude 79° 5' W. The shoal thus independently discovered by Lieuts. Commanding Maffit and Craven; was again struck by the latter in the cross section from St. Augustine, Florida; St. Simons, Georgia; and Charleston, South Carolina. A full examination of this ground, which is probably connected with the Bahama Banks, will be made soon. The specimens of bottom brought up are deposited in the Coast Survey office."

A TOO PRACTICAL JOKE.—The Cincinnati Columbian says that about a fortnight since Mr. William Air, son of Captain Air, of the Newport Ferry, and Mr. Theodore Justiss, also a respectable citizen of Newport, visited New York for the purpose of seeing the elephants conglomerate by the World's Fair. Shortly after their departure a telegraphic despatch was received by the New York police, stating that "Two desperate counterfeiters would soon arrive at some of the New York hotels, by the names of William Air and Theodore Justiss, who were to be placed in limbo until a requisition from the Governor of Kentucky should be received."—In accordance with the above the police watched the different registers, and no sooner did our Newport friends enter their names than they were seized and carried to jail. Telegraphic despatches have been sent, citizens of Newport have interceded, but all in vain. The New York police are not to be humbugged, and at our present writing we fear the young men are still the victims of a villainous practical joke.

FLOUR FLOATING IN LAKE ERIE.—The Sandusky Registerr publishes a letter from W. S. Webb, of Kelley's Island, dated Sept. 30, which states that a large quantity of flour came ashore on the east end of the Island, on Thursday night and Friday morning last.—About 700 barrels came ashore, and are in the possession of the persons by whom picked up. The brands are principally Battle Creek, Albion, Fontain's Premium, and Wappokiske Mills, which are all Michigan Brands. Besides this picked up, a large quantity was floating in the lake.

It is said that there was more money expended in San Francisco at the recent election to influence votes legal and illegal, than was ever expended for a similar purpose on any one occasion in any city or State in the world. At the lowest reasonable estimate it must have amounted to one million five hundred thousand dollars, in money and title deeds to Extension property.

M. Gaillardet writes from Paris to the Courier des Etats Unis, that Mr. Belmont will sport a blue coat with American buttons at the Court of the Hague. Query—Blue coat and brass buttons?

RAIL ROAD LAW.—A Mr. Van Allen has recovered twenty-five dollars from the Erie Rail Road in New York, on a charge of false imprisonment against the conductor of the mail train, upon which he and two ladies in his company were carried beyond the station where they wished to stop.

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT!

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed! It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S

Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,

PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.

One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.

[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]

First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but to those desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as she or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 128 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title-page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as others are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be ignorant.

☞ On receipt of One Dollar (for the fine Edition, extra binding), THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION" is sent (mailed free) to any part of the United States. All letters—post be post-paid, and addressed to Dr. A. M. MAURICEAU Box 1224, New York City. Publishing Office, No. 128 Liberty Street, New York.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE,
ROCKINGHAM COUNTY.

The Fall Session of this Institute will be held in the VESTRY of the 1st Congregational Church in EXETER. The exercises will commence on and close on Saturday, November 5th. The usual hours for commencing will be half past 8 o'clock in the morning, and 2 and 7 o'clock P. M.

MONDAY, Oct. 31st, at 10 o'clock A. M.,

The services of the following eminent instructors are engaged:

Prof. DANA P. COLBURN, in Arithmetic and Geography.
Prof. J. G. HOYT, in Algebra;
" S. S. GREEN, of Brown University, in Grammar;
Prof. T. J. WHITTAKER, in Drawing and Penmanship;
DANIEL BARNARD, Esq., in reading;
JAMES W. CLARK, in Music;
CALVIN CUTTER, M. D., in Physiology and Hygiene.

There will be a lecture on Monday Evening, by REV. ASA MANN, of Exeter. The other evenings will be occupied by Lectures of a general character, by some of the instructors, on subjects connected with their respective departments.

Each member of the Institute is requested to have present a Bible, Dictionary, Russell's School Reader or Town's Fourth Reader, and a small Blank-book; and to have his or her full name and residence written on a slip of paper or card, ready to hand to the Committe of Reception, on entering the Institute, so as to expedite the organization. Arrangements will be made for commodious boarding places, at reasonable rates.

Committee of Arrangements, Visitation and Report: Rev. A. MANN; WM. G. PERRY, M.D., C. F. GERRY, A. B., and E. G. DALTON, A. M.

Arrangements have been made to render the institute every way worthy of the hearty support of the Teachers of the County. The interests of our Common Schools demand such a support. It is therefore earnestly desired that every resident teacher of the County, and those residing in other counties who propose to teach in this, young and old,—the patriarchs of the profession, as well as the fresh candidates for its hard earned honors, should be present at the opening of the Institute, and continue to its close.

Prudential Committees are respectfully requested to defer the commencement of the Winter Schools so far as to allow the Teachers to attend the Institute; and it is hoped that they will encourage their attendance. And the Commissioner invites the attendance of Superintending and Prudential Committees and parents, of the older pupils in our Schools, and of the friends of our Common Schools generally, upon the Institute.

☞ The Committees and other citizens, who receive circulars, are requested to see that they are suitably distributed through their towns, and posted up in the most public places.

EXETER, Oct. 4th, 1852. A. H. HOYT,
School Commissioner for Rockingham County.

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It said like a charm, the ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The Medicated Compound has been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Depot: nd manufactory, No. 137 Broadway, New York. Retail price 25 cents a large bottle.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w6m je22*

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity, where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

DR. HAMPTON'S
VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the BEST family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. K. Stapleton, William A. Schafer, G. Duncan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered. Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE.

SHADE TREES IN CITIES.

The Horticulturist contains an article on this subject, which is probably the last ever written by its lamented editor, A. J. Downing. He says:

Take refuge, in the American Maples. Clean, sweet, cool, and umbrageous, are the Maples; and, much vaunted as Ailanthuses and Poplars are, for their lightning growth, take our word for it that it is only a good go off at the start. A Maple at twenty years, or even at ten, if the soil is favorable, will be much the finer and larger tree. No tree transplants more readily, none adapts itself more easily to the soil than the Maple. For light soils, and the milder parts of the Union, say the Middle and Western States, the Silver Maple, with drooping branches, is at once the best and most graceful of street trees. For the North and East, the Soft Maple and the Sugar Maple. If any one wishes to know the glory and beauty of the Sugar Maple, as a street tree, let him make a pilgrimage to Stockbridge, in Massachusetts! If he desires to study the Silver Maple, there is no better school than Burlington, N. J. These are two towns almost wholly planted with these American trees, the sylvan adornings of which any "native" may well be proud. The inhabitants neither have to abandon their front rooms from "the smell," nor lose the use of their back yards by "the suckers." And whoever plants either of these three maples, may feel sure that he is earning the thanks instead of the reproaches of posterity.

The most beautiful and stately of all trees for an avenue—and especially for an avenue street in town—is an American tree that one rarely sees planted in America—never, that we remember, in any public street. We mean the Tulip Tree, or Liriodendron. What can be more beautiful than its trunk—finely proportioned, and smooth as a Grecian column? What can be more aristocratic than its leaf, cut like an arabesque in a Moorish palace—what more clean and lustrous than its tufts of foliage—dark-green, and rich as deepest emerald? What more lilly-like and specious than its blossoms—golden and bronze shaded? and what fairer and more queenly than its whole figure, stately and regal as that of Zenobia? For a park tree, to spread on every side, it is unrivaled, growing a hundred and thirty feet high, and spreading into the finest symmetry of outline. For a street tree, its columnar stem, beautiful either with or without branches—with a low head or a high head—foliage over the second story or under it—is precisely what is most needed. A very spreading tree, like the Elm, is always somewhat out of place in town, because its natural habit is to extend itself laterally. A tree, with the habit of the Tulip, lifts itself into the finest pyramids of foliage, exactly suited to the usual width of town streets, and thus embellishes and shades without darkening and encumbering them. Besides this, the foliage of the Tulip tree is as clean and fresh at all times as the bonnet of a fair young quakeress, and no insect mars the beauty of its rich foliage.

We know very well that the Tulip tree is considered difficult to transplant. It is, the gardiners will tell you, much easier to plant Ailanthuses, or, if you prefer, Maples. Exactly so it is easier to walk than to dance—but as all people who wish to be graceful in their gate, learn to dance, (if they can get an opportunity,) so all planters, who wish a peculiar elegant tree, will learn how to plant the Liriodendron. In the first place the soil must be light and rich—better than is at all necessary for the Maples, and if it cannot be made light and rich, then the planter must confine himself to Maples. Next, the tree must be transplanted just about the time of commencing its growth in the spring, and the roots must be cut as little as possible, and not suffered to get dry till replanted.

There is one point which, if attenced to as it is in nurseries abroad, would render the Tulip as easily transplanted as a Maple or a Poplar. We mean the practice of cutting round the tree every year, in the nursery, till it is removed. This developes a ball of fibres, and so prepares the tree for removal that it feels no shock at all. Nurserymen could well afford to grow Tulip trees to the size suitable for street planting, and have them twice cut or removed beforehand, so as to enable them to warrant their growth in any good soil, for a dollar apiece. (And we believe the average price at which the thousands of noisome Ailanthus that now infest our streets, have been sold, is above a dollar.) No buyer pays so much and so willingly as the citizen who has only one lot front, and five dollars each has been no uncommon price in New York for "trees of heaven."

After our nurserymen have practiced awhile with preparation of the tulip trees for streets by previous removals, they will gradually find a demand for the finer oaks, beeches and other trees now considered difficult to transplant for the same cause, and about which there is no difficulty at all, if this precaution is taken. Anybody can catch "suckers" in a mill pond, but a trout must be tickled with a dainty bait.—Yet true sportsmen do not, for this reason, prefer angling with worms about the margin of stagnant pools, when they can whip the gold-spangled beauties out of swift streams with a little skill and preperation, and we trust that in future no true lover of trees will plant "suckers" to torment his future days and nights, when he may, with little more pains, have the satisfaction of enjoying the shade of the freshest and comeliest of American forest trees.

ANNEXATION TRICK.—The Montreal Sun in article about the recent great exhibition in Canada, alludes to a class of Yankee visitors as follows:

"Among the winsome lasses, we noticed some very charming Yankee girls, and, although we are not very easily alarmed, we nevertheless suspect that this is a new trick on the part of our neighbors to promote annexation. We notice this as a matter of duty—being, of course, a most loyal and patriotic subject—and leave our authorities to decide whether it be really prudent to allow these young witches to practice their enchantments among our susceptible young Britishers.—We have said.

Two ladies were robbed at the Stamford Fair—one of $60, and the other of $30. The money has not been recovered—this indicates that there were several pick-pockets on the ground. By the way a novel exhibition was made on Friday. The President of the Society, who knows about the show business, had the man who picked Mr. Ford's pocket taken to a room and exhibited in his hand cuffs during the whole day. The name Seymour it seems is assumed—his real name is Hammond, and he is said to be an old bird. He complained bitterly of the indignity; but the President says that the show was a useful one, and paid a good profit at 12 1-2 cents a sight. Nearly $100 was raised in this way.—Bridgeport Standard.

A steam boiler exploded at the Sectional Dock Navy Yard, Phildelphia, Wednesday, while the sloop-of-war Cyane was being drawn up on the Sectional Dock. Fragments of the boiler were thrown in all directions, the safety valve lodging on the deck of the steamer Fulton, three hundred yards distant. Three laborers were so badly injured that it was thought neither of them will live. The engineer was blown overboard and badly injured. The rigging of the Cyane was much cut by the flying fragments, and several seamen on board were somewhat hurt.

The N. Y. correspondent of the London Times has turned his attention to the abuse of General Pierce and the policy of his administration. One of his paragraphs in which he says, "General Pierce is the first American President who has lost ground in the beginning of his government," will suffice to show the falsity of all of them.

The Chicago Democrat denies the report that the administrators of Robert Rantoul, Jr., had received the enormous sum of $350,000 for his share in the Illinois Central Railroad. The heirs of Mr. Rantoul have only received a right to take some portion of the unpaid capital stock of the road. How much will be made out of this unpaid stock no person can conjecture.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE,
ROCKINGHAM COUNTY.

The Fall Session of this Institute will be held in the VESTRY of the 1st Congregational Church in EXETER. The exercises will commence on MONDAY, Oct. 31st, at 10 o'clock A. M., and close on Saturday, November 5th. The usual hours for commencing will be half past 8 o'clock in the morning, and 2 and 7 o'clock P. M.

The services of the following eminent instructors are engaged:

Prof. DANA P. COLBURN, in Arithmetic and Geography,
Prof. J. G. HOYT, in Algebra;
" S. S. GREEN, of Brown University, in Grammar;
Prof. T. J. WHITTAKER, in Drawing and Penmanship;
DANIEL BARNARD, Esq., in reading;
JAMES W. CLARK, in Music;
CALVIN CUTTER, M. D., in Physiology and Hygiene.

There will be a lecture on Monday Evening, by Rev. ASA MANN, of Exeter. The other evenings will be occupied by Lectures of a general character, by some of the Instructors, on subjects connected with their respective departments.

Each member of the Institute is requested to have present a Bible, Dictionary, Russell's School Reader or Town's Fourth Reader, and a small Blank-book; and to have his or her full name and residence written on a slip of paper or card, ready to hand to the Committe of Reception, on entering the Institute, so as to expedite the organization. Arrangements will be made for commodious boarding places, at reasonable rates.

Committee of Arrangements, Visitation and Report: Rev. A. MANN; WM. G. PERRY, M.D., C. P. GERRY, A. B., and E. G. DALTON, A. M.

Arrangements have been made to render the institute every way worthy of the hearty support of the Teachers of the County. The interests of our Common Schools demand such a support. It is therefore earnestly desired that every resident teacher of the County, and those residing in other counties who propose to teach in this, young and old,—the patriarchs of the profession, as well as the fresh candidates for its hard earned honors, should be present at the opening of the Institute, and continue to its close.

Prudential Committees are respectfully requested to defer the commencement of the Winter Schools so far as to allow the Teachers to attend the Institute; and it is hoped that they will encourage their attendance. And the Commissioner invites the attendance of Superintending and Prudential Committees and parents, of the older pupils in our Schools, and of the friends of our Common Schools generally, upon the Institute.

☞ The Committees and other citizens, who receive circulars, are requested to see that they are suitably distributed through their towns, and posted up in the most public places.

School Commissioner for Rockingham County.

Morning Chronicle.

SATURDAY, OCT. 15, 1853.

CHURCH AND STATE.—At the late Convention of the Episcopal Church in the Diocese of New York, Bishop Wainwright stated an instance of interposition of the civil power with the Ecclesiastical authority of that Diocesan, which is rather unusual in this country. The affair out of which this interposition grew is succinctly as follows: A clergyman in Humphreysville, Conn., was charged, some two or three years ago, with having been guilty of grossly immoral conduct. The offence was alleged to have been committed at a public house in New Haven, and to have been immediately detected. The clergyman, to escape trial, as was claimed, procured at once from his Bishop the usual letters of dismissal from that Diocese, and obtained an eligible situation over a parish in Brooklyn, N. Y. Some of the clergy of his old Diocese and others, believing the man to be a scoundrel, gave publicity to the rumors affecting his character, and endeavored to bring him to trial. But as his change of residence interposed some obstacles to their design, the prosecution of the matter was delayed, which gave the accused an opportunity to turn upon his pursuers, which he did, by having a number of the most prominent clergymen and laymen of the Diocese, when on visits to New York, arrested for slander. From each of these, he claimed damages to the amount of ten thousand dollars.

Fighting his cause with adroitness and perseverance, he had contrived to postpone his final conviction till the present summer, when, according to Bishop Wainwright, after a protracted trial by a board of five able and judicious presbyters, of his own selection, he was convicted of the offences charged, and had been cited to appear and listen to his sentence; at this stage of proceedings the Bishop received a notice from a Judge of the Supreme Court of New York, enjoining him from pronouncing or suffering to be pronounced any sentence until a hearing should be had before him.

The Bishop bowed in obedience to the mandate of the court, though expressing his conviction that the civil courts were not called upon by any principle of justice thus to interfere with the execution of the ecclesiastical law. Considerable sensation was created in the Convention, by this renewed attempt of the secular court to interpose its authority between the accused and the authorities of the church of which he was a minister. The Convention finally acquiesced in the opinion expressed by Rev. Dr. Hawks, that on a proper hearing of the case the principle would be reaffirmed which had been already established by numerous decisions, that the ecclesiastical law, when operating within the limits of the Constitution and the law of the land, is, as to its proper subjects, a part of the law of the land, and is not to be thwarted in its operations by the interference of the secular authority.

We find the above in the Boston Journal, and sympathize with Bp. Wainwright and Dr. Hawkes in the matter. But the thought arises, Why do they not give us the delinquent's name, tell us his crime, and let us give him a run through the press? No ordeal for clerical scoundrels is half so much dreaded as this. There are some such disgraceful clergy in every communion; and the wisest of them are quite cautious about claiming damages, lest they get exposed.

The "Judge of the Supreme Court of New York," has probably made a donkey of himself by his injunction—and Bp. W. ought to disregard it, pass the sentence, and wait for the consequences. These cannot be very serious. The Reverend Bishop bowed too quick and too low, before such a long-eared justice, whose mandate can have no more force in this case than a Roman Bull. The "sensation in the convention" might have been spared, if its members had considered that our civil laws treat all churches as voluntary bodies; and that if a man belongs to one of them, he is under their laws, in the same sense that a Freemason, or Odd Fellow, or Son of Temperance, is bound by the laws of his peculiar institution. If a Son of Temperance breaks his pledge, the Worthy Patriarch may read him out of the lodge, notwithstanding the injunction of any Justice Shallow who may issue his mandate to the contrary.

MORE SOFT LETTERS.

Secretary Jefferson Davis publishes in the Washington Sentinel a letter addressed to a personal friend in New York, on the subject of Mr. Bronson's letter in reply to the invitation to speak at the ratification meeting of the Barnburners. The most important paragraph in the letter is one in which the Secretary of War makes an avowal of his conversation to Unionism, in the following sentence:—

I am willing, in these as in other cases, to drop the inquiry into by-gone opinions and associations, to adhere to the compact of 1852, to oppose disorganization, to resist agitation, and to promote the harmony of the Democratic party, as the best means of securing peace among the States, and perpetuity to the Union.

In still another letter to the editor of the Washington Sentinel, the Secretary alludes to the New York quarrel in the following terms:

If, in the progress of the campaign, either division should array itself on the side of the enemies of the Administration, or become the agitators of questions which the Democratic party is pledged in all time to prevent from revival, then I shall look upon them as foes of the Democracy, and disturbers of that peace and fraternity essential to our Union; and, as such, to be opposed by all who entertain the views and are influenced by the motives which govern my conduct. As ever, your friend,

JEFFERSON DAVIS.

THE SPOILS.

It seems these are not yet all divided; and in some cases, even the whole system of tactics of cabinet and president falls short of its effect.

The office of postmaster at St. Louis has been kept open on account of the controversy in that State between the political friends and opponents of Senator Benton. Mr. Benton recommended Henry F. Watson for the office, and Senator Atchison protested against the appointment. The St. Louis Democrat publishes some letters upon the subject, which bear some significance.

No. 1 is a letter from Mr. Benton to Postmaster General Campbell, asking for a copy of Mr. Atchison's objections to the appointment of Mr. Watson.

No. 2 is Mr. Campbell's reply, stating that it was a rule of the Department not to surrender such correspondence, but stating that it was proper to inform Mr. Benton that it was represented that Mr. Watson was a Free Soiler.

No. 3 is a tart letter from Mr. Benton to the Secretary, stating that he disputes the propriety of the regulation of the Department with regard to the furnishing of letters bearing upon the qualifications of candidates for office, "especially in the case of a Senator or Representative making representations to the prejudice of any one of his own constituents," and saying—

"Mr. Benton disclaims the benefit of such a rule in his own case, and considers as public every thing that he says or writes to the President, or any head of a Department, in relation to any person whatever, constituent or not."

No. 4 is a letter from Mr. Watson to the Postmaster General, disclaiming all Free Soilism, as earnestly as General Dix has done in his letters to southern politicians. As Mr. Dix could not write himself into the ambassadorship to France, it may be presumed that Mr. Watson's letter will not make him Postmaster of St. Louis. The opinions of the Postmaster General with regard to the political fitness of candidates for office do not coincide at all with those of the Secretaries of the Treasury and of War, judging by this correspondence.

TRIENNIAL CONVENTION.

On Tuesday and Wednesday, the sixth and seventh days of the Triennial Convention at New York, the Convention has been engaged in amending canons and altering constitutions. The case of Bishop Ives, of North Carolina occupied some time on Wednesday, and produced an interesting debate.

The proceedings of the eighth day were opened with prayer by Rev. Dr. Clapp of Vermont. There was a good attendance of delegates and spectators. The report of the committee on the admission of California, recommending the appointment of a missionary bishop for that State, and also one for the territory of Oregon, was accepted. The Hon. Murray Hoffman, with the permission of the Convention, withdrew a resolution previously offered by him in relation to Bishop Ives.

VERMONT.—The Legislature of Vermont assembled at Montpelier on Thursday. The three parties had each a caucus candidate for Speaker of the House of Representatives, and balloted nine times, leaving off exactly where they began. There is 28 majority against the whigs in the House. The Senate has one or two whig majority. The anti-whig majority is divided on the question of the Maine law, and therefore are not disposed for a coalition with regard to Governor and U. S. Senator.

ELECTIONS.—The elections in the states of Pennsylvania and Ohio have gone in favor of the democrats. The Maine law was an element in the Ohio election, but its friends have not performed anything, so far as we can learn.

The latest accounts from Georgia are to the effect that Mr. Johnson, Democrat, has been chosen Governor over Mr. Jenkins, union whig, by a very small majority.

SUICIDE IN NEW YORK.—On Thursday morning at 9 o'clock, in New York City, Bartholomew Rooney, proprietor of a porter house corner of City Hall place and Chambers street, committed suicide by cutting his throat with a knife, and died from the effect of the wound in a few minutes. He was 43 years old, born in Ireland, and married.—His wife testified that "he had some trouble of mind on account of his sister, and on this account he indulged in taking stimulating drinks more than usual." Thomas McKibben deposed and said, "I have been employed the last month as barkeeper for the deceased at the said place; the deceased has been in the habit of taking stimulating drinks with his customers ten or twelve times a day during my time in the store, but not to such an excess as to prevent him from attending to his business; I never saw Mr. Rooney drunk," &c., &c.

Such scenes as are here described are the legitimate fruits of such a life. He that soweth such seed, shall reap such fruit.

The editor of the Rome Farmer has established a peculiar tariff of charges for the publication of marriage notices. For a notice where the wife is a first rate one, $1 is charged, and from that down to nothing, just according to the estimate of the husband. In one week several notices were received, accompanied by one dollar, and only one with less.—One fellow alone valued his wife at fifty cents.

LOCAL.

LYCEUM LECTURES.—This year we are to have two courses of Lectures, viz. the New Lyceum, at the Temple, to be opened on Tuesday, Nov. 8, by Rev. T. Starr King of Boston,—and the City Lyceum on Thursday evening, Nov. 10, by Rev. Dr. Burroughs, of this city.

MONEY MATTERS.

On Wednesday, Simeon Draper, a well-known speculator in Wall street; New-York, failed in business, for a very large sum; and on Thursday, W. A. Wheelock, stock-broker, did the same thing. The brokers' Report mentions "Stocks, 3 to 5 per cent. lower, and depressed at the close."

The New York Herald considers these events as the first fruits of causes which are speedily to produce a grand crash like that of 1837, and be accompanied by public defalcations similar to those of that day. The Herald indulges in the following complaints.

In the midst of this unhealthy and extraordinary enlargement of commercial and all sorts of credits, we see the Secretary of the Treasury, using the surplus revenue under his control in a mode that will only add tightness to tightness and screw to screw till the collapse come upon us like a thunder burst in a summer sky. "As a specimen of this want of knowledge, the Secretary of the Treasury is just now buying up the bonds of the government not due, and sending the very specie to Europe, without any necessity of doing so, in payment of those evidences of debt held in that quarter of the world.

☞ John Neal, Esq., of Portland, publishes one of his pieces, two colums and a half in length in the State of Maine, of Friday, discoursing on the liquor law. He offers the following advice.

"But the liquors are to be forfeited.—Be it so. That provision must be held fast by.—But why destroy good liquors? That the price may be enhanced—or bad liquors find a market! How foolish to send costly wines, brandies, &c., smoking through the gutters, and then turn round to buy for city agents inferior liquors, which must be sold at a higher price to people who cannot do without them, as the law itself acknowledges!

What cares the manufacturer, or importer, for your peevishness or wastefulness? You are his best customer. Through the gutter it must all go, sooner or later—and he cares not how, if he is paid for it. You only spite the consumer, legally authorized to make use of it, in sickness or the arts. * *

No, no. Confiscate, if you please, every drop of liquor sold, or kept contrary to law—if you can obtain possession of it, honestly and peaceably, and without a violation of other and higher laws—but never destroy any which can be turned to good account, in any way, either for "medicinal or mechanical purposes" and thereby diminish—instead of increasing the consumption."

We think this is worthy of consideration—perhaps of adoption, in New Hampshire.

Mr. Neal gives the following certificate of one real temperance hotel in Portland.

(NOTE.)—I have had occasion to say this before; but am informed by Mr. Stackpole, of the Casco House—and I believe him—that he furnishes no liquor, under any pretence, to anybody.

In Middleton, Mass., a few evenings ago, a Rev. Mr. Hood was riding in a chaise with two ladies, when the horse became restive, and was held only long enough for the ladies to alight, when the bits broke, and he started at a fearful rate down the road a few rods, turned upon a railroad, and dashed into the open culvert, breaking his neck and dying instantly.—The ladies having walked a few steps forward, had a very narrow escape from death. Perceiving that the horse was close upon them, one turned to the right, just escaping the wheel, and the other passed on to the railway, but finding the horse close behind her, with almost superhuman strength she leaped the culvert, and fell upon the other side at the same instant that the horse fell into it. The embankment is very high, and there is a swamp at both sides; her self possession alone saved her from death. The carriage was entirely demolished, which, with the fine horse, that cost $125, is quite a loss.

Now here was life endangered, and much property sacrificed, to the cupidity of somebody. There is no excuse for having a breakdown harness—and any man who would order a cast-iron bit to save a few shillings, or any saddler who furnishes such a sham to pocket a trifle, is risking his own life or that of others, for a very small consideration.

HOMICIDE AT METROPOLIS, ILLINOIS.—The Evansville Journal of the 22d ult., has the following from a correspondent at Cairo, Illinois:

"At a house in Metropolis, Illinois, a large crowd had gathered around a gaming table. An old citizen of Cairo, by the name of McGuire, quarrelled with a very green young man, and created quite an excitement. McGuire seized an empty gun and drew it on the other, who flew around the room crying murder, amid the shouts of the delighted crowd, who knew the gun was unloaded. The young man finally got cornered, when he happened to think of his bowie knife, which he drew and desperately used against McGuire. He literally cut him to mince meat, and did not cease cutting and sticking until forcibly compelled to quit by the crowd. McGuire died in two minutes."

The Washington Star intimates that James Gordon Bennett was an unsuccessful applicant for the French Mission. We have no means of knowing whether this is false or true; but if true, it may explain a part of the New York Herald's unfavorable judgment of President Pierce's administration.

LATER FROM EUROPE.

By the arrival of the Canada steamer, we have Liverpool dates to Saturday the 1st inst. at 10 A. M.

The London Money Market, Sept. 30, reports that the Bank of England has raised its minimum rate of discount to 5 per cent. Consols leave off at 93 1-2 to 93 5-8 for money and account.

American Securities—Baring Brothers' report that there is no marked variation in prices, but a general indisposition to buy. If sales were forced, a material reduction must be submitted to; except the leading securities.

The Liverpool Corn Market of Sept. 30, reports Breadstuffs in active demand for consumption, with prices still on the advance. Flour in good request, former quotations being fully maintained with a partial advance of ls—say W C 34 a 35s 6d; Balt and Phila 35s 6d; Ohio 35s; choice 36s; Canadian 34s; sour 30 a 31s. Indian Corn in fair demand and advanced 3s on week, and quoted—white 41 a 42s, highest 43s; yellow 40 a 41s; mixed 39s 4d. Accounts of the potato crop, although not alarming, rather less satisfactory—weather on the whole not unfavorable.

Great Storm and Loss of Life.—On the 25th and 26 ults., there was a violent storm along the British and Dutch coasts, which caused much loss of life and property. Rotterdam and other Dutch cities were inundated, and a screw steamer of Amsterdam, was lost in the Zuyder Zee, with one hundred lives. Also the iron steamer Cammeston, from Hull to Hamburg, with some lives.

The American packet ship Neva put back to Liverpool, and went ashore in the Mersey. Several of the passengers in attempting to reach the pier were drowned.

Ship Joseph Walker, from New York, sustained considerable damage in the Mersey.—The America, for San Francisco, went ashore near Southport. The Shooting Star lost topmast. The Caroline and Intrinsic, for Prince Edward's Island; William Ward and Hinda, from Quebec; and Stephen Glover from St. John, were more or less injured. Ship Rhein, for Hamburg from New York, with 200 passengers, had put into Portsmouth, with the cholera on board.

The Eastern Question.—The Eastern question shows new features of alarm, but as yet there had been no act of hostility.

It had already been mentioned that the Ulema had presented a threatening address to the Sultan, calling on him to declare war against the Russians or to resign. Inquiry proved that the Ulema, in this matter, were acting at the instigation of the political war party, at the head of whom is Mehemet Ali, the Sultan's brother-in-law. They persisted however that war was demanded by the Koran and by the circumstances of the Empire.

The Sultan refused to sign the warlike declaration. They declared against Russia, and there was some possibility of a riot.

The French and British ambassadors therefore sent for assistance to protect the Sultan and the Christian residents. Four steam frigates, two French and two British, immediately passed the Dardanelles and came to anchor before Constantinople where they now remain.

The British ships were the Niger and Tiger, the French frigates were the Gomer and Mazedon, all four under command of Rear Admiral Barbier Detina. Besides these, the Admiral has under his orders the Retribution, Fury and Caradoc, and four French frigates.

The London Daily News of the 28th, states that Admiral Dundas has received orders from the British Admiralty to move with the whole English fleet from Besika to Constantinople.

The rejection by the Czar of the Turkish amendments was known at Constantinople on the 19th; but the expected crisis did not occur, and the ministry at date of last letters remained without change.

The chief of the Ulema had apologized for the disrespectful style of their address; and the feast of Bairam had passed over without breach of the peace. The Sultan appeared publicly in the procession, and was not molested.

Austria.—The Emperor Nicholas of Russia, and the Prince of Prussia, arrived at Olmutz, Sept. 24th, to meet the Emperor of Austria. Since then there had been great military displays, and long private conferences between the two Emperors.

Naples and Sicily.—The period for free importation of breadstuffs into the two Sicilies is extended until the end of May next. Ten days quarantine is imposed on ships from the United States, but vessels from New Orleans are excluded altogether from Napolitan ports.

Egypt.—Abbas Pacha prohibited the exportation of grain from Sept. 27th, but on the foreign consuls' remonstrance, he promised to extend the date of leave to November 30.

News had been received at Glasgow that the American ship Southerner foundered at sea on the 10th ult., on her voyage from Glasgow to New York. The crew were saved.

Providence, Oct. 13.—Tristram Burgess died this morning at 10 o'clock, in the 84th year of his age.

The Coroner's inquest in the case of Neal Dougherty returned a verdict of wilful murder against six persons, only two of whom have been arrested.

THE HALE REWARD OF MERIT.—There was a large meeting at the Tremont Temple, Boston, on Thursday evening, to witness the presentation of a gold medal to the Hon. John P. Hale, as a reward for the part he took, in the Senate of the United States, towards the abolition of flogging in the Navy. Hon. Henry Wilson presided. The presentation speech was made by Richard H. Dana, Jr., Esq. Mr. Hale responded in an eloquent manner. The attendance was quite large, and the Chelsea Brass Band discoursed very good music.

NEWS.—The New Orleans Crescent of 2d inst. says that notwithstanding the attempts of the press to smother the truth, "there are localities at the North where the yellow fever is raging, and to a most appalling degree."—Philadelphia is the only place where they now have the yellow fever. Their Health Inspectors reported three deaths from that disease last week.

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence,

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that comfort which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglects to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,

PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.

One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.

[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]

First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of this work.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-pages and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be ignorant.

☞ On receipt of One Dollar (for the fine Edition, extra binding,) "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION" is sent (mailed free) to any part of the United States. All letters must be post-paid, and addressed to Dr. A. M. MAURICEAU, Box 1224, New York City. Publishing Office, No. 129 Liberty Street, New York.

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 950,000.
It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.
Depot: nd manufactory, No. 137 Broadway, New York. Retail price 25 cents a large bottle.
Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&wóm je22*

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.
The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the popular and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and
Affections of the Lungs.
But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing
DISSOLVENT POWER,
By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore
Anti-Expectorant,
And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritations by expectoration.
It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an
APPETISER
It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom
AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.
Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.
It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as it is exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.
Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva, with great success.

DR. HAMPTON'S
VEGETABLE TINCTURE!
The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the BEST family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as
Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,
With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.
As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.
Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.
We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.
MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.
I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. K. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Dunan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

Lieutenant ——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezzia.
The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of DYSPEPSIA.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered. Consumption can be cured! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the alleviation and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!
N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

EDITORS' ADVISERS.

Says one, your subjects are too grave,
Too much morality you have—
Too much about religion;
Give me some witch or wizard tales,
With slip-shod ghosts, with fins and scales,
Or feathers like a pigeon.

I love to read, another cries,
Those monstrous fashionable lies—
In other words, those novels,
Composed of kings, and queens, and lords,
Of border wars and Gothic hordes,
That used to live in hovels.

No—no, cries one, we've had enough
Of such confounded love-sick stuff,
To craze the fair creation;
Give us some recent foreign news,
Of Russian, Turk, the Greeks and Jews,
Or any other nation.

Another cries, I want more fun,
A witty anecdote or pun,
A rebus or a riddle:
Some long for missionary news,
And some, of worldly, carnal views,
Would like to hear a fiddle.

Another cries, I want to see
A jumbled up variety—
Variety in all things;
A miscellaneous hodge-podge print
Composed—only to give that hint—
Of multifarious small things.

I want some marriage news, says miss,
It constitutes my highest bliss
To hear of weddings plenty;
For in a time of general rain,
None suffers from a drought, 'tis plain—
At least not one in twenty.

I want to hear of deaths, says one,
Of people totally undone
By losses, fire or fever;
Another answers full as wise,
I'd rather hear the fall and rise
Of raccoon skins and beaver.

Some signify a secret wish
For now and then a savory dish
Of politics to suit them;
But here we rest at perfect ease,
For should they swear the moon was cheese,
We never should dispute them.

Of grave or humorous, wild or tame,
Lofty or low, 'tis all the same,
Too haughty or too humble.
And every editorial wight
Has nought to do but what is right,
And let the grumbler grumble.

HENRY WARD BEECHER.—We see a notice that this distinguished preacher has received a present of $15,000 to secure him a summer residence in the country. We trust he will be able to receive all the adulation, and all the wealth that his friends pour upon him, and yet retain the humility, the simplicity, the faith and ardor of an "ambassador from Christ." But, unless we are deceived, there is a great deal of danger in such circumstances. —Ch. Herald and Messenger.

To this Mr. Beecher replies in the following manner:

1. We thank our friend for this well meant kindness. We no longer resist that decree of the American public, which makes a man's privacy a pond for newspapers to angle in; and which allows them to hang up for inspection the details of domestic affairs, like articles on exhibition at the Crystal Palace. As we never have had the above $15,000 given us, that is not likely to hurt us. But the meddling with our domestic and private affairs is much more real, and much more dangerous to our grace,—the grace of good nature, at any rate. Our cradle, our nursery, our wardrobe, our parlor, our house, our lecture room, in turn, furnish paragraphs. Religious newspapers publish them almost without inquiry, especially if they smack of eccentricity. Rolling stones may gather no moss; but rolling stories do.

2. A few friends have enabled us to purchase a farm in Lenox, Berkshire county, Mass., which the deeds, with great definiteness say contains "ninety-six acres more or less." We gave for farm and farm buildings, $4,500. For the crops, stock, implements, &c., $1,000 more. Total, $5,500. Any person in search of useful information can have further particulars, as to terms of payment, and any other private publicities, by personal application to us.

3. As we are receiving numerous letters of application from persons who wish to conduct our farm for us, we would inform all who are anxious to know, that we have happily secured our brother-in-law to reside upon the place, conduct it, and relieve us of all care and responsibility. He is a young man of about 30 years of age; reasonably good-looking: married, and has three promising children—two girls and one boy. Any facts concerning his private affairs may be directed to Oliver Bullard, Lenox, Mass.

4. We are receiving numerous applications, by letter and by persons, for donations of money, on the ground that now we are rich; and that a man who has received $15,000 ought to testify his gratitude to the public by liberal installments to individuals. Such persons will please see above No. 2.

But if that be not satisfactory, we are willing to contribute for the next five years, every cent of our share of the net profits of our farm, to charitable uses. We will notify all interested when the dividends are to be declared.

5. As the public may find out some other of our private difficulties, and accuse us of want of frankness in this statement, we proceed to inform them of some other facts—for the time is near at hand, in which public men will be obliged to imitate the Banks, and give a weekly exhibit of their whole condition.

We are troubled to know whether to build or not. The principal difficulty consists in the means of paying for the house if we build one. At present we are not half as certain about the means as the newspapers are.

Next, we find that our economy and our desire of room are at loggerheads. We have marked and remarked, we have tried two architects, and they have planned and replanned, and we find that it is impossible to build a large house with a little money. It is a great pity that it is so, but so it is.

Then we are at a dead stand about the material, whether it shall be wood or stone. Stone of the finest quality is close at hand, and very cheap; but there are moral reasons, as well as some others. For, the best stone is a kind of marble; and a marble country house,—that would ruin any minister's reputation. And so everything stands still. Well, the winter is before us. Something may turn up yet. We are determined to keep an eye upon the newspapers, so that, if any good luck befall us, we may find it out. Above all, we shall anxiously watch, in them, the progress of this cottage.—New York Independent.

AN ORTHODOX DOG.—Attending meeting last Sabbath for the first time at Dr. Chandler's church in this town, I was amused to see a large one-eared dog stalk up the aisle near the commencement of the services, and quietly stretch himself out upon the pulpit platform. After taking a survey of the congregation, as if probably to see who were absent, he dropped his head and fell into a sound sleep, perhaps thinking that was city style. I afterwards learned that this dog was strictly sectarian in his views; having after mature deliberation settled down upon the mode of worship as adopted by the Congregationalist order, and chosen the meadow church as his regular place of meeting.

His master is of the Baptist denomination, and attends church in this village. But the dog pins his faith on no one's sleeve. He accompanies his master till he arrives at the road which leads to his own chosen place of worship, and there turns away without saying one word to persuade him that his own way is right and all others are wrong. At the intermission he calls on a neighbor, gets his dinner, and attends divine worship again in the afternoon. At the close of services he quietly wends his way homeward meditating upon the topic of the day, no doubt, and perhaps revolving in his own mind how much more of the true christian spirit might be shown by professors if they would but do as he does, worship where he chooses and let others do the same without molestation.—Greenfield Gazette.

Bay State Stoves.

THE Subscriber would inform his friends and the public, that he has for sale all sizes of this favorite Stove. Having sold them in this city for five years past, they have been thoroughly tested with wood and coal, and are found perfect in every respect.

Those put in operation four and five years since have had no repairs made upon them, and are to all appearance as good as ever. So great is the popularity of these Stoves, that many imitations of it are put into the market, such as the Granite State, Empire State, &c.; but none of them are equal to it in weight or quality of castings, cooking facilities, or economy of fuel.

To all who are in want of a GOOD Cooking Stove, we would say—buy a BAY STATE, and you are sure to get THE BEST STOVE IN THE WORLD.

The subscriber has for sale, also, a variety of other Cook Stoves, Cooking Ranges, Parlor Grates, Office and Parlor Stoves, Funnel, &c. for sale low for cash. E. A. STEVENS,

CHURCH AND STATE AGAIN.

Judge Edmands, of the Supreme Court of New York, has delivered his decision in the case of Walker vs. Wainwright, Provisional Bishop of New York, which involved the jurisdiction of the ecclesiastical tribunals. The plaintiff, it will be recollected, was tried before an ecclesiastical court and found guilty of certain offences which involved a sentence of degradation from the ministry. After the report of the Board of Trial, the bishop was about proceeding to pronounce sentence, when the plaintiff filed his complaint and asked an injunction to restrain the bishop.—Judge Edmands decided as follows:

1. That the civil courts have no power to review the proceedings of the ecclesiastical tribunals established by agreement between the parties themselves, and therefore that it was not competent to inquire whether the proceedings were regular or not.

2. That the civil courts can inquire only as to the capacity of the ecclesiastical courts to entertain jurisdiction of the case, and

3. That the objections in this case to such capacity to act, which the court can entertain, are of such character that, if made in due season, they could have been obviated, and the plaintiff, by having omitted to make them, at a proper time, and by his own affirmative acts, waived the objections, and cannot now set them up.

Therefore, the injunction was refused, and the bishop allowed to proceed and pronounce sentence.

Judge Edmands has now decided the case somewhat in accordance with common sense: but he ought to have seen through it in a moment, when it was first presented to him, and not consented to issue the temporary injunction to which Bishop Wainwright bowed so unnecessarily low. We should have liked to be Bishop pro tempore, when that injunction was brought in, and when the day of sentence came.

It is all well enough now, however, except that the reports are quite too mealy-mouthed about the christian name of the reverend culprit Walker, and about his crime. If somebody who knows will publish his name and his crime, the daily papers will circulate a little paragraph all over the country, which will exclude him from all pulpits.

GALILEO—AND THE PRIESTS.—The Boston Pilot, in an answer to a correspondent, who had made inquiries about Galileo, says:

"The story of Galileo has to be told over again every ten years, because Protestants will persist in repeating stories which have been a thousand times refutted. We will give an account of the matter as soon as we have time and space. Meanwhile we would observe that the paper which you speak of, and which was copied from an old publication in the Tribune, is not worth notice. The statements which it gives as extracts from the records of the inquisition are forgeries.—The philosophical doctrines advanced by Galileo were not new. The Church did not, as you suppose, pronounce upon them at all.—However, it is a long story, and we will tell it at another time."

We shall read the story with much interest, when it comes, but are sorry it must be long, because we might publish it if short. We have never before seen the current story of Galileo denied. In the mean time, if there is to be great delay, will the Pilot tell us,—Did Galileo recant any thing? If any thing, what? Why did he recant? If he did not recant, why did he do penance? Was Galileo an astronomer, who broached doctrines opposed to the them popular belief? And finally, Was there such a man as Galileo? It will not take much time, nor occupy much room, to answer these queries in brief.

DISCORDANT VIEWS.

The Charlestown, Mass., Advertiser, a very good paper, opposed to the Maine Law, says:

"In New York they have been fining the unlicensed sellers of rum to the extent of the law. That corporation thinks if men are allowed, lawfully, the privilege of killing their fellows, they should pay for it, as well as shop rent; and we think they are about right, and that every one is entitled to the same privilege; and if there is any difference between selling it under the Maine law, the license law, or the law of common sense, we would like to know it. For ourselves we cannot see any difference, though persons of very nice discrimination can."

The Advertiser probably deems the whole business an evil of the necessary class, which may be endured but not prevented.

A temperance man in Dracut, Mass., thinks the law cannot be fully enforced, and offers, in the Lowell Herald, the following reasons for his belief.

"I see many reasons why I think the law cannot be fully sustained and enforced. If you will indulge me occasionally, I should like to give you some of them. I pretend to be a temperance man. My sentiments are that no sound-sensed man that knows what is good for himself will drink intoxicating liquors; neither will any man, nowadays, sell them, unless he is very wicked. One reason why I think it hard to enforce the Maine law is, I find that almost every one loves liquor; and the effect it has upon the system is so peculiar, that it seems to create a sort of insanity on the mind. It eats out all the finer sensibilities, and renders the person erroneous in judgment, as it is said they "err through strong drink," and will even fight against those who are trying to do them the greatest good. It creates a kind of madness. It is a mocker, and he that is deceived thereby, is not wise."

ANOTHER MADIAI CASE.—A young Scotch lady, Miss Margaret Cunninghame, of Thornton, near Kilmarnock, Ayrshire, was arrested at Lucca, in Tuscany, on the 12th of September, on a charge of circulating Protestant tracts. The acting British minister came from Florence and appealed to the Grand Duke, who was then stopping at Lucca baths; but the ducal tyrant was inexorable, declaring that justice must take its course. Miss Cunninghame is charged with having given to some peasants an Italian Bible, and an Italian translation of the "Pilgrim's Progress"—and both these books fall under the law that "whoever shall circulate works hostile to the Roman Catholic faith, with the view of seducing any member from that communion, shall be condemned to the House of Correction for a period not less than five or greater than ten years." Miss Cunninghame when arrested, was about departing, in company with her mother and elder sister, for Rome. The London Times, alluding to the arrest, says that "if the question were one of reason, the Grand Duke would be much more likely to find himself on an English treadmill than Miss Cunninghame in a Tuscan Penitentiary. If it be taken as one of force, we should be well content to leave it to the Ayrshire militia to decide the question between their fair countrywoman and the standing army of Tuscany, with the Grand Duke at its head." The Morning Chronicle says:—

"Where it is illegal to distribute tracts, it is Miss Cunninghame's duty to abstain from distributing them. If the young lady could not bear the abominations of the land of darkness, she should not have entered it. But Miss Margaret probably thought she might earn a Calvinistic beatification at a cheap rate. Those who endure bonds and imprisonment rather than deny the faith, are entitled to a sympathy which ought not to be extended to those who wander about tampering with the faith of other Christians to whom they have no mission. Miss Cunninghame knew well what she was about, for her friends judiciously warned her against her folly.—But her female craving after firm, was irrisistible—the hysteria of controversy was too strong. In extreme fanatical quarters only will the foolish young woman receive any other commiseration than that which a great act of silly vanity generally secures."

Nevertheless, unless we greatly mistake John Bull's temper, he will give one gentle roar, and this imprisoned daughter of his will come out of her prison speedily. If she had been a real criminal, and done something worthy of bonds, the case would be different; but old Johny will stand no such nonsense as ten years in prison for giving away a book in Tuscany or elsewhere. But such trash is law in that most christian dukedom of Tuscany.

A POPULAR VERDICT.—A somewhat distinguished blackguard named James Feely, who was fined in the Boston Police Court, a month ago, $30 and costs for a brutal assault on a woman named Ellen McLoud, a tenant, and appealed from the judgment of that tribunal, was tried on his appeal, in the Municipal Court on Friday afternoon. The woman McLoud's testimony was clear and convincing, and her statement was corroborated by the testimony of other witnesses. Feely called seven or eight witnesses, all tenants, to rebut the evidence of the government; but his friends' contradicted each other. The jury, after a consultation of five minutes, came in with a verdict of "guilty." Feely was asksd if he had any thing to say in mitigation of sentence, and in reply reflected upon the Court. The District attorney said he desired to show that the prisoner was a noisy, quarrelsome man; and asked that sentence be postponed until this morning,—which was granted. Feely is a "middle-man," and has some fifty tenants, mostly washerwomen, who use in comon one yard. If these women quarrel among themselves about the clothes-lines or the line, Feely is called, and he at once proceeds to chastise the party, which, in his judgment, is the offender. He has been before the Courts many times for beating women.—Courier.

The owners of houses, who let their buildings to such a scoundrel as this, deserve themselves to be punished in some way, but no human law can reach them. Feely is a brute of a fellow, and ought to be imprisoned at hard labor, as well as fined.

The Washington Star, under the heading, "A Why and a Wherefore," says:

The New York Herald on the Administration creates no little amusement here; inasmuch as consiscrable wagers were pending in Washington, that as soon as the Executive refused to "reward" that journal indirectly, its lavish praises would turn into air-beating abuse. It may not be generally known that the Administration recently declined to make a brother of Mr. Hudson, the Herald's ostensible editor, Postmaster at Boston, Mass. The Boston Mr. Hudson, it is understood here, was urged upon the Administration, more especially on the ground that his appointment would clinch the Herald's support.

But the game was not judged to be worth the candle—a gentleman who had long been chief clerk in that office being preferred over him.

NATIONAL CONCHOLOGY.—Three answers are given to the query, what is the Washington system of political conchology?

Mr. Secretary Davis defines it as a willingness to drop inquiry into bygone opinions and associations, and a readiness to adhere to the "compact of 1852."

Mr. Secretary Guthrie defines it as a unanimous unanimity, that hard shells and soft shells have equal claims upon the spoils.

Mr. Postmaster Campbell says it consists in proscription of all who were free soil men in 1848, without any reference to better behavior since.

And to confound this confusion, the same gentleman appointed a prominent free soiler to the postmastership in New York city.

THE NEW YORK COLLECTOR.—The Washington correspondent of the Journal of Commerce says it is now well understood there that Judge Bronson will, following an illustrious example in British history, "put his opponents to the trouble of turning him out."

LOCAL.

☞ Mr. Robinson's Lecture's on Athens, one of which will take place, this evening, at the Hanover Street Chapel, are richly worth the attention of all who feel any interest in Historical or Descriptive lectures. He is master of his subject; presents it clearly; and makes a valuable impression on the mind of the hearer.

His lecture on last Friday evening, was on the Acropolis, and the buildings on and around it. There are to be four more lectures. See advertisement.

☞ The owner of one of our ancient mansions, in a recent repair of his house, took off several thicknesses of paper hangings from the walls of a spacious entry, with a view of finding old fashioned paper. To the surprise of a lady in the household, she discovered a horse's hoof painted on the wall, in full size. And pursuing the researches, there were disclosed, good oil paintings of an equestian figure supposed to be Governor Phipps; two Indian Chiefs; the group of Abraham offering Isaac, servants, &c.; also of a matron spinning, a hawk after her chickens, &c. All these objects occupy appropriate panels, and cover all the plastered wall. The figures have been restored, and the family would not exchange the decorations of their entry, for any in the place beside.

☞ An "Ipswich Apple," so called, on our desk, measures in circumference, thirteen inches one way, and twelve the other. It grew on the farm of Mr. Samuel Moses, at Sagamore creek, on a small tree, of which this is the first bearing year. The tree yielded about three bushels, many of which weigh over a pound each.

☞ A Grey Eagle, measuring six feet from tip to tip, was shot from the top of a telegraph pole, close to the Railroad Depots and Factories in this city, early on Saturday morning, by Edwin Jetts, a workman in the Machine Shop of the Portsmouth and Concord Railroad.

GAS.—The Dover Gazette is respectfully informed, that after it has burned gas for fourteen months, on an average of four hours per day, without having it fail once, then it will be time to boast of superior light.

THE NEW YORK ABOLITIONISTS.—The proceedings of the Liberty Convention at Canestota on the 12th inst., show that the Abolitionists are as completely split up and scattered as are the Democracy in this State. Those who acknowledge themselves as adherents to the old or straight-out Abolition platform resolved not to nominate candidates for state officers at the coming election. On the contrary, they will divide their strength between the bolting section of the Liberty party styling themselves the Free Democrats, and Soft Shells and Whigs. Gerrit Smith wished to give another trial to the Free Democrats, who manufactured a ticket in their State Convention at Syracuse on the last day of August, although he acknowledged that they had been and were still sinking.

Opposition was expressed to the action of the Free Democrats for the reason that they were governed in their Convention by availability, having among other things thrown overboard the temperance issue. John P. Hale, through whose instrumentality the liquor question was tabled, seems to have rendered himself especially obnoxious to some of the delegates assembled at Canestota.—New York Herald.

THE SLAVERY AGITATION.—The Newburyport Herald with great force and truth remarks:

There never was a subject agitated in this country, within our remembrance, in which there was exhibited so much blarney and humbug, hypocrisy and knavery, as on this question of slavery, and we will except no party from this sweeping remark, although there are many individual examples of honor, honesty and straight-forwardness to be found in the ranks of all the parties, anti-slavery as well as democratic.

Seventy-five tons of Bibles and Testaments, 150,000 copies, have been circulated in Wisconsin, Minnesota and Northern Illinois, during the past six years.

TO AN ORPHAN.

Dear Eva, why strive to be careless?
A heart that is joyous and free
Rests not in thy grief stricken bosom,
And peace is a stranger to thee!
How lonely the heart of an orphan!
An orphan—how sad is the theme!
No brother or sister to greet thee,
No parent to color life's dream.

Dear Eva, bright spirits are near thee,
While all seems so dark and so drear;
In heaven, a bright chain is linking,
Formed of souls that to thee are so dear;
Turn thy thoughts then, dear Eva, to heaven,
So holy, so pure, and so calm;
And angels around thee will hover,
Restore thee sweet peace, and disarm
All ills of their terrors. How precious!
How blessed! this sweet dream of love;
Communing with fond ones we cherished,
Preparing to meet them above.
Repose in sweet trust, on thy Saviour!
O, cast all thy care, on his love!
Unwearied, exhaustless, his mercy,
He'll guide thee to mansions above. S.A.C.

Mrs. Leland, of Nora, Ill., has given birth to a son, which has attached to the middle joint of each little finger, by a proper stem, a perfect tomato. The mother, has bestowed unusual care upon her tomatoes in the garden and hoped to have them ripe before her confinement. The specimens brought by her son were about the size and stage of maturity of those in the garden, and could not be distinguished from them by the closest scrutiny. —Cleaveland True Democrat.
